The Distribution.

There is likely to be more difficulty in distributing the flood relief funds in there has been in raising them. ness in devising a plan of distribution, and it is only now that the state committee appointed by the governor has indicated the policy that it will seek to pursue. That policy seems to be all right, but it will be attended by vast difficulty in execution, and it is not likely that it will be very successfully done. The committee declare that they conthe fund as a charity for the needy and not as a general indemnity for losses sustained ; and that it cannot therefore be distributed per capita nor by percentage on the amount of the ses, nor must it be used for the benefit of any corporation. We understand from this that the rich will not be distributees, whatever their loss, that only the poor will receive a share of the fund, and that the effort will be to distribute in proportion to the need of the sufferer and not in proportion to No fault certainly can be found with this conception of the mode in which distribution shall be made, if it can be done as proposed it will be well done. That it will require a great deal of good judgment and hard work to come with the execution anywhere near to the justice of the conception, is very clear. The sufferers are so many and their condition so various as to make the work of distribution according to their need a very difficult one. Their loss must be first ascertained and then their ability to sustain it. What will guide this decision? It will only be plain when the sufferers are penniless; after the need of these is attended to, there will remain a greater number in various stages of deprivation; and relationance a compensation according to the diff. Shoeb led from of each will be a task of great delicacy ; and it is certain to be performed with only approximate The time has gone by when the population of the Conemaugh valley requires to be supported upon the fund; and the local committee protests against a further general distribution of supplies, as they say it is encouraging the workmen to idleness and preventing the revival of business by depriving the storekeepers of customers. The fund has become a curse instead of a blessing, in this mode of distribution, and they ask for an immediate division of the fund among the sufferers, that they may know where they stand and may go to work to renew their fortunes. This is good counsel so far as it demands an immediate application of the fund. It was provided for an emergency and was not intended as a pen-sion fund. It should be distributed as quickly as it can be done judiciously; but whether in money or in buildings will be a question for consideration. The great loss of the class needing help has been in dwellings and furniture; and it would seem that a good plan of relief would be in the use of the amount given to each sufferer in the restoration of his dwelling and its necessary furniture. There will be abundant work in the devastated region for its population in the renewal of its structures; and the wisest disposition of the relief fund seems to be in the prompt application of it to building, which will supply at once homes and work for the sufferers.

Literary Goods.

The old comment still continues upon the fact that Edgar Allan Poe, one of the most brilliant of writers of poetry and prose, received but slight compensation for his wonderful labors, though the days in which he lived were not very long ago. Ten dollars for the "Raven," and ten dollars a week as magazine editor, is compensation that seems astonishing for literary work of extraordinary quality, in these days when very poor stuff brings fortunes to its concoctors. It shows how vastly this country has grown in its demand for literary matter and how certainly its quality does not grow with its price. Generally the commodity improves in grade with the money it commands, and for a high price the best product may be got. But it is not so with literary goods. There were just as good poets, orators, preachers and lawyers, to the thousand of population, in the old days, when their services were paid for in country produce, as there are now when they do not and their fees. It seems that thought expressed by speech cannot be produced or stimulated by money. The best it has it gives for the current consideration, and there is no chance of getting better by bidding bigher. Thought may be stimulated by money to the production of mechanical devices, but it will not be seduced by such 'consideration to breathe in words that burn with a flercer fire.

The Blockley Inquiry ..

The conviction of three keepers of the insane at the Philadelphia hospital, commonly known as Blockley, is a victory for the Philadelphia Inquirer. Its work was difficult and extremely disagreeable, but it had at least the encouraging assurance that there would be no political or ring influence exerted to secure a whitewashing investigation, as this great hospital has of late years been freed from that great hindrance the efficiency of public char-s. Autocratic Mayor Fitler recently made his will supreme there in a very offensive way, but aroused a storm of indignation that warned him to go no further. The conditions at Blockley were peculiarly favorable to the success of the Inquirer man's plan to expose buses, if such existed, and yet it would he pretty safe to assume that the place in marvellously free from defects in comon with all the other institutions of the kind in the country. The wards and keepers of an almshouse hospital not apt to be of a sympathetic nature and their natural roughness is often and their natural by their life and arther brutalized by their life and their need to be conproundings. They need to be con-eatly watched and checked by their superiors, and a rare combination of abilities is demanded of the Physicians in charge. A studious, conscientious physician, whose life has been devoted to the alleviation of misery and the incidental accumulation of shekels, is small to the life has been devoted to the alleviation of misery and the incidental accumulation of shekels, is usually the last man to suspect a subordinate of cruelty or harshness. When the newspaper steps in and exposes abuses right under his nose, he is natur-ally indignant and incredulous, and the jury invariably sympathizes with his incredulity. The jury did so in this case in a surprising way. The judge had taught them that the offense, if there was any, was aggravated assault and but they simply found the accused guilty of assault and battery, and some of them explained that even this conclusion was only provoked by the stupidity of the keepers in denying point blank all of the strongly supported charges. The reasoning amounted to about this: the charges are brought by a newspaper, they reflect a little upon physicians, they must therefore be exaggerated. The keepers deny too vigorously evidence that is irresistible, they must be lying.

This is highly complimentary to the medical profession, and a sad commentary on the power of the press, but it seems to fit in with the cold facts.

Poor old Egypt! She cannot get her axes reduced and necessary public works completed because France and England have a squabble over her debt.

JOHN B. HILL, of San Francisco, died on Thursday, having broken his neck on the twenty-second of May by getting in the road of a falling bale of hay weighing two hundred and fifty pounds. His neck was reduced to one and one-eighth inches in length and five doctors sat on the case, remarking that his tenacity of life was

It is reported in the Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph that the Johnstown bureau of information, which has charge of the regisration of the living and the dead, is dereloping startling results.

"It was found that in some instance arge families have been registered as often as four times, and in this way thousands of duplications have resulted. This shows on the most conservative figuring, that 12,000 people in the towns and from 3,000 to 4,000 in the suburbs have not registered. Of course these people have not all been lost, but a great percentage of them have been, and this is a decided set back to those who have been putting the loss of life at three or four thousand,"

This is rather loose guessing and the public will prefer to await the report of the chief of the bereau. Doubtless a great many of the saved fled from Johnstown in horror without stopping to register, request to a view of

In the college boat races on the Thames on Thursday six men of the defeated Columbia crew fell in a faint as soon as their boat had crossed the line at the finish. The two others fainted soon after. This does not look like very healthy sport for young men not thoroughly developed. The win-ning Cornell crew pulled a much faster stroke, and did not hurt themselves a bit.

WE have received from the department fagriculture, division of economic ornithology and mammalogy, a massive volume an inch thick and little less than a foot square, devoted entirely to the English sparrow. It would now be proper for the sparrow to succumb at once before this attack "en masse" by Secretary Rusk, but it well known that, like the British at Waterloo, the sparrow is too stupid to know when he is beaten. The administration has begun war upon the sparrow with surprising and highly commendable vigor, but when we contemplate a map of the battle-field it must be confessed that the odds appear to be in favor of the enemy. The volume is fitted with a map of the United States showing by raspberry colored spots and blotches the conquests of the English sparrow at the end of the year 1886. From Central Kansas to the Atlantic and from Northern Florida to Canada there is a solid raspberry blush over the face of the land at the presence of the conquering sparrow. There is a blotch at San Francisco, another at Salt Lake, and a patch in Louisiana, while little spots are scattered here and there marking the outposts of the advancing hosts. No wonder that the eminent ornithologists in charge of this voluminous attack cry out in trumpet tones on page 164: "The English sparrow is a curse of such virulence that it ought to be syste matically attacked and destroyed before it becomes necessary to deplete the public treasury for the purpose, as has been done in other countries. " Then tollow direc-tions for the prosecution of exterminating by fire-arms, traps and poison. This interesting book is prepared under the direction of Dr. C. Hart Merriam, or-

A Girl Stabbed by a Burglar.

A burglar entered the house of John Webber, in La Crosse, Wis., on Wednesday night through a window in a room occupied by his two daughters, Kate and Lenz. The girls were awakened while the robber was searching their clothing and Lena, the younger sister, aged 18 years, attempted to escape. She stumbled and fell, and before she could arise she was seized by the burglar who plunged a knife into her body. The knife was palled upward and a deep gash about nine inches long was cut, leaving exposed the heart, longs and intestines.

long was cut, icaving exposed the heart, lungs and intestines.

The assassin then went to the bed and made a thrust at the other garl, who managed, however to evade the knife. The family were aroused by the noise, but the burglar esc aped from the house. The endits reduce the same and the case and the police force is at work on the case and have made about 20 arrests of suspicious characters up to noon. There is much excitement and if the murderer is caught, he will probably be lynched. His victim is expected to die at any moment.

TRAT OFFER OF $5,000. Our readers will doubtless call to mind the offer so widely advertised for the past ten years by H. H. Warner & Co., the proprietors of Warner's Safe Cure and Warner's Log Cabin Remedies, that they would pay $5,000 to any person who would prove to an impartial referee that they had ever published a testimonial that was not genuine as far as they knew.

This offer had the ring of honosty about it, and as the matter has an especial interest just now we give a copy of the offer as it appears in the Messrs. H. H. Warner & Co.'s pamphlet:

22-AN OFFER OF $5,000.00. Ga

Every Testimonial published by us is Bono Fide, and, so far as we know, is absolutely frue. To any one who will prove the contrary to an impartial referee we will give $5,000.

Rochester, N. Y., January 2, 1888.

We ask the reader's careful attention to the following testimonials, as bearing on the offer, and their unblased opinion of the same with reference to the $5,000.

Jowa CITY, Ia., June 30, 1888.—Some weeks since my daughter had a severe attack of Rheumatism. She was persuaded to take one bottle of Warner's Safe Cure, and one of Warner's Safe Rheumatic Cure, and has entirely recovered. We think it wonderful, as twice before

CAMP VERDE, Arizono, Oct. 27, 1888.—For nearly a year I suffered from Gravel, and was under the treatment of a doctor. I took a great deal of medicine, but it all seemed to fail. I then began with Warner's Safe Cure, and after using one bottle of it began to get better; got another bottle and took half of it. The gravel stone left me, and I began to mend. I am now feeling as well as I ever did in my life.—Mss.

Newark, N. Y., June 29, 1888.—Last winter I was attacked with severe kidney difficulty, which incapacitated me for work, severe palus in the small of the back, attended with almost constant aching on the least exertion. I suffered much pain, the passage of water was a severe trial, accompanied with much scalding and redness of the urine. I felt I was suffering from premomitory symptoms of Bright's Disformer and the second of the premomitory symptoms of Bright's Disformer was a severe trial, accompanied with much scalding and redness of the urine. I felt I was suffering from premomitory symptoms of Bright's Disfrom premonitory symptoms of Bright's Dis-sase. I procured a bottle of Warner's Safe Cure, and after taking the first bottle I felt so much improved that I continued to take it to the ex-tent of four bottles. I am now a new man, able to do a hard day's work, with no recurrence of any trouble with the kidneys.—MANDEVILLE

There is no getting away from such testimony as the above. The offer is genuine. In fact Messrs. H. H. Warner & Co. have always re-quested that doubters should write direct to persons giving testimonials, (chelosing stamp.) and who are of necessity, in the great majority of cases, totally unacquainted with the firm.
