The Pennsylvania relief statement shows the following benefits paid to employes residing in Columbia during month of rumors were circulated.

The only act of impropriety alleged was that Miss Miranda Fry saw Dr. Shumaker kiss Mrs. Diener on the porch as he was leaving on May 27. She says the door was open and the light foll in upon them and she saw it, but Sterling Rhoads, whom she had called into the yard to waten, and who was there with her, says he saw no kissing, that the doctor came out, said good evening, passed through the yard to the pike and to his home and Miss Fry and Rhoads both agree that this was the only time they were together or watching. Samuel P. Graves, plumber for Hiram Wilson, hardware merchant, was yesterday overcome by gas at Chickies. Mr. Graves was doing some repairing for Haldeman, Grubb & Co. in the boiler room of their furnace. He was working in the top of one of the botlers when the escaping gas from a leaky valve rendered him unconscious. He was assisted by a work-min who was with him and was brought ome in the afternoon in the 3:15 train. This morning he is entirely recovered from the effects of the gas and returned to morning, the largest picnic of the season. George McClarin, the boy who was bitten by a dog yesterday in the arm, is doing well and no ill effects are feared.

Dr. J. W. Yost, of Bethesda, this county. was in town this morning.

The water was let out of the Pennsylvania canal yesterday to allow a sunken boat to be recovered at Chickies. The low water badly cripples the work at the Susquehanna coal wharves at this place.

Nearly all the dogs running at large yesterday were muzzled. Messrs. Gohn One of the residents of a tall tenement in West Thirtieth street, nearly opposite Captain Reilly's station house, recently secured a fine mocking bird. At night he fills the air with variegated melody and imitations of all sorts of queer sounds that he hears in the bisy neighborhood. One peculiarity of the bird is the rapidity with which it learns and reproduces new sounds. The and Duck, the dog catchers, commenced to "gather them in" this morning. They bagged about one dozen this morning. The tax collector to-day issued notices to all dog owners for the tax.

John Hill, a P. R. R. brakeman, sprained his foot in the west yard yesterday afternoon. He was sent home.

Mrs. A. E. Keim entertained a number of young friends at her home, on North Third street, last evening. The party was in honor of Misses Jennie Strawhorn and Maggie Clark, of Philadelphia, who are visiting Mrs. Keim.

Henry F. Keenan, the author of "Trajan," "The Aliens," and other novels of a recent period, and who is as well known in newspaper circles as in the literary.

in newspaper circles as in the literary world, has emerged from his long retirement at Scranton, Pa. He lately purchased a farm near Mamaroneck, Westchester county, this state, where he ex-pects to spend the remainder of his days. Keenan has been for 20 years in newspaper work East and West; the Chicago mes, Philadelphia Times and Press, and New York Stor have been in succession the fields of his labor; but with his ventures into fiction he abandoned journalism, and for some time has been almost lost to his old associates. Having now set his stakes and fastened his cords so near to the metropolitan centres of literary activity, he will doubtless, between the seasons of seed-time and harvest, co-enter the ranks of those who seek fame or fortune with the pen; and it will be no surprise to those who know him to hear of his occasional engagement with the New York newspapers and periodicals. At Mennercher Garden

There was a great rush to the Mænnerchor garden last evening and it was crowded. Welch and Collins, the Lorraines and William Mitchell of last week's company have been retained and they appeared last evening in an entire change of proame which was very pleasing. Two new faces were seen. One of these was Frank Smith, a fair song and dance man. The other was Walter Wentworth, the contortionist. He is a man sixty-two years of age now and the oldest in his line of business before the public. He seems as nimble and active as ever and does his act with old time sprightliness. He made a great hit last evening in his turn and caused much laughter as the monkey in his old act "The Mischevious Monkey."

He Resembles a Ground-Hog. De Kaib county, Alabama, has a genuine wonder in the shape of a ground-hog boy, who lives with his parents on Sand Mountain, about 16 miles from Birmingham. The lad is 14 years of age, and those who have seen him say he has head, hands, and feet similar to a ground-hog. He cannot talk, but makes a noise like an animal. He amuses himself almost constantly by balancing a himself almost constantly by balancing a stick on one of his hands, and is very active. Several gentlemen have been talking of late of securing the consent of the parents to place the boy on exhibi-tion in all of the principal cities of the country, and on account of their poverty, it is said that it will not be a hard matter to make a contract with them. All who have seen the boy pronounce him a genuine curiosity, and believe a large fortune could be made out of him by placing him on exhibition.

The comet was subject to immense strain and stress in passing that part of its orbit nearest the sun, and it is now showing the effect of these forces in the following way: Its body is evidently becoming disintegrated, and fragments are seen to be streaming behind the comet in the form of a tail, directed not from, but toward the sun. This mass of matter was measured by Barnard on July 18, and his measures show that its least possible length is 430,000 miles, and its least possible diameter is 144,000 miles, so that fragments which have already broken off from this comet amount to at least 76 quadrillion

DOCTOR RONEY'S WILL.

He Gave Pretty Miss Prizer a Big Brick The busy tongue of gossip is wagging at lively rate over the will of the late Dr. W. Roney, who died a few days ago in Potistown.

He was a widower, and in his drug store was pretty Ida Prizer. Dr. Ronoy was a widower and when his wife died, through some misunderstanding about properly there was an estrangement in the family. Miss Prizer then came into the doctor's drug store, and when he was ill she not only managed the store but attended to the doctor's wants. Later on she studied medicine and received a diploma all under the doctor's supervision.

The Norristown Register says that the investigation showed that since bust January the visits made, including attendance of Dr. Shumaker at a sale of Mrs. Diener's ary the visits made, including attendance of Dr. Shumaker at a sale of Mrs. Diener's goeds, were some eight or nine in number; that he first went to see her at the suggestion of members of the church, the wife and daughter of a deacon; that other members of the church were on visiting terms with Mrs. Diener, that she was a proper person to visit, that the visits were never later than between 8 and 9 o'clock in the evening, that upon at least one occasion Mrs. Shumaker accompanied her busband; that at no time when he visited was Mrs. Diener alone, but that always, either her father or mother or both, and her son, a lad of some 15 years, were in the house, frequently in the room; that the conversations related to spiritual matters, he trying to induce her to join the church, and falling in that, to induce her to join Mrs. Shumaker's Bible class. The visits were not clandestinely, but openly made, and none of the witnesses thought that there as any impropriety in them until, out of reconstructions of the Dienership.

When he died and his will was read it was learned that he had willed Miss Prizer a big brick house and lot, and his daughter he cut off with a silver dollar.

When the doctor's wife died his children demanded a prompt cash payment on their mother's estate. The doctor's daughter, Mrs. P. R. Thibold, wife of a rich Philadelphis horseman, was the principal one that demanded her money. The disruption of the family followed.

Dr. Roney's will, after giving Miss Prizer the mansion, divides the remainder of the estate between Dr. Roney's son and daughter, Mary Roney.

Miss Prizer left Dr. Roney's house immediately after his death and went to her mother's home. She has indignantly informed the executor of the will that she will not accept the gift. It is probable, Menaced by a Pillar of Water. From the Victoria Standard.

From the Victoria Standard.

A number of our British Columbia creek fishermen report a curious story. They made a trip yesterday afternoon toward San Juan island. Though there was a nice fresh breeze it was still a mile from the northwestern end of the island, and the boat found herself at once in very smooth water. There was absolutely not a breath of wind, and there was scarcely a ripple on the water, while at a *2distance the sea was rough. Accustomed as they are to the sea, they had never seen such a phenomenon. When they were regarding the smooth surface there rose at once, a short distance ahead of the boat, an immense waterspout, and, quickly ascending to a height of about 80 feet, almost immediately began working toward the boat. modiately began working toward the boat. Inured to hardship and almost constantly facing danger in one form or another, facing danger in one form of model, fishermen are not easily alarmed, but when the great pillar of swirling water began to approach in a direct line toward the boat, the hearts of the men almost stood classis and asked him to come in for an explanation. He, indiscreetly with this knowledge, did so without taking a member of the consistory with him. Then Miss Fry and others watched the house. When he came out Miss Kooker, who was out at the gate, says she heard a bolt drawn and he and Mrs. Diener came out of the side door instead of the front; that Mrs. Diener advanced to see if the coast was clear, and then the Dr. passed out; the watchers, Miss Fry, Miss Kooken and Mrs. Pugh, followed him down the pike to below the church; they say he passed beyond the hall. He says that he entered the church yard and to the parsonage by the side en-still.

As there was absolutely not a breath of wind, nothing could be done to avoid what appeared to be almost certain death, and the two men could only stand by and await their fate. But again an unexpected thing happened. The spout, instead of striking the boat, suddenly began to retreat in the same direction from which it came, and when apparently in the same place where it rose suddenly collapsed with a great splash. The fresh breeze rose and the dead calm disappeared.

The fishermen say that they do not exaggerate anything. They were sober; in fact, they never drink, and the story is perfectly true.

Men's Button Shoes. THE PEOPLE'S CASH STORE,

We've gathered together a number of excellent makes of shoes, for which we've decided to find buyers. If low prices will bring them to us, we mean not to be disappointed. These shoes come from manufactur ers of national repute, a guarantee that they are thoroughly reliable in every way and worthy the confi-dence of purchasers. None have ever questioned their cheapness at former prices. At figures now marked upon them there cannot be a single doubting Thomas. We have them in large sizes only—7's to 11's, inclusive. Warranted to have genuine tannery calfskin uppers, some with dongola and others with glove kid tops, solid leather inner and outer soles and heels, single sole leather counters, good substantial trimmings and linings. Opera and Paris toe lasts. Excellently finished. strongly made, neat fitting and very pretty. Among these makes are the pretty. Among these makes are the following: Packards' Celebrated $2.99's, the James Means $3 shoes, Field, Thayer M'fg Co. and The Hill $3 improved welt shoe. The $3 and $2.50 crades have been cut to $2. and $2.50 grades have been cut to $2. At the price they ought not bide with us long. They were made to sell for so little money. We have another excellent make of shoes upon which a cut price has been placed to give them a push forward. Were $2. Now down to $1.50. And still another lot—about 15 pairs. A good substantial kind with heavy soles. Were $1.50. Cut to $1.00.
