GRAHAM GOES OVER MIAGARA.

The Foolhardy Cooper satisty Rides the Horseshoe Falis in a Barrel.

Early Sunday morning Carliale D. Graham, the Philadelphia cooper, went over the centre of the Horseshoe Falls (159 Sect) in his barrel-boat, and twenty-five minutes later was picked up comparatively unharmed in the eddy below the falls. His barrel was beaten and wrenched somewhat, but was still water-tight and perhaps in a condition to go over the falls again. About fifty people witnessed the feat, which in order to avoid arrest, was conducted very quietly. At midnight the barrel and Graham were taken across the upper suspension bridge in a back driven by Andrew Horn, and brought around to the mouth of Chippewa creek, on the Canadian side, three miles above the falls. There they were joined by Gerry K. Staley, who rowed down from the village of La Salle in a bost and toward the barrel, 300 feet from the above, where, at 6:40 o'clock, it was let go. A fifty-foot drag rope was on behind, and 100 pounds of railroad iron were attached to the bottom of the barrel to keep it upright.

Graham was doubled up on top of two to the bottom of the barrel to keep it upright.

Graham was doubled up on top of two thirty-pound bags of sand, and had both legs and arms thrust through the same loop, his head being bent down between his knees. The barrel rode to the brink of the falls in twenty-five minutes, going over at 7:10 o'clock. After being submerged a minute and a half it came to the surface forty yards below the falls and floated abent for twenty-five minutes longer, when Almer Jones swam out and towed it ashore with the remnants of the drag rope. The manhole had been padlocked from the outside and the bars were so much wrenched that they had to be cut off. Then Graham was dragged out in a faint condition, the foul, conlined air and several hard blows on the head while going through the upper rapids having knocked him out. He was soon restored, and, excepting a few bruises, was uninjured. He says that he is satisfied, and does not care for any more barrel glory. He will never enter a barrel again.

Graham says: "The first I knew was when some one struck the barrel and said, 'Graham says: "The first I knew as when some one struck the barrel and said, 'Graham are you silve?'" He com-when some one struck the barrel and said, 'Graham, are you alive?'" He complained of terrible pains in the back and head from the racking he had received, and could talk, but incoherently.

Graham is a native of Wilmington, Del., and is 38 years of are and is 36 years of age.

Be Merciful to Yourself, Be Merciful to Yourself,

Among these are distress in the right side and

Among the accom-punying good results, are renewed digestion freedom from headaches, and a resumption of activity of the bowels. All billous symptoms disappear, and appetite and sleep improve.
