CELLING OFF!

WHATEVER THY HAND PINDETH." Red, red the sunset flames behind
The black, black closs and hedges,
All through the noon no least leaf stirred.
But crickets hummed and bettles whirred.
Now comes a breath of fresh, sweet wind
From stient pools and sedges.

All through hot noon the reapers stand And toil, with jests and laughter, Beneath the blazing skies that burn.
Then, laughing still, they homeward turn
By threes and fours; and hand in hand
Go two that linger after.

And here we linger hand in hand, And watch the blacking shedows Had we been born to reap and sow, To wake when swallows stir, and go Forth in chill dawn to plow the land, Or mow the misty meadows. Had that been nobler? Love of mine, We still had only striven, As now we strive, to do our best,

To do good work and earn good rest-All work that's human is divine,
All life, fived well, makes heaven!

A LOST SECRET.

P. J. Seymour Dies Without Revealing the Secret of Manufacture. The manager of the American Aluminum company, Fred. J. Seymour, died in Findlay, O., last Friday, and the secret of making aluminum died with him. He making aluminum died with him. He was the inventor of processes by which this valuable metal could be profitably extracted from common clay, and had put his inventions into practical use. About four years ago, as the result of years of experiments, F. J. Seymour, then a citizen of Detroit, secured patents covering processes for the manufacture of aluminum. He had little difficulty in inducing capital to take hold of the enterprise, and the American Aluminum company ducing capital to take hold of the enterprise, and the American Aluminum company was organized, with General Russell A. Alger as president and Senator Palmer, of Michigan, as vice president. The discovery of natural gas in Findlay caused the location of the laboratories there. Expensive retorts and valuable machinery were constructed, and the manufacture was begun on a large scale, and proved so successful that large quantities of the metal were on a large scale, and proved so successful that large quantities of the metal were placed upon the market at a large profit. The process, although patented in nearly all of its points, has been kept a religious secret and no one has ever been permitted to penetrate the mysteries surrounding it. A fifteen-foot picket fence surrounds the buildings, with its gates doubly padlocked. From remarks made by the chemists and other employes at different times it is gathered that the clay after being ground in water and treated with various chemicals, it is heated to 1,500 degrees in large retorts until it has become thoroughly fused. When it has reached the crowning temperature the precious metal is separated from the mass by the addition of a certain chemical in specific quantities, but the chemical in specific quantities, but the name and nature of this chemical is not disclosed in the letters patent, nor has any one employed about the works ever dis-covered it. It is this secret that has gone down into the grave with F. J. Seymour. It had been his invariable custom to await the critical moment when the fluid mass had reached the right stage, and then all the employes were excluded from the room, the doors were locked, and all alone, he went through the mysterious process of the laboratory, adding a chemical that no one knows the name of, has never seen, and in quantities that cannot even be guessed at. His death came as the result of a paralytic stroke, from which he never rebed he had no opportanity of revealing the all-important secret. The stockholders of the company are undetermined what to takes of food thrice a day. The digestive organ refuses on each occasion to perform the duty assigned to it by nature, and trouble ensues. How discipline, how regulate it? Simply with a wineglassful of the genial invigorant and ap-pelizer. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, before each meal and before retiring. Digestion will, after a course of this pleasant regulator, becomafter a course of this pleasant regulator, become easy, and its forerunner, appetite, also improves. Nervousness and insomnia, always induced by chronic dyspepsia, will disappear induced by chronic dyspepsia, will disappear with its disappearance thus insured, and constipation and billiousness, its usual attendants, also take their leave. Not only will the system acquire strength, but also substance by a more perfect assimilation of the food. Rheumatism, malarial and kidney complaint and neuralgis, yield to the Bitters.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.

IT COSTS LESS On the question of real economy Hood's Sar-saparilla is so far shead of other preparations as to place them entirely out of the race as com-petitors. Here are facts in regard to this popu-ar medicine, easily susceptible of conclusive proof.

1. Hood's Sarsaparilla Costs the Manufacturer More than any other competing preparation, because it is more highly concentrated and contains more real medical value.

2. It costs the Jobber More, as a consequence of the fact just stated.

3. It costs the Retail Druggist More, for the same reason—as can easily be learned by inquiry. Hence the desire of some retailers to sell their own preparations, which cost them less, and for which they get the same price, thus making more money. But

4. It Costs the Consumer LESS than any other medicine, because of its greater concentrated medicine, because of its greater concentrate strength and the quantity in each bottle, an because it is the only preparation of which can truly be said, "100 Doses One Dollar." That the people appreciate this is shown by the fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has the Largest sale of any sarsaparilla or blood purifier. It possesses peculiar merit and effects wonderful

SHOES FOR HEAVY MEN

COMMENCING Monday, July 8th, WE START A SELLING OFF SALE

Eight out of every ten large and fat men don't know that shoes to fit them are possible ready-made. They think ready-made are just made to fit the average sizes foot, that their only resort is the custom shoemaker, who makes for any size and charges accordingly. We have a number of broadsoled shapes, with plenty of room inside for the expansion of the feet that must needs bear and afford locomotion to the heavy weight that's often above them. Often, too, there's more comfort and less pinch in ours than those of measured work. There's difference enough in price to warrant giving us a call, if not buying and trying these shapes. ($2 to $5).
