It was then moved to reconsider the 11th

resolution, diafranchising people who are unable to read and write, but the motion was ruled out of order on the ground that the resolutions had been adopted as a whole, and could not be reconsidered

A motion was then then made to reconsider the action on the resolutions as a whole, but it was lost by a vote of 20 to 10.

Luther S. Kauffman, esq., as chairman of the Prohibition county committee, made an appeal for funds. He wanted $100 to pay a loan contracted by the county com mittee ; $100 to send the delegates to Harrisburg and $100 to pay current expenses.

The response to the appeal was prompt. Littz delegates subscribed $10; Lancaster

$50; Manheim, $10; Sadsbury, $50; Little

Britain, 810; Strasburg township, East Donegal, Elizabethtown, Lincoln, Stras-each $5; the Sixth ward, city, $10, and other smaller contributions swelled the fund until only $115 remained to be raised.

A LOCOMOTIVE RUNS AWAY.

Dashing Along at Furious Speed an Crashing Through a Wall.

A remarkable runaway of a locomotive occurred in Baltimore on Monday. The runaway engine, No. 88, with George Flickinger, engineer, and Edward Cox, fireman, had drawn a freight train west-freman, bad drawn a freight train west-ward to Lafayette station, on the Balti-more & Potomae track.

Just as the men had shifted over the many switches to take a north-bound track to the city, the Philadelphia express from Washington, due at Union Station, Charles street, at 1903 o'clock, came rapidly along the same track around the curve. Engi-neer Flickinger shouted to Fireman Cox to jump, stopping himself to reverse his neer Flickinger shouled to Fireman Cox to jump, stopping himself to reverse his engine and propel it forward with a wide-open throttle so as to send it in the same direction as the express, which was thundering down upon him. He then leaped from the cab window. Both men received trivial bruises.

The runaway then bounded forward, distancing the express. The shifter continued gaining speed at every piston stroke dash-appearance. Acting Station Mester Lor len cried out a warning, and the tracks were cleared in an instant by the gatemen, ticket examiner and ushers. The ongine passed through the station in the twinkling of an eye, not leaving time enough for the excitement which ensued among the passengers until it had passed. It crossed the small bridge spanning Jones Falls and took the straight track for Calvert station.

Striking into North street at Madison around the short curve it gave a heavy swing and nearly left the rails, but continued down North street to Centre, where the jucky turn of the switch by Switchman Osbourn turned it away from the depot, where several trains were filling up with where several trains were filling up with passengers. Answering the switch the locomotive passed Purdy's engine, No. 29 striking it a glaneing blow, tearing off a cylinder and smashing the cow-catcher into kindling wood.

Purdy and his fireman leaped from their regions and the remander of the contract of the contract press car was forced half way through the wall, and into the meat refrigerators in the building. Barry

A Child Carried by Toy Balloous.

At Sheffield Park, Chicago, on Sunday, an Italian peddler of toy balloons attempted to serve two purchasers at once, and in doing so let go his string of bright colored globes. The cord got twisted about the left arm of two-year-old Sophie Schwab, and the buoyant rubber bubbles started heavenward taking her along. Her mother fainted. The bystanders stood horror-stricken as the balloons swept close to a tree and the infart grasped a handful of twigs and checked her flight. A young German ascended the tree in an instant and then crept out on the branch nearest the child. At this moment Sophie's strength gave out and the bal-loons, suddenly released, went again up-ward at least 100 feet, drifting out over the lake. Gust Koch, a sharpshooter, grabbed a remaining rift, hurricity inversed into a skiff with two companions and pulled out into range. Koch succeeded in plercing several of the balloons, each successful shot helping the bunch to descend. Before it finally reached the water the boat was at the spot, and little Sophie did not even get

THE ORDER GROWS RAPIDLY. The order of the Knights of Pythias takes its name from the beautiful story of Damon and Pythias, two celebrated Syracusans whose names are always joined as the types of true and noble friendships. Justus H. Rathbone, now of Baltimore, then a elerk in Washington, founded the first lodge of the order in that city among government employes. This was toward the close of the war. Its principles spread rapidly, until to-day there is hardly a city or hamlet in the Union where a lodge of the order is not to be found. Its membership is over 300,000 and it has nearly 4,000 lodges. Its principles have spread to other lands, and Knights of Pythias are to be found on the islands of the sea and in many foreign countries. In this county there are lodges of the order in Lancaster, Columbia, Marietta, Lititz, Mount Joy, Ephrata, White Horse, Paradise, Rawlinsville and Fairfield.

The headquarters of the officers is Stevens house.

In West Hempfield there is a great deal of poor tobacco, with some very good lots. The The very wet season has in a measure been followed by blight in the shape of rust and fox, but with a few days of bright sunshine the growers hope that this defect will be overcome. On the average, from present appearances, it will be the best crop grown

On the J. A. Brenneman farm I noticed a crop of Hayana that stood five and a half feet high; that is, it hung down that far from the scaffold on which it was hung, and on the Haldeman farm adjoining measured some leaves of seed leaf that were 47 inches long.

Mr. John Mann, of Manor, and Amo Bowman, of Marietta, manager of the Duffy estate, pronounced it the largest tobacco

There is but little blight in this region. What poor tobacco there may be can be accounted for by poor soil and neglect in cultivation. Crops bordering on the Susquehanna as a general rule are very good; as you go back into the country you find some inferior crops. But it is early yet and some of the backward tobacco as it appears now may turn out to be the best. Cutting has commenced in earnest in the earlier crops, and it will go steadily on un-

The sales for the week amounted to over 2,000 bales and no questions asked as to price.

From the Tobacco Leaf. There is not much doing in the leas market this week as regards sales, but quite a good deal of sampling is going on out of town in the different warehouses. The demand for goods for export still continues and a great deal of tobacco is being sold.

DISHONOR AND PENSIONS.

A Dishonorable Discharge Does Not Operate as a Bar to a Pension. Assistant Secretary Bussey has rendered an important decision on the pension claim of Daniel B. Kauffman, late of Company

A, Forty-eighth Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers, which was brought before him on a motion for reconsideration.

In his decision the assistant secretary rescinds Rule No. 135, made by Commis sioner Black September 4, 1885, and overrules the opinion of ex-Assistant Secretary Hawkins in the same case, that a "dis-honorable discharge" from the service operated as a "bar to pension." He also holds that Rule No. 135 was an erroneous interpretation of the statutes granting pen sions to the soldiers of the late war fo sions to the soldiers of the late war for disabilities incurred in the line of duty, and declares that the character of a soldier discharge cannot affect his claim for pen-sion on account of such disabilities. The assistant secretary holds that for the The assistant secretary holds that for the department to impose upon a soldier the forfeiture of the right to even claim pension because of a dishonorable discharge which may have been inflicted by court-martial for an offense of which the court had jurisdiction would be equivalent to punishing the soldier twice for the same offense. In this view he is sustained by a decision of the late Judge Advocate General Hon. Joseph Holt. The opinion reestablishes the ruling of the department which prevailed through all administrations, ante-dating the issuance of Rule No. 135 by dating the issuance of Rule No. 135 by

DEPENDANTS CONCLUDE TO SAVE TIME BY ADMITTING THEIR CRIMES.

A. S. Kauffman and Isaac Reinhart Tried For Horse Stealing-Kauffman Convicted-Whitmyer Gots Two Years.

Monday Afternoon .- Upon the re-as sembling of court a nol pros was entered in the case of commonwealth vs. J. M. Keiper, assault with intent to commit a rape, upon the payment of costs by defendant. This disposition was made in the case after Amelia Decker, the prosecutrix, filed an affidavit that the complaint against Mr. Keiper was made by her husband, on information received from her, that she was excited when she made that charge against Mr. Keiper, that the charge made was not true and that she now made this affidavit exenerating him of her own free will. A. S. Kauffman and Isaac Rinchart were put on trial for horse stealing. Fred Auxer, blacksmith, residing on New Holland avenue, appeared as the prosecutor, and, according to his witnesses, in the month of February he was the owner of a bay horse worth $150. Kauffman was the owner of a gray pacing mare once owned by Auxer and Auxer desired to again get possession of the pacer. A trade was made through Rinehart, who was to get a set of wheels and a sleigh for his trouble. Auxer was to get the gray pacing horse and Kauffman the bay horse of Auxer's.

Rinehart took the bay horse of Auxer's to Kauffman's stable, and soon after a gray horse was sent from Kauffman's to Auxer' stable. As soon as Mr. Auxer saw the gray horse sent to him he said it was not the one he traded for and he at once returned it and demanded the bay horse. Kauffman shipped the bay horse to Philadelphia the day after he got him, and refused to settle with Auxer. The gray horse Auxer claimed was glandered and he would not keep it. Kauffman turned it loose and it was finally sent to Lamparter's where it was killed.

The defense was that this was a criminal suit brought to recover a civil debt; that the bay horse of Auxer's was dumb and fitty and Auxer knew it; that Auxer told Rinehart that he would give him a set of wheels if he could bring about a trade; that Kaufman refused at all times to trade his pacer away, but told Auxer that he would swap a gray horse in his stable for the bay, that Auxer looked at this gray horse and finally traded for it. In conclusion it was argued that if any offense was committed it was that of false pretense and could not be horse stealing. A number of witnesses who knew Kauffman and Rinehart for many years testified that their reputation for honesty was good. On trial. PLEADED GUILTY.

for putting the county to so much expense for the trial of a case of petty larceny. Tuesday Morning-Court met at 9 o'clock and the case against Kauffman and Rinehart was argued until 10:30 o'clock. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty as to Kauffman, with a recommendation to mercy, and not guilty as to Rinehart. A motion will be made for a new trial. Samuel Dyer, a resident of Landis' court vas put on trial for beating his wife. She swore that on the 1st of June he struck her twice in the face and once on the shoulder. The defendant admitted having playfully slapped his wife in the face, but denied having done it in anger. The court in charging the jury said a man who struck his wife was not fit to be married. Jury

Wayne Whitmyer was called for trial for attempting to wreck a train on the Reading & Columbia railroad. The testimony showed that on the 24th day of July Simon Ruth, of Ephrata, while walking near Ephrata, on the railroad track, saw a tie across the rails. A short distance from the obstruction he saw Whitmyer walking on the railroad track. He called to him and Whitmyer came to where he was. He questioned the defendant and he admitted having placed the tie on the track. Whitmyer was taken to Ephrata and he there made a confession of his guilt. It was shown that the prisoner was not of very strong mind and had been an inmate of the House of Refuge. The obstruction was seen and removed from the track in time to prevent an approaching train from being

In Whitmyer's confession at the justice's office he said he had placed the tie on the track because he had never seen a firstlass railroad wreck and wanted to see one The defendant denied having put the obstruction on the track. He said he was made drunk on that day, and the confession extorted from him

The defense submitted the case without any argument, and counsel intimated that in case of conviction they would have his mental condition inquired into. The jury after a few minutes' deliberation, rendered a verdict of guilty. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $100, and undergo an inprismment of two years and six months in the Eastern penitentiary.

The Commission Decide to Keep Or

The soldiers' orphans schools commi sion met in Harrisburg on Monday after noon and ratified the contracts for the White Hall, Butler, Jumonville, Hartford and Loysville schools. It was announced that the Northern Home for Friendless Children in Philadelphia, to which had been allotted 170 children at $110 each per annum, had refused to take any children except girls or boys between the ages of 10 and 12 years, and it was decided not to send any of the 170 new scholars under the recent allotment to the Northern home. There are yet 200 scholars in the Northern home, who will remain there for the present, or until a new school can be rented o the scholars placed in the schools at present under state surveillance. The Northern home managers say they want to make their institution a place to prepare girls to earn their own living.

The owners of Mount Joy school offered to rent the building to the state for $500 a year, the commission to make necesary repairs, or $1,000 a year and the owners to make repairs. The school of Chester Springs was offered to the state for $1,000 rental per year. It was decided to rent Mount Joy school for one year, and at the end of that time the children will be put in other schools. The state will have entire charge, and the present owners will have nothing to do with its management.

South Fork Dam to be Rebuilt. Pitrishune, Aug. 20.—The general im-pression that the South Fork dam would never be rebuilt appears to be error as there is strong probability that a fishin lake will again be established in the locality. A member of the fishing club of that name said to-day that the belief that South Fork had been abandoned by the club was mistaken. The club, he s could not afford to lose the money had invested in real estate in the locality. The property was worth fully $200,000 and if the fishing resort was not reestablished the whole invest-ment would become almost a dead loss. The intention, however, was not to build the dam of the size of the one destroyed but one which would make the lake muc loss in size, so that in the event of the barrier again giving way no destruction to life and property would follow.
