A FIELD VERSION OF HORACE.

FIFTR ODE, FIRST BOOK.

What perfumed, poste-dizened sirrah,
With smiles for diet,
Clasps you, O fair but faithless Pyrrha,
On the quiet?
For whom do you bind up your tresses,
As spin-gold yellow—
Meshes that go with your caresses,
To snare a fellow?
How will be mil at fait capricious,
And curse you duly;
Yet now he deems your wiles delicious—
You perfect, truly!
Pyrrha, your love's a treacherous occan—
He'll soon fall in there!
Then shall I gloat on his commotion,
For I have been there!

"Mr. Spouter," said the spokesman of the committee, "we have called to ask yon as the 'silver-tongned orator of Biggsville,' to make a presentation speech for us to-morrow evening. It will be Gagstatter's tenth wedding anniversary, and we are going to give him a little surprise." "Gentlemen," replied Mr. Spouter, with some severity, "can you expect a silver-tongued orator to speak at a tin wedding?"—Chicago Trabune.

Intoxication By Radiation.
From the Popular Science Monthly.

A prominent military man who had drunk moderately during the war and had abstained from that time on, while attending a dinner with his old comrades, where most of them were intoxicated, suddenly became hilarious, made a foolish speech and settled back in his chair in a drunken state, and was finally taken home quite stupid.

Another case was that of a man who had been an inebriate years ago, but had re-formed. He was recently elected to office, and gave a dinner to some friends. Amon them was a physician who had been greatly interested in these studies. He sent me a long report, the substance of which was Remarkable Short-hand Work. From the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette. One of the most remarkable feats in modern journalism was achieved by Mrs. Isabella B. Barrows, of Boston. She wrote a verbatim report of a speech made in Ger-man by Carl Schurz, which she turned into brain of Carl Schurz, which she turbed into English while her pen was flying across her paper in stenographic characters. To write stengraphically and translate from German to English simultaneously was a remarkable piece of short-hand reporting.

—Hartford Times.

The present writer knows of a still more extraordinary steno-translating feat. About fitteen years ago he was a member of the "Hansard" staff that reported verbatim the debates in the Canadian House of Commons at Ottawa. In that body the French language is officially recognized, and one member of the Hansard staff. member of the Hansard staff (a gentleman named Lumsden, of Hamilton, Ontario,) was especially assigned for the French speakers. Lumsden was not only a lightning stenographer, but was a magnificent French scholar, although an Anglo-Canadian. But he could only report verbation in English phonography (Isaac Pitman's style). It was the custom then—and probably is now—for a speech to be and probably is now-for a speech to be printed in the language (French or Eng-lish) in which it was rendered. Lumsden would not only write in English shorthand a verbatim report of a speech de-livered in French, but would with perfect ease and marvelous rapidity retranslate his English phonographic notes back into the original French. The Frenchmen used to be astonished at Lumsden's accuracy, his reports being actually verbatim.

A Spider Web Telephone.

A Spider Web Telephone.

From the Youth's Companion.

A gentleman was watching some spiders, when it occurred to him to try what effect the sound of a tuning fork would have upon them. He suspected that they would take it for the buzzing of a fly. He selected a large ugly spider that he had been feasting on flies for two months. The spider was at one edge of its web. Sounding the fork, the man touched a thread at the other side and watched the result. Mr. Spider had the buzzing sound conveyed to him over his telephone wires, but how was he to know on telephone wires, but how was he to know on which particular wire it was travelling? He ran to the centre of the web very quickly, and felt all around until he touched the thread against the other end of which the fork was sounding; then, taking another thread along, just as a man would take an extra piece of rope, he ran out to the fork and sprang upon it. Then he retreated a little way and looked at the fork. He was puzzled. He had expected to find a buzzouzzled. He had expected to find a buzz-ing fly. He got on the fork again, and danced with delight. Evidently the sound was music to him.

HOOD'S BARBAPARILLA

That Tired Feeling In experienced by almost everybody at this season, and many people resort to Hood's Sarsayarilla to drive away the languor and exhaustion. The blood, laden with impurities which have been accumulating for months, moves singuishly through the veins, the mind fitle to think quickly and the body is still slower to respond. Hood's Rarsaparilla is just what is needed. It purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood, makes the head clear, creates an appetite, overcomes that tired feeling, tones the nervous system, and imparts health and vigor to the whole body.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA "My appetite was poor. I could not sleep, had headache a great deal, pains in my back, my bowels did not move regularly. Hood's Sarsaparilla in a short time did me so much good that I feel like a new man. My pains and aches are relieved, my appetite improved. I say to others who need a good medicine, try Hood's Sarsaparilla and see." GEORGE F. JACKSON, Roxbury Station, Conn.

Shoe at $1.00 to start with; button or lace; have scamless uppers, calf grain tops, genuine kid facings, good linings, strong counters and solid leather beels and soles.
