SAM MATT FRIDY THE MAN

HE IS DETERMINED UPON TO BE COLLECTOR HENSEL'S SUCCESSOR.

Quay and Cameron Have & Conference and Agree to Fill the Office-Mr. Hensel Forwards His Resignation.

The contest for the collectorship of this revenue district was ended on Friday, by the announcement that the name of Sam Matt Fridy, would be sent to the president to succeed Geo. W. Hensel, whose resignation reached President Harrison this morning. The contest just ended was a bitter one and has been in progress for several months. The name of the following par-ties used in connection with the posi-tion from this county were Lewis S. Hart-man, Andrew J. Kauffman, Col. B. Frenk Eshleman, Samuel M. Myers and Sam Matt Fridy. The other leading candidates were Mr. Worth, of Lebanon, and Mr. Wood, of Huntingdon.

Worth, of Lebanon, and Mr. Wood, of Huntingdon. Mr. Hartman had behind him the Stalwart element of the Republican party in this county. He was opposed by the Quay leaders, and Measrs. Martin, Griest and Mentzer made numerous pilgrimages to Quay's residence and headquarters, to im-prese upon him the necessity of his defeat-ing Hartman for the position. Senator Quay did not need much urging, for he well knew that all the political thrashings he got in this county the past few years could be traced to Hartman's management. Senator Quay called upon Senator Cameron and said to him that while the revenue collectorship was one of his pervenue collectorship was one of his per-isites he would not agree to the appoint-ent of Hartman, and if he was named for the position he would consider it a persona

Sei a or Cameron did not care to in ur the cumity of Quay, and while pretending to be friendly to Hartman he threw him overbard. Mr. Hartman was a kel to name a party for the position, but he declined doing so. Mossrs, Kaufiman and Eshleman had strong backing, and their names were con-sidered for a time as compromise candi-dates. They were finally dropped as not being available, and because the appoint-ment of either would not restore harmony

The name of Samuel M. Myers, was also considered and for a time his show was good. Mr. Skiles could have had the position if he would have said so, but he would not accept it. Mr. Fridy started in the canvass with an advantage. He was better known to Sen-ator Quay than any of the other candidates, and was for a number of years chief clerk in the state department under the Quay regime. He also had behind him politi-cians who trained in the Cameron clan for Alighe papers were completely "off" on this appointment. The correspondents of Philadelphia daily papers had one party collector one day and another party the second day and so they kept on until the list was exhausted, when they began anew. The fight for the position became so bitter between the rival factions and politicians that Senator Cameron decided to appoint Mr. Worth, of Lebanon county. That raised a howl among the Lebanon politi-cians because they did not want Worth, and he then decided to appoint Mr. Wood, of Huntingdon. He was agreed upon for the office a few days ago and when Quay was informed of Cameron's conclusion he called upon him at Donegal. On Thursday Quay induced Cameron to withhold nam-ing a man for a day or two and in the mean-Allithe papers were completely "off" on Quay induced Cameron to withnoid nam-ing a man for a day or two and in the mean-time notified Martin, Mentzer and Griest of what had been decided upon. These parties or their agents saw Quay and told him it would never do to let the appointment go out of the county and another conference was held at Donegal on Friday. At this conference Quay induced Cameron to drop Wood and appoint Fridy. The appointment is a great victory for the Quay forces in this county and will give them prestige in the next primary election, providing the disappointed appli-cants for position, which will be many in Lu nber, do not desert that faction. Mr. Fridy heard that he was agreed upon when on the road to this city this continent go out of the county and

That Strange Furnace Accident.

The Pittsburg Dispatch says of the acci-dent at Braddock : It seems that Furnace C had not been in very good order for about 40 hours pre-ceding the accident. The metal in the bottom of the erucible had become chilled, and when the tamping present of wear it was Jacob F. Wolfer, 5446466875-57. G. S. Flick, 4583587570-52. Peter Dommell, 8846455770-19. T. bottom of the crucible had become chilled, and when the tapping process began it was found it would not run. The attention of the general manager was directed to the fact, and Captain Jones at once took charge of the gang of men on the spot. Ordinarily, the tapping of a formace is very simple. When the furnace is started, the tapping hole at its base is stopped with fireclay, and when it is time to run the metal a crowbar is inserted and driven home with a sledge. The metal then, of its weight, opens up the hole to its full extent. On this occasion several barshad been in-serted, but without the desired effect, when COLUMITA. Fred Gerán, 3777667834–58. Captain Jones was in the act of stooping down to look into the hole, when the metai flowed down upon him, and knocked him into the pit and between the trucks, which were standing in it. Had he chanced to have fallen into one of the trucks, instead of between them, he must have been in-stantly burned to a cinder, as the metal poured into the cars, filling them. The clothing was completely stripped from his body, which was badly mullated by the burning iron. Superintendent James Gayley, of the furnace department, and his assistant, Michael Killen, were standing near at the time, but escaped without in-jury. Most of the men who were engaged at the furnace were more or less burned, and, with the exception of those last above named, are being treated in Braddock. The crucible, which gave way, is about 12 feet high and the same in width. It was constructed in the usual manner, of brick, and without any jacket, and was not understood to be in any way inadequate to the pressure of 12 pounds to the inch, which each a standard use a standard with a standard way indeputate to the pressure of 12 pounds to the inch,

The applicant must not be less than fifteen years old and must have a good common school education. Address Supt. Brecht. The Pennsylvania Muscum and School of Industrial Art is an institution of which the commonwealth may well be proud, for with its well established art school and several industrial departments, it encour-ages a practical application of art in the in-dustries. The faculty of the institution con-sists of two professors and two instructors of drawing, a professor of modelling, a pro-fessor of chemistry, an instructor in textile design, two in general designing, one in weaving and one in word carv-ing. The school has a very large equipment of machinery, a model dye house and laboratory and is superior in many respects to the best of European wchools of industrial art. It receives ten thousand dollars a year from the state and in return grants free scholarships, one for each county, to be filled by appointment of the governor. It draws pupils from all parts of the United States and Canada. It has buildings Noa 1,336 and 1,346 Spring Garden street, Philadelphis. Students in the textile department are expected to pursue a three years course. In the de-purtment of chemistry and dyeing the course fitwo years.

When a crowd had gathered in the house after the infant had been burned to death, the youngster tried to set fire to the clothing of a neighbor's little girl, and was only prevented from doing so by force.

TWO TRAINS COLLIDE. A TERRIBLE DISASTER ON THE NEW YORK

CENTRAL RAILROAD AT MIDNIGHT.

Kour Persons Killed and a Number In-Jured, Soveral Perhaps Fatally-Many Hairbreadth Escapes of Passengers

CANAJORARIE, N. Y., Sept. 28-Two see tions of the St. Louis express, on the New York Central railroad, collided at Palatine bridge at midnight. The killed are : Rev. Prentice Duve, of Dayton, Ohio, evidently a railway official, as he had a pocket full of passes, aged about 70 years ; Sadie Boyd, of Westport, N. Y., a maid of W. H. Manning and wife, aged about 24 years; Chas. Franklin, a porter of the Michigan Central railroad, formerly with the Pullman company, ages bout 28.

The injured are : William H. Manning real estate dealer, of Marquette, Michigan, hurt internally, head badiy cut and will probably die; Mrs. W. H. Manning, who was Miss Julia Davis, of West-port. She was married about three wocks ago, and she and her hus-band were bound for their new home. She is injured about the head, but not seriously. Miss Tate, of Fredonia, back hurt and face cut. She was returning to her home from Brooklyn. Engineer Horth, of Albauy, both legs broken and otherwise injured. R. A. Fowler, a lumber dealer, of New York, concussion of spine and otherwise seriously injured. William H. McEvoy and H. J. Lewis, both of New York, were also injured. W. H. England, of the Union Press exchange, New York, injured slightly. Several others were injured slightly and there were startling and hair-breadth escapes. The special car of President M. E. Ingalls, of the Big Four railroad, and also that of President Ledyard, of the MichiganCentral, were on the train and wrecked, but none of their party was injured. Trains are passing the wreck.

ROW THE COLLISION OCCURRED.

When the first section of the St. Louis express reached a point near Creetser farm, opposite Brandywine rift in the Mohawk river, Engineer Weeks noticed a giving out of the steam chest of his engine. He immediately stopped and several passen-gers state that the hind brakeman of the first section ran back like a shot. As near as President Ledyard, of the Michigan Central, can judge it was not over five or six minutes before the crash came. Horth, the engineer of section No. 2, says he made every effort to stop by applying the air brakes, but they did not seem to work, and nothing was left for him to do but to brace for the crash. He was pitched out of the window and both his legs were broken and he was otherwise in injured. Ilis fireman, John Slater, went up about twenty feet in the air and landed on the top of the baggage car, which struck with such tremendous force that it was more than half way telescoped with the rear part of the engine. Baggageman E. Wilcox, of Syracuse, was thrown into one ond of the car and seriously hart about the head. He was the first to come to the rescue of the unfortunate fireman on top of the car and the latter, though badly shocked, was not seriously injured. The saddest and most terrible part of the accident befel William Manning, of Mar-quette, Mich., and his party. A few weeks ber, for the payment of the state or county Mr. Manning came WRIGHTSVILLE, 3:15 P. M. - About a quar-ter of twelve o'clock the wife and mother of Lemuel Barnes, fireman at the quarry of the Wrightsville Lims company, carthe Wrightsville Line company, car-ried his dinner to him. They were all to-gether in the boller house when there was a terrific explosion. The heavy top of the boller was hurled through the day boiler was hurled through the air at a great height and landed two squares away. Fireman Barnes' wife was instantly killed and his mother seriously injured, while he himself was thrown forty feet and so meriously hart that he is not expected to re cover.

The cause of the accident was too blg head of steam, there having been fifty pounds more pressure than there should have been. The bolicrs were tested for have been. The bollers were tested for between eighty and ninety pounds of steam, instead of which the pressure was between 130 and 140 pounds. The boller house was blown to atoms by the explosion, and pieces were hurled in every direction. The timber caught fire and was carried todynamite that was in the building while exploded. Four men who were standing near the boiler house when the second ex-plosion occurred made mirsonious es-capes with their lives. The bad of Mrn Barnes was completely severed from the body and was taken off as cleanly as though it had been done with a knife.

Inefficient Laws.

WILKESBARRE, Sept. 23.-The mine ex-amining boards, numbering nearly 100 members of various anthracite districts, are in convention here to-day. The purpose of the gathering is to discuss certain features of the Gallagher law which could be construed more liberally if properly understood. The great complaint now is that certificates are granted to incompetent miners because requested the boss. This is to be stopped if the labor leaders have requisite influence. At present there is no general understand labor leaders have requisite influence. At present there is no general understanding among the different boards respecting the registration of minos. If an applicant fails in his examination in Luzerne county he steps down to Schuylkill county and gets a certificate again. Man give fictitious names and get car-tificates which can be used by others. There are a host of defects in the law also which need correction by the next Largies. which need correction by the next Legis-lature. The examiners are going over the whole subject, and will discuss defects within the law as well as those which arise from dishonest practices.

Asphalt Sheet vs. Blocks From the Harrisburg Telegraph.

York a couple years ago paved its square with asphalt block at an expense of about $10,000. The other day it was taken up, and this is what the York Daily has to say about it : "The tearing up of the asphalt blocks, so as to be able to lower the curbing in the northwest angle of the square, has demonstrated the fact that some of the asphalt blocks that were taken up had become rotten to such an extent that they could be crumbled between the fingers. It is supposed that the water which is carried into that corner of the square is the cause." Fortunately Harrisburg has not used the asphalt block ; it uses the asphalt sheeting, and Gossip was informed only yesterday by a man who had to cut through it that for anything he could see the asphalt sheet was as thick and as good as it was when put

A Train Ditched by a Stray Cow

A train on the Lewisburg & Tyrone railroad rounding a sharp curve about two miles from Bellefonte on Friday struck a cow and was thrown from the track. It ran a short distance on the cross-ties, and then the engine plunged down an embank-ment, carrying the baggage-car with it. Two persons were severely hurt, and nearly all those on the train were bruised and battered.

She Lost a Finger.

Emma Libhart, residing at 435 South Duke street, was working with a cutter at the curamel factory, where she is employed, yesterday afternoon. In some way she had her hand caught, and the first finger of the right hand cut off and another badly in-jured. Drs. Roland and Shirk sitended her. The Night Owis

At the opera house last evening the Night Owls performed for the second time and the audience was of about half size. The show was the same as upon the open-ing night, but Sam Bernard had quite a number of new jokes and stories. The troupe appears for the last time to-night.

The constant rains have injured the wheat and made it, with but few ex-ceptions, damp and of poor quality. The farmers have to house it before it is dry or not at all and the weather will not permit them to leave it on the shock. I think the trouble is not that the wheat is threshed too soon, but it is not threshed soon enough. If left out doors the rain would cause it to sprout. It is better to harvest it early, and if properly housed it would be in fair condition. We have had No. 1 Pennsylconditi vania wheat, but very seldom. A good deal of the state's wheat is rejected or given no grade. The price of Pennsylvania wheat is

A Queer Strike. At noon on Friday about four hundred men at work on the big Union Trust build-ing in New York stopped work. This is to be a twelve- story building with a white granite front on Broadway, and a New street front of pressed yellow brick with rich ornamentation. The walking delegates of the building trades called on Mr. King, the contractor, last week and warned him that unless he stopped using material from Peck, Martin & Co., who are at war with the trades unions, they would order his men to strike. The strikers and walking delegates all express sorrow for Contractor King, against whom they have no complaint and who is bound by a contract

A Grocer Falls.

Business circles in Downingtown have been somewhat disturbed this week by the assignment of J. E. P. Pollock, grocer, following so soon the recent failure of Crowe & Vernon, clothiers and dry goods dealers. Pollock's liabilities already foot up over $7,000, a large portion of which falls heavily upon some of the small capitalists of the town, who had either endorsed for him or ad given him unlimited credit. The losses of E. Vinton Phillips, miller, and Frank E. Mercer expressman, excite much sym-pathy, as they can ill afford such financial
