THEIR SESSIONS END.

THE KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS SUCCEED IN CONCLUDING WORK AFTER MIDNIGHT.

Reading Selected as the Place for Holding the Next Annual Meeting of the Grand Lodge-Rettof Fund Rules.

Friday A/ternson.-The Grand Lodge reassembled at 2 o'clock, with Grand Chanllor Thos. Perry presiding, and opened in the usual form. The committee of the whole having concluded their labors, were by resolution dissolved and the Grand Lodge resumed business.

By a vote by lodges the Grand Lodge adopted the Grand Lodge constitution as submitted by the committee of the whole, the vote being 303 yeas to 31 nays. The Grand Lodge in the same manner adopted the constitution of subordinate lodges, the vote being 250 yeas to 32 mays. The committee on appeals submitted their report. Decisions have been rendered in twelve cases, and when considered that there are about 400 lodges in this jurisdiction the percentage is very small.

The committee state that lodges are remiss in their duty in apprising appealants of the action of the committee on appeals, more especially if the dicision is against the lodge. Some stringent measure should be adopted whereby on the reciept of the decision of the committee all parties con-cerned should be informed and the penalty immediately enforced.

The committee also complain that it is too frequent the fact that some lodges prethat the committee are as familiar with the circumstances controllling their disputes as they are, and are apt to omit from their papers such matters as are of direct importance in arriving at an equitable decision. Lodges should not lose sight of the fact that the committee are obliged to confine their investigations to precise specifications of complaint as con-tained in the appeal and the legality of the proceedings.

The committee on law made their report, and amongst other important matters re-commend that all lodges should exercise care in the imposition of fines for non-attendance at funerals, and for failure to act as nurses. It should be borne in mind that in many cases attendance at funerals is a loss of wages, and nursing the sick is the taking of members from their own families. When necessity requires, a nurse, hired at the expense of the lodge, would, as a rule, be of more service and more acceptable. Full sets of by-laws acted upon, 73; smendments to by-laws,261; questions, 49. All decisions of the committee have been sequiesced in by the parties in interest.

On account of the vast amount of business to be transacted, and a desire to conclude its labors this evening, the Grand Lodge agreed to adjourn at 5 p. m. and meet at 7 p. m. this evening, and continue in session until all the business is finished.

The report of the advisory board of the Knights of Pythias of Pennsylvania Relief Fund was read and accepted. An abstrac account of the same has appeared in these celumns. But the committee, on tendertng their report this afternoon, respectfully commended that the advisory board be instructed to prepare such changes in the present laws of the fund as may meet the uggestions above mentioned, and present the same at the next annual session of the Grand Lodge for consideration, copies

REHEARSALS BY ACTORS.

The Wonderful Work of Mons. Albert and Bellonini in the Opera House. Pat Reilly, proprietor of the Reilly & Woods show, now in this city, came from Now York yesterday to join and take charge of his company before it starts on the sonu il tour. There are several acts done by two people that are entirely new in this country. They are those of Mons. Albert and Bellanini. These two gentlemen only arrived from London on the City of Rome on Friday of last week. They came to Lancaster oarly this week and have been awaiting the arrival of Mr. Rellly since. Last evening the two artists gave a little entertainment in the shape of a rehearsal of their acts in the opera house to a few invited guests, including a number of newspaper nen.

The act of Mons. Albert is decidedly clever, and it is something entirely different from any be ore seen in this country. When the curtain arises a globe, which is 82 inches through, is seen in the middle of pair of planks which are six or seven feet from the floor, in the centre and in cline towards the floor on both sides. although they do not touch it by a foot and a-half. This makes the incline rather steep. Albert is inside of the ball, but nothing can be seen of him whatever. Suddonly the ball starts, off and runs first down to the end of one board and is balanced on the very edge of then it runs back to the centre, down the other side to the edge and back to the middle, where it romains. Several pistol shots are fired from the top, a flag is waved and the ball runs down the plank to a net. It there falls apart and Albert emerges. The ball is THE AMBULANCE.

LANCASTRIANS NOW DETERMINED THAT THE CITY SHALL HAVE ONE.

A Fund Under Way for the Purchase of a Suitable Vehicle-No Rattling Broken Bones Over the Stones.

Lancaster shall no longer be disgraced by the want of an ambulance. We have witted long enough for action in this matter by councils or poor di-rectors, and growing public senti-ment stimulated by recent horrible incidents will support an independent movement for the purchase and maintenance of an ambulance with the latest and best devices for the casy and humane removal of mangled people to their homes or to the hospitals. Long ago the INTEL-LIGENCER urged the necessity of an ambulance and we have had a series of object lessons in the cruelty of the present barbarous method of removal, that on not have failed to impress the whole community with a sense of shame for the treatment of unfortunate fellow-men, and with deep feelings of pity and sym-pathy. That the sontiments of humanity may find expression in a way that will meet and end this urgent want the INTEL-LIGENCER starts an ambulance fund, and confidently hopes that it will grow quickly o proportions that will assure the success of the movement. No more forcible ap-peal can be made than by simple reference to the matter of fact accounts of the loading of wounded people in mail or express wagons, and many citizens have heard their groans in the slow progress through the streets.

The following from a subscriber is right to the point :

to the point : EDITORS INTELLIGENCER: Let us get a wagon of the right kind made for hospital work. I am tired of hearing of smashed men gathered up and slung on a wagon floor. I saw a man taken to the hospital on Thursday, and as he passed he hollowed, "Ob, how far is it?" The wagon was-bloody as a butcher wagon. I don't know what the ambulance will cost, but if you start a collection there will be plenty more to contribute more or less than ONE DOLLAR.

ONE DOLLAR. in August, 1883, the grand jury acting on a suggestion of the board of health called attention to the fact that there was no conveyance suitable for the transporta-tion of sick and added : "We would recommend that an ambulance be built for the transporting of sick to the county hospital by the poor directors, after receiving sug-cestions from the resident physicians as to ts proper construction." It is believed that an ambulance can be had for $200.

ereof to be furnished subordinate lodges for consideration prior to said session. Friday Evening .-- The Grand Lodge met at 7 Clock with Grand Chancellor Thomas Perry presiding.

The first business considered was the following amendments to the Knights of Pythias Relief Fund :

A lodge may become a member of the Relief Fund as a lodge, embracing its entire membership by returning its roll of members and amending it monthly ; but should they at any time desire to cease their membership, such action on the part of the lodge carries all its mem bers with it, and individual members of such a lodge desiring to continue their connection, must apply and be subject to all the qualifications now required by existing laws except those members of such a lodge as were members of the fund prior to the lodge taking membership.

Section 2, Article V.--A member whose lodge becomes defunct may continue his membership in the fund, by paying his as-sessments through another lodge, or disesaments through another lodge, or di-rectly to the secretary of the fund. Abolish Article VII entirely, Strike out "advisory board" and insert "Grand Lodge" in next to the last clause of Art. III, Section 2, so as the clause will read; "For his services he shall receive such componsation as the Grand Lodge shall determine; provided, however, that the same shall not be any expense to the Grand Lodge." Grand Lodge."

A great deal of time was consumed in discussion of these amendments, but the Grand Lodge finally postponed action at this session.

The report of committee on grand trustees report recommended that the suggestions of the grand trustees be carried out.

A motion was made that the grand trustees have the marble in front of the building cleaned and the woodwork repainted. An amendment was made to direct the grand trustees to sell said building, where the Grand Lodge office is held in Philadelphia. The amendment to seli was agreed to, but the motion to clean and repaint was lost.

The Grand Lodge authorized the grand trustees to have all journals bound and added to the Grand Lodge library ; also to sell the lot in Cameron county.

The committee on grand chancellor's report made their report, which was received and adopted.

On account of the time lost and money spent and valuable services rendered by Grand Chancellor Thos. Perry during the disaster at Johnstown and vicinity, to the members of the order, the Grand Lodge voted him $100.

The committee on printing rendered their report, which was accepted.

The grand trustees were ordered to procure a number of past grand chancellors' jewels for those not yet in possession of them.

The Grand Lodge directed that the $2,000 remaining of the Johnstown fund be placed in the hands of the incoming grand chancellor and keeper of records and seal, to be distributed among the members who have suffered in the Juniata and Susquehanna valleys and vicinity.

The nomination of candidates for supreme representatives was next in order. The Grand Lodge is entitled to a fourth representative, the membership being over 40,009. The following nominations were made : Past Grand Chancellors Wadsworth, Cozens, Long, O'Neill, Watcher and Linton, Candidates Linton, O'Neill, Long and Watcher having declined, the Grand Lodge went into an election fof supreme representative for four years, and resulted in the election of Fast Grand Chancellor Smith D. Cozens, by the following vote: Smith D. Cozens, No. 6, of Philadelphia, 195; Henry M. Wadsworth, of No. 33, of Philadelphia, 83,

The Grand Lodge then considered the selection of the next place of meeting. The places named were Pittsburg, Easton, Sunbary, Harrisburg, Erie, Scranton, Altoona, Reading, York and Wilkesbarre. Reading | They had a pleasant evening.

Lodge are due and are hereby tendered to the committee of Knights of Lancaster for the committee of Knights of Lancaster for the admirable arrangements for the com-forts of the members of this Grand Lodge and for the many courtesies extended to us: also, to the press of this city and their representatives who furnished the proceed-ings during the sessions; also, to the citi-zens in general for their kind and courteous treatment. treatment.

The Grand Lodge decided that the grand chancellor should district the city of Philadelphia in such a manner as he may see fit, and he appoint district deputy grand chancellors until the next regular election for same, if the laws are approved by the supreme Lodge bearing on this joint. When the Grand Lodge constitution and subordinate lodge constitution is approved by the Supreme Lodge, the grand keeper of records and seal shall send two copies to each subordinate lodge throughout the state of Pennsylvania; 2,000 copies to be printed.

No further business appearing before the Grand Lodge, the roll was called and the minutes of Friday read, and the Grand Lodge adjourned in usual form at 1 o'clock Saturday morning. The following vote of thanks were ex

DEATH OF ABRAHAM B. SIDES.

An Engineer Who: Was Widely Known Passes Away.

Abram Barr Sides, one of the best known and most highly respected citizens of Lancaster county, died this morning at 3 o'clock at his residence in the village of Lampeter. For about three years past Mr. Sides had been paralyzed, although previous to that time he had enjoyed good health. Mr. Sides was one of the early engineers of the Pennsylvania railroad. For thirty five years he had charge of engines running over that road. No man had a larger acquaintance along the line of the road, nor were there any that had more friends. About fifteen years ago Mr. Sides concluded to leave the road, which he did. From that time to the day of his death he lived retired, although like all railroad men he was very fond of the life on the rails and took much interest in it. He was a lifelong Democrat and took great interest in politics, always doing fective work for his party. Mr. Sides was a fond and devoted husband, a kind and indulgent father; a good friend and neighbor. Mr. Sides was a brother of Dr. B. F. Sides, the well-known physician of the lower end, who lives at Fairfield. He was also a brother of the late Col. Peter Sides. The deceased was a widower and he leaves one son, Dr. B. F. Sides, of Lampeter, who was a member of the petit jury in court this week, and two daughters. One of the daughters is the wife of Samuel W. Potts, proprietor of the hotel at Witmer's bridge. The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon at one o'clock.

They Had a Surprise Party A surprise party was given to Andrew . Smith, of No. 726 South Queen street, last evening. A large number of his friends gathered at an early hour at the house of Philip Hahn, from which they proceeded to his home, where they had a splendid time.

Visiting Mechanics.

Last night State Councillor Hurst, of the O.U.A.M., went to Quarryville, and paid a visit to North Star Council, No. 67, of that place. He was also visited by Councilor Supplee, of Conestoga council, this city.

A similar disposition was made of two additional cases against Solomon Morris. These cases also grew out of the coon picnic at Lititz. The district attorney thought he had been sufficiently punished on the cases on which he had been convicted. James Kiscadden was charged with larcenv, on complaint of Constable Schill. of Columbia. The testimony of the commonwealth's witnesses was that the wagon of W. A. King & Co., bakers, was broken on the night of May 17th. None of the bread or rolls was taken from the wagon and the only article missing was a box of blacking worth five cents. This box was handed over by Kiscadden when demand was made for it. Mr.King, of the firm owning the wagon, said he lost nothing, had not made any complaint nor did he authorize the constable to bring suit. The defendant testified that he was in ompany with a man named McManus, on this night and both were drinking. Mc-Manus took a lot of bread and buns from the wagon, but did not take them away. The blacking he received from McManus and promptly returned to its owner. The jury rendered a verdict of not guilty without caving their seats. GRAND JURY RETURNS.

Carey, peddling without license; David Weller, assault, with Annie Brobst for costs; Harry Mitchell, assault and battery, with Michael Dorn for costs; Samuel M. Good, false pretense; Amelia Irvin, Iarceny. Irvin, larceny. Saturday Morning .- Court met at 1 o'clock. There were no other cases ready for jury trial and desertion and surety of the peace cases were taken up. Lizzie T. Bowen, of Columbia, charged her husband, John C. Bowen, with having failed to provide for herself and child. Her story was that her husband was too fond of the society of other women and through his infatuation for these women he neglected her. She made her home with his mother and when he lost his position on the railroad, on account of his habits, his mother would not allow her to remain at her house any longer.

His statement was that his wife did not attend to her household duties, and was too fond of being absent from home, and it was through her that he lost his position, and was unable to support her. The court directed him to pay $3 per week for the maintainance of his wife and child.

Lewis Baker and David Rutherford live neighbors at Falmouth. On Aug. 12th they had a misunderstanding, during which, according to the testimony, Baker threatened to kill Rutherford, and Rutherford made similar threats against Baker. The court thought both men needed to be restrained, and each was directed to give bail to keep the peace, and pay the costs of prosecution.

Wm. H. Solly, Columbia, was charged by his wife, Annie M. Solly, with failing to properly maintain her. She testified that her husband ill-treated her, struck her several times, had not spoken to her since March, had told her children not to obey her, and did not buy provisions or clothes sufficient to maintain her.

The defendant testified that he received $49 per month for his labor and $5 persion. and all this money was expended in the purchase of necessaries for his family. It was also shown that Mrs. Solly neglected her children and refused to get his meals for him.

The court decided not to make an order directing the defendant to maintain his wife any better than he has been doing, and after lecturing both husband and wife, for both were in the wrong, as appeared from the testimony, he dismissed the complaint and directed Solly to pay the costs, The surely of the peace case against Otto Weber, preferred by Elizabeth Lipley, was dismissed. This prosecutrix had bro ought an assault and battery case against Weber.

perfectly smooth inside and how the man propels and guides it so correctly is known only to himself.

Bellonini is said to be one of the most wonderful jugglers now before the public, but owing to the late notice last night, he was unable to do that part of his act. He is the owner of three trained dogs, however, which he exhibited. The animals are far ahead of any ever seen in this country, and their act is really marvelous. They seem able to do almost anything but talk, although one of them was very sick last night from his sea voyage. No one can form any idea of the intelligence of these animals without seeing them. A large white poodle, with black cars and short tail, mounts a trapeze, and, with his forefeet on the cross-bar, is swung high in the air. He shows no signs of fear, but seems to enjoy the fup. All of the dogs walk a rope or piece of wood, twenty-four feet in length, about the size of large rope. The poodle walks across with his tront fect in the air and a white d g crosses on his front feet alone. The funny part of the performance is when the bis shepherd crosses. His owner say a "Charlie get on your horse! " Immediately the white dog mounts on the back of the shepherd and holds on like a boy to his back until he is carried safely across. Charlie wears a high hat while doing the act and looks very comical.

A TEXAS DESPERADO.

Sentenced In Rhyme and Hanged in Time, Leaving a Record of Bloody Crime.

A dispatch from San Antonio, Texas, says that James McCoy was hanged there on Friday for the murder of Sheriff Me-Kinney in December 1886.

McCoy was for fifteen years one of the most notorious desperadoes in Texas. He had escaped conviction in five trials for murder. Four years ago be lost his right leg from a wound roceived in a street fight. He was one of the most daring and heart-less members of the Alin Peur concerning with less members of the Allia Pen gang, which terrorized Southwestern Texas for years, until Capt. Charles McKinney came along and began a war against them. McKinney, as sheriff of La Salle county, thinned their ranks until Jim McCoy and Bud Crenchaw were about the only members left. They decoyed McKinney on the day after Christmas, 1886, to Twohig sta-tion, a few miles from Cotulla, the county have a low mines round count, the county sent, where they had plotted to murder him. McKinney and a deputy named Ed-wards were met at Twohig by Crenshaw and McCoy, who proffered them the use of their horses to ride to the house where a crime was alleged to have been committed. McKinney mented one of the house and McKinney mounted one of the horses, and suck in boy mounted one of the horses, and while he was inquiring the way Crenshaw pushed the muzzle of a Winchester under his chin and fired, killing him instantly, At the same time McCoy fired at Edwards, wounding the deputy in the shoulder. Edwards' horse, frightened by the shooting dashed off, saving its rider. Crenshaw was killed by State Rangers

Crenshaw was killed by State Rangers shortly afterward while resisting arrest. McCoy beat around in the brush a few weeks, and, becoming sick, gave himself up. The jury rendered its verdist in rhyme. Here it is: We, the lary in the McCoy case Have found his actions very base ; We think that its only just. When to us is given trust. No reason why we should abuse Our bodies further with misuse. To wrate our time in value endeacor The judge would any twas very clever, But no, their guns went bang, bang Theo, why in here in value endeacor The index mould any twas very clever, But no, their guns went bang, bang Then, why in here in value endeacor The index would any twas very clever, But no, their guns went bang, bang The write our time in value endeacor The will be a lesson in after time To ware need from stift crime. So should our lives be pure and true. Then will we have no court to sue. For life or moperty or divorce. For law will surely bave its force As it did in this case.
