COMPANY C INSPECTED.

THE ORGANIZATION PRONOUNCED IN GOOD CONDITION BY MAJOR BOBB, OF CARLISLE.

The Encampment Likely to Be Held In Johnstown—A Carpenter Cuts Off Several of His Fingers.

COLUMBIA, Pa., June 13.—Company C, Fourth Regiment, N. G. P., was inspected last evening in the armory by Major John G. Bobb, of Carlisle, inspector of rifle practice of the Third brigade. The company turned out forty-six officers and men in heavy marching order, and looked very well. The inspection officer was very much pleased with the appearance of the company, their equipments, etc. Lieutenant-Colonel D. B. Case, of Marietta, and Major J. R. Roney, of Allentown, were present and assisted at the inspection.

In Major Bobb's opinion the Second and Third brigades of the National Guard will have their encampment at Johnstown, as he thinks the brigades will be ordered there for duty.

Six tramps were arrested last night by the P. R. R. police for freight train riding. Squire Solly gave them 20 days in jail each.

Albert Steiner, of Washington borough, sued Mrs. Andrew Kane, of the same place, for assault and battery. The parties were before Squire Solly, when the accused waived a hearing and gave bail for court.

The seventeenth annual commencement of the Columbia high school will be held in the opera house this evening.

The high school pupils will hold a banquet in the armory on Friday evening.

The agents for foreign insurance companies doing business here have been instructed to send $10 to Drexel & Co., Philadelphia, for the Johnstown sufferers.

Ten puddlers are at work at the Columbia Iron company's mill. At the Susquehanna mill the old puddlers went to work yesterday and one former puddler returned this morning.

Fredinand Hogenlogler had two fingers of his right hand mashed, yesterday, while at work at the Susquehanna rolling mill. Dr. Markel dressed the injury.

At the prohibition meeting at the Methodist church last evening, arrangements were made for poll committees. A number of gentlemen volunteered to be at the polls on Tuesday next.

The Columbia Rifle club will chance off a rifle at Weimer's cigar store this evening.

The Columbia Gun club will have a friendly match on the island on Friday afternoon.

The Columbia Lark club will camp at Falling Waters, W. Va., on July 6th. The name will be "R. E. Williams camp."

A number of young people visited Mrs. John Smith, at Cordelia, last night and had a good time.

Dr. H. S. Mellinger, of Manor township, had a large tobacco warehouse raised yesterday, and a large crowd was present. Joseph Aierstick, the carpenter in charge, struck his left hand with a hatchet and almost severed the thumb and two fingers from his hand. The wound is of a serious nature and was attended to by Dr. Mellinger.

MARVELOUS TRAVELLING.

The Greatest Railroad Special on Record Travels 20,000 Miles.

Dr. W. Seward Webb, president of the Pullman Palace Car company, has just completed what the New York Herald calls the most remarkable railroad trip on record. The party had lived and travelled for six weeks in the most complete and gorgeous railroad train ever put together. It was a special train and a special trip. It made the fastest time ever known in the history of railroading, and the party visited more places of interest and got over more ground than any similar company of excursionists ever did.

Dr. Webb, who is a son-in-law of William H. Vanderbilt, had four magnificent cars equipped for his party of sixteen, and on the sixth of April left New York for a 20,000 mile journey. On the train was a nursery of two rooms, two bathrooms, a dining car with partitions removed so that the room extended the full length; an observation room fitted with rolling maps and a cyclometer for measuring the speed of the train; bed-rooms and parlors, and a combined bouffet and baggage car. There is a handsome piano on the train. By living in the train, stopping but a short time at resting places and in visiting rapidly only the most famous attractions they have seen the most noted places in the United States, British America and Alaska, in almost incredibly short time.

Dr. Webb has been in constant communication with his secretary in New York by using a phonograph, which he took with him on the train. He has also sent letters to his friends by the same method, speaking into the instrument and sending cylinders by mail to be replaced in other instruments in New York to repeat the messages they had borne thousands of miles, reproducing the very tone of the doctor's voice.

In one of the cylinders his words are mingled with the subdued voices of his children, who were singing at the other end of the car to the soft accompaniment of the piano. This cylinder was commenced just after the party had visited Niagara Falls. He added to it in Chicago, finished it in Omaha and mailed it back from Denver. It tells the story of their running between New York and Buffalo at 50 and 52 miles an hour; in Canada, from St. Thomas to Detroit, 112 miles in 115 minutes, and somewhere between Detroit and Chicago the doctor made himself heard above the roar of the train, "The cyclometer shows that we are running 60 miles an hour." The cylinder was spoken to while the train was running, and when one listens to its story he hears the rumble and roar of the train, and can distinguish the different sounds as the car passes over a culvert, or the rattle of a passing train, or the shriek of the engine as it approaches a crossing.

At first the fast time made the ladies and children nervous, but by the second day they had become accustomed to the motion and enjoyed it. The run from Chicago over the Chicago & Northwestern to Omaha was made in thirteen hours. The time of the fast limited is sixteen hours. This is said to be the fastest time ever made between those points—496 miles—and the longest continuous run ever made by one engine. All trains were kept out of the way and every switch spiked over the whole route. The master mechanic of the road accompanied them, and at different points engines with steam up were in waiting to take the train in case anything happened to the one in service.

They have been in the Garden of the Gods; they have seen the Great Needles by moonlight, and among the hundreds of wonderful and delightful places they have visited are San Bernardino, Monterey, San Francisco, Fenloe Park and Spokane Falls. On May 7 they stopped at the famous Philorive silver mines and on the 10th at Great Falls, M. T. They came as far east as St. Paul and rested three days before starting for Winnipeg and Alaska; then they came east over the Canadian Pacific, after stopping a week in the wild regions of Aticon.

Charged With Stealing Clothing.

Frank Weaver has been arrested and held in bail for hearing before Alderman Deen. The young man, who comes from the country, was formerly employed at Hirsh & Brother's clothing store. It is alleged that while he was there he stole a lot of clothing. He left the store recently, and on Saturday evening an employe of the establishment saw him wearing a familiar looking pair of pantaloons and a vest. He was at once suspected of stealing the things, and when he was arrested his room at the Leopard hotel was searched. In it two full suits, two pairs of pantaloons, and a pair of kid gloves that had been taken from Hirsh's store were found.

The Villain or His Double.

Photographs of Maroney and McDonald, the men arrested in New York in connection with the Cronin case, were mixed with a number of others and shown, first to Salesman Hatfield, of Ravell & Co., who sold the furniture subsequently found in the Carlson cottage in Lake View, in which Dr. Cronin was murdered. Mr. Hatfield without hesitation picked out Maroney's portrait as that of the man to whom he sold the furniture.

The pictures were then mixed up and shown to Mr. Throckmorton, the real estate agent, who rented the rooms on Clark street and opposite Dr. Cronin's office, to which the furniture was first carted from Ravell's. Mr. Throckmorton picked out the picture of Maroney as the man to whom he rented the rooms. Once more the pictures were shuffled, and this time they were shown to Expressman Martenson, who carted the furniture from the Clark street rooms to the Carlson cottage in Lakeview, where Dr. Cronin was murdered. The result was the same. Maroney's picture was again selected, this time as the man who had hired the furniture moved. Neither of these persons knew what had been done by the other. In each of these cases the man gave his name as J. B. Simmons.

JACOBS' RESPITE EXTENDED.

The Commonwealth Given Time to Answer the Evidence Making Him Insane.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 13.—The Board of Pardons at the meeting to-day decided to recommend an extension of the respite of James H. Jacobs to three months from the 25th of June, the date fixed for the execution, for the purpose of giving the commonwealth ample time to secure expert and other testimony as to the mental condition of the prisoner.

It was stated by E. K. Martin that owing to the late time in which the defense took its testimony to show the insanity of Jacobs, the commonwealth could not meet it by other evidence.

[The testimony of Dr. J. Z. Gerhard, of the state insane asylum, and Dr. Edward N. Bruch, of Kirkbride's, Philadelphia, experts on insanity, who pronounce Jacobs insane, will be published in the INTELLIGENCER to-morrow.]

An Odd Fellows' Demonstration.

The seventieth anniversary of Odd Fellowship in America will be celebrated on the state fair grounds, Philadelphia, on Saturday. Dissolving Views, To-Night.

In addition to the large and interesting collection of war and other scenes to be exhibited to-night, at Proctor's opera house, by Colonel Grover, a veteran of the war, there will be shown a series of Johnstown scenes, both before and after the flood. Colonel Grover has a world-wide reputation as an orator and entertainer, and since his last visit to Lancaster he has had the honor of exhibiting this war collection before the royalty of Europe. The present series will continue each evening during the week, with change of programme nightly. A matinee will be given on Saturday afternoon. Prices, 10, 20 and 30 cents.

The Example of Rhode Island.

The Prohibitionists who hold that prohibition can be enforced have yet to offer an explanation of its failure in Rhode Island. In no other state of the Union could its chances of success be more favorable than in this little commonwealth, with its orderly and law-abiding people. Yet in no other where it has ever been tried has it ever been so wretched a failure. The police authorities of the state have abandoned their efforts to enforce it, declaring that to do so is simply a waste of time and energy. No one who wants intoxicating liquors has the slightest trouble in buying all that he desires. In the city of Providence the number of saloons is in proportion to the population three times as many as now carry on business in Philadelphia. There is no denial of the fact that in that city there now exist upwards of five hundred saloons which the police authorities have been powerless to suppress.

It was only three years ago that a majority of the people of Rhode Island expressed themselves in favor of prohibition through their constitution. Within that time they have evidently been convinced of the error and folly of their course. They are now as anxious to get rid of that amendment to the organic law as they were eager originally to take it up. Their last Legislature went through the constitutional form of ordering a resubmission of the question to the people. As it is necessary there, as it is in this state, for a second Legislature to enact the same resolution, the voters had an opportunity to express their sentiments at the polls in the election of legislators. The result last April was the choice of a Legislature pledged by an overwhelming majority to submit the amendment to the people. This Legislature has just begun its session, and there is abundant reason for the belief that it will name a day for a special election as early as the terms of the constitution will permit.

In the meantime the sale of intoxicating liquors will go on without restraint, as it does now, until prohibition has been taken out of the constitution and a wise and wholesome license law placed upon the statute book. Thus it is that the police authorities have become powerless to enforce a law which a formidable minority of the people will not sustain, while the state has been deprived of a revenue it should have enjoyed, and the organic law brought into derision and contempt. What explanation have the friends of prohibitory amendment to make in regard to these things? If any has been made, it has not yet come under our notice. Yet they are now calling upon the people of Pennsylvania—a state in which the difficulties of enforcing prohibition would be doubly as great as they have been in Rhode Island—to set up the same experiment. If experience, however, is worth anything as a warning, it would be well for every voter here who may still be in doubt as to the efficacy of such an amendment to turn his attention to the state of Roger Williams. There is not the slightest doubt in the mind of any impartial observer that the people there are a good deal like the couples who marry in haste and repent at leisure, and that they will eagerly take advantage of the coming opportunity to get out of the predicament in which they have been placed. The first thing that they will do as soon as they are free again to act will be to enact such a law as we now have in Pennsylvania on the subject of the liquor traffic. As for prohibition, they have had enough of it to last them for at least one generation. 1td
