BUZABETH RINKER GIVEN A HEARING ON THE CHARGE OF LARCENY.

No Evidence Produced to Connect Her With Crime George Pager, an Aged Citizen, Dies on Saturday,

COLUMBIA, July 29.—Elizabeth Rincer, a young Columbia girl who for some time has been living at Strasburg, was ar-rested a few days ago by Officer Wittick. The complainant against her was her grand-mother, Elizabeth Null, of this place, who laimed that the girl stole different articles. This morning there was a hearing in the case before Squire Evans. There was no evidence to substantiate the charges and the case was dismissed. The girl then retured to Strasburg, where she is hired. She claims that her grandmother is angy at her and wants to have an excuse to send her to the House of Refuge. George Fager, one of the most prominent and respected citizens of this place, died at his home, corner Third and Lawrence streets, on Saturday afternoon in the 70th year of his age. The deceased was born in Germany, but came to this country when years of age. He was a furnaceman by trade and worked at the first furnace ever built in this place. A wife and seven children-one son and six daughters survive him. The funeral will be held on Taesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late home.

A Narrow Escape. Mrs. John J. Hensel had a thrilling experience yesterday. She was wheeling a little child in a baby carriage along the railroad bridge across the Conestoga and her little boy was walking with her. A couple of gentlemen came along driving a spirited horse, which frightened at a train of cars passing over the bridge and began to rear. Mrs. Hensel tried to pull the coach away from in front of this, and in doing this she and her little boy fell and the baby tumbled from the coach. The horse was upon them, and although he stood over them with his four feet the driver succeeded in getting him away without hurting them. Mrs. Hensel was terribly frightened, but the little baby was still asleep when it was picked from the ground.

A MONSTER SAURIAN. It Is Slaughtered on the North Branch of the Susquehanna. From the Scranton Truth. From the Scranton Truth,

For several years boatmen and others living along the Susquehanna river, between Susquehanna and Red Rock, have been interested, not to say disturbed, by a creature in the water at the latter point.
The strange marine animal always made creature in the water at the latter point. The strange marine animal always made its appearance at night, says the Carbon-dale Leader, and an unearthly, weird noise, accompanied by splashing, have often wakened people from their slumbers. Last fall, a party returning from a barvest dance at John Dalton's, were upset while crossing the stream, and two persons narrowly escaped being drowned. The majority of the party were of the opinion that the beat had collided with a log, but one or two keen-eyed ones soleunly affirmed that they had been pinched while in the water, by some submarine monster.

A few evenings ago, while a dance was in progress at Michael Hagan's at Smoky Hollow, the festivities were interrupted by Bob Brown, who put his head inside the ball room and yelled: "For God's sake, boys, come down to the river quick! I've seen the whale, and he is taking a rest on the bank opposite the tannery."

Every man armed himself, and rushing pell-mell to the river, the great animal was seen devouring the careass of a sheep. As soon as he descried the posse he dropped his supper, and slowly crawled into some bushes skirting the shore. The men, thoroughly excited, hastily constructed a raft from some old flood trash men, thoroughly excited, hastily con-structed a raft from some old flood trash and pushed out into the stream. They had not gone far, when the great jaws of the monster were set upon a board in the raft, but it was its death move, for in an instant overy man on the raft attacked it. The overy man on the raft attacked it. The monster made a terrible shriek, splashed the water violently, and finally, with one loud expiring groan, sank beneath the suring a rope the body was hauled ashore, and by a lantern's dim rays it was found to be that of a measure allients.

by a lantern's dim rays it was found to be that of a monster alligator.

To say that the captors were excited and delighted, would be drawing it mild. In an hour every inhabitant for miles around was present. Steelyards were secured, and the saurian was found to weigh 533 pounds. A physician from Hallstead, who is also: A physician from Halistead, who is also a taxidermist, was sent for and he soon arrived, along with a score of townspeople. He advised sending for Dr. Crozier, a noted taxidermist, of Cornell university, who arrived and was astonished, not only to find such a specimen of the saurian kind but that any had been found in the Susque-hanna. He gave it as his opinion that years ago some residents hereabouts had been the owner of some pet alligator and that it had at some time escaped its confines, and since grown up along the marshes of the river. An old inhabitant says that he believes that the late Isaac Griggs, formerly proprietor of the old National hotel, at Great Bend, once owned a pet alligator which was sent by a relative in Florida.

A BOY'S AWFUL CRIME.

He Kills His Father and Stepmother-A Gun and a Club Used.

In Elk township, Clayton county, Iowa on Wednesday night of last week Wesley Elkins, but little more than 11 years of age, murdered his father, John Elkins, and his stepmother. After committing the crime be took his infant sister in a carriage and drove four miles to the nearest neighbor. reporting that he had discovered his parentmurdered, and fled to preserve his own and his sister's life. On Saturday he con-fessed himself the parricide. Governor Larrabee had offered a reward of $500 for the arrest of the murderer, but suspicion at all times pointed to the lad as the guilty person.

To Judge Hatch, Wesley Elkins related the story of the crime. He had had some difficulty with his father. The night of the murder he slept in the barn. Between 2 and 3 o'clock he got up and went into the house and took down a rifle which was hanging in the kitchen, loaded it, and went into the room where his father, mother and sister were sleening. "I placed the and sister were sleeping. "I placed the muzzle of the rifle near my father's head," he says, "and sent a ball through his brain.

"This frightened my mother, and she arose, and knowing that I was discovered I went into the kitchen, seized a club, went back into the bed room and killed my mother. I stayed around the house about thirty minutes, then decided to arouse the neighbors. I took the baby from the bed where it had laid between its dead mother and father, book it into the adiciping bed and father, took it into the adjoining bed room, removed its blood-stained clothing, and with it in my arms went to the neigh-bors and related the crime that had been committed, but shielded myself. I am guilty of the crime."

Gable left at the INTELLIGENCER office to-day a statemen sworn to of the part he took in procuring from the county $55 towards the funeral expenses of Samuel Hess, an alleged indi-gent soldier. Following is his affidavit: LANCASTER CITY, SS.—Before me an alderman, in and for said city, personally came Wm. T. S. Gable, who being duly sworn says, that I did not know that Samel Hess, deceased, was a soldier and would not have known it but for the fact that Mrs. Hess told me and asked me whether all soldiers' families were not entitled to $35 upon their death. I told her that all soldiers dying and leaving their families in destilute circumstances were entitled to destitute circumstances were entitled to $00, ($35 for burial and $15 for a tombstone.) Mrs. Hess said she would be much obliged to me if I would favor them by procuring whatever they were entitled to; "that every little bit helps!; you know that Mr. Hess died and did not leave me anything, and that it would come in very word."

Hess died and did not leave me anything, and that it would come in very good."

On the evening of the day I received the $35 from Mr. A. C. Leonard, I drove to the house of Mrs. Hess, accompanied by Christ Hess, son of Samuel Hess, and paid the money to Mrs. Hess, in his presence, for which she was grateful and thanked me for bringing it out.

I never told her or anyone else that "if she did not take it the Grand Army would she did not take it the Grand Army would I was perfectly fair in the mater, and told her plainly and frankly that the money paid out of the county treasury was for the families of soldiers in destitute cir-

Attempted Suicide in Court. There was a sensational scene in Judge McConnell's court-room late on Saturday night. James W. Smith had been on trial a few days past on the charge of criminally assaulting an eight-year-old girl, who had been taken by Smith and his wife from an orphan asylum at Akron, Ohio, for adop-tion. The case was given to the jury Satur-day afternoon, and at 11:45 that night they nay afternoon, and at 11:45 that night they returned a verdict finding Smith guilty and fixing his sentence at nine years in the penitentiary. Smith was greatly affected, and rising to his feet exclaimed: "I am innocent: I swear before my God, whom I am about to meet, I'm innocent!"

As he finished he raised his hand, and with a small pocket-knife stabbed himself in the left breast. He fell backwards on the floor, while his wife, who had been sit-the floor, while his wife, who had been sitting behind him, screamed wildly: "Oh, Jim, why did you do that."

Doctors were hastily summoned, and found a wound an inch and a-half deep about three inches above the nipple. They don't think the would-be suicide will die. In his pockets was found a letter addressed to Judge McConnell, but the judge was too much excited to read it. Smith had always heretofore borne a good reputation, and was employed as a draughtsman in a railroad office there.

LEVAN'S FLOUR

We haven't the biggest mills in the world, but there is no better mill anywhere—at least there is no mill that can make better flour. So say thousands of people in this community, and we take their word for it.

If you have trouble with your baking, this hot weather, you will perhaps discover that the trouble lies with your flour-provided you do not use Levan's Flour. If you are using that article, and still have trouble with your bak-ing, perhaps it is because of the oven. It can't be the flour if you use Levan's !
