

The Daily Intelligencer.

LANCASTER, APRIL 11, 1890.

The Great Issue.

Probably the most interesting topic in this state, is the question of control of its railroads. Mr. Andrew Carnegie, who champions the popular cause, has become an object of virulent attack by the railroad interest; but it is likely that its attacks will do him more harm than good.

We do not care, and the people do not care, what Mr. Carnegie's motives are or what his conduct may have been. We know that it is true, as he charges, that the railroads of Pennsylvania charge more for carrying the goods of Pennsylvania than for those of other states.

Mr. Carnegie complains that the Pennsylvania coke, that is carried by Pittsburgh to Chicago, pays but 50 cents per ton for the carriage to Pittsburgh, while the coke for Pittsburgh people pays 70 cents.

That is a much grosser outrage upon the Pennsylvania farmer than the one perpetrated upon the Pittsburgh manufacturer. And there are many other examples to be cited of this much more grievous oppression of Eastern Pennsylvania.

The trick which prevented the Legislature from considering the anti-discrimination bill, is one which, doubtless, its authors plume themselves upon as being smart; and so it was, but the smartness was of a kind that never pays.

All this is a proclamation from the capital dome to all the people of the state, that the House, which had decided by a two-third vote to consider the anti-discrimination bill and which next day by a majority vote declared that it would instead attend the celebration at Milton of Lee's surrender.

The condition of the streets demands the serious attention of the street committee. There is an absolute necessity that they be at once cleaned. The housewife should not be subjected to the vicissitudes of dirt which overwhelms her.

What publish as a specimen of marvelous literature on the morning of the flight of a burglar from the terrifying grasp of a woman. No doubt the simple truth is that the thief believed that the woman was sufficiently scared to keep quiet until he escaped, and this proved to be the case.

Among President Harrison's numerous worries not the least is the servant question, though it has taken a curious twist in the White House. When Lord Sackville went home he left a full crew of well trained English servants, who fully expected to be installed in the White House.

A STORAGE battery street car was tried on the Darby branch of the Philadelphia Traction line on Wednesday and gave perfect satisfaction. This is the system of secondary batteries recently referred to in these columns, and it promises to make electricity replace all other street railway power.

If the full list of lives lost in the storm of last Saturday could be made up it would probably reach into the hundreds, but many a vessel probably went to the bottom that will not be missed for weeks or months.

It is a matter of bribery and corruption she is away ahead of this country. Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley has returned from Spain and says this about it: "Not more than 40 per cent. of the taxes can be collected."

By the will of his daughter, the late Mrs. Turner Sargent, Oliver Wendell Holmes gains possession of a very valuable collection of paintings. On the death of the poet the paintings are to go to his son, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr., and on his death to the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

Two rival organ grinders indulged in a scrap on Woodland Avenue. From the Philadelphia North American: Two crank musicians came together on Woodland Avenue, and taking their stands on opposite sides of the street, began to grind out "music" that was simply awful.

A WOMAN IN A BEAR PIT. She Expresses a Desire to Embrace a Shaggy Captive Brute. While Captain Weeden, the keeper at the Smithsonian Institution, at Washington, was standing in front of the bear pit a few days ago, an elegantly dressed woman, of apparent refinement, approached, and after looking through the bars a few moments exclaimed impulsively: "How I should like to hug that bear!"

Thinking to test her further Captain Weeden began to edge off towards the door, but his guest had evidently read about the habits of wild animals in captivity and kept close to the keeper's side, making her exit in his company, and departed without making herself known.

Don't!—If a dealer offers you a bottle of Salvation Oil in a mutilated or defaced package, don't buy it at any price. It may be a genuine and valuable medicinal preparation, but you are buying a counterfeit.

WANAMAKER'S

PHILADELPHIA, Thursday, April 11, 1890. This morning first view of the new Surah Waists and Garibaldi. Rich, dashing; an exquisite line. Dainty color combinations.

We got in about four thousand rolls of China Matting for this season's trade. Do you realize what a mountain of matting four thousand rolls would make?

We placed our matting orders more than a year ago. Patient, bias-eyed weavers, with their feet to ours, are already working on Wanamaker orders for 1890.

The ships that brought this season's supply have only just stopped coming; the "Mary L. Stone," the "Raphael," the "Leading Wind," the "H. G. Johnson," and two or three more.

Of course prices are as high as qualities. Here is a glance at a few of the sorts:

J. W. Damask, Jointless, 11 patterns, 60c a yard, $22 a roll of 40 yards. Almost the effect of carpet.

J. W. Borneo, Fancy Jointless, 14 patterns, new designs and colorings; 50c a yard, $18 a roll.

J. W. Siam, Fancy Jointless, 14 patterns, novel effects. 40c a yard, $14 a roll.

J. W. Cochon, Fancy Jointless, 10 handsome patterns. 35c a yard, $12 a roll.

J. W. Buddha, Fancy, joined every two yards, 13 patterns, 25c a yard, $9 a roll.

In addition to these kinds that no one else in town has, there are the usual plain white-and-red check Mattings and a number of Fancies.

Matting Rugs are making friends. Damask weave. They lighten and brighten the Summer room just where it needs a touch of color.

East India Grass Mats. Oriental colors. A novelty that some folks like. Second floor, Thirteenth and Market streets corner.

Muslin Skirt, wide Hamburg ruffle, $1.25; another, with blind Hamburg ruffle, 75c. That's the pace prices are taking all through women's Muslin Underwear.

No wonder Flowers hold so high a place in Millinery trimmings. As real to the eye as if raised by the hand of Nature. Everything, from the daisy that gems the sod to the rose that blushes under glass.

A jungle of untrimmed Hats and Bonnets. Stacks of Straws. Every shape you'd think to ask for, and dozens you'd never dream of. Milans, Fancy Straw Lace, both materials mixed, Chips, Leghorns, novelties of all kinds, and this is a season of novelties.
