MARSHAL NAGLE DIRECTED TO DO EVERY-TRING TO PROTECT JUSTICE FIELD.

The Ex-Judge Threatens to Harm the Man Who Seut Him to Prison For Contempt-The Victim's Career.

Following are additional particulars of the killing of ex-Judge David S. Terry in a railway dining room at Lathrop, Califor-nia, on Wednesday morning, by Deputy U. S. Marshal Nagle. Nagle was detailed as a special guard for Justice Stephen J. Field, of the U. S. supreme court. Terry had struck Judge Field and was about to repeat the blow when Nagle fired, killing Terry instantly. An encounter had been feared instantly. An encounter had been feared and the United States unrishal was detailed to accompany the justice by order of the department of justice. Nagle was arrested and Justice Field proceeded to San Fran-cisco.

by United States officials and newspaper men. Justice Field maintained his quiet demanor, and replied to a press represen-tative, when asked to narrate the par-ticulars of the shooting, as follows: "I can tell you the story in a few words. For the last few months all manner of re-ports, both public and personal, have reached me that Judge Terry had threat-ened to subject me to some form of indig-nity if he should happen to meet me. This fact caused the United States marshal to de-cide to provide such protection as he could during my stay in this state. When I started for Los Angeles, to hold court, Deputy Nagle accompanied me. He seemed to be a quiet, gentlemanly official, though I only met him twice while away from Los Angeles. He asked me in that city when I intended to return, and accompanied me, taking a seat in the sleeping car, oppo-site to me. We heard this morn-ing that Judge Terry and his wife were on the train, but paid no attention to the fact. When we arrived at Lathrop, we en-tered the eating station to get breakfast. I took a seat at the end of the table, while Nagle sat on one side of me. Terry and his wife came into the room soon after. As soon as she saw me she went out of the room, is I afterwards learned, returning to soon as she saw me she went out of the room, as is after wards learned, returning to the car for her satchel. Judge Terry rose, and I supposed he intended accompanying her. Instead of doing so, he walked back of me and struck me a heavy slap in the of me and struck me a heavy slap in the face. I was completely astonished, and, seeing he was making ready to strike again, Nagle cried out, "Stop, stop," but Terry did not resist, and, as he was raising his arm a second time, Nagle shot at him, the bullet entering his heart. He fell to the floor, Nagle shooting a second time, but the second shot did not strike him. Nagle was arrested at Tracy and taken to stockton to await the result of the inquest. "That is the complete story, as far as I am aware of the facts," said the justice, in

JUSTICE FIELD WAS GUARDED.

Protection was accorded to Justice Field, it is claimed, by authority of United States Attorney General Miller, who telegraphed from Washington to the marshal of the dis-trict to see that the person of the justice was protected at any hazard. The order extended also to Judge Sawyer, of the United States circuit court in San Francisco, upon whom Mrs. Terry made a personal assault last year, while on a railway train. upon whom Mrs. Terry made a personal assault last year, while on a railway train, accompanied by Judge Terry. The order was based upon this fact and upon threats declared to have been made openly by Terry against Justice Field. Deputy Mar-shal Nagle was directed to occompany Jus-tice Field, under this order, and is said to have given Judge Terry full warning to stop whom the latter began his attack upon Justice Field, and fired at Terry when the latter was about to strike a second time.

latter was about to strike a second time. Mr. Stackpole, one of the proprietors of the hot was standing in the door and ob served Mrs. Terry leave and also took note of the threatening look which she cast upon Field. He walked down the room to where while the fact was also recognized that Justice Field would be quick to resent an attack from Terry, knowing that it could only result fatally to one or the other in view of the latter's record. If Judge Terry had intended to provoke Justice Field, and drew a weapon before the latter could turn is of course not known, as Deputy Nagle, who ast opposite, prevented this by firing, resulting in the instant death of Terry. Thief of Police Crowley received a dis-patch from Sheriff Cunningham, of Stock-ton to arrest Judge Field and Deputy Marshal Nagle on the arrival of the train at Oakland. Captain Lees at once left for oakland.

TERRY'S STORMY CAREER.

TERRY'S STORMY CAREER. David S. Terry was born in Todd county. Ky., in 1823. When a young man he fought in the Texan war for independence from Mexico, and afterward studied law and was admitted to the bar. During the gold fever he drifted to California, plunged at once into politics, and when only 33 years of age was elected chief justice of the state supreme court. He attempted to break up of age was elected chief justice of the state supreme court. He statempted to break up the Vigilantes, who virtually ruled the state at that time, and stabled one of them who had attempted to arrest a friend of Terry. He was imprisoned for several months, but all efforts to make him resign his place on condition of his discharge were unavailing, and he was finally re-leased.

leased. David C. Brodsrick was then a power in California politics. In 1533 he suggested the idea that the Legislature could elect United States senators in advance of the vacancies they were to fill, his aim being to go to the Senate himself. He was bitterly opposed by Dr Gwin, acting United States senator, but in 1856 was elected United States senator for six years, and to the sur-prise of everybody named Gwin as his associate. Gwin pledging himself to relin-quish all federal patronage in his (Brod-erick's) favor. But when Broderick be-came a follower of Stephen A. Douglas Gwin secured the favor of the administra-tion at Washington, and the relations be-tween the two men became more strained. The California state campaign of 1859 was an intensely bitter one, and there was a strong exchange of personalities between Gwin and Broderick. Terry hated the inter, and publicly denounced him as an arch traitor. Broderick next day at a hotel and in the presence of several people declared that if the Vigilantes had hanged Torry they would have done a righteous act. David C. Broderick was then a power in

Terry sent him a challenge, and the two men met early on the morning of Sep-tember 12, but were arrested by the police and brought before a police magistrate, who discharged them. The next night they again met near San Francisco. There were eighty spectators present when the seconds held their conference and the pistols were/examined and loaded. A half dollar was tossed up, and Judge Terry won the choice of weapons. Mr. Hayes marked off the ten paces and warned the spectators to move back out of the line of fire. Broderick was the coolest man of his party, his seconds appearing nervous and ill at case. Mr. Haskell, after partly untying the senator's cravat, stepped back and wrong his hands. He then removed the cravat. This incident unmanned Brod-erick for a moment. Broderick wore nation along surtout, and had a soft woolen hat drawn down over his brow. Terry was Benhan searched Broderick closely for concealed mail, but McKibben only touched Terry's waistcoat and bowed. Broderick had lost some of his composure. He was nervous, and twitched at the skirts of his surtout. He and Terry had taken their positions. Terry stood erect and firm, apparently in-Terry stood erect and firm, apparently in-different to everything but his thoughts. The pistols were cocked, and they were delivered to the principals. Benham slowly read the conditions, and Mr. Colton gave the instructions as to the firing. The men held the weapons muzzle downward.

The judge ordered her into custody, but she made a stout fight, in which her husband (Terry) promptly took part. He knocked a deputy marshal scross the court-room, and followed his wife when she was dragged out of court, drawing a dangerous-looking dirk knife, and threatening with death any one who attempted to keep him from his wife. A desperate struggle ensued before he could be disarmed. When Justice Field finished reading his docision he sentenced Terry to six months' imprisonment, and the woman to thirty days. Terry petitioned the court for a re-vocation of his sentence, but Justice Field refused to throw off a single day, and he remained in prison for the full time, being released on March 3d last. He Threatened Another Judge. PORTLAND, Oregon, Aug. 16.—News of PORTLAND, Oregon, Aug. 16.-News of the tragic death of Judge Terry produced a sensation in this city. Terry's reputation is so well known here that the news of the fatal shooting produced almost as much excitement in this city as if it had been an affair of local importance. Every one almost was familiar with the sentiment of hatred Terry bore toward Justice Field, born of the Sharon divorce suit and the justice's late decision in that case. A few days since a San Francisco paper stated that Terry had threatenen to kill United States Judge Matthew P. Deady, district judge, if he came to San Francisco to try the cases against himself and wife.

Soon after the news of Terry's death reached this city a reporter called at Judge Deady's chambers and asked him whether he had heard of the threats by Terry. "No! I have not," answered the judge. "But they would not deter me from performing my duty." There were five indictments hanging over Terry's head, and three against his wife arising from the disturbance in court in San Francisco. Had Terry not been killed I should have gone to San Francisco very soon, but now shall await further instructions." The Coroner's Inquest.

STOCKTON, Cal., Aug. 15.-At the inquest last night over the body of Judge Terry no new facts were developed. A number of witnesses were examined, among them being the proprietors of the hotel at Lathrop. The coroner's jury returned a verdict that the deceased came to his death from the effects of gunshot wounds inflicted by

DOCTORS DAVIS PUMP IT INTO THE SYSTEMS OF EIGHT PATIENTS.

Physicians Without Faith In the Efficacy of the Much-Vaunted Fluid-Results to be Closely Observed.

Drs. S. T. and M. L. Davis have been experimenting with the Dr. Brown-Sequard elizir. They have injected eight patients. They selected the sheep at the abattoir, supervised its killing and used the greatest precaution in the preparation of the fluid. Their impression, from the experiments made, is that in a few weeks' time it will be shown that there is nothing in the elixir as a health restorer.

Drs. Davis for the present decline to say who the patients are, but they may in the near future prepare an elaborate report of their treatment and the effect of the elixir on them from the time it was injected until its effect passed away. Drs. Davis say they believe that they can prepare from cocca, brandy and beef extracts an injection that will have as good if not better results than the elixir prepared according to the Brown-Sequard formula

They have concluded not to make further experiments for the present, but will devote the closest attention possible to the effects of the clixir upon the subjects they treated.

Bacteria in the Fluid.

Dr. A. B. Shaw, of St. Lcuis, who has been making microscopic examinations of Brown-Sequard "elixir," has discovered that the fluid was alive with countless bacteria, although but three hours had elapsed since the elixir was prepared. Bacillus tuberculosis, the bacillus that is supposed to cause tuberculosis, were found in great quantity, thousands being in a single drop of the mixture. Mr. Shaw concluded that the glands were from a sheep infected with the bacilli of tubercule, as the mortar and pestle and the distilled water had been thoroughly sterilized before the mixture was made. Dr. Shaw esti-mated that in a drachm of the injection millions of these bacilli would have been put into the system, each one capable of multiplying itself indefinitely. The dan-ger underlying such treatment can readily be seen and the chances would be ten to one that tuberculosis in some form would Dr. A. B. Shaw, of St. Leuis, who has be seen and the chances would be ten to one that tuberculosis in some form would manifest itself in the person inoculated. In two other trials the bacilius tuberculosis wars discovered. The rod shaped bacilli were also found in several samples. Dr. Shaw lays down the following rules for the use of the elixir: "First. The laity should not use the in-ioction themselves.

jection themselves. "Second. Physicians should not use it until it has been submitted to microscopic examination, to ascertain whether it is in-fested with bacteria or not, and care should be taken that the glands are taken from a perfectly healthy animal.

Third. All instruments and vessels should be thoroughly sterilized, and even the distilled water should not be used until xamined for bacteria."

Tests in New York.

Tests in New York. The physicians of New York have not, up to the present time, shown that interest in Dr. Brown-Sequard's elixir which has been felt by those of other cities. A few of them, however, have been making ex-periments since the first announcement of the properties of the rejuvenator. This has been the case at the Loomis laboratory, which is an annex to the University Medical college. The experiments will be Medical college. The experiments will be continued for two months at least, as the operators expect to make valuable tests, the results of which will be published in medical townals.

FOR BLACK REPUBLICANS ONLY. North Carolina Negroes Prepare to Or-ganize a Party of Their Own. The removal of Gen. Estes, of North Carolina, after a brief term as superinten-dent of postoffice inspectorships, and the publication of the statement that $30,000 had been sent there as a Republican cam-paign fund, have caused angry taik and recrimination. From what is known of the sums actually expended the unavoid-able inference is that Mr. Quay's $30,000 was gobbled up by five or six tried and true Republicans. There has been to the statement that statement inference is that Mr. Quay's $30,000 wore the patronage, too, as well as over the rumor that Mahone, of Virginia, is running over the patronage, too, as well as over the rumor that Mahone, of Virginia, is running north Carolina politics and using the state patronage with a view to colonizing voters from counties bordering on Virginia. His suggestion to drop the negroes out of the party councils in Florida incensed them, while their getting only 2 per cent. of the offices, although furnishing 30 per cent. of the votes, led to a stampede. In a circular just issued calling the meeting at Charlotte on the 17th these words occur: We are now speaking to colored people alone, not to the white, half-sighted, milk-and-cider part of the Republican party of the South. Eaves, of "Eaves reliable "fame, to be collector of internal revenue in this district, has prc-duced trouble. He gave the negro nothing and his white appointments are his per-sonal following. All these matters and grievances will be discussed freely at the convention next Saturday. The negro in North Carolina is by no means enthusias-tic over Harrison and his cabinet. No whites will be allowed to participate in Saturday's meeting, the intention of the convention being solely to organize a " black man's Republican party."

The Constitution Amended

The Constitution Amended. Wednesday's session of the State Camp of the Patriotic Order Sons of America in Pottsville was devoted chiefly to amend-ments to the laws proposed last year at Scranton and making appropriations for the ensuing year. A number of proposed changes in the State Camp constitution were considered. The par capita tax was finally fixed at fifteen cents. The tax on camps in existence less than five months will be only two cents per capita. An alteration was made allowing the enforcement of local laws by camps on receiving the ap-proval of a majority of the committee on laws by the testation of the state presi-dent and secretary. Heretofore the unanident and secretary. Heretofore the unani-mous approval of the committee on laws was required. The possibility of an encounter between Terry and Justice Field has been recognized ever since the imprisonment of Terry for con-tempt of court, ten months ago, owing to the known temper of the man who killed United States Senator Broderick in the carly days of California. David S. Terry was at one time chief justice of the supreme court of California, and has always been a prominent figure in the political history of the state. The kill-ing of Broderick caused, at the time, deep personal resentment against Terry by a portion of the people of the state, which threatened to terminate his career in California, but he always had a number of ad-herents and remained in the state, though he has only once or twice been before the

A verdict of death from tight lacing is, perhaps, still to be sought among the cu-riosities of law. But a Birmingham Jury Terry was arrested and admitted to bail. When the excitement was over he de-manded a trial. All the details had been fixed by his friends. He procured a change of venue from the place where the murder was committed to Main county, and his friend, Judge J. H. Hardy, hurried down from Mokelumne Hill to take charge of the trial. On the day set for the case Hardy have come near it in a verdict of death from pressure round the waist. The victim was a poor servant girl, who died after a fright, and her death was attributed by the nedical witnesses to the fact that she and Terry appeared in court. The case Hardy and Terry appeared in court. The case Mardy and Terry appeared in court. The case was called for 10 o'clock. It was then 9, and the witnesses were on their way from San Francisco. The hands of the court clock were set an hour ahead. Hardy called the case. There was neither prosecuting at-tornov nor witnesses present so Hardy too tightly belted to enable her to stand the wear and tear of any sudden emotion. She was a notorious tight lacer; her collar fitted so closely that it was impossible to loosen it at the critical moment, and under her stays she wore a belt so remorselessly buckled as to prevent the free circulation torney nor witnesses present, so Hardy discharged the prisoner. For his share in of the blood.

that villamous transaction he was im-peached by the Legislature in 1862, hurled from the bench, took to drink, and died. Terry left the state for a time, and during the civil war commanded a Confederate regiment from Texas. After the war he returned to California, and again entered political life. He was made a Democratic elector in the presidential composition of 1980 Jacob Eby, a countryman, committed an assault and battery on Samuel Miller, also from the country. The row occurred in front of the Leopard hotel late on Wednesday afternoon. Eby was under the influence of liquor and there was no provocation for the assault. Miller sports a black eye to-day, the result of the encounter. About five years ago he again began to attract general attention as the counsel of Sarah Althea Hill, who claimed to be the Alderman Halbach has the case. This afternoon Mr. Miller called at Alof the late ex-Senator Sharon, of lerman Halbach's office and said he did Nevada. This woman began by suing sharon for divorce and alimony. Byron said yesterday that as yet they did not feel that they had arrived at results worthy of any definite conclusion. The elixir which the physicians use is made from parts of a sheep freshly killed and distilled water. When ready for inoc-ulation the fluid, which was shown to a re-porter by Dr. Byron, is of a milky-white color, and not unlike milk in consistency. It is injected into the skin under the thigh, which, with the arm, is considered the best which, with the arm, is considered the bes place for the injection. About thirty drops of the liquid are used. The needle or thread of the syringe through which the fluid is injected is about two inches long. The insertion, however, is not painful, the doc-tor said, and little or no lameness had re-sulted from the injections. Only one may sulted from the injections. Only one man

While the patients are not aware that they are receiving the Brown-Sequard elixir, they were induced to submit to the treat-ment by being assured that it would bene-fit them. Hence, the doctors think that imagination has much to do with their sup-posed improvement. The patients operated upon have been, with one exception, aged men. The young man is desf, and the injection has as yet not increased his powers of hearing. The doctors, of course, do not pretend to say what the final effect upon his hearing will be. Further experiments may be of avail be. Further experiments may be of avail in relieving him. On the other hand, an old man who is afflicted with asthma, who has had only three injections, declares that he now breathes with much greater case than before his first visit to Dr. Loomis. He has a confident belief that he will recover entirely. The other patients, the majority of whom suffer from diseased lungs, are equally sanguine since the needle has been placed in their fiesh. Knowing that will power and im-agination have great influence upon such cases, the physicians are unwilling to accases, the physicians are their subjects with-out the present popular grain of salt. They have, therefore, endeavored to learn their true condition by examination with the proper instruments. They believe after these investigations that the patients have misjudged or misinterpreted their sensa-tions. They are influenced, the physicians think, like the participants in the faith cure. They will not give a statement favoring the elixir until they are convinced of its efficacy. Medical science, Dr. Byron says, cannot tell a priori whether it is valuable or not. Experiments alone can demonstrate this fact. He believes that many of the pub-lished statements of miraculous and instatianeous cures are untrue. But Dr. Byron says that an injection of the fluid, whether it cures or not, can at least do no harm. Care in the operation must be used, however. Only a skilled physician, accustomed to the use of antiseptics should undertake the operation. Injurious results might otherwise tollow. An absolute nemight otherwise tollow. An absolute necessity is the choice of a perfectly healthy animal. Unless assured of the condition of the animal, the fluid should not be made. animal.

The experiments at the laboratory have already lasted more than a week. Two of the seven patients are inmates of Bellevue. The others are dispensary patients.
