We do not know that the attack made spon the city solicitor at the last session of councils, in the intimation that he issued writs to remove liens for the pupose of making $3 attorney fee in the costs, was inspired by grand army malice but it is open to this suspicion, because the allegation turns out, as we supposed it would, to have no substantial foundation. The city solicitor promptly stated, in a letter which we printed yesterday, that he issues no writs of revival but as the expiration of the five year term renders them of the five year term renders them necessary; other writs issued were for the purpose of collecting the liens; which it is clearly his right right and duty to do, as his judgment advises him.

THE Moravian publishes a carefully com-plied tabular statement of contributions for church causes in 1888, exclusive of all con-tributions from church funds. All the churches of the Northern district of the churches of the Northern district of the American province are named with the number of communicants. The Lancaster church, with 382 members, is credited with contributions amounting to $2,443, of which $1,809 was for local needs. Littz, with 353 members, has a total of $1,922, of which $670 was for local needs. The grand total from all the churches of the district was $62,175, of which $41,608 was for local needs. There were alteresther but $4.35 communicants. were altogether but 9,435 communicants, so that the average contribution seems to be $5.59 to each member.

THE completion of the Panama canal will cost, according to the president of the American Dredging company, $200,000,000 in addition to the $250,000,000 already expended. He says that the failure of the French is largely owing to the error of the chief engineer and his fourteen subordinates in calculating that the sides of the great Culebra cut would stand firm at a certain angle. They did not allow enough alope for the sides of this cut, so the earth came aliding into it until twice as much came sliding into it until twice as much had to be removed as they had counted on removing. He says that the French engineers were stifled by red tape.

THE Philadelphia natatorium was formally opened on Friday, though it was the warmed water of this famous swimming school. Twenty young women ex-perts in the art took the first plunge, demperse in the art took the first plunge, dom-onstrating that they were quite able, if necessary, to save themselves from a watery grave. Perhaps Lancaster will some day begin to get awake to the desirability of an institution of this kind, where children may learn to swim with case and safety.

THE Philadelphia Inquirer notes the prizes offered to school girls and boys by Messrs. B. J. McGrann and Israel K. Landis, of this city, and remarks: "These gentlemen are taking hold of their end of the educational problem in a practical manner. Had we more such spurs to youthful industry we would have more evidences of youthful skill."

SEVEN years ago one William Rodgers was convicted of burglary in Michigan and sentenced to a long term of imprisonment at hard labor. Recently a convict confessed upon his deathbed that he was the guilty man and the innocence of Rodgers being completely established he was pardoned by the governor. During his con-finement in jail his wife and children have finement in jail his wife and children have died and his pitiful condition without relatives, friends or money excited so much sympathy that the Legislature passed a bill giving him $200 for for each of his seven years in jail. This $1,400 is not much under the circumstances but in commenting on it the Scranton Republican notes that it establishes a precedent that may prove of great importance in the future. No one can go through our in the future. No one can go through our prisons without reflecting how many are in who should be out and how many are outside who should be in, but the cases are comparatively rare in which innocence after imprisonment can be proved. When this is done and release from punishment follows it ought to carry with it compensa-tion from the state for the injury suffered at

COUNT CARLO DE CORTI, whose brother, Count Ludovico Corti, was an arbitrator on the Alabama claims and Italian minister on the Alabama claims and Italian minister at Washington, has sent an agent to America with full power to sell his title for cash. Count Corti is the descendant of a long line of more or less illustrious ancestors, who has lead a very dissipated life and wasted his large fortune in horse racing. He offended his worthy elder brother by allowing his name to be used to give standing to wildest huslows enterwises and ing to wildcat business enterprises, and when the brother died two years ago it was found that his vast fortune had been left to the son of his sister, while the present count got nothing. Soon after Count Carlo Corti lost his little remaining all in the Panama canal crash. The count now offers to sell his title for $30,000 and an annuity for the rest of his life, amount not stated. He is 54 and living fast. He proposes to accomplish the transfer by adopting the purchaser and entailing his title upon him, a proceeding allowed by the laws of Italy, The title would be hereditary and he ownership undoubted, his agent insisting that the count by purchase would have admittance to all European courts, a statement that requires salting. Considering the way that the way that some Americans abroad bow down to titles, the course of this wreck of nobility is not surprising, but now that the matter has been given publicity we doubt whether he will find an American fool enough to buy his title.

Is the Lancaster Inquirer thinks that we were in error in stating that Quay was for Reinoehl three years ago and against him now, and will oblige us by saying to which end of the statement it objects, we will cheerfully enlighten it further.

WHY does not the street committee look for good stone adjacent to the city? That the stones at Engle's quarries are not hard enough is abundantly proved, and it is certainly foolish, while the crusher has to be moved, to move to another place in the same quarry. There is an abundance of hard stone along the Conestoga within the city; if the committee wants to prove this, let them get samples, and have their crushing weight tested.

THERE is much complaint about the manner in which the court honse is per-mitted to be used for different entertainments. There was a talk some time ago of building a new opers house in this city, but that will not be needed as long as the court house can be obtained for everything. It is said that a number of dates for the future have secured by different parties. The county does not get a cent for the rent of the building and it kindly furnishes the light. The janitor is the only man who profits by it and there are many folks who think that it is not necessary to have entertainments for his benefit.

Hawes Guilty of Murder. Hawes Guilty of Murder.

In Birmingham. Ala., after three hours deliberation, the jury in the Hawes murder case on Friday returned a verdiet of guilty, fixing the penalty at death. Hawes' firmness was unshaken. Hawes was accused of the murder of his wife and two children last fall, and the excitement at the time of the commission of the crime led to a riot, during which a mob attacked the jail in which Hawes was confined, intending to lynch him. The sheriff's posse fired on the crowd and several persons were killed, including the postmaster.

Representative Shires Attempting to Have Him Impeached.

Representative George Shires, 3d, of Allegheny, a lawyer, and son of George Shires, 1c, one of the best known lawyers in the western part of the state, made something of a sensation in the House on Friday with a resolution for an investigation of charges against Judge White, of Allegheny, with a view to his impeachment if the accusations are frue. This was not the day for resolutions, and an objection prevented Mr. Shiras from having his paper received by the House. He is, therefore, holding it until Monday night. It sets forth that it is alleged and curreutly believed by a large proportion of the citizens of Allegheny that Judge White "has deliberately violated his oath of office, and degraded the bench by the manner and methods pursued in the administration of his office in passing upon the applications for license. It is alleged that he has exhibited extreme favoritism, bias, malice and prejudice toward many of the applicants, and has been arbitrary, inconsistent and oppressive in the exercise of the discretionary powers invested in the court. It is charged in the public prints that he has been unduly and improperly influenced in his decision upon applications for license. It is publicly charged that he has been unduly and improperly influenced in his decision upon applications for license. It is publicly charged that he has been guilty of many other acts tending to impach his character, both in his official and private life, thereby wholly destroying his influence and standing in the community and casting reproach and suspicion upon the local judiciary."

The resolution provides that the speaker of the House appoint a committee of seven influence and standing in the community and casting reproach and suspicion upon the local judiciary."

The resolution provides that the speaker of the House appoint a committee of seven members to investigate the allegation, so that either the accused may be exonerated, or, if the charges be sustained, the committee shall so report to the governor, "to the end that he may take such action as is required by law and the constitution."

Mr. Shiras says he is not the accuser, but the accusations and stories are current in his county. "The extent of my responsibility." he says, "begins and ends with the declaration that they exist and on that point I am willing to share the fullest criticism, if mistaken. A judge under almost any circumstances has the public confidence, and in this instance it is reinforced by the fact that many will believe that this is a movement on the part of liquor dealer, however, was aware of it. My advisers are among the most reputable members of the Pittsburg bar and our most prominent business people. Between now and Monday evening, when original resolutions will be in order, the people of Allegheny will have time to consider and weigh the objects and possible benefits of such an investigation. There will be a bar meeting to-morrow afternoon in Pittsburg, and if Chairman Andrews and other Republican leaders are against this resolution, as I am told they are, they had better have some regard for Republican results in Allegheny county. If the sentiment takes form there that is now existent, Allegheny county may give 5,000 or 6,000 Democratic majority. Up in one part of my district it is not safe to wear a Republican League button any more."

LIBERALLY PRAISED. ONE OF THE BEST IN THE COUNTRY.

From the Bel Air, Md., Intelligencer. Our esteemed contemporary, the Lancas-ter INTELLIGENCER, appears in an entire dress of new type, making it one of the handsomest as it is one of the best news-papers in the country. It is conducted with marked ability and is fearlessly de-voted to the dissemination of sound Demo-cratic doctrine. Success to it, we say.

AN OLD AND VALUED FRIEND.

From the Venango Spectator.

The LANCASTER INTELLIGENCER, always well printed hitherto, has surpassed itself, and now appears in a new suit of type of the latest and best style. It is one of the handsomes newspapers in the country and just as able as it is handsome. It has been on our exchange list for forty years, and is valued as an old friend.

been working a quarry at that place. Quite a large force of workmen are employed in the work of quarrying stone. Friday morning a hole had been drilled in rock, and a blast had been prepared by the usual charge of dynamite and black powder.

As is the custom, dynamite was first placed in the hole, black powder next, and the fuse attached and the remainder of the opening was filled with clay. The fuse was ignited, but the blast did not go off. Patrick McBride, of Shoemakerville, was directed to bore out the hole again, so as to apply a new fuse. While engaged at this work the blast suddenly went off, and tons of rock were hurled high into the air. The augur which McBride was working with was carried a distance of nearly three squares, but, strange to say, McBride escaped with but a few burns about the face chiefly, his eyes being injured.

About thirty feet away from the opening were a number of men at work several of whom were more seriously injured. Lewis Green, colored, a resident of Edwards street, South Chester, was struck by a 1lying boulder and received a wound in the side that will likely cause his death. By the force of the blow one of his ribs was broken and the latter pierced the left lung. The physician attending says that he cannot live. William Stone and Thomas Collins, of Philadelphia, were among those injured. The former had a foot and the latter a hand badly injured.

Death of a Prominent Doctor. Death of a Prominent Doctor.

Dr. Mortimer O'Connor, a prominent citizen of Harrisburg, died in Paris, on Friday, of pneumonia. Dr. O'Connor was born about 60 years ago in Ireland, and studied medicine under Dr. Jacoby, the celebrated Scotch oculist, at Glasgow. Immediately after graduating he was appointed surgeon in an English regiment of the line and-went to India, where he served during the Sepoy mutiny. On his return to England he was made surgeon in the Cunard steamship service between Liverpool and New York. In 1864 he was married, in Paris, to Miss Susan B. Haldeman, of Harrisburg, whom he first met on the steamer, and since that year he resided in Harrisburg. His wife and son, Haldeman Moritimer, survive him. oritimer, survive him.

Moritimer, survive him.

About ten months ago a cancer, similar to that which afflicted General Grant, developed in Dr. O'Connor's throat the result of excessive cigarette smoking, and his general health became bad. In company with his wife and son he spent the past winter in Algeria, but the climate did not agree with him and he went to Nice, and, subsequently, to Paris, accompanied by his physicians. Dr. O'Conner was a gentleman of liberal mind and culture, whose friends were legion. friends were legion.

WANTED TO USE THE KNIFE.

How a "Dying" Woman Was Restored by a Quick-Witted Doctor.

It was about two o'clock in the morning when James Hannon, a middle-aged man, entered the Hoboken police station and begged that a physician be sent to his residence, 11 Madison avenue. He said that his wife had taken "Rough on Rats," and that she was dying in great agony. The sergeant in charge sent for City Physician Simon, who at once went with Hannon to where the supposed dying woman was. The doctor found the woman in bed, suffering apparently from convulsions. He then looked for the "poison" and found a package of tooth powder. Near by was a glass containing part of the mixture. He came to the conclusion that the pretty, fair-haired young woman was feigning, and in a stern voice exclaimed: "This stomach pump is useless in such a serious case as this. Fil have to cut her open!" by a Quick-Witted Doctor.

serious case as this. I'll have to cut her open?"

The doctor had hardly spoken the last word when Mrs. Hannon sat up in bed and excitedly shouted:

"My God! doctor, don't do that. I have not taken poison at all. I only took tooth powder and water, and I did it to frighten my husband, who was jealous and neglecting me."

The husband wiped away his tears and took his wife in his arms and kissed her, while Dr. Simon left, thoroughly weary of his early morning's work.

Human nature is always tecking something.
Oftentimes it were better off without its wishes, yet it is universally conceded that no permanent enjoyment can be had without the sever of health, which keeps good cheer frash and preserves and awastens life for the future.

The great, ruddy farmer pines because he has not won fame or position. The famous man longs for the lusty health of the sturdy farmer. The grain of sait is wanting.

How to secure and retain the savor of health in the midst of this rushing, nervous, overworked generation is a problem worthy of our closest attention. It cannot be done with stimulants, which but spur on the overworked nerves to fresh efforts, only to leave them more jaded and shattered. Nor with paracotics, which temporarily sooths, but to create an unnatural appetite, the terrors of which a De Quincy has so graphically portrayed.

It may be saked, what is the cause of this extreme nervousness, lack of appetite, lung trouble, deficient heart action, failing eye-sipt, apoplectical tendency, etc. We reply, poisoned blood, caused by diseased kidneys, and the troubles indianted are, after all, but symptoms of advanced Kidney Disease. Unless remeded there will be a complete breaking down of the great blood purifying organs, the kidneys, and the urine.

Now, in the spring of the year, owing to the extra work which has been put upon the Kidneys and Liver, through a meat diet during the winter months, these symptoms are more pronounced, and the danger to the patient correspondingly increased. It is therefore imperative that the poisoned blood be eradicated, and that the Kidneys be put in complete health, which can be speedily and effectually accomplished by the use of Warner's flafe Cure a tried and proved specific in hundreds of thousands of cases.
