When love was young it asked for winge, That it might still be roaming; And away it sped, by fancy led, Through dawn and noos, and gloaming. Each daintines; that blooms and blows It wooed in honeyed metre, And when it was the sweetest sweet, It faw off to a sweeter; When love was war When love was young.

When love was old it craved for rest, For home, and hearth, and haven; For quiet talks round sheltered walks, And long lawns smoothly shaven. And what love sought, at last it lound, A roof, a porch, a garden, And from a fond unquestioning heart Faces, sympathy and pardon, When love was old.
