

THE SINEWS OF WAR.

LIQUOR DEALERS COLLECTING DOLLARS FOR THE COMING CAMPAIGN.

An assembly made and the manner of opposing the proposed Constitutional Amendment is discussed. The liquor dealers are urged to join the association.

The Licensed Liquor Dealers' association of this county held their regular meeting in Lancaster hall on Tuesday afternoon and there was a good attendance. President John Bohannan was in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and several new names were added to the roll. The constitution and by-laws, which had been printed since the last meeting, were distributed among the members.

Reports of committees were heard and letters from prominent names in the county were read. One member sent an encouraging letter from Adamstown, about the prospective vote on the amendment.

President Bohannan reported that the directors had met and levied assessments upon the brewers and distillers, hotel-keepers, butchers, and other salaried business men in Lancaster city. He then read the amounts assessed against each man. Frank Helker, brewer, had agreed to contribute $300 and the other brewers had been assessed $200; the amount against the butchers from $25 to $100 and the liquor store men $100 each. A. H. Sheaffer, distiller and liquor dealer, had agreed to give $250 and a like amount was laid against J. F. Sheaffer, who refused to give anything. The hotels were divided into three classes, twenty-two being assessed at $30 each, eighteen at $50 and the remainder at $10. The total amount to be raised in the city by this assessment would be $38,000.

J. A. Sprenger thought the hotel-keepers should be assessed the same as many would give more than they had assessed. The other assessments were satisfactory to him.

George H. Miller thought a committee should be appointed to go around and call upon the owners of hotel properties and see if they would not contribute towards the fund. He did not think the renters of the properties should be obliged to pay it all.

The president thought each man should consider himself as contributing and when they went to pay the rent they should ask their property owners to contribute.

All the assessments in the city except those against the hotel-keepers were adopted. They went over to the next meeting.

In the meantime the board of directors will make arrangements to have the property owners seen.

William Waltz, cigar dealer, contributed $20. The next business was the assessment of the persons engaged in the business outside of the city. The president asked for suggestions as to how it would be referred to the board of directors with power to act.

On motion the directors were instructed to assess the hotel men in boroughs and townships.

William Snyder, of the board of directors, suggested that each hotel-keeper in the county be assessed $10. This led to a discussion in which a number of persons took part.

President Schumaker said there would be considerable expense attending the election, as speakers would be sent out and a great deal of printed matter would have to be used.

E. O. Hall thought the money subscribed should be used for getting out the vote and not for the purpose of buying beer, votes, treating, &c. He thought the work should be well done.

Mr. Mylin, of Gordonville, said there was a great deal of money in his district, and it would take time to get the voters out. He did not object to the amount of money assessed.

Jacob Wiltmer moved that the hotel-keepers of the boroughs be assessed at $15, and those of the townships $10. The motion was lost.

Nearby Tenfel moved that borough and township hotel-keepers be assessed the same amount, $10. This was carried with but one or two dissenting votes.

It was agreed that one-half of the assessment be paid in two weeks and the other half in four weeks.

George H. Miller said that the best way to reach the people was through the newspapers and he thought that articles should be published in them. An article of the kind desired was read from the Philadelphia Press.

President Schumaker read a statement showing the amount of money in every district in the county by borough and township, and he suggested that it be printed in the newspapers and in pamphlet form so that farmers and others could read it. He thought every liquor man in the county should be a member of this organization or they should know the reason.

Mr. Mylin thought every one in the county should be called upon. The president suggested that committees be called upon hotel-keepers and ascertain their feelings should be appointed at once.

On motion it was agreed that the president appoint a committee in every district in the county to call upon the voters and members of the association, and find out why they do not connect themselves with it.

The president named the members of that committee, after which the meeting adjourned to next Thursday.

Strasburg Items. The leading question at present is, why cannot we have better railroad facilities? One train out and in, and that in the morning, seems to be all the management can afford.

There is a good deal of sickness among horses through the surrounding country. On Sunday morning the members of the "Mystic Chain" will attend the M. E. church in a body.

J. F. Andrews has purchased the old Maynard property on South Jackson street. A petition is being circulated to retain Mrs. Carothers as postmistress.

Miss Nellie Kenegy, daughter of Dr. Kenegy, is seriously ill. Miss Annie Bower, daughter of the late Rev. Edwin Bower, D. D., of Lincoln University, is visiting here.

Death of a Well Known Man. Uriah McCallister, an old citizen of Quarryville, died at his home on Wednesday. He had been afflicted with heart disease for some time, yet his death was rather unexpected. He was born in the neighborhood of Quarryville and lived through all his life. He worked in the ore mines and stone quarries and at the time of his death was 60 years of age. Besides his wife he leaves a large family of children, most of whom are grown. Several of his sons are employed on the Reading railroad.

EXPERIMENT STATIONS.

The First One From Secretary of Agriculture.

"Compliments of J. M. Rusk, secretary of agriculture," is the legend on a pamphlet just received.

The first document published under the authority of the secretary of agriculture is an experiment station bulletin No. 1 of the newly established office of experiment stations of the U. S. department of agriculture. This pamphlet contains a large amount of information regarding the history and progress of the agricultural experiment stations, which are now conducting scientific and practical experiments on soil, tillage, manures, crops, stock feeding, dairying, horticulture, etc., in different sections.

Such institutions for scientific investigation in behalf of agriculture have been long in operation in Europe. The first one in this country was begun in Connecticut, in an experimental laboratory of Wesleyan University, fourteen years ago. Other states followed the example and, in 1867, Congress passed the act creating the office of experiment stations, with authority to establish one in each state and territory for the purpose.

All the states and one territory, Dakota, have agricultural experiment stations. Sixteen states have two stations each. The total number now in operation is forty-six, or counting branch stations nearly sixty. The secretary of agriculture has received this year $255,000 from the national government, and about $125,000 from the states and territories. This is one of the most important of the government's scientific enterprises, and, although so young, is the largest of the sort yet undertaken by any of the American states.

An especially favorable feature is the cordial cooperation between the stations and the department of agriculture at Washington. The stations are being established with the duty of supervising and aiding the stations in their work. The office of experiment stations is able to accomplish much in this line.

The secretary has introduced a bill to the House which considers it a high tribute to the intelligence and wisdom of the people that they have so rapidly appreciated the value of the stations and the highest science to the aid of the arts and industries of life.

Copies of this bulletin can be obtained by sending a note to the American stations, department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

THE APRIL COURT.

Additional cases put on the list by District Attorney Weaver.

The following additional cases have been put on next week's trial list by District Attorney Weaver: MONDAY, April 15—Thomas Costley, felonious assault and battery; Isaac Dorsey, felonious assault and battery; John Mulligan, felonious assault and battery; Harry Dougherty, et al., horse stealing.

TUESDAY, April 16—Louis Slegler, L. P. assault and battery; Wm. Millen, larceny. WEDNESDAY, April 17—Isiah Weiler, felonious assault and battery; Alonzo B. Walsh; John M. Meehan; Andrew G. Weedman, malicious mischief.

FRIDAY, April 19—Henry Mercer, second degree murder; John M. Meehan, second degree murder. SATURDAY, April 20—Bernard Dellinger, George Zsch, desertion; Horace Dorsey, surety of the peace.

A number of cases returned to date in 1888. There are a few more in the hands of magistrates, which will swell the list to about 120. The number of cases returned to the April court in 1888 was 148.

SETTLERS GAIN A VICTORY.

No More Evictions to Take Place Pending Further Investigation.

When United States Marshal Desmond went out to Fort Dodge, Iowa, a few days ago, he was met by a delegation of the Des Moines river land settlers who were met by a force of soldiers armed with rifles. He was told that he was not to be returned to Des Moines for reinforcements and laid the case before Judge Shiras, of the United States district court at Des Moines. He proposed to bring the settlers with an armed force and bring all resisting settlers before the court for punishment.

On the 10th Judge Shiras issued a document to Marshal Desmond, in which he reviews the situation from a judicial standpoint. He says the course pursued by the marshal was entirely proper, and that resistance to Federal authority is a species of rebellion which calls for prompt suppression, but in view of the fact that the settlers are not armed, he has advised the marshal to suspend the execution of processes until further notice. He has also advised the marshal to suspend the execution of processes until further notice, and to suspend the execution of processes until further notice.

Old Age and Childhood Wed. May and December are not further apart than the man and child are in age to whom a marriage license was issued in Pittsburgh on Thursday. Samuel P. Wilson, once a circus clown and later a circus manager, is the man. He is seventy-two years old, though with his erect figure and well preserved countenance he seems much younger. He resides with James Wilson in Pittsburgh, who accompanied him to the license office and gave permission for the license to be issued. The other party is a girl, Edith P. Wilson, aged fifteen years.

Applying for the license clerk, hesitated about giving the license, but on consultation with Registrar Conner learned that the girl's father consenting the license could not be recalled. The girl is a very beautiful and wealthy lady of McKeesport, and upon her death was left a considerable fortune. The Wilsons are said to be in but moderate circumstances.

Memorial Day Committee. The Memorial Day committee of the local Grand Army posts met on Thursday evening and all the committees reported progress.

A committee was appointed to arrange for a sermon on the Sunday prior to Memorial Day by Rev. Dr. H. F. Allen, at St. John's Lutheran church.

A committee was also appointed to invite Rev. Durrell, of Lebanon, to deliver the Memorial Day oration.

Saved by Her Toe. While Lizzie Watt was leaning out of the third story window of No. 102 & Co.'s store on Thursday, she suddenly lost her balance and fell headlong. Almost miraculously her toe caught in the window sash and she hung by it. She was rescued by a man who rushed to her assistance and dragged her forcibly back. She fainted dead away and did not regain consciousness for some hours.

Before the Mayor. The mayor disposed of half a dozen cases this morning. Five were lodgers and were discharged. The sixth was Jimmy Ryan, who spends more time in jail than out. He was arrested for begging and drunkenness. For the balance of the month of April he will not trouble anybody but the jail officials.

Was Whipped. While Benjamin Hempfield, driver for Metzger & Hollinger, was delivering goods on Thursday afternoon, the burr holding the wheel on the axle came off, the wheel dropped out and one end of the wagon fell to the ground. Fortunately the horse made no effort to get away. The wagon was only slightly damaged.

Optimist Day. Court will meet to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock, when opinions will be delivered of cases argued the last term and current business transacted.

GEORGE CALDER FAILS.

THE PROPRIETOR OF FULTON COTTON MILLS SAYS AN ASSIGNMENT.

Claims of Creditors Amount to One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars—Wilson, Bradley & Co., Philadelphia, Largest Creditors, Holding $75,000.

For several days there have been rumors on the street of the impending failure of a large manufacturer. These rumors materialized a few days ago when George Calder, proprietor of the Fulton cotton mills, made an assignment of his property for the benefit of creditors to Charles Benton and Henry Baumgardner. The assignment was made public at 11:10 this morning, at which time the deed of assignment was filed in the recorder's office.

The failure of Mr. Calder is a heavy one, and one that will affect a large number of people. In a short time the mill will be closed and two hundred operatives thrown out of employment.

He has been financially embarrassed for some years, and his failure was hastened by heavy losses he sustained in his Harrisburg mill. After expending large sums of money in an effort to save the mill, he finally gave up the struggle. He was obliged to abandon that mill, losing all the money he invested in it.

The amount of Mr. Calder's liabilities is about $150,000 and the only assets he possesses is the Fulton mill and the stock of raw material under process of manufacture.

There are two mortgages on the mill for $50,000. The first mortgage is for $30,000 and is held by the Wiley estate. The second mortgage is held by Wilson, Bradley & Co., of Philadelphia, and is for a similar amount. The mill will be sold and the proceeds will be used to pay the debt.

The largest creditors of Mr. Calder are Wilson, Bradley & Co., and their claims against him will aggregate $75,000. The other creditors are Henry Baumgardner for $10,000, and his wife $5,000.

The raw material in course of manufacture will be finished, after which the mill will probably be closed.

Monday next would be pay day at the mill, and the men would not get paid on that day they will not lose their wages, as the law secures them.

Mr. Benton, one of the assignees, has been superintendent of the mill for the past few years and thoroughly understands the business. Mr. Baumgardner, the other assignee, is well-known as one of Lancaster's foremost business men.

A Chinese Feud. One of the wealthiest Chinamen in the West, if not in America, is Chin Poo, of Denver, who has an extensive tea business and has imported houses in China, Europe and New York. Among his clerks until recently was Yee Ling, who was recently arrested for stealing a quantity of valuable jewelry.

After an exciting chase detectives captured Yee Ling, and as he is at present languishing in the county jail. There are nearly 700 Chinese in Denver, and they are divided into several families, the two most prominent of which are the Yee and the Ling families. The Yee family number nearly 60, while the Ling family number nearly 300, all of whom are the same blood.

As soon as Ling was returned to Denver efforts were made to compromise the matter without success. This resulted in the Yee family suing the Ling family for $10,000. The case has been passed around among the Yees, and meetings have been held during the past month for the purpose of securing the money in return for which Mr. Chin Poo will be done away with.

Since from the Chin family assembled on the waterfront at the arrival of the dreaded highlanders. It will be seen how ferocious and desperate the Yees are when they are provoked. The Yees are now in the city, and are at present in the rear of the store Monday night and informed him that they had come to the store for the purpose of securing the money in return for which Mr. Chin Poo will be done away with.

Since from the Chin family assembled on the waterfront at the arrival of the dreaded highlanders. It will be seen how ferocious and desperate the Yees are when they are provoked. The Yees are now in the city, and are at present in the rear of the store Monday night and informed him that they had come to the store for the purpose of securing the money in return for which Mr. Chin Poo will be done away with.

His Personal Estate Nearly $100,000. The full appraisal of the personal estate of the late Y. Williams has been completed, and the appraisers of the property filed their inventory with the register of wills, in Philadelphia, on Thursday. The estate of the late Y. Williams, who died in the city on the 10th inst., is valued at $98,112.22. In addition to this personal property it is understood that the late Y. Williams owned a large estate which will very materially increase the aggregate of the estate. The largest single item in the list is the holding of Cambria road, which is valued at $25,000. The Pennsylvania railroad stock amounts to $30,000, with some hundreds of thousands in stocks of leased lines. The Philadelphia & Reading railroad stock amounts to $10,000, and there are heavy holdings of stocks and bonds of the lines operated by the company. With a cash balance of $10,000, Mr. Williams' estate was worth a considerable sum.

They Are Machine Oil. There was something the matter with the sail at the New England conservatory of music in Boston on Wednesday night. Thursday, with the several hundred young ladies studying the piano, the conservatory was running and safe as ever. The matter of the sail was not a serious one. For the nonce, indeed, the girls are thoroughly at odds with life and off to town with music. It is all through a mistake of the conservatory's grocers. Big grocers they are—the largest dealers of their sort in the city. They had an order for a large lot of salad oil for the conservatory tables. In place of it they sent machine oil. That is what all the girls were talking about. The girls. No fatalities are looked for.

They Are Machine Oil. There was something the matter with the sail at the New England conservatory of music in Boston on Wednesday night. Thursday, with the several hundred young ladies studying the piano, the conservatory was running and safe as ever. The matter of the sail was not a serious one. For the nonce, indeed, the girls are thoroughly at odds with life and off to town with music. It is all through a mistake of the conservatory's grocers. Big grocers they are—the largest dealers of their sort in the city. They had an order for a large lot of salad oil for the conservatory tables. In place of it they sent machine oil. That is what all the girls were talking about. The girls. No fatalities are looked for.

They Are Machine Oil. There was something the matter with the sail at the New England conservatory of music in Boston on Wednesday night. Thursday, with the several hundred young ladies studying the piano, the conservatory was running and safe as ever. The matter of the sail was not a serious one. For the nonce, indeed, the girls are thoroughly at odds with life and off to town with music. It is all through a mistake of the conservatory's grocers. Big grocers they are—the largest dealers of their sort in the city. They had an order for a large lot of salad oil for the conservatory tables. In place of it they sent machine oil. That is what all the girls were talking about. The girls. No fatalities are looked for.

They Are Machine Oil. There was something the matter with the sail at the New England conservatory of music in Boston on Wednesday night. Thursday, with the several hundred young ladies studying the piano, the conservatory was running and safe as ever. The matter of the sail was not a serious one. For the nonce, indeed, the girls are thoroughly at odds with life and off to town with music. It is all through a mistake of the conservatory's grocers. Big grocers they are—the largest dealers of their sort in the city. They had an order for a large lot of salad oil for the conservatory tables. In place of it they sent machine oil. That is what all the girls were talking about. The girls. No fatalities are looked for.

They Are Machine Oil. There was something the matter with the sail at the New England conservatory of music in Boston on Wednesday night. Thursday, with the several hundred young ladies studying the piano, the conservatory was running and safe as ever. The matter of the sail was not a serious one. For the nonce, indeed, the girls are thoroughly at odds with life and off to town with music. It is all through a mistake of the conservatory's grocers. Big grocers they are—the largest dealers of their sort in the city. They had an order for a large lot of salad oil for the conservatory tables. In place of it they sent machine oil. That is what all the girls were talking about. The girls. No fatalities are looked for.

They Are Machine Oil. There was something the matter with the sail at the New England conservatory of music in Boston on Wednesday night. Thursday, with the several hundred young ladies studying the piano, the conservatory was running and safe as ever. The matter of the sail was not a serious one. For the nonce, indeed, the girls are thoroughly at odds with life and off to town with music. It is all through a mistake of the conservatory's grocers. Big grocers they are—the largest dealers of their sort in the city. They had an order for a large lot of salad oil for the conservatory tables. In place of it they sent machine oil. That is what all the girls were talking about. The girls. No fatalities are looked for.

They Are Machine Oil. There was something the matter with the sail at the New England conservatory of music in Boston on Wednesday night. Thursday, with the several hundred young ladies studying the piano, the conservatory was running and safe as ever. The matter of the sail was not a serious one. For the nonce, indeed, the girls are thoroughly at odds with life and off to town with music. It is all through a mistake of the conservatory's grocers. Big grocers they are—the largest dealers of their sort in the city. They had an order for a large lot of salad oil for the conservatory tables. In place of it they sent machine oil. That is what all the girls were talking about. The girls. No fatalities are looked for.

They Are Machine Oil. There was something the matter with the sail at the New England conservatory of music in Boston on Wednesday night. Thursday, with the several hundred young ladies studying the piano, the conservatory was running and safe as ever. The matter of the sail was not a serious one. For the nonce, indeed, the girls are thoroughly at odds with life and off to town with music. It is all through a mistake of the conservatory's grocers. Big grocers they are—the largest dealers of their sort in the city. They had an order for a large lot of salad oil for the conservatory tables. In place of it they sent machine oil. That is what all the girls were talking about. The girls. No fatalities are looked for.

They Are Machine Oil. There was something the matter with the sail at the New England conservatory of music in Boston on Wednesday night. Thursday, with the several hundred young ladies studying the piano, the conservatory was running and safe as ever. The matter of the sail was not a serious one. For the nonce, indeed, the girls are thoroughly at odds with life and off to town with music. It is all through a mistake of the conservatory's grocers. Big grocers they are—the largest dealers of their sort in the city. They had an order for a large lot of salad oil for the conservatory tables. In place of it they sent machine oil. That is what all the girls were talking about. The girls. No fatalities are looked for.

They Are Machine Oil. There was something the matter with the sail at the New England conservatory of music in Boston on Wednesday night. Thursday, with the several hundred young ladies studying the piano, the conservatory was running and safe as ever. The matter of the sail was not a serious one. For the nonce, indeed, the girls are thoroughly at odds with life and off to town with music. It is all through a mistake of the conservatory's grocers. Big grocers they are—the largest dealers of their sort in the city. They had an order for a large lot of salad oil for the conservatory tables. In place of it they sent machine oil. That is what all the girls were talking about. The girls. No fatalities are looked for.

They Are Machine Oil. There was something the matter with the sail at the New England conservatory of music in Boston on Wednesday night. Thursday, with the several hundred young ladies studying the piano, the conservatory was running and safe as ever. The matter of the sail was not a serious one. For the nonce, indeed, the girls are thoroughly at odds with life and off to town with music. It is all through a mistake of the conservatory's grocers. Big grocers they are—the largest dealers of their sort in the city. They had an order for a large lot of salad oil for the conservatory tables. In place of it they sent machine oil. That is what all the girls were talking about. The girls. No fatalities are looked for.

They Are Machine Oil. There was something the matter with the sail at the New England conservatory of music in Boston on Wednesday night. Thursday, with the several hundred young ladies studying the piano, the conservatory was running and safe as ever. The matter of the sail was not a serious one. For the nonce, indeed, the girls are thoroughly at odds with life and off to town with music. It is all through a mistake of the conservatory's grocers. Big grocers they are—the largest dealers of their sort in the city. They had an order for a large lot of salad oil for the conservatory tables. In place of it they sent machine oil. That is what all the girls were talking about. The girls. No fatalities are looked for.

Dudley to Manage Quaker Southern Work.

Colonel Dudley has been placed in charge of the permanent headquarters of the Quaker national committee, which has always resided in the fellowship in spite of his untoward exposure, it was for the committee that he made his trip to Lancaster. Dudley is to manage all Quaker Southern work. President Harrison has a little to do with him personally as possible. Dudley is not seen at the White House, and has been up all night getting an office under this administration, but he is helping other men to get offices, and to that end haunts the departments daily. Even Postmaster General Sherman has been seen at his office for several days. He is doing all he can to help his friends. Any man who can show me that he worked for the party can be sure that one man at least will support his claims."

LOUIS JAMES IN "VIRGINIA." He Appears With Success to a Large Audience at the Opera House.

All Fulton street, between the opera house and the city hall, a large audience gathered on Monday evening to see the play "Virginia," which is familiar to most theatre-goers here. Mr. James gives a powerful representation of the Roman father and Miss Wainwright captivated the audience by her acting as "Virginia." Both were called before the curtain several times by the enthusiastic audience. The company was excellent throughout, including Erroll Dunbar, H. A. Langdon, Miss Kate Meek and others.

Miss Practice at Shoemaker. The North End rifle club held a re-organization meeting on their range at Shoemaker on Tuesday, the 9th inst., at which the following officers to serve the coming season were elected: J. A. Stober, president; C. H. Wenger, secretary; L. M. West, treasurer.

Some practice shooting was also indulged in, resulting in the making of some fine scores.

The next regular meeting will be on Tuesday, May 10th, and the shooting at two hundred yards will be commenced thereafter to hold the meetings on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month and to shoot only at two hundred yards at the first meeting and only at five hundred at the second meeting of each month.

Base Ball Notes. This evening the directors of the new base ball club will meet at John A. Snyder's hotel. It will be the most important meeting since the organization of the club.

The uniform of the York club will consist of white flannel shirts, white breeches, blue trousers, white and brown caps and kangaroo shoes.

The Around the World ball players were handsomely entertained by the "Aurora" club at a public supper at Philadelphia last evening. The supper at the Bellevue was very fine.

The "Aurora" club ball yesterday were: At Newark: Philadelphia 4, Newark 3; at New York: New York 8, Brooklyn 7; at Louisville: Louisville 10, Pittsburg 7; at Cincinnati: Cincinnati 11, Cleveland 8.

College Hill Notes. The interest in college athletic exercises is awaiting on the college campus. Tennis was the first game to be taken up among the boys this spring. There are now four well located courts on the campus. Base ball is receiving some attention.

Measures are being taken to repair the fence enclosing the grounds of the institutions.

Archbishop Ryan on Prohibition. Archbishop Ryan has written a letter to the "Aurora" in which he has expressed his general views on the various inquiries that have been made relative to his views on prohibition. In this he says, as we have stated elsewhere, that he is not a still stricter one, he is unable to see the need of a constitutional amendment on the subject. In any case, he feels that mere legislation is not the way to solve the problem. The external manifestation of the evil. The true remedy must be found in the will of the individual conscience, as in our Catholic religion, which are also religious organizations.

New Lord Landaise Explored. A letter has been received in Minneapolis, Minnesota, from one of the half-breeds who composed Lord Landaise's party, from which it is ascertained that he had been within the Arctic circle. Leaving Winnipeg, it appears he went to a point several hundred miles south of Mckenzie's river, where he was killed by the Indians. He was called down the Porcupine river to Yukon and down to Bristol Bay. He left that vicinity now. The district through which he traveled is to a large extent populated.

Arranged for Base Stealing. John Conyngham and Reed Wilson, two young men, were arrested on a freight train on the cut-off above the city yesterday, by Officers James Kennedy and Wash Pyle. They were taken before Alderman McCormack, where they were discharged on the payment of costs. The young men say they were on the way to Montville to get work in the plow manufactory. Word was sent to that place and the statements of the young men were found to be correct.

Taking Down Two Wires. A number of telegraph lines are engaged taking down two telegraph wires between Philadelphia and Harrisburg. The men reached Lancaster to-day, and took the wires off the poles in the city. Quite a little excitement was caused by them at North Queen and Orange streets, where the wires fell upon the heads of the electric light, there was a display of fireworks, which was ended when the telegraph wires were burned off.

A New Social Club. Last evening the Lancaster club, a new social organization who have leased the second floor of Lecher's building, held their first hop. Besides the club, which has about thirty members, there were guests from Philadelphia and other places. There was dancing until a late hour to the music of Taylor's orchestra. The club has no less than five rooms, which they have fitted up.

A Big Leather Firm Fails. Billings & Eaton, wholesale hide and leather dealers, Boston, have made an assignment. The liabilities are about $700,000. It is impossible to state what the assets are, but it is thought they will prove sufficient to pay a good dividend.

No Money for Landis' Celebration. The bill making an appropriation for the holding of the centennial celebration of the signing of the Declaration of Independence by George Washington to be held at Lancaster, July 4, 1889, was defeated by the House on Thursday.

TRIBUTES TO THE DEAD.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE SCHOOL BOARD THURSDAY EVENING.

The Death of Mr. Eberman Deplored by the Directors With Whom He Was Long Associated—Remarks by Messrs. McCormack, McCormack, Hartman, Braden.

A special meeting of the Lancaster city school board was held in common council chamber on Thursday evening to take action on the death of Charles F. Eberman. Following were the members present: Messrs. Bolenius, Brocius, Darmstadter, Gray, Hartman, Liberty, Lippold, Marshall, McCormack, Schroyer, Warke, White, Wolf and Dr. McCormack, President.

This secretary read the call for the meeting, after which President McCormack, in announcing the death, said: "It becomes my duty to announce to the board the death of an old and faithful member and former school director, Charles F. Eberman."

"Mr. Eberman was for eighteen years a member of this board, discharging promptly and well the various duties assigned him. He was always a regular attendant at the meetings and no one took a greater interest in the proceedings. He was a favorite not only among the teachers, but among the pupils as well, and his smiling face will be sadly missed."

"The successful manner in which our commencing has been conducted for several years past was due in a great measure to his earnest work, devoting to it his entire time, and to the exclusion of all other business. By his death the board has lost one of its most efficient members."

"Mr. McCormack said he rose to endorse every word of what had been said by the president, and express his own sorrow at the death of Mr. Eberman. "A long and useful life, and a death caused by death caused a shock to our feelings. It was my fortune to know Mr. Eberman from his boyhood, since 1847. For a period of forty-five years he and I lived neighbors. I knew him well and intimately, and never had an unkind word passed between us. I can speak and testify to his character as a man, as a citizen, as a teacher, as a member of the board. He was a willing, energetic and efficient member."

Mr. McCormack moved the appointment of a committee of three to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting. The motion was adopted, and the chair appointed as the committee Messrs. McCormack, Hartman and Braden.

The committee retired, prepared the following resolutions and reported the same to the meeting, and moved their adoption:

Resolved, That we have passed an All-wise resolution to remove from our midst Charles F. Eberman, for many years an attentive member and officer of this board, who was ever active in promoting the interests of our school, and who was ever faithful and efficient in the performance of every duty assigned him, either as member or officer, and who was ever ready to sacrifice his life for the good of his country, and to his country, a tribute of respect to his memory this board should the funeral services be held at the residence of his family, together with the sympathy and condolence of this board.

Resolved, That these proceedings be entered upon our minutes, and a copy of the same be transmitted to the bereaved family, together with the sympathy and condolence of this board.

In recording the motion to adopt the resolutions, Mr. Hartman said he was no more intimate friend than Mr. Eberman. For over 40 years he was his companion. For over 20 years he was intimately associated with Mr. Eberman as an officer of the Washington Fire company, and when the time came for the change of system Mr. Eberman was his best effort to have the Washington Fire company assist in making the new system a success.

"For eighteen years I have been with him in this field. At the beginning of the year Mr. Eberman was his best effort to have the Washington Fire company assist in making the new system a success.

"For eighteen years I have been with him in this field. At the beginning of the year Mr. Eberman was his best effort to have the Washington Fire company assist in making the new system a success.

"For eighteen years I have been with him in this field. At the beginning of the year Mr. Eberman was his best effort to have the Washington Fire company assist in making the new system a success.

"For eighteen years I have been with him in this field. At the beginning of the year Mr. Eberman was his best effort to have the Washington Fire company assist in making the new system a success.

"For eighteen years I have been with him in this field. At the beginning of the year Mr. Eberman was his best effort to have the Washington Fire company assist in making the new system a success.

"For eighteen years I have been with him in this field. At the beginning of the