LANCASTER, PA., October 1, 1889.

A Black Republican On Deck. Frederick Douglass and family have which nation Mr. Douglass is accred-ted as minister. The cause of his trouble was his color and his mission ; as a minister of his country it was necessary that he should travel first-class; and as a inister of the Republican party it sems to have been considered needful to ransport him on a government gun-The necessary consequence was that he should occupy the captain's quarters; and as he had a wife and some ine colored folks to take along it followed that the captain was put out into the ward room. Probably he preferred being there rather than with his distinguished and dusky company; but it was some time before a captain could be found who was willing to embrace the situation and the colored folks. One was owever at last caught and the Kearsarge Opinions probably will differ as to the taste of the captains who declined the Douglass company. Probably most sensible persons will say that as Mr. Douglass went out as his country's minister, the country's naval officers could have taken him aboard their ship with complacency, if not with pleasure, however strong their antipathy to association with the colored brother; just as they could have taken on a bull pup and buried him among the cushions of the state cabin, if he had worn the collar of a minister of the republic. But the nava) captain is a fastidious and unapproach-able creature, with an immense idea of his diguity and an acute consciousness of the inferiority of his species; to asi him to admit a white man of less than superlative degree to his cabin would shock him into a convulsion; and naturally the suggestion of a negro associate would cause him promptly to pack his trunk and ask to be relieved.

Douglass is a black Republican minister to the black republic of Hayti. He is a man of talent, which he inherited with his white blood; and it is a notable thing that Douglass and other mulattoes like him, who escaped from slavery to a free land, secured, by the talents their white masters had given them, the sympathy and support of the free world in overthrowing the peculiar

And is it not wonderful how great men of the North have been drawn from the dregs of the South, to influence the country's destiny during the era in which the continued existence of slavery was contention! Abraham Lincoln, though not a mulatto, was drawn from about as low an order of life, his mother being the product of a "poor white" and an unknown Southern master.

The Law and Order society has determined to enforce the ancient law of 1794, prohibiting the doing of "any worldly siness or employment whatever," or unday, "works of necessity and charity only excepted." That is very well ne in the Law and Order society. Whatever is unlawfully done should not be done, and a society organized to see that the 'w'is observed, does its duty every time that it brings to book offenders against the law.

But of course it must show that they are such offenders. It has, in this Sunday business, but to show, apparently, that the work is being done and that it is not "work of charity or necessity." That looks to be easy; and the law seems so plain that one wonders that it has en for nearly a hundred years so difficult to secure its observance. It is not that public opinion has not sustained it; for we presume that most people, if they were asked whether Sunday was not properly ordered to be a day of rest, would say yes. But the same people would step into a conveniently open store to get what refreshment or supply they wanted. And the fact seems to be that the rest, ecreation and enjoyment, which a great many people seek on Sunday, demands the labor of other people to satisfy it; and their violation of the law is conned by their accommodation of a pub-

If this is a reasonable demand, the Law and Order society is not likely to make ich beadway in enforcing the law. But if they confine themselves to shutting up useless shops and stopping useless Sunday work, they will accomplish their aim. They propose, they say, to start in against the open stores, such as the eigar and confectionery shops; and it is not easy to claim that these are do. ing necessary work. They are fair victims for the slaughter of the Law and Order society; and particularly the cigar

It Looks Like Malice.

Jersey justice, properly administered, does not greatly differ from the Pennsylvania article, as we supposed it must while contemplating the fact that Le Coney has been long imprisoned for the murder of his niece, without sufficient evidence known to the public and without a legal hearing of the charge against him. We see, however, that the writ of habeas corpus lies in Jersey, and that the man is given a hearing before a judge; at which Prosecutor Jenkins, in sance of his extraordinary behavior in this case, offered the affidavits of his witnesses, instead of the witnesses themselves. He furthermore is said to have directed that the coroner's jury, whose indefinite adjournment he had secured, should be called together to reurn a verdiet that the death of the rirl had been caused by someone to them unknown; so anxious is he to avoid publishing the evidence against Le Coney. The proceedings on the part of the prosecution in this case are more remarkable and reprehensible than any which we have ever noted in the conduct of a criminal case. They very strongly indicate malice against Le Coney, who is entitled by every consideration of justice to know the evidence held against him and to have a prompt hearing of the charge we a prompt hearing of the charge sinet him. All the friends of his murand the inference of the malicionness of LTOOPS SARSAPARILLA. the prosecution stands out upon every footstep it has taken in the case.

The second secon

In commenting upon President Harrison's course, with regard to appointments, the Philadelphia Ledger says:

"It is a great satisfaction that the Ledger's high estimate of President Harrion's good faith and regard for his publie pledges has turned out to be well grounded—as firmly grounded as if built upon a rock."

Now the Ledger has a well-earned eputation for fairness, and its attention s invited to the following specimen facts When Mr. Fairchild was secretary of the treasury, Dr. Edward Shearer was in charge of the chemical tests of sugar at the port of New York, and it was found that his reading of the polariscope, by which the rate of duty on sugar is determined, was so favorable to importers as to make them eager to have their sugar taxed by Shearer. Sugar intended for Philadelphia was taken to New York first to be passed on by Shearer. The Washington Democrat says: "Representatives of some of the larger refineries in the country outside of New York have assured the editor of this paper that they would never have entered the sugar trust if they had believed that any sec retary of the treasury would ever have undertaken to rectify their abuses and frauds in New York city." So Dr. Shearer's polariscope readings were a prime factor in the formation of this great trust. Secretary Fairchild removed Dr. Shearer. President Harrison has just reinstated Dr. Shearer. President Harrison has also just re appointed one G. C. Hammil to a similar position at New York. Mr. Hammil was removed by Secretary Fairchild after an investigation had disclosed the fact that on two cargoes of tobacco a difference of six thousand dollars had been made in Hammil's rating; he had fixed the duties that much lower than they should have been. The importers of this tobacco had once before paid a fine for defrauding the government. It is strange to see the staid and honest Philadelphia Ledger hugging itself with delight over the romantic notion that its high estimate of the president has turned out to be as firmly grounded as if built upon a rock. The calm effrontery of these two ap-pointments marks them for particular attention.

PHILAPELPHIA has long been urging the a lvisability of establishing a great naval station at League Island, and if the establishment of such a station is necessary it would be hard to find a better place. There the government has plenty of land and deep water, close to a great manufacturing centre, far enough from the sea for easy protection in war time, and within easy reach of the great iron and steel resources of Pennsylvania. But the question is whether we need such a station. So firm an authority as the Army and Navy Regis ter thinks that we do not. The Register, in commenting on League Island, says: "We have more navy yards than we need, and soon two or three more are to be added to the list. One great trouble with the navy since the war has been that, in the opinion of the politicians, real estate and a chance to pension 'heelers' on the government have been regarded as more important than ships. The more navy yards the country has, in our opinion, the less efficient and useful will the service be. "

THE profound ignorance of nature displayed by people living in the great cities is even more pitiful than a comptryman's greenness in town. Here is an incident from the New York Sun : "Everybody who crossed City Hall park between four o'clock and dusk yesterday afternoon stopped to watch a strange bird that was Clinging to the trunk of a tree. It was only a woodpecker, but a sparrow policeman watched it suspiciously as it pegged away at various worm holes in the bark, and he declared that nothing of the sort had ever invaded the park before. Not one in ten of the throng who stopped knew what it was or had ever seen one the species. The biggest newsboy in the crowd was sure it was a mocking bird and nobody disputed him.

THE colleges are hard at work develop ing their football teams. The University of Pennsylvania can boast exceptional advantages in this branch, as the hospital and surgical school front directly on the football ground. The Franklin and Marshall athelets are hereby notified that they play football at their peril, as Lancaster has not even an ambulance.

OUR minister to Mexico has arrived in Washington on a sixty days leave of ab-sence said to have some bearing on the free admission of Mexican lead ores. President Cleveland's administration was roundly abused by the men who are now fighting for a tax on Mexican lead ore and they are now greatly disturbed to find that Secretary Windom does not promptly correct the interpretation of the law by the last administration. They are beginning to abuse Mr. Windom.

PHILADELPHIA'S huge city hall will need a good deal over a million dollars if work is to be kept going on it through next year. An effort to raise the money by special tax failed to receive the approval of the finance committee. The city is absolutely without a civilized system of sewage. It has poor streets and miserable water. But it has at the intersection of its two chief avenues a marble-faced mass of brick piled up with some architectural ability and an Oriental contempt for cost. By all means let them hurry up and finish it that they may place on its highest pinnacle a statue of William Penn. The plain though courtly Quaker will thence survey the city that he founded, and note that it spends with lavish hand for an ostentatious civic palace, while it imperils health and disregards proprieties by poor drainage and water. and village pavements. Wealthy Philadelphia is like a man with a dirty shirt, no collar and a blazing diamond pin.

Assaulted and Left in a Field to Die. While the family of Eva Purty, an 18-year-old girl, were at Sabatha, Kan., on Sunday night two masked men entered the house, carried her to an adjoining cornfield, and brutally assaulted her. They then poured carbolic acid down her throat and left her to die. A discarded lover is suspected of the crime. The girl cannot recover.

Fifty Killed in a Collision. Fifty persons were killed yesterday in a collision between Naples and Foggia, Italy.

To look upon a bright, beautiful baby and remember that the only medicine it ever takes is Dr. Bull's Baby Syrap, certainly converts another family to the use of the remedy.

The sight of an ugly inflamed boil or sore, to say nothing of its dangerous tendency, should induce any sufferer to try Laxador, the infallible remedy for these troublesome blood disorders.

SCROFULA HUMOR.

"My Daughter's Life Was Saved."

"In regard to my little daughter, whose life was saved, as we believe, by Hood's Sarsapaparilla, I would say that before she was six months old scrofula sores began to appear on different parts of her body, and in a short time she had 7 running sores. Two physicians were called but they gave us no hope. One of them advised the amputation of one of her flagers, to which we refused assent. Our attention was called to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and we began giving it to her. A marked improvement was noticed after she had taken only one bottle, and by a continued use of it her recovery was complete. And she is now, being seven years old, strong and healthy. The other members of my family have been greatly benefitted by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I recommend it as an excellent blood purifier." B. C. Jones, Alna Lincoln Co., Me.

My daughter suffered terribly with sore syes, caused by scrofula humor. We were obliged to keep her out of school for two years. We had medical attendance, but she falled to gain relief. At last, knowing that Hood's Sarsaparilis had cured my mother of rheumatism, and believing it must be good for the blood, I concluded to have my daughter try it, and it has entirely cured her." Obligations to Paris are admitted-we cannot ignore Paris in Dressmaking and Millinery-but our own organization is the reliance of what is conceded to be the greatest retail Millinery business in this country-perhaps in any country.

Descriptions cannot describe the products for Women's head-gear this season. There is no standard, unless fancy free, uncontrolled by any fixed idea be considered a standard. You will therefore find more than ordinary pleasure in examining them. Here, for instance, is a carriage hat from Roger. The rim is of pheasant feathers, and the plume of Bird - of - Paradise feathers. A beautiful caprice-a rare conceit-exquisite for just one. The same freedom runs through the whole collection. The present year has shown our possi bilities in Millinery. Critics-French, English, Americanpronounced our Spring Millinery Reception as the most brilliant occasion in the Millinery history of France, England or America. To-day the display not only sustains but enhances that reputation.

Untrimmed Hats and Bonnets for Women and Girls are in endless sorts. Felts are increasing in popularity, and the trimmings for them—ribbons, flowers, feathers, birds-cover everything that the world's taste has produced for the season.
