ADDRESS, THE INTELLIGENCER.

LANUASTER, PA., September 23, 1889.

Ont West. From the earnestness displayed by New York and Chicago in preparation for the 1892 centennial one would think that there were to be two celebrations of the kind. We believe, however, that it derstood that there is to be but one, and that Congress will decide where it citing question of the coming session and we must get ready to advise our repreatives how to vote. We see that Layor Edgerley has promised Lancaster city's support to New York, though whether he has done it by the authority our congressman we doubt, as Mr. Brosius, being about to make his debut in Congress, will be duly solicitous not to make any missteps, and will want to know what Lancaster county says before ufaking any promise of support to a centennial site.

And what does she say? Is she for New York, as her neighbor, or for Chiongo, as her relation? For there are vastly more Lancaster people in Cnicago than in New York, and we incline to think that there is a good deal more sympathy and fellow feeling between se two sections than there is between Lancaster and New York. We have little social and not a vast deal of business connection with New York; which city is a city of its own kind, that serves our purposes as a market house and that we are done with when that business is over. So that Lancaster, in deciding where the centennial should be held, is not prevented from taking an any claim that New York has upon her.

Viewing the question in the interests of foreign exhibitors it may be conceded goods will be placed there at somewhat that New York is the place, since their trouble and expense than at inland port of Chicago; but for the same reason Chicago's situation suits best the people of our own country. Its central location and hotel acamodations have made it the favorite assembling city for national conventions; and no better evidence could be offered of the superior advantage of its site for the location of a national fair. It is a little farther from us than New York, but when we go to that centennial we will have to make a business of it and camp down for some days or weeks to see its sights; so that it does not matter much to us whether we have to travel a few hundred miles more or less

And then, as we have suggested, most of us have relations out West that we want to see and whose centennial and other visits it is about time that we are thinking of returning; and the world's fair at Chicago would give us a fine opportunity of settling up these scores and of seeing the great West that everyone wants to see. And it long way for one purpose when we have another one still dearer to our heart that we want to gratify. We even know that a grave young gentleman of our town stiended the last Republican convention at Chicago, to excuse his purpose to wit. ness a big base ball match that was to b · played in the West about that time, newhere between Detroit and St. Local, and he attended it, too, after he and taken the hasty look which his duty required him to cast upon the con-

So that we are inclined to think, our mayor to the contrary notwithstanding. that Lancaster would be better pleased to have the fair held in Chicago than in New York. Her sense of fairness inspires her to desire that it should be held at the most central place to all the people ; a sense that is all the stronger because it takes the show among her relations out West.

The End of War.

The manœuvres of the German troops mear Hanover again give prominence to the smokeless powder so often referred to in recent field operations of the German and Italian troops. According to the cabled accounts of this latest trial the new powder is a great advance in that ever moving art of war, and renews the wonder as to what it will all come We are told that the corps using the smokeless powder got within two hundred yards of the enemy without the latter being able to determine the dis-The enemy were often taken on the flank and were unable to guess whence the fire came. If it had been a real battle they would have been anni-

Another new device used in this bloc.1less experimental battle, was the Schuman iron-clad tower, mounting machine guns. There were eight of these towers on the field. It is evident that the weapons are becoming so terribly efficient, that war may be resolved into a series of manœuvres by which each side will endeavor to keep out of sight of the other. In the days of armor, war finally became a costly farce, because the well protected men in armor could not be killed. In these days of machine guns, magazine rifles and other terrors too many men would be killed if great armies met in battle ; and in their anxiety to avoid inglorious extermination, commanders may, after the first battles of the next war, keep out of one another's way with skill so marvelous that war will become a safe and interesting though expensive pastime.

The really alarming phase of military evelopment will come when nations egin to pitch earthquakes at each ther in the guise of cases of high explolives in large masses. Zalinski aiready talks about hurling dynamite by the ton at an enemy seven miles away. There may also be cargoes of similar earthakes drifting about in mid-air, but for e present the war terrors that actually ateu on the earth's surface are quite nough to give hope that they will com-pel everlasting peace.

The Berks Republicaus.

There is no earthly reason why the erks county Republicans should conthemselves to one convention or sould abide together in unity; like the ocratic party in Lancaster county, by are entirely free to gratify their taste about dwelling together in harmony. There is no reason why we here or they there should swallow every particularly obnoxious candidate or vote for a man for a county office that we do not want to have it. The Berks Republicans are denied by a malign fate any voice in the conduct of the affairs of their county; though they have as big a say as anybody in those of the state and of their party. Generally they have been a submissive lot; in fact we do not know when before they have said "boo" to their bosses. But this time there is plenty of kick-ing. Something seems to have stirred up the bile of the party. A man named High has undertaken to administer its affairs, and having advertised himself as the agent of Quay and the dis-tributor of the federal spoils, he seems to have secured a small majority in the convention; whereupon the minority have bolted, and threaten a separate organization of the party in the county. It may be expected however that a judicious application of soothing syrup and distribution of sweetmeats will calm the troubled spirits and that the Republicans of Berks will shortly fall back into the Rip Van Winkle sleep from which they have been stirred.

In spite of heavy and constant rains the country roads are in excellent condition, banks to the strong winds.

From the top to the bottom of the Eiffel lower are written the names of thousands of visitors, chiefly Frenchmen, and it is rumored that M. Eiffel intends to make list of them and will open suits for damages against several in the hope of discouriging the practice. It is suggested that a better plan would be to place signs in conspicuous positions with the inscription' Fools will please write their names on this structure."

THE New York Herald has the followng which might be styled Tanner's political epitaph:

WANTED—A surplus burster! Must be dumb. Address White House, Washing-ton, D. C.

"A READER," who is evidently so green that the ways of sensational journalism are quite unknown to him, has addressed us an undated at.onymous query, "How about Chalkley Le Coney?" The date is not needed because no sober man would have put the question after reading the papers of this morning. The lesson for this reader and others is that nothing is gained half as valuable as the time wasted in reading the Sunday papers, which are published on Saturday evening. The Saturday INTELLIGENCER has all the news up to four o'clock in the afternoon.

THE news of the loss of the clipper ship South American is coupled with the information that she was claimed to be the fleetest sailing ship ever built. She went around the world in ten months and fourteen days, unloading and loading cargo at several ports. Her end is a sad reminder of the days when our fleet clippers were the admiration of sailors in every port and our flag as well known as WILKIE COLLINS is dead, and his books will soon rise in public favor.

Edmon is being treated with all the consideration hitherto accorded Buffalo Bill, the Shah of Persia and other celebrities who have visited Europe. The only difference is that the inventor is not quite so regally treated in England where they have just recovered from an exhaustive entertainment of the very barbarous Persian ruler who is made to figure with the royal family to many illustrations of the London Graphic. Edison, even with his Italian title, is quite too useful and Democratic a citizen to become the central gure of processions and regal sp He is resting quietly in the country near London, declining all invitations and baffling newspaper men with refusals to talk about his inventions. Proceedings of a Bull. On Sunday afternoon a large bull in the Philadelphia stock yards broke into an enclosure where Butcher John McLeod was at work. The man ran across the inclosure toward the gate. But the bull was fleeter and caught him when the goal had been almost reached.

almost reached.

With a bellow the brute buried his right horn in McLeod's back, between the fifth and sixth ribs. The sharp point went all the way through the body, penetrating the right lung and protruding from the right breast. The writhing victim's weight on his horn only seemed to add to the buil's fury. He dashed around the inclossure at railroad speed, his victim screaming with agony, and the powerless spectators paralyzed with fear. McLeod hung suspended from the brute's horn, while the buil bellowed, and the crowd shouted and yelled in a transport of horror. The buil dashed madly sround until he was exhausted, and then three his unconwas exhausted, and then threw his uncon-scious burden into a corner and boited McLeod was taken to a hospital, but there is very little hope for his life.

38 Horses Burned.

The stable of Contractor John Lynch, with 38 horses, harness and vehicles, was destroyed in Philadelphia on Sunday evening by a fire which is supposed to be of incendiary origin. The loss is about $10,000.

Very like a Niagara current in Dress Goods. Qualities and prices that you rarely see together. Of course there's a torrent of trade. Let a short dozen of the littler priced ones talk for all.

At 25 cents:

Striped Cheviets. Heavy serge weave, say it's a stuff that "will never wear out," but it will-in time. Single and cluster stripes. Black, brown, navy, green, gar-Shepherd Check. A regular 57% staff. Three sizes of checks.

At 371/2 cents:

Crepe Diagonal. 56 inches wide. Elegant wood handsomely put together, and fairly worth 50c. Twelve choice shades.
You'll find 35-inch All-wool Tricets in most of the stores about fown, but you won't find this quality or anything within three grades of it anywhere else at the price.
You'd think to pay half a dollar for it. 55 inches wide, all wool, and almost gay with $\frac{1}{2}\cdot \text{inch}\text{ stripes}\text{, eight changeable colors—a bluelsh, a brownish, and so on.
Half-inch Mehair Stripes. 31 inches. Good weight, excellent weave, and seasonable colors.

At 50c cents:

Cassimer Serge. Twilled on both sides. As graceful and neat a stuff as we ever had at the price. Charming In color as in weave—Iwenty exquisit is shades.
Cheviots, solid and cluster stripes, black, brown, garnet, green, blue grounds, touched with white. 27 inches wide.
The "Tuxedo" Suiting. A. "cheap at 75c" stoff. All wool, and when we say "all weel" we don't wink at even one thread of hidden cotton. The "Tuxedo" comes in solid and ombre stripes, and in indefinite plates. plaids.
Ladies' Habit Cloth, 50 inches wide. Better quality than you look for at half a dollar.

And so the story goes through dozens of chapters and scores of prices.

100 more Carlsbad Dinner Sets such as we told you of the other day. 125 pieces, $25; 100 pieces, $20. Worth at least a third more as the market is.
