End of the Chippews Spree.

The troops sent to Mille Lacs have returned to Fort Snelling. The Indians had obsered off and were not inclined to make further trouble. The scared settlers have regained courage and are returning to their homes. It is likely that the arrest of Wadens, the young buck who shot Magnusson, will be left to the United States marshal and his deputies.

The Indians threatened with the loss of their possessions, have grown bitter toward the government and the whites, but they are held in check by a provision in the treaty which secures them their rights. When they sold the bulk of their reservation twenty-three years ago a treaty was signed giving them the right to live on the reserve as long as they are at peace with the whites, and they know that any organized attack on the settlers would be an excuse for taking the land.

Chronic and Acute Maladies.

Major Stofah, who loves to talk a little himself, ran across a friend the other evening, who was just full enough to be disagreeably voluble. The major stood it as long as he could.

"Here, eclonel," he said at last, "let up on that talking. You are making a holy show of yourself."

The colonel locked at the major reproachfully for a full minute.

A fishing and gunning party killed eleven geese belonging to Adam R. Lefever, near the mouth of the Conestoga creek, below Rock Hill, on Tuesday. The parties who did the shooting were pursued to Rock H and one of the number was identified. It probable that suits will be entered again the parties engaged in the shooting.

From the Philadelphia Record.

Yesterday's election was the result of Yesterday's election was the result of an agreement made by Senator Quay with the prohibitionists during the Beaver campaign of 1886, that if they turned in for Beaver he would agree to submit the question of prohibition to the people. It will be recalled that during the summer of 1886, and immediately prior to the Republican state convention, there was much fear among Republican politicians that Charles S. Wolfe, who had announced his candidacy for governor on the Prohibition tickel, might defeat Beaver. As a sop to the Prohibitionists Quay agreed to use his influence with the Legislature to submit the question of Prohibition to the people. When the convention which nominated Boaver opened, Quay offered a submission resolution, which was promptly objected to by Christ Magee, who asserted that the party would rue the day when they let the amendment go to the people. Quay triumphed in the convention, as he did in inducing the two succeeding Legislatures to approve the submission scheme. The amendment caunot come before the people again for five years.

A WINDFALL FOR A TRAMP.

Efforts Being Made to Find John J.Gohr, Who Has Been Awarded $2,000.

Pension Agent Schock at Williamsport is looking for John J. Gohr, who has been granted a pension. In February, 1886, Gohr, who is a tramp, came into the office of Agent Schock and presented his claim for a pension, he having served in Company B, 205th Pennsylvania Volunteers. Gohr then left, and for a year nothing was heard of him, when he turned up in the Western part of the state. About nine months ago Mr. Schock heard from him again from Centre county, but since then his whereabouts are unknown. Gohr has been allowed a pension of $8 per month been allowed a pension of $8 per month and arrearage amounting to over $2,000. Every effort is being made to find the for-

The barrel boat in which Professor C. D. Graham intends going over Niagara Falls early in July, arrived at Niagara yesterday. The boat was built in London, Ont. It is buoy-shaped, 12 feet long, 3) feet across the centre and 2 feet across the ends. It has 21 iron hoops encircling it and five hanging lengthwise. The boat is divided into three compartments and in the ends are air chambers. The foolhardy navigator intends placing himself in the centre. There is a manhole on top which the occupant closes after he gets into the boat.

A dispatch from Washington says Senator Gorman, in speaking of the pro-posed abandonment of the Chesapeake & Ohio canal expressed the opinion that it would be feasible to put the canal would be leasible to just the canal on its legs once more, and took it for granted that it would be done It is thought to be reasonable to calculate that the Maryland Legislature will be ready to make the most liberal and just provision to stimulate private enterprise in this connection. The efficiency of the canal is closely allied to legal interests and only if allied to local interests not only in George-town and Washington, but also in the entire section of Maryland which it traverses from Georgetown to Cumberland, and $300,000, which it is estimated will put it in fair condition for its entire length represents not more than a fixed annual Funeral of Rev. Dr. Kremer. The funeral of the late Dr. F. W. Kremer, who was killed at a railroad kremer, who was killed at a railroad crossing near Annville, took place in Lebanon yesterday, and was the largest ever witnessed there. A long procession of clergymen, including many in attendance upon the Lutherah synod, followed the remains to the grave. Services were held in St. John's Reformed church. The church was draped in mourning. Revs. Resser, Steckel, Hiester and Bomberger conducted the services.

Attempting a Revolution. The steamship Wanderer, from Central America, has arrived at New Orleans and America, has arrived at New Orleans and reports that great excitement prevailed at Ruatan, owing to a reported discovery of a plot which the natives had formed to take possession of the island and place it under another flag. The British yacht Rossland had been in that vicinity some time and her captain was ashore the night of the expected attack. He was arrested, but subsequently released. It was also reported that the yacht had a cargo of small arms. This occurred about the 7th instant. The natives were leaving the island as fast as possible.

The Cyclone In the Atlantic.

The cyclone passed over Florida to the Atlantic coast, and was central on Tuesday just off the South Carolina coast, in the path of south-bound vessels. It moved slowly northeastward. The high pressure prevailing over the North Atlantic will somewhat retard its movement, and may force it more to the eastward. It has caused heavy rains in all the states on the coast from Florida to North Carolina.

The northwestern storm moved to the castward, north of Minnesota, without gaining energy. Rain fell on Tuesday in all the Northwestern states, in the Mississippi and Missouri valleys, and the lake regions. The Cyclone in the Atlantic.
