LIVELY DISCUSSION AND FINAL ENDORSE MENT BY THE G. A. R.

They Approve Ifis Courses, But Ask au Investigation-Foars that Fallare to Investigate Might be Blamed Upon Them - Brilliant Naval Sham Battle.

At the Grand Army encampment at Milwaukee on Thursday the chief event was a red hot time over resolutions endorsing Pension Commissioner Tanner.

Mr. Perkins, of Kansas, introduced a resolution heartily thanking the administration of President Harrison for the honor it has conferred on the Grand Army in appointing Corporal Tanner as pension commissioner, and heartily endorsing his conduct of the burean, because it was created for the benefit of the soldiers and sallors of the late war, and denouncing the bitter and malignant criticisms of the press upon his malignant criticisms of the press upon his official conduct.

General Barnum, of New York, offered a official conduct.

General Barnum, of New York, offered a substitute to the effect that, notwithstanding the assaults of an unfriendly press, the encampment declared its belief in the integrity of Tanner, and its approval of his efforts to do all for the soldiers and sallors that the law will allow.

Campbell, of Illinois, agreed with General Barnum in his idea as to the proper wording of the resolution, and said: 'Don't take a lasty vote. For fifteen years we have been declaring, and others have been uttering a sentiment, that the country can never pay the debt due to the old soldiers, but Corporal Tanner is the first officer that has made that sentiment a practical reality. I believe it is the high duty of this encampment to sustain him in working out that sentiment. The substitute expresses a belief in the integrity of Comrade Tanner, and would not influence the action of the committee charged with the investigation. It may be better than an indorsement like that offered in the original resolution, but we should make our endorsement strong enough. The original resolution expresses our sentiments exactly. If Tanner is dishonest, or has done any criminal act, we will find it out when the committee makes its report. The presumption of law is that every man is innocent until he is proven guilty, and, as far as I am concerned, I will make that presumption to go to the fullest extent in this case.

A delegate from Minnesota said he would no more dare go back to the soldiers of his his case.

A delegate from Minnesota said he would no more dare go back to the soldiers of his state, after harming a hair of Tanner's head, than to ride through a band of Sioux Indians with their war paint on.

Another delegate said a resolution of confidence like the substitute should provoke no opposition, but when it is made a matter of judgmont it becomes a club in the hands of Tanner's enemies. Who knows anything about his administration of the pension bureau? It is not his enemies, but his friends. We should not try to force the administration to suspend this investigation. I was in Washington last week and I heard it charged upon the streets and everywhere in Washington last week and I heard it charged upon the streets and everywhere else that men employed in the bureau were all getting their cases made special and taken up immediately and re-rated much higher, while the poor devils of the rank and file have to stand back and wait. I told them that it was a lie, but if he has done that and we pass the original resolution we endorse such action on his part. The substitute is broad enough. This oncampment knew nothing of the details encampment knew nothing of the details of Tanner's work and cannot pass judgment upon it. We may believe it is all right, but we do not know it. If we pass the original resolution and the committee of investigation should exonerate him, the opposition press would say that the adopposition press would say that the administration dare not oppose the G. A. R., and they would have good reason to say it.

At the afternoon session Gen. Barnum's substitute was redrafted to read as follows:
"That we thank President Harrison for e appointment of our comrade, James Tanner, as commissioner of pensions, and that, notwithstanding the assault made on him, we declare our complete confidence in his integrity and our approval of his en-deavors to do all that can be done under the laws for the voterans of the war: and in connection with him we ask a full investigation of his administration of the affairs of the pension bureau."

It was adopted under a suspension of the rules unanimously, amid great cheering.

The day trains brought in about $0,000 additional visitors, mostly from Wisconsin and Illicols the great cheering. and Illinois, the great attraction being the night mayal battle. Fully a quarter of a million people occupied the beach, and the vast ampitheatre on the side of the lake shore park was packed with Grand Army men and their wives, these seats being reserved for them. The battle was a spiendid spectacle, being participated in by vessels, besides a stationary mortar and about 3,000 infantrymen and artillery-

There were fired 70,000 rounds of musket-ry, 3,000 shells and 4,500 rockets and 20,000 pounds of fireworks were exploded. The plan of the battle was an attack by a hostile fleet and repulse by the shore batteries, supported by the infantry. THE IRISH UNIVERSITY. Perhaps It Will Break the Home Rule Combination.

The Pall Mall Gazette in an article on Thursday entitled "A Rift Within the Late," says: "The cordial acceptance by the Parnellites of Mr. Balfour's proposition to endow an Irish university has induced the Liberals remaining at Westminster to shake the dust of their feet against Mr. Parnell and his allies." The Gazette endorses Mr. Robertson's statement in Parliament, to the effect that a very wide wedge has been driven, and asks: "Will the wedge result in a separation which shall leave the Gladstonians in the lurch—is it all up with the home rule party?"

Continuing, the Gazette says: If the Tories advance much further they will, dish the Liberals by giving home rule to Ireland at two bites instead of at one. This may be unpleasant for the Liberals but not for the Home Rulers. The Liberals must have a cry in reserve against the time when home rule shall be mute for party purposes."

must have a cry in reserve against the time when home rule shall be mute for party purposes."

The Standard believes that the new Irish university bill foreshadowed by Mr. Balfour yesterday will provide for a special charter and a separate endowment for a Catholic university completely independent of existing institutions. The government's concession on this point, the Standard says, is likely to strain relations between the Parnellites and the Radicals.

It is understood that the government and the Catholic heirarchy were in negotiation for some time with reference to the university scheme. Mr. Parnell was cognizant of the project, but the Ulster members of Parliament are completely surprised by the announcement of the scheme.

At a meeting on Thursday night in Belfast, Mr. Kane, Grand Master of the Orangemen, strongly condemned the unisity scheme, and declared that Mr. Balfour's proposals would meet with determined opposition among Irish Protestants.

Ponsioning Confederate Widows.

Ten years ago Georgia adopted the policy of pensioning the Confederate soldiers living within her borders. At the opening of the present session of the Legislature Governor Gordon, in a special message, urged that the widows and orphans of the Confederates who fell in battle should also be pensioned. This recommendation was referred to a special committee of thirty, which has agreed upon a unanimous report. The bill takes in only the widows of Confederate soldiers that died in battle or from wounds received in the service or the hardships incident thereto, and who have remained unmarried. They must also have been married at the time of the service. A constitutional amendment will be necessary to legalize these pensions, so the amount is not fixed in the bill. It is not believed that there are over 1,000 widows in the state eligible. The orphans will not be provided for, the sentiment of the Legislature being that they will be able to provide for themselves without state aid. Pensioning Confederate Widows.

CAMPMEETING.

DETAILED ACCOUNT OF THE SECOND DAY AT RAWLINSVILLE.

A Great Crowd of People on the Grounds and Lively Interest in the Proceedings - Camp Notes and New Arrivals.

RAWLINSVILLE, Aug. 29 .- This is the sccond day of camp, and the expectation that it would largely exceed all former ones, both in numbers and interest, is being fully manifested. All day long new arrivals have been pouring into camp. Philadelphia, Baltimore, Johnstown, Columbia, York, Millersville, Strasburg and many other places from a distance have sent their quoto of visitors. Many have applied for tents since the camp has opened but the association furnished them only for those who had ordered in advance.

The tenters were astir early this morning Long before the rising bell rang nearly all the campers were about, getting ready for the day's services and putting the finishing touches to their tents. Some of them did not arrive till late in the evening yesterday and so couldn't do much fixing, but by this evening they will have everything in pleasure combined with spiritual growth. The camp opened last night as already briefly noted with a platform and experience meeting. The meeting opened with singing "O, for thousand tongues to sing," after which Rev. Adam Black led in prayer. Rev. J. G. Wilson followed with scripture reading, and the hymn "There is a foun-tain filled with blood" was sung. Addresses were then delivered by Rev. Coxson, president of the association, and Roys. Wilson, Kartsholtzen, Bodwin, Hudson and Black. An experience meeting followel, at which a large number gave their testimonies of the saving power of God. The meeting was largely attended, fully 500 visitors being in attendance; and if this is an indication, the number of visitors will exceed the most sanguine expectations of the association.

MORNING'S SERVICES. Owing to the campers having so much to do, the public family worship services were dispensed with and no services were held until the 8:30 experience meeting. It was in charge of Rev. Bodwin and was well attended. A large number also spoke at this meeting, and from present indications this will be the most interesting of the ser-

Wilson, who gave a few words of exhortation. The services this afternoon were a young people's conference at 1:30 in the tabernacle led by Rev. Bodwin, and a children's meeting at the stand led by Rev. J. H.

Royer. Both meetings were very interest-ing and well attended. The former consisted of prayers and experiences by the young folks. The latter consisted of singing and several very interesting and intructive addresses to the children. Rev. F. A. Gacks, of Cochranville, Chester county, preached at 3 p. m. This gentlman is a former minister on this circuit, and his sermon was an able one delivered in earnest style. The evening sermon was preached Rev. J. A. Cooper, of Bird-in-Hand, and was a plain practical sermon and well received. The young people's meeting was conducted J. G. Wilson and H. C. Bodwin. Preaching to- morrow (Friday) at 10 a. m. by Rev. E. C. Yerkes, of St. Paul's, Laneaster, 3 p. m. Rev. J. H. Among the new arrivals of ministers to day are Rev. George Cummings, superindent of the Philadelphia City Missions; W. W. McMichael, Philadelphia; Rev. E. C. Yerkes, St. Paul's, Lancaster; B. F. Miller, Cochranville, Chester county.

A large crowd of visitors are in attendance this afternoon from Lancaster and other distant places. From Lancaster are Dr. J. L. Withrow and wife, Harry Gardner and sister Mamie, Samuel Martin and others. Mr. Moffet, of Oxford, is also a visitor. Mrs. Margaret Moore, of Philadelphia, and Miss Bessio Crawford, of Lancaster, are among those regularly in attendance.

Fully 1,000 people were present at this evening's services. Much credit is due to Rev. C. B. Coxson, president of the camp association for his efforts to make everything pleasant for the

IN COMMON PLEAS COURT.

Cases on Trial in the Upper and Lower The suit of Sarah Wanner vs. Benjamin Landis and Martin Shaeffer was attached for trial before Judge Livingston at noon on Thursday. This is a suit to recover the interest on one years dower held by Mrs. Wanner on the farm of her husband in Upper Leacock township, who died a few years ago. The records showed that he dower in the farm was $4,064, which would make her claim $243.84 for one year's in-

The defense was that on the 23d of March, 1887, Mrs. Wanner made an au-signment for the benefit of creditors to Peter Stauffer. The assignees sold all her effects, and among them her dower in-terest. From the amount realized a dividend of 14 cents on the dollar was paid to her creditors. The defendants claimed to have the interest on the dower, now claimed by Mrs. Wanner, to her assignee. Counsel for the defense claimed that the dower of Mrs. Wanner was part of her es-tate and as such could be sold, and having been sold by her assignee, plaintiff has no longer any interest in it.

The plaintiff in rebuttal offered testimony to prove that Mrs. Wanner never intended to include her dower right in the assignment she made for the benefit of burglary, but a bold conspiracy was revealed.

It appeared in testimony that Knobler sent for Bloomfield in a great hurry, and when Bloomfield arrived the other said he wanted to borrow $500 right away. Bloomfield refused. Then Knobler and a confederate knocked him down, rifted his pockets of quite a sum, and, considerately handing him $6, kicked him out doors. Bloomfield sent word that if they did not return the money at once he would have them arrested. Then the two men hit upon a plan to anticipate Bloomfield and get him arrested. They broke open a trunk in Knobler's apartments, forced the lock in the door, tumbled things about in great confusion and then sent word to Bloomfield that it was all a joke, and if he would call around they would return the money.

As Bloomfield entered the room he was selzed by Knobler, who, in an apparent frenzy of rage, shouted "Ah! you villain, I caught you in the act, did I?" and then he ted Bloomfield's hands behind him. A few minutes later Detective Roap, who had been summoned by the confederate entered

The confederate, in a terrible state of excitement, had entered the police station and told a harrowing tale of robbery. Knobler told the detective that $85 had been taken from the broken trunk by Bloomfield, whom he caught in the act.

27,450 CIGARS SMOKED AT ONCE. Disastrous Fire in Manhelm This Morning. MANHEIM, Aug. 30 .- An alarm of fire was raised shortly after 2 o'clock this morning which proved to be in the livery stable of W. Ruth. The building was a large frame structure owned by Samuel Stone-road and occupied by Ruth as a livery stable and by Benjamin White as a locksmith shop. Jefferson Kieffer formerly manufactured eigurs in the building, and still had stored there 27,450 cigars.

The building and contents were entirely destroyed but the loss will be almost covered by insurance. The building is insured in the Schoeneck company and the tools of B. White in the same company for $225. Ruth is insured in the Phoenix, Clay Gibble agent, for $300, which will probably cover his loss. The cigars of Mr. Kieffe were not insured, so he is the beaviest sufferer. H. L. Stehman, of this city, had 500 cigar blocks and some other things in the building, and were all burned with no

There was no ortracks was destroyed. There was no organized fire department, and the efforts of the United States regulars at Madison barracks, with an old-fashioned hand-pump fire engine, alone saved the entire village from total destruction. Recently the tax payers had voted down an appropriation to purchase a steam fire engine. This is the second big fire in the village within three years.

Arrested for Wife Beating. John McKelly was complained against before Alderman Spurrier on Thursday night for beating his wife. The disturbance at his house, No. 248 West Vine street, attracted a large crowd, and when the wife went to the alderman's office she was followed by a large number of people. McKelly was arrested by Constable Eicholtz and spent the night in the station house. He was released this morning on bail.

Mr. McKelly denies having struck his wife and claims that she was persuaded to prosecute him by his neighbors, and that she will withdraw the suit before the time fixed for the hearing. He Missed the Train.

DEMOCRACY, AT HOME.

YOUNG MEN'S DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY.

No club in Lancaster at present has more omfortable quarters than the Young Meu's Democratic society. This popular political organization, which includes among its members many of the leading citizens of Lancaster, is steadily growing and new members are being elected at every meet-ing. The rooms of the society are now in the new and very beautiful building which John G. Haas has completed on East Orange street. In creeting the building Mr. Heas made everything of the best and was very careful to see that the Young Demoerats had good rooms. The society has good cause to be proud of their quarters for they could scarcely have been made prettier. The rooms of the society are on the second and third floors. They are very large as well as handsome and the furnishing of them has been completed. On the first floor is the reception and director's rooms. It is fitted up with hard wood rockers and arm chairs, and at different places scattered about, are very comfortable lounges. The director's room is in the rear, and in it are a number of card tables and a large case with glass doors, in which the beautiful banner of the society is kept. On the floor of these rooms is laid one of the best body brussel carpets, which is very handsome and came from J. B. Martin & Co's store, The second story rooms have been claborately decorated by Messrs. Hager & Brother, and the general effect of the design and coloring is light and elegant. The side walls are treated in what is known as "two thirds work," the lower portion being hung with an Oriental pattern surmounted by the wide frieze made up of choice borders, heavy mouldings and a series of Lincrusta wreathes on a plain terra cotta ground. The ceiling is hung

These rooms will be heated by steam in he winter, and during the summer months they are very cool. In the rear on the second floor are water closets, urinals, and other conveniences.

The Democratic soldiers and sailors also meet in these rooms. The dedication of the the rooms will take place about the middle of next month, when Chauncey F. Black, of York, will deliver an address.

THE ARNOLD'S RELEASED.

They Enter Ball Before Alderman Barr to Appear at Alderman Spurriers. Alderman Spurrier has another grievince. This time it is against Alderman Barr for interfering with his business The cases referred to in which the interbrence occurred are those against Daniel and John Arnold, arrested by Alderman Spurrier and Officers Olt and Lehr for raising a disturbance at the Swan hotel on Wednesday.

The alderman sent Constable Elcholtz to the station house on Thursday afternoon with commitments to take the Arnolds to jail. The constable was greatly surprised on being told at the station house that the Arnolds had been released on bail. The alderman says he was not away from his office except to go to dinner and that the ball should have come to him and not gone to another alderman who knew nothing about the case.
