TUREATENING LETTERS SENT PRESIDENT HARRISON BY THE TANNER CLAN.

GUITEAUS PURSUE HIM

Two Special Detectives Protect the President on His Journey From Wash-Ington to Deer Park on Saturday.

The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphis Ledger writes: When President Harrison left the city on Saturday for Deer Park his immediate companions were his son Russell and Congressman Groavenor, of Ohio. He was also accompanied, it was learned to-day from a trustworthy authority, by two special detectives, whose duties did not cease until he was safely at his mountain cottage.

cease until he was safely at his mountain cottage. The cause of this precaution, it is stated, was the fact that threatening letters and re-marks from some of Tanner's hasty and injudicious friends had been of such a nature that it was thought best to take some action to prevent such a calamity as had been hinted at. The detectives were not engaged by the president or any member of his family, and his consent to permit them to accon-pany him was secured with much difficulty, he at first holding that it would be doing the solder element of the country irre-parable injustice to cast such a reproach on them.

bem. But after the gravity of the situation was pointed out to him, and the possibility of some half-domented individual, excited some half-domented individual, excited some half-demented matrixitian, excited over the Tanner case, creating a "scene," he agreed that his friends might take such action as they deemed best, but cautioned them to avoid all publicity in their move-

Gen. McMahon on Pension Legislation. Gen Martin T. McMahon, of New York, a Grand Army man, one of the board of povernors of the soldiers' home, and who has given close study to pension matters, declares it to be his deliberate conviction that the pension legislation suggested at the inst encampment of the Grand Army at Miwaukee will, if enacted into laws, cost the people of the United States as much as did the war itself. He sys that it is time the thoughtful, pa-triotic men of the Grand Army should protest. Nobody will doubt that General McMahon is entitled to speak as a repre-sentative of the veterans. He was in the field in every battle fought by the army of the Potomac during its five years of ser-vice. He caught General Sodgwick in his arms at Gettysburg as he fell dying. Two fis brothers successively commanded a New York regiment. If the scrive puscion bill should be adopted General McMahon would receive the largest possi-bie pension under it. General McMahon at the head of that regiment. Gen. McMahon on Pension Legislation.

said: "In my opinion the prevailing senti-ment of the Grand Army, if it could be properly ascertained, would be found to be simply this, that the government should comply with the implied contract made with the men who entered the service in the war of '61 by giving liberal pensions to those who were actually disabled and to the widows of the dead soldiers who are in need. Neither the government nor the need. Neither the government nor the people ever undertook to do more than this, and the talk about pensioning every man, without reference to his physical disability or his condition in life, is carried to an abor his condition in life, is carried to an ab-surd excess by many people who claim to represent the Grand Army." Of the effect of the passage of the arrears of pension bill upon the soldiers he said : "I can only say that the arrears paid to disabled soldiers in the national homes was, in the great majority of instances, a misfortune rather than a benefit. By far the greater number of these mean conduction the greater number of these men, coming suddenly into possession of large sums, amounting in some instances to thousands of dollars immediately took their departure from the homes, only to return after a few means or mostly attent between done weeks or months utterly broken down, ragged, robbed and destitute. When the ragged, robbed and destitute. When the arrears of pension bill was passed it was claimed that $40,000,000 would cover all expenditures under the law. It has already exceeded more than five times that amount, and there are claims still pending for over $200,000,000 more. The pension legislation asked for now, if enacted, will very greatly exceed any estimate thus far made, and have no hesitation in saving that it will have no hesitation in saying that it will greatly exceed the entire cost of the war."

A SHREWD PLOT SPOILED. Cronin's Clothes Sent to England to B Put on a Corpse.

Cronin's Clothes Sent to England to Be Put on a Corpse. The Chicago Evening News says: "The latest story in the Cronin case relates to the alleged plot to make it appear that Dr. Cronin was murdered in London, on the ground that be was a British spy. It is said that the police are in possession of evidence to show that the conspirators had made arrangements to have found in the Thames river a mutilated and diafigured corpse, ar-rayed in clothes which Dr. Cronin wore on the night he disappeared, together with his watch and other trinkets. In the pockets of the corpse were to be placed forged letters showing that Dr. Cronin had been in correspondence with the detectives of Scot-iand Yard for a number of years. One of the men now on trial in the Cronin case is said to have been delegated to attend to the American end of the plot. "On May 7 this man mother con-spirator at Sweeney's hotel, in New York, and it was arranged that the effects of the murdered doctor should be sent to Eng-land in the scaled iron box which had been procured by Tinsmith Klahre a few days before. This box, it is claimed, was in-trusted to a porter on an Inman line stamer, who in due time turned it over to a conspirator stationed at Liverpool. a conspirator stationed at Liverpool. This man, it is said, was to look after the rest of the plot. "He rented a cottage several miles from London, on the Thames river, and made arrangements to secure from Gray's hos-pital a corpse resembling in general features the appearance of Dr. Cronin. The idea was to array this corpse in Dr. Cronin's habiliments, throw it into the Thames and allow it to be found a day or two later, thus shifting from Chicago to London the scene of the crime. The discovery of Dr. Cronin's body in the catch basin in Lake-view upset the plans of the plotters, and this man fied from the cottage on the night of May 23. The porter whose services were secured is not an Irishman, but he did the job at the request of an Irish physician, a graduate of Trinity college, Dublin, who has travelled on the vessel for years as the ship's doctor." The Chicago Journal publishes the above story and connects the names of John F.

Desperate Attempt of the Nicelys to Es-cape From Somerset Jall. Joseph and David Nicely, convicted of the murder of Herman Umberger at the May term of the Somerset court, escaped from the county jall at noon on Monday. They shot Deputy Sheriff McMillan twice, and he may die. The news of the escape spread rapidly, and in a short time a well armed posse was organized and started in putsuit. The murderers were surrounded in a piece of woods and were recaptured. Lynching was prevented with difficulty. The two shots at McMillan were inred at close range, both taking effect, one passing close range, both taking effect, one passing out of McMillan's body and the other lodg-ing in the fifth rib.

out of McMillan's body and the other lodg-ing in the fifth rib. At noon Deputy Sheriff McMillan took dinner to the Nicely brothers. Finding no water in the corridor he called Watchman Kiefer to get it. Upon Kiefer's return with it to the jail door leading to the jailer's house, McMillan unlocked the door and reached for the pail. Dave Nicely, the youngest of the two, sprang on his back, while Joe fired two shots from a 38-callbro Smith & Wesson revolver into McMillan's left side from the front. Both Nicelys sprang past the wounded man while two other pris-oners, one named Garno, covered Kiefer. Escaping from the jail, the Nicelys ran to Hayes woods, a half mile cast of Somerset. The sheriff was able to give the alarm, and a party at once started in pursuit. The woods, about fifteen acros in extent, were surrounded; armed men at once began to hunt up the game. Dave was found on a hunt up the game. Dave was found on a tree and surrendered without a shot. He had a fully loaded thirty-eight calibre revolver and was taken at once to jail. It was the party organization being perfect, with many well organized clubs. Owing to the registration law passed by the Republicans of the last territorial Legis-lature, and which applies to country pre-cincts as well as to the cities, this united work of the Democrats will have a good effect. The result of the law is that in a large number of instances men are com-pelled to go eighty miles to the registra-tion office, over mountains and across the prairies, and that, too, at a season when the time can least be spared. The Republicans knew that the heavy Democratic vote was polled in those districts in which the popu-lation was most scattered. Another thing they counted on was the fact that the same election which sent them to the Legislature likewise elected Repub-lican county commissioners. As it was

LONDON, Sept. 17 .- Noon-The advice of the leaders of the strike to the dock laborers to observe all provisions of the agreement under which they returned to work appears to have been quite effectual. Early this morning the men appeared at the decks and generally went to work peaceably with the "blacklegs." Very few men assembled outside the docks and they were quiet. There were, however, some cases of disturbance. The strikers and "blacklegs" on the Southwest India dock became involved in a dispute, and the men who had been on strike drove the "blacklegs" out of the dock. The police interfered and quelled the disturbance. The strikers then withdrew, and the "blacklegs" resumed appearance,

 The arrangements for the reunion were in charge of a different committee, and a committee of General Heintzelman Post, and the committee of this joint committee were Abram Kline, president; H. S. Danner, vice president; S. S. Nees, corresponding secretary, and Dr. J. M. Dunlap, treasurer. Grand Army posts began arriving on the early morning trains, regular and special, and by 9:30 all had arrived, and were formed in line on South Charlotte street in the following order:

When the striking workmen were about to resume work at Albert dock they found a number of "blacklegs" employed on the dock. The strikers made an attack on the 'black legs" and chased them from shed to shed. Several of the "blacklegs" received injuries which necessitated their removal to the hospital. The men who made the ussault were discharged. The directors of the dock companies threaten a general lockout if the men do not live up to the erms of the agreement their representatives have signed. AFTERNOON-The disturbances among the dock laborers have been quelled. Work has been fully resumed on the Victoria and West India docks. There has been no further molestation of " blacklegs" on the part of the strikers.

Eight thousand Odd Fellows arrived in Columbus on Monday, among them dele-gates from Ontario, Nova Scotia, Winnipeg, Switzerland, Denmark and England.

Monday morning there was a reception at the Board of Trade rooms. Speeches were made by Governor Foraker, Mayor Bruck and others. The city is one vast sea of decorations, and the scene in beauty resembles the G. A. R. encampment of year ago.

Murdered By His Nieco. Frank Amos, one of the most prominent citizens of Morgan county, Ohio, was mur-dered at his home by a Mrs. Hamton, his niece, who literally backed his face and head to pieces with a butcher kuife which be had carried for works atwardly for she had carried for weeks avowedly to that purpose. Amos was picking berries in a field with his wife when the attack was made. She and a man who was passing on the road were attracted by his cries and reached him only in time to see him breathe his last and to see Mrs. Hanton and her daughter run away. The murder grew out of a lawsuit in which the testiony of Amos threw the costs on Mrs Hamton.
