LITTLE LADY IN GOLDEN FRAME. Little Lady in the golden frame, Speak, and tell me truly what's your name Once—it seems a weary while ago—
Such another girl I used to know!
Brown hair twisted into placid curl,
Eyes domure and forehead like a pearl,
Mouth sedate and solemn—smile who cau
'Neath the glances of the Artist Man!

Ah! that sliken gown! what trembling pride Swells the foolish little heart inside! Lace about the throat right primity set— And below, the broidered pantalet. In your hand you carry—shall I say Bose of June or violets of May? To one growth all flower sandens rea To one growth all flower gardens ran 'Neath the fingers of the Artist Man.

Yes, you have your girlish dreams, no doubt Won't you tell me what you dream about? You're a bit too quiet for my taste, Never gleeful, never making haste; All the little girls that love me best Dance and chatter with a sweet unrest Yet even they, perhaps, would scarcely plan Escapades before the Artist Man.

Little Lady, since I've had my say, Tell me what you think of me to-day,
Do my wrinkles please you? Is it fair
That the snow should elling so to my hair?
Do you know me for the girl who sat
In your gown, your curls, your garden hat,
Long ago, when first the world began,
Sat and posed before the Artist Man?

—From Youth's Companion,

The Deadly Toothpick.

From the Boston Herald. "Do you know," said a physician to a Heraid man vesterday, "that the great American habit of toothpick chewing is responsible for a very large number of human iils?" The young man was more than surprised. He said he'd be glad to learn just how these evils are wrought by the apparently harmless and indispensable toothpick.
"Well," said the physician, "of course I toothpick.

"Well," said the physician, "of course I refer more particularly to the practice of chewing wooden toothpicks. And when I modify my statement in this way I don't have any hesitation in reiterating that the wooden toothpick is an engine of destruction. If you have ever noticed these things much you have observed that a good many people who take their meals at restaurants or hotel cafes, and rush out immediately afterward to business, snatch on the way a toothpick, sometimes several of them, and thrust the little wooden spears into the mouth. In the cases out spears into the mouth. In nine cases out ten they don't use the toothpick quickly and as a matter of business, but they re-tain it in the mouth after all neces-sity for its function has ceased. They chew on it and wobble it about under the jaws, on it and wobble it about under the jaws, and finally the piece of wood is reduced to a ragged pulp, and then it is usually east away. Very frequently small particles of the wood are swallowed and I know one man who was in the habit of eating his toothpick. I became acquainted with him, because he wanted me to give him something to heal his stomach, which was really in a larcerated condition. The small particles of wood that are swalwhich was really in a larcerated condition. The small particles of wood that are swallowed frequently lodge in the walls of the stomach somewhere, and induce gastric disturbance. I know several cases which proved fatal. A man may go chewing toothpicks for 50 years and never suffer any ill effects, but his less fortunate neighbor may chew them for a few days and die on account of it. I tell you a fact when I say lots of troubles with the digestive apparatus and lots of more serious aliments may be, and have been by me in many instances, traced to the use of toothpicks as I have pointed out. The habit, I notice, is one that is growing rapidly, and, aside from the fact that it is an illbred and rude custom it is to be detested on hygienic principles. it is to be detested on hygienic principles. I found the other day that some restaurants dip their toothylicks in some aromatic fluid, like cinnamon, and this tends to cause a big spread of the toothylick-chewing habit. The person who puts one of these prepared sticks in his mouth can hardly resist the temptation to chew on it. It's an awful habit, and I'd like to see records ston it.

People stop it."
The Herald man saw his friend the dentist yesterday, and told him about the dentist yesterday, and told him about the physician's warning and advice, and asked him what he thought about it. "Well," he said, smiling, "I don't know that I ought to talk of such a thing. If we fellows give the public too much advice, where will our trade come from? The fact is, the habit of toothpick chewing brings the dentists lots of customers. In a long practice I've seen how very destructive and dangerous the wooden toothpick is when chewed. It destroys the gums and the chewed. It destroys the gums and the teeth, its chewed fibres lacerate the bron-chial passages, get into the throat and head, and induce catarrh, bad breath and general disfigurement of the mouth. If I were a philanthropist, instead of the dentist, I should advise everybody to avoid chewing toothpicks."

Hale and Hearty in Old Age.
What is more beautiful than an ancient tree clothed with an ample robe of verdure. Apt is the comparison between such a growth and an old man or woman infused with health and vigor. The sine qua non, the indispensable condition of vigorous youth, robust manhood and a virile old age, is sound digestion. Without this life is shorn of the hearty zest that should attend it. No more beneficient and agreeable contributor to the attainment of a hole old age, and efficient means of counteracting the infirmities that too often attend life's decline, can be found than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Dyspeptic symptoms, a tendency to kidney complaint, nervous inquictude and rhemmatic trouble are overcome by its use. The effect of exposure and overwork are untilified by it, and it affords efficient protection to all subjected to malarial influences. Give it a thorough trial. vigor. Epoch.

The transition from long lingering and painful sickness to robust hebitin marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health, to the use of the Great Alterative and Tonic. If you are troubled with any disease of Kidneys, Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing, you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. Sold at Soc and $1 per bottle at H. B. LIVER PILLS.

THE GENUINE DR. C.

MCLANE'S CELEBRATED-LIVER PILLS!

Intemperance a Disease

When the celebrated Dr. Rush declared that drunkenness was a disease, he enunciated a truth which the experience and observation of medical men is every day confirming. The many apparently insane excesses of those who truth which the experience and observation of medical men is every day confirming. The many apparently insone excesses of those who indulge in the use of spirituous liquors may thus be accounted for. The true cause of conduct, which is taken for infatuation, is very trequently a diseased state of the Liver. No organ in the human system when deranged, produces a more frightful catelogue of diseases. And if, instead of applying remedies to the manifestations of the disease, as is too often the case physicians would prescribe with a view to the original cause, fewer deaths would result from diseases induced by a doranged state of the Liver. Three-fourths of the diseases enumerated under the head of Consumption have their sent in a diseased Liver. The genuine Dr. C. McLane's Liver Pills, prepared by Fleming Bros., Pittsburg, Pa., are a sure cure.

Mr. Jonathan Houghman, of West Union, Park Co., Illinois, writes to the proprietors, Fleming Brothers, of Pittsburg, Pa., that he had suffered from a severe and protracted attack of fever and arue, and was completely restored to healthigh the use of the genuine Dr. C. McJane's Liver Pills alone. These Pills unquestionably possess great properties, and can be taken with decided advantage for many diseases requiring invigorating remedies, but the Liver Pills stand pre-eminent as the means of restoring a disorganized liver to healthy action; hence the great celebrity they have attained.

Insist on having the genuine Dr. C. McJane's Liver Pills, prepared by Fleming Broa, Pittsburg, Pa. All druggists keep them. Price 25 cents a box.
