

FENDRICH WINS.

HE AND CROWNSHEADS HAVE A CONTEST WITH THE GUN ON FRIDAY.

They Were in Firing at Ten Blue Rocks, But in Shooting Off the Victor Breaks Six of Seven.

COLUMBIA, Aug. 3.—Messrs. W. H. Fendrich and Taylor Crownshields shot a match at ten blue rocks at the boat house last evening. The match resulted in a tie, each man breaking eight out of the ten blue rocks. The tie was shot off, each shooting at seven blue rocks. The match was won by Fendrich breaking six out of seven, to five for Crownshields. Several members of the Gun club held a practice yesterday afternoon when some good scores were made.

George Kellenborn was before Squire Evans this morning for trespass and was discharged upon the payment of costs.

Both main rods of engine No. 174, of the P. R. R., broke last evening near York, while coming towards Columbia. Engineer Chas. Kline, and Fireman Geo. Walk were very narrowly escaped. The rods broke the cab of the engine where the men were sitting. The engineer applied the air brake and the men left the engine by the foot board. The train was brought to town by a freight engine.

Samuel Hibbs, district secretary of the Knights of Labor, was in town yesterday afternoon.

A costume social club will be organized among the Red Men on Monday night.

The Maennerchor was serenaded last night, and rendered excellent music.

Miss Emily May and Annie Wilson went to Philadelphia to visit friends this morning.

Mrs. Clara Evans, of Baltimore, arrived to town last evening on a visit.

Miss Sallie Hoffer left for a visit to Harrisburg to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Kohler and Mrs. J. K. Lineaver left for Cape May this morning.

Edith Fields, of Philadelphia, returned home this morning after a visit to town.

Company I, of the infantry stationed at the barracks at Washington, D. C., passed through town this morning on their way to Mt. Gretna. The company was composed of 125 men.

Rev. Mr. Bell will preach in the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning.

No preaching services in St. John's and Second street Lutheran churches on Sunday.

Fourteen young ladies from York paid a visit to town last evening. They drove to Wrightsville in a hack and walked the bridge.

THE FULTON COTTON MILL.

It is sold to the Estate of William M. Wiley for $10,000.

Sheriff Burkholder sold the Fulton cotton mill at the court house this afternoon at 2 o'clock, as the property of George Calder.

The mill, with adjoining lots of ground, has a frontage on York street, of 165 feet 4 inches; one of its extents in depth to Chestnut street, of a width of 36 feet 7 inches, and the remaining ground, with mill, has a depth of 183 feet and 9 inches.

The mill building is 143 by 33 feet, two stories in height, and in it is all the machinery necessary to run a cotton mill.

The property was started at $10,000 and ran up to $16,000, at which price it was knocked down to W. F. Byer, representing the estate of Wm. M. Wiley, deceased.

His estate had the first mortgage on the property for $30,000 and accrued interest, and if necessary would have bid the property up to the full value of the mortgage.

Wilson & Bradbury, of Philadelphia, who held a second mortgage of $30,000, will get nothing out of the Calder estate.

Nothing could be learned to-day of the intentions of the Wiley estate as to the property. Whether it will be again started as a mill will be determined in a few days.

Dr. E. B. Landis Resigns.

At the meeting of the board of poor directors to-day Dr. E. B. Landis, the physician in charge of the hospital, presented his resignation, which was reluctantly accepted by the board.

Dr. Landis resigns on account of ill health.

He presented his resignation at the last meeting of the board and no action was taken. Efforts were made to have him withdraw his resignation. He said he would like to remain, but the condition of his health would not permit him to do so.

He will retire from the institution for a time at least.

The board did not fill the vacancy to-day. There are as yet no applicants. At the next meeting of the board a physician will be elected, and by that time there will be plenty of names from which to select a physician.

Death of George Pantis.

George Pantis died at his home, in East Donegal township, last Tuesday morning from an attack of pneumonia.

Deceased was born in York, Pa., and resided all his life in this neighborhood. He was a quiet and unassuming man, much respected by all who knew him.

He was a member of the Dunkard persuasion. A wife and two sons, Edward, of Spouton, and Granville, of Columbia, survive him. The funeral will be held to-day afternoon and evening. Interment was made at Peck's meeting house.

Returned From California.

Mr. Charles A. Heinisch and wife returned on Friday from a trip across the continent. They left Lancaster on June 13. After attending the sessions of the American Pharmaceutical Association at San Francisco, of which Mr. Heinisch is a member, several weeks of sight seeing to all parts of California, Oregon, and Seattle, Washington territory, and on the road home the Yellowstone park and other points of interest were visited.

Mr. Heinisch is well pleased with his trip and thinks the great far West is the country that will boom in the next quarter of a century.

Sudden Death at the Almshouse.

Sarah Good, 30 years old, of Bowmanville, was found dead in her room at the county almshouse this morning. Coroner Honaman was notified and he empaneled a jury to hold an inquest. Henry Breneman, Samuel Bickel, and George George Dorwart, William Rapp and George Shaub, the verdict was that death resulted from heart disease.

Miss Good is a niece of ex-Coroner D. A. Shiffer, and was for some time an inmate of the hospital. She was apparently ago transferred to the almshouse, and her friends have been notified of her death and they will have the body interred at her old home.

Wants Her Share.

Catherine Reddy, of Ephrata, to-day through A. J. Eberly, attorney, filed a bill in equity against E. M. Shenk, 848, which alleges that she was Shenk's partner from April 14, 1887, to March 15, 1888, in the purchase and sale of grain and that Shenk never furnished to her an account of the partnership business or paid her the share of profits to which she was entitled.

Was Not Sold.

There was to have been a public sale of the stock and fixtures of the Cooper house today, but it did not take place, as they will be sold at private sale.

The Maennerchor Picnic.

The Lancaster Maennerchor will hold their annual picnic, which will be for the members and their friends only, at Rocky Springs on Monday next.

AGAINST CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

Bishop Newman Declares It Void of Sense, Science or Salvation.

Bishop John P. Newman on Friday morning at his pleasant study in the "Flower Orient," at Round Lake, talked with a correspondent freely and frankly on certain articles going the rounds of the press to the effect that he had recently declared himself a supporter of the doctrines of "Christian Science." The bishop said: "Sometime ago I was at Des Moines, Iowa, and in a missionary sermon spoke of the beneficence of science under the name of 'Christian Science.' It was in speaking against the expression Christian Science, when it flashed upon me that the expression might be abused, and I added—'Science touched by the genius of the humanity.' The phrase was reported as used, without the explanatory qualification, and the so-called 'Christian scientists' have made the most of the remark, and declared me as preaching an 'advanced Christianity.'"

"We are compelled," the bishop continued, "to forgo the use of legitimate words because of their illegitimate use by those who pervert the Gospel of Christ. I esteem modern 'Christian Science' a perversion of a fact in nature and of a good mind, spirit on matter, and a powerful nervous organism operating upon one that is very narrow, and the effects produced can be explained largely by natural causes. It is also a perversion of the privileges of Christian prayer and faith. The only thing I believe in, Christ, and I believe it is to work through means. When these fail He can work without them; and has reserved to Himself the right to work without them whenever He pleases. When I am ill I send for a learned physician, a trained nurse, and take all remedies prescribed with rational faith and Christian belief in His power to cure. I have given some attention to the literature of these modern 'Christian scientists' and find them to be nothing more than a set of physicians for another and always with fees as large. The absurdity involved is that they invite the sufferer to give up the means which have proved themselves to be the best, and to turn to a method that there is no suffering, but only an imagination. My advice is, let us advance the beneficent science of medicine to its utmost limit, by which under the inspiration of Christianity, human ills may be lessened, sickness diminished, and life prolonged beyond the dream of divine mission of Christ to the earth. My theory is this: The miracles wrought by Jesus were the expression of His intimate knowledge of nature, as well as His power over nature, and they thereby gave the world the promise of what science would do under His enlightening and elevating teachings. Finally I have never given up my class of Christians, either by word or reference, permission to use my name in their advertisements."

The Photographs Do Not Sell.

The photographers are not making a fortune out of the pictures of Gen. Harrison's successes may be, they will always regard it as a failure. As soon as the election had settled who should have claim for the next four years, the photographers who make a business of selling pictures of people of fame, notoriety or distinction began to get ready for the market as usual pictures of Gen. Harrison and Mrs. Harrison as they could. When the cabinet was announced, their pictures were turned out by wholesale in a similar way. One photographer here had made a fortune of Mrs. Cleveland's pictures by getting first in the field and his rivals on this occasion were careful to be up to the time. An immense number of pictures were taken upon the market. They were displayed in nearly every photographer's on the streets, and all the news stands in the hotels. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the faces are already so familiar that one is curious to see what these 'great folks' look like. It may be that photographs no longer are a fad. Whatever the reason is, there has been a deep depression in the market now, and there is nothing that takes their place. The sale of Mrs. Cleveland's lining up to the last. After the election day and the complaints thus dolefully to me the other day: "Harrison has hardly any sale; Mrs. Harrison practically none; and I have not sold any of the cabinet for two or three months. It has been a dead loss. I cannot count for it, but the public do not seem to care for these pictures. It may be because the