FARM AND GARDEN.

SUBJECTS RELATING TO EVERY DAY LIFE ON THE FARM.

A Covered Fig Trough Which the Inventor Claims Is a Decided Improvement Over the Ones Ordinarily Used-How One Can

In the illustration herewith preser is shown a hog trough with a swinging cover, which a correspondent in Rural New Yorker says has the following advantages over those ordinarily used:

AN EXCELLENT PIG TROUGH. It is so placed in the partition that a hog cannot get into it or even place his feet in it with any comfort whatever; hence it is always much cleaner than a trough which is wholly inside the pen. 2. It affords great ease and convenience in feeding or in cleaning it from refuse feed or accidental filth, the swinging cover shutting away the hogs while the trough is being cleaned from the outside, and, moreover, feed can be placed safely in it without spilling it on anxious heads or noses. 3. Whether the cover be swung out or in, the trough may be as tight as the partition itself, and no current of air can blow upon the animals should the trough be open from the outside of a building. It is very simple and readily constructed. Make a common V shaped trough out of two inch planks one foot wide, letting the end pieces extend an inch or more higher than the sides, to give a place for holes for the bolts which serve as hinges of the cover. Make the latter out of the same plank and just the length of the inside measure of the trough, with two triangular pieces firmly nailed, one at each end, with holes bored to correspond with holes in the ends of the trough. Fasten the cover to the trough with suitable bolts; set the trough lengthwise of and directly under the opening in the partition cut to receive it. Nail it there firmly, and with a button to hold the cover back while the hogs are feeding, the article is finished.

The Peach Tree Borer.

The eggs are laid on the tree, close to the ground, where the tenderness of the bark makes it easy for the young grub to get through to the soft new wood, on which it feeds. Gum mixed with the sawdust like castings of the worms, indicates the presence of the pest. Cutting into the tree with a knite, will soon find a soft, dull whitish worm with a brown head, and the knife puts him beyond doing any more harm. Sometimes th track extends down under the bark, but one need not fear to follow, as the cutting heals over with no harm to the tree. When left to itself the grub comes out and makes a cocoon of the gum and castings. The perfect insect, which lays the eggs, is a slender, dark blue, four winged moth, not unlike a wasp. Cutting out the grub is a perfect protection if done in time. Twice a year, fall and spring, the trees should be looked over.

A Word About Ensilage.

Some facts about ensilage have passe beyond all question. Experiment has proven that food, especially green fodder corn, can be put up in this manner diet for stock in winter. Whether it will pay in any given case must depend upon its circumstances. The growing belief is that the value of this mode of providing winter feed has been under ather than over estimated, and that it will pay many who now ridicule it. In sections where long winters prevail, there remains not a doubt about the profits of silos and their contents,

A silo is simply a box or pit, air tight and water tight, in which green herbage is placed, pressed down and covered.

Manures for the Strawberry.

The strawberry is not very particular as to what kind of manure it receives, provided it is applied in sufficient quan-ties to render the soil rich in plant food. Old and thoroughly decomposed barn yard manure is scarcely to be excelled for the strawberry. A compost of muck and manure is good. Ashes are also valuable, especially in sandy soils.

A Barrel for Shippers.

Scientific American has recently called attention to the barrel represented in the accompanying cut. It is light in weight, and of such construction that the mate rial carried therein will be thorough ventilated. It is the patented invention of a Delaware man and is known as the

A VENTILATED BARREL The body of the barrel is formed of two or more layers or thicknesses of the splints crossing each other diagonally, the splints being nailed to each other and to the supporting hoops, as many hoops being employed as are deemed necessary or desirable. The head and bottom of or desirable. The head and bottom of the barrel may be put in in any desired

Salt as a Check to the Chinch Bug. Professor Forbes, the Illinois state entomologist, is credited with having said: "I have no personal experience with the use of salt as a check upon chinch bug increase, but from what I know of the habits of that insect and the effect of other fertilizers, I should not expect any important advantage, except in soils where salt will specially stimulate the growth of the grain. Some experiments with salt, made within my knowledge by intelligent farmers of southern Illinois, were without noticeable effect."

Breeding Swine.

A New York breeder of long experience says that he finds it best to select good clean cut sows with plenty of bone and constitution. Such animals are better than those in which the bone is too fine bred. Breed the sows to finely bred Berkshire, Essex or Yorkshire boars. The pigs will combine the fineness of the boar with the constitution of the sows.

CURIOUS MATTERS.

CURIOUS MATTERS.

Ira Tripp, a millionaire coal operator of Scranton, Pa., was told a few years ago by his physician that he must either quit smoking or die. As he didn't want to die, he quit smoking. He loved the odor of tobacco, however, and still enjoyed it by frequenting the company of smokers. But as they did not always smoke good tobacco, he finally adopted the plan of hiring a man to smoke constantly in his presence, Mr. Tripp furnishing the cigars, which of course are of the finest quality. Thus far the man enjoys it, although he sometimes feels that he is a little crowded.—N. Y. Tribune.

CUTICURA REMEDIES.

Infantile Skin and Scalp Diseases

Boy one year and a half old. Face and body in a terrible condition, being covered with sores. Sulphur springs fall. Cured by Cutleura Remedies.

I have used your CUTICURA REMEDIES in two cases where it proved to be successful. The first was in the case of a boy a year and a half old. His face and body were in a terrible condition, the former being completely covered with sores. I took him to the Massem Sulphur Springs, but he did not improve any. I was then advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which I did. He took one and one half bottles of CUTICURA REMOLVENT, when his skin was as smooth as could be, and is to-day. I used the CUTICURA on his sores and the CUTICURA SOAP in washing him. He is now five years of age, and all right. The other case was a disease of the scalp, which was cured by washing with the CUTICURA SOAP and rubbing in the CUTICURA, one bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT being used. They have proved successful in every case where I have advised the use of I have used your CUTICURA REMEDIES in two every case where I have advised the use of them. It is surprising how rapidly a child will improve under their treatment. I recommend them for any disease of the skin as being the best in the world. This is my experience, and I am ready to stand by my statement. JOHN R. BERO.

My boy, aged nine years, has been troubled all his life with a very bad humor, which appeared all over his body in smail red blotches, with a dry white seab on them. Last year he was worse than ever, being covered with seabs from the top of his head to his feet, and continually growing worse, although he had been treated by two physicians. As a last resort, I determined to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and am happy to say they did all that I could wish. Using them according to directions, the humor mapidly disapppeared, leaving the skin fair and smooth, and performing a thorough cure. The CUTICURA REMEDIES are all you claim for them. They are worth their weight in gold to any one troubled as my boy was.

HOW TO SAVE LIFE.

What is a cough? It is an irritation of the threat and lungs. What causes it? Congestion. Stop the congestion, the irritation ceases and the cough is cured. But how to stop the congestion? Ah, there is just where physicians have always been purzled. But it must be checked, or pneumonia, quick consumption or some terrible pulmonary trouble will follow. Some doctors give cod fiver oll, others cough syrups, but the most advanced prescribe stimulants. Nature must be assisted. Pure whisky will do it. See what physicians say:

Prof. Austin Flint, of Bellevue (New York) College, says: "The judicious use of alcoholle stimulants is one of the striking characteristics of progress in the practice of medicine during the last half century."

Professor Henry A. Mott, of New York, says: "The purity of Duffy's Pure Mail Whisky (as simple analytical tests will readily convince a physician or an expert should certainly recommend it to the highest public favor.
