THE NEW STATE ELECTIONS.

MORTANA. WASHINGTON AND THE DAKOTAS AT THE POLIS.

All Have Probably Gone Republican Exept Montana-The Returns There In-Victory For Democrate

The elections in the four new states on acaday have been held, and the voters are given expression to their political ows. Beautiful weather was enjoyed roughout the Northwest, and the present dications are that the vote has been a full ite. The capital fight in South Dakota d Washington called out the few voters he might otherwise have been classed as ay-at-homers, while the closeness of the steed of the state of the state of the contest of the state of t

The two Dakotas had been conceded to the Republicans early in the day, the point to be settled being only as to the majority. The interest in North Dakota was centered in prohibition, the friends of which were hopeful, and the district judgeships. Also, there was much interest in the Legislature is regards its feelings for or against the senatorial candidacy of ex-Govs. Pierce and Ordway.

The questions to be decided in South Dakota were state and legislative officers, we congressmen and judges, the adoption of the constitution, a prohibition clause, a clause for minority representation in the

the state c pital.

North Dakota voted for the same officers, and also on the constitution and a prohibition clause therein.

The length of the tickets causes much de-lay in collecting returns. At midnight on Tuesday scattering returns only have been received, but these indicate the election of he state tickets in the two Dokatas by the lepublicans, and the choice of the majority f the Legislature in the south state by that arty. In North Dakota the Legislature iy be closer.

In South Dakota the question of which y would win on the vote for the tempory location of the capital has predominated other issues. It will take an official unt to determine the winner, but it is needed now that the victory will belong only a few hundred majority to either the property of the control of Huron, Pierre, or Sioux Falls.

The prohibition issue was fought with a vigor never before known. Enormous sums of money have been poured in by the "wets," but it came a little late and prohibition will probably carry by a small out safe majority.

Telegraphic summaries from all sections from North Dakota indicate that the topublican ticket will be elected by not MONTANA PROBABLY DEMOCRATIC. If betting is a criterion of what the result of the first state election in Montana will be, the Democrats will have their entire ticket elected when the polls close.

At least a quarter of a million is staked on the result in Helena alone, most of it in the ratio of $10,000 on Toole, Democratic nominee for governor, to $2,800 on Power, Republican candidate. Even money has been the rule on bets on Maginnis and Carter, candidates for Congress, while on the legislative tickets the Democrats, to bets, have been compelled to give odds A careful examination of the result shows the following: Toole will have 1,500 majority, Maginnis about 300 less; Legislature Democratic by 7 majority. The Republicans will probably elect the leutenant governor, with greater probability of getting in Judge Biake, candidate for justice of the supreme court.

The Republicans scratched the ticket badly, while the Democrats voted straight, The same reports come from all over the territory.

The election was conducted under the Australian law, and to the surprise of overyone the votes were polled very rapidly, nearly all voting being done by noon. The Australian balloting system proved, so far as heard from a complete success. There were no attempts at illegal voting.

Democrats and Republicans throughout Washington territory concede that the Washington territory concede that the election will result in a general victory for the Republican ticket. The legislative ticket will run much closer than was at first supposed, the Republicans claiming a

The Capital of South Dakota to be Located There-Frohibition Wins. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 2 .- The Ercing Journal has a staff representative at Aberdeen, South Dakota, to collect and summarize the returns of yesterday's election in that state and at 10:30 this morning he telegraphs as follows: Chairman C. F. McCoy, of the Republican state central committee, estimates this morning that the Republican state ticket is elected by about 20,000; that prohibition carries by from 10,000 to 15,000 majority; that Pierre has 25,000 votes for the temporary capital with Huron a good second and Sioux Falls third, with Watertown and Mitchell in the fight for fourth place. Pierre will likely be the temporary capital. The large vote east for Pierre surprises everybody. Even Minnebaha county, of which Sioux Falls is the county seat, polled a large Pierre vete-PIERRE, S. D., Oct. 2 .- South Daketa's first state election descended to a degrad ing scramble for the capital location. There been no fight on anything else. Mellette, Republican, is elected governor by over 20,000 majority. Pickler and Gifford, Republicans, go to Congress. The Republican majority in the Legislature will be at least sixty, insuring the election of two Republican United States senators. The was enormous, probably 80,000, and the trade and sale of ballots was based on the capital fight. For the capital Pierre, Huron, Watertown, Chamberlain, Sioux Falls and Mitchell were entered. The reports received up to this morning indicated a vote for Pierre of 25,000, Huron 21,000, Sloux Falls 11,000, Watertown 10,000, Mitchell 7,000 and Chamberlain 5,000. Heturna From North Inkots.

FAROO, N. D., Oct. 2.—The Prohibi-tionists claim to have carried North Dakota, but unprejudiced calculators believe proout unprejudiced calculators believe pro-hibition is beaten by at least 6,000. Fargo, Bismarck and Grand Forks voted strongly pro-liquor. The Legislature is strongly Re-publican. They elected twenty senators and Democrats eleven, with one doubtful. The Republicans get 36 members of the as-sembly, the Democrats 18. First district sembly, the Democrats 18. Five districts endorsed with a rousing majority.

At Republican headquarters the entire state ticket is claimed by from 16,000 to state ticket is claimed by from 10,000 to 11,000, while at Democratic headquarters. Chairman Ryan asserts that from the reports now at hand, official and otherwise, the Republicans will carry the state, but that the majority will not exceed 5,000. Maratta (Dem.) for Congress is claimed by the Democrats to have been elected, but the distinction of the congress of the property of the democratic terms of the property of the prope definite figures have not yet been received. Republicans claim the election of Hansborough to Congress.

The Situation in Washington SEATTLE, W. T., Oct. 2.-Returns from over the state indicate that it is surely Republican by about the same majority as last year, when Allen carried the state for delegate to Congress by 7,000 majority. The Legislature is certainly Republican, probably by twenty. The ticket is long and the count is slow.

TACOMA, W. T., Oct. 2,-Weather was fine and a large vote is reported from all over the state. Much scratching retards the count in the populous districts. The returns from Thurston, Spokane, Pacific and Whitmau give Republican majorities for Congress and the state ticket. The count in Pierce and King counties, the two most populous counties, will not be deter-mined until a late hour to-day. A slight technical error in the form of the Republiraised the question of legality and Demo-crats are making objections. The errors consists in leaving off the line "against the constitution," which is with the other special features directed by the constitution.

Democrats Claim Montaus. HELENA, Mont., Oct. 2.-It is still imossible to determine definitely the result of yesterday's election in Montana. Both committees are claiming the state, but the eneral indications would seem to favor the Democratic claims. Governor Hauser and other prominent Democrats say they are sure of the success of their candidates for governor and Congress, and that they will also have a majority of the Legislature. says that the Republicans will control both branches of the Legislature and that Carter is elected to Congress.

A GREAT CHURCH COUNCIL.

Important Questions to Come Before the The general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church, which opens at St. George's church, New York, to-day, is in some respects the most important that has ever been held. Of the questions it pro-poses to deal with, the most important, in the opinion of those concerned, is the pro-posed change of the mode of representaposed change of the host tion.

Now each diocese, whatever its size, casts one vote by its clerical representative and one vote by its layman. Arkansas, with but 1,364 communicants, has the same voting power as New York with its 44,256 communicants. It is proposed to substitute proportional representation for this system of equality of dioceses, so that no longer it will be possible, as at present, for twenty-five dioceses with less than 80,000 communicants to outvote the other twenty-five dioceses with over 325,000 communicants. four dioceses with over 325,000 commun

The revision of the prayer book is another important business of the convention. If no changes other than those which have already found their, way into the prayer book and have thus become familiar to Episcopalians generally are adopted, the revision will be completed by this convention. There is a disposition, however, to bring the prayer book still nearer to that used in the English church, which may result in rendering the authorization of another convention necessary. The adoption of snother hymnal is also to come before the convention.

tion of another hymnal is also to come before the convention.

A question which will cause much discussion and probably not a little ill-feeling will be that of changing the name of the church. The inconsistency of the least Protestant of all the anti-Catholic communions calling itself distinctively "Protestant" as well as "Episcopal" has been recognized, while there are some who object to the designation because of its implied recognized, while there are some who object to the designation because of its implied opposition to Rome. On the other hand, there are those who are content with the present title because of its anti-Catholic character. Various names are proposed. "The American Church," "The Church in the United States" and the "Catholic Church of America" are pernaps most dis-cussed.

There being eight representatives from each diocese, four clerical and four lay, while the missionary districts also send representatives that have no vote, there are more than 400 delegates in the convention. Those forming the House of Deputies will sit in open session in St. George's church, while the House of Bishops, numbering sixty-five, will hold secret sessions in St. George's Memorial hall.

A PUGILISTIC CRIPPLE.

He is Arrested For Fighting and Makes Things Lively For a Constable.

Joseph Wilson is the name of a onelegged fellow, who looks very much like a tramp, but says he has been stopping at St. Joseph's hospital for some days. He came to town yesterday, and, with several companions of his kind, got very drunk. Late in the afternoon they began fighting on West King street, between Prince and Water. Officers were sent for, and Constable Price went to the scene of the affray. He found one man on the pavement with Wilson on top of him beating him. Price took hold of Wilson, who left the other enemy to go for the constable. There was a vigorous fight for a time, in which Wilson tore the officer's stiff hat to pieces, and tore all the buttons from his vest. Finally Officer Messenkop arrived, and he and Price put Wilson in a wagon and hauled him to the station house. This morning he was taken before Alderman Halbach, when he acknowledged that he had done wrong, but said he was very sorry. He got five days in jail. egged fellow, who looks very much like a

YOUNG DEMOCRATS.

A LARGE AND ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING OF THE SOCIETY LAST NIGHT.

Delegates to the State Convention of Societies Chosen-Resolutions on the Death of S. H. Reynolds Adopted.

There was a very large and enthusiastic meeting of the Young Men's Democratic society in their room last evening.

The principal business was the election of delegates to attend the state convention of Democratic societies, to be held in Philadelphia, commencing October 15. The following were elected: J. R. Murphy, W. U. Housel, Geo. N. Reynolds, Wm. R. Brinton, Henry Drachbar, J. C. Haughton, Chas. F. Rengier, John E. Malone, John. A. Coyle, W. W. Amos, J. L. Leman, Chas. E. Beitzel, G. Ross Eshleman, Dr. W. H. Lowell, Dr. D. R. McCormick, L. Simon, Walter Zecher.

The alternates chosen were: A. J. Rieker, J. H. Gerhart, Wm. H. Musser, Gustav Waltz, J. C. Beam, Adam Seitz, Brice Curran, Jas. Duffy, Paul G. Dougherty, Harry J. Roumfort.

A. J. Dunlap was elected a member of the executive committee, vice W. J. Fordney, who resigned, as he is about leaving the city on a trip to Alaska and other parts of the world.

The death of Hon. Samuel H. Reynolds, who was an honorary member of the society, was announced and the following resolutions were passed:

WHEREAS, The Young Men's Democratic society of Lancaster, Pa., having heard, since their last regular meeting, with profound regret of the sudden death of the Hon. Samuel H. Reynolds, an honorary member of this society; be it hereby

Resolved, That by his sudden death this society has lost a valued and honored member well known and highly esteemed by all, and that the sincere sympathy of this society be tendered to his family in this their sad beroavement. Be it further

Resolved, That a copy of those resolutions be entered upon the minutes of this society, and an extract published in the daily papers.

ARRESTED WITHOUT A WARRANT

Young Man From Colerain Township Locked Up at the Station House. On Tuesday night between 9 and 10 o'clock Charles Jones called at the station nouse and said that there was a man in the opera house named James Peters, who was wanted at Kirkwood, Colerain township, for malicious mischlef. Sergeant Erisman, who was on duty,took Officer Flannerd with him. Jones pointed out Peters to these officers and they arrested him, without a warrant, and locked him up at the station house. After Jones had pointed out Peters he made himself scarce and did not show up at the station house until late in the night, when he told the sergeant he would go to Kirkwood this morning and if Peters was not wanted he could send word to the authorities.

Peters' story is that on the night of September 22 he and five young men were passing the property of John A. Galbraith, near Kirkwood. One of the party said, "Who is afraid to throw a stone through the windows of the house?" He and a man named Mostello threw stones at the house, and a window was broken. tello was arrested for the offense and paid for the damage done, and no complaint was made against him. Nothing more was thought of the matter until a few days ago, when it was rumored in the neighborhood that he also would be prosecuted, and he concluded to come to town to visit some relatives until the matter was settled.

He denounces the officers for arresting him without a warrant, and threatens to make them pay for so doing. Redmond Conyngham, counsel for Peters, appeared at the mayor's court and demanded the release of the prisoner. The mayor, learning no warrant was used for the arrest, ordered the discharge of Peters.

He is now taking lessons in English in order to become more proficient in the language. His teacher is a young lady, and a few nights ago one of her brothers thought he would play a joke on the Celestial by appearing in a ghostly form, by wrapping himself in a sheet and confronting the pupil as he was on his way home. The scheme did not work according to intention, for instead of taking a scare the Chinaman tackled the ghost, exclaiming: "Me catchee one debbil," and proceeded to pummel his ghostship in true slugging style.

Some companions of the ghost, who had secreted themselves to see the fun, then found it necessary to interfere and save the joker from further punishment. It is now understood among these boys that "ghosts don't go" with Chinamen, at least those who have gnilsted as Christian warriors in the Army of Salvation.

New York's Ticket. The Democratic state convention of New York on Tuesday nominated: For secre-tary of state, Frank Rice, of Ontario county comptroller, Edward Wemple; treasurer tary of state, Frank Rice, of Ontario county; comptroller, Edward Wemple; treasurer, Elliott Danforth; attorney general, Charles F. Tabor; engineer and surveyor, John Bogart; judge of appeals, Dennis O'Brien. The platform adopted, among other things, reaffirms the St. Louis platform of 1888, endorsing, not free trade, but tariff reform; approves the late administration of Grover Cleveland; arraigns President Harrison for a disgraceful violation of the pledges contained in his letter of acceptance in regard to the civil service; demands the suppression of trusts; opposes sumptuary legislation, but believes that the liquor traffle should be restrained and regulated by just and equitable excise laws; declares for electoral reform; arraigns the policy and course of the Republican majority in the state Legislature, and heartily endorses the administration of Governor Hill. A resolution expressing sympathy for Messers, Gladstone and Parnell was also adopted.

Henry J. Smith, a young school teacher of Mount Zion, Lebanon county, Pa., was found nearly suffocated by gas in his room in the Bancroft house, New York, on Tuesday morning. At the New York hospital he revived sufficiently to tell his story. He said he came there to take a position as canvasser for a firm on East Sixteenth street. There he met two men named Fleming and Tully, who accompanied him to the hotel and secured rooms. He had $50, of which $29 was in one pocket and $21 in another. He knew nothing after retiring until he woke up in the hospital with only $21. His story is corroborated by the fact that both Feming and Tully are missing, and that had the gas been turned on from the time he retired he would have been dead when found. THE RIOT AT NAVASSA.

The Negroes Rise in Insurrection and Kill Four American Officers.

The following particulars of the riot at Navassa, on the morning of the 14th ultimo, have been received by the Navassa Phosphate company, of Baltimore, from Acting Superintendent Dr. D. C. Smith:

On the morning of the 14th the negroes arose in insurrection and killed four officers, as follows:

Thomas N. Foster, Joseph Fales, James Mahon and William T. Shea. We are at a loss to know why the negroes took the steps they did, and had no warning or intimation of such a thing.

Mr. Roby was first assaulted in the diggings, and hit on the head with clubs until left for dead. He was found in a rock hole under a lot of boards. He was removed to the house, and took part in the battle with the blacks after having thirty stitches taken in his scalp. He is at present doing well.

At noon the men congregated in front of the superintendent's house and refused to work. When Mr. Jones, by my direction, attempted to agrees one of the ringleaders and take a pistol from him which had been taken from Mr. Roby while unconscious, he was knocked down, and in a few seconds a howling mob surrounded him. He managed to get to the house, where the other officers had sought shelter, through volleys of rocks and other missiles hurled at him. We took refuge in the upper story of the superintendent's house and opened fire on the mob, which was now throwing stones against and into the house from every direction, as well as shooting at any one of us who happened to be seen by them.

That battle lasted about three hours, with an occasional negro wounded, when we were startled by the explosion of a dynamite bomb, which they had thrown on the lower porrh. This was soon followed by another, until there was a continual roar of dynamite. These bombs were exploding around and through the house, on the porches and in the rooms adjoining the one in which we had sought shelter. The negroes were behind cara drawn up in front of the house, and the trees, tanks and man

He was immediately butchered with knives and other was increased. immediately butchered with knives and other murderous weapons. Mr. Joseph Fales was the next victim and was chopped to pieces with an axe, after he had surrendered the weapon. Poor Bill Shea, when last seen, was within a few feet of the cliffs, with a number of negroes in hot pursuit, one of whom was firing at him with a revolver. His body has never been found. We suppose, after killing him, they threw him overboard.

Those of us whose lives were spared owe our lives to the intervention of friendly negroes, who hid us in a little building until the excitement had somewhat subsided, and while they were engaged in looting, robbing and pillaging the buildings, and all property owned by the officers was being rifled. They did not even spare the trunk and other possessions of our dead superintendent, who was one of their best friends, always studying their welfare. About 6 p. m. some negroes came to our building in which we were biding and told us to come up to the moss house and get some supper, and that we should and get some supper, and that we should not be harmed while going to and fro. We had not proceeded over 30 feet before one of the devils, known as George S. Key, placed a revolver within a few inches of James Mahon's face and fired, and then shot him through the heart after he fell. The brig Amorette was here at the time, but it blow so hard we could not communibut it blew so hard we could not communi-cate with the captain until Sunday eve-ning. I wrote him a note requesting him to run over to Kingston, Jamaica, and re-quest the American consul to send us aid, but he had discharged nearly all of his ballast, and could not sail until the wind abated, which was not until Monday eve-ning.

On the 20th instant, H. M. S. Forward, a British man-of-war, came to our assistance under orders to remain until relieved by the U. S. S. Galena. We hear nothing of the Galena. When last heard from she was at Hayti. Truly, each of us, thorough was at Hayti. Truly, each of us, thorough Americans as we are, can sincerely exclaim, God save the Queen! They have taken us aboard and treated us royally; treated us as honored guests. We are hourly expecting the Galena. We owe our lives to the prompt arrival of H. M. S. Forward. Great credit is due William Heuson, the negro preacher of Navassa, but for whose intercession in our behalf not one of us would be able to tell the tale. The object of attacking Mr. Roby in the diggings was to remove him in order to secure possession of dynamite and his revolver. Mr. Samuel Merch was severely hurt by being struck with rocks on the volver. Mr. Samuel Merch was severely hurt by being struck with rocks on the back of the head. Mr. Harry Jones was injured about the face with rocks and bruised about the body. Mr. H. H. Vall was shot accidentally through the fleshy part of his right leg. Through the effort of the National Hu-mane society and the Kentucky division of that body a conditional pardon has been obtained from Governor Buckner for Linville Combs, the youngest life convict ever sent to a penitentiary. Young Combs is to be placed in the Industrial School of Reform at Louisville, to remain until he is of age. He lived with his mother and step-father in Breathitt county. It did not burn fast enough, and he threw it into the creek. He also said his father had promised him a pair of new red-top boots if he would kill the baby. Being an infant in law his testimony against the old man was valueless, but he was sent to prison for life. He had never heard of God or the alphabet, and did not know right from wrong. At the time of his conviction he was 16 years old and now, at the age of 12, he can read and write and is very bright. Every convict in the prison signed a petition for his pardon.

Boyer and Bigler Under One Blanket Speaker H. K. Boyer and Richard Quay left Harrisburg together on a west-bound train on Sunday afternoon, and were joined at Huntingdon by Candidate Ed. A. Bugler. The trio had a jolly good time until Tyrone was reached, and there Can-didates Boyer and Bigler left the train, while Yanne Goay kend on to Bittshure. didates Boyer and Bigler left the train, while Young Quay kept on to Pittsburg. The story reaches Pittsburg that Boyer and Bigler became so friendly on their journey that they occupied the only vacant room in the hotel at Tyrone, in which there was but one bed. On Monday the two candidates went on a joint tour of Clearfield county, and Mr. Bigler is re-puted to have performed the bonors with his customary grace.

Cyrus H. Colvin, who for so many years kept a livery stable in Lancaster, has con-cluded to leave this city, much to the regret of his many friends here. He will re-turn to York county and will farm. This evening at the City hotel he will offer at public sale his residence and store stand at Orange and Christian streets.

MISS GITTO'S TERRIBLE ORDEAL. But She Would Not Swear Palsely Even

But She Would Not Swear Falsely Even to Save Her Honor.

Thomas S. Cheshire, whose tenor voice has often soothed the devout worshipers of Christ Episcopal church, at Brooklyn, is under arrest for having wronged the daughter of Joseph Gitto, as well-to-do tailor, who is also a member of the choir. The young woman confessed her trouble to her parents one day last week, and Mr. Gitto persuaded Cheshire to call at his house that evening.

When Cheshire arrived at Gitto's house he found the rector of Christ church and several members of the congregation and the choir, all of whom pleaded with Cheshire to save the young girl's reputation by marrying her. Cheshire obstinately refused for a while, but finally he led Miss Gitto to the centre of the room, where a large family Bible lay on a table. Placing her hand on the Bible he asked her to swear that she had never been intimate with any one else except himself. Miss titto hesitated and then refused to swear. The next instant she swooned away in her mother's arms. Several of the ladies in the room are said to have fainted also. Cheshire left the house during the excitement. Miss Gitto, at the hearing of Cheshire, acknowledged that the charges of her wrong-doing with other members of the choir were true. Cheshire was held upon a charge of complicity in attempted malpractice,

The Base Ball Scores.

The games of ball yesterday were: Philadelphia 7, Indianapolis 4; Boston 8, Cleveland 5; Pittsburg 7, New York 2; Washington 7, Chicago 2; Athletic 5, Baltimore 4; St. Louis 7, Louisville 4.

The Bostons took first place yesterday and now lead New York by five points.

The Pittsburg club has been playing pennant ball of late and have wor seven straight games. They are New Yorks Jonahs.

There is planty of newsy weeks.

Jonahs.

There is plenty of moticy up on the League pennant right here in Lancaster and the backers of New York are somewhat shaky, although the championship is by no means certain yet. The American Association has no one interested in it here.

Stivetts is just getting down to his work for St. Louis and is doing splendidly.

W. H. Voltz, of the Philadelphis Press, is said to be a candidate for secretary of the Association. He is in St. Louis now on mysterious business.

Billy Zacher, of the Canton, Ohio, base

Billy Zecher, of the Canton, Ohio, base ball club, arrived in Lancaster last night, having been summoned here by the death of Harry Reoney, his brother-in-law. His club won the championship in the Tri-State League and although Billy is not very big in stature, he stood head and shoulders above all other shortstops in that league.

Another candidate before the mayor was Joseph Bills, who was found beastly drunk by Officer Messenkop. The mayor discharged him this morning upon his promise to leave town. Instead of doing this he again filled himself with whisky. During this forenoon he walked into the house of Allan A. Herr, on East King street, and badly frightened the immates. Officer Stormfellz was sent for, and he to be Bills back to the station house. He will likely be sent to jail vow. A lodger was discharged by the mayor.

He was barefooted and without a coat. When taken to the station house the boy said his parents lived on High street, his mother died a short time ago, his father took the other children, removed from the city and told him to shift for himself. He had wandered about living on what he begged and sleeping in the market house at night. The boy's story upon investigation was found to be true. A comfortable bed was made for him in the station house, and this morning after he was given his breakfast he walked away from the station house, and up to noon had from the station house, and up to noon had not been seen by any of the officers.

Verdict of the Coroner's Jury.

The coroner's jury in Camden, on Tuesday found that Annie E. Le Coney came to her death by wounds with a knife in the hands of some person or persons unknown to the jury. In the matter of the writ of habeas corpus applied for by Chalkley Le Coney's counsel Judge Garrison appointed a commissioner, before whom the prosecutor is to examine witnesses to show Le Coney's alleged connection with the crime.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORMER

RESOLUTIONS PASSED BY THE NATIONAL LEAGUE REFERRING TO ABUSES.

The Republican Platform and Harrison Declarations ignored - The Wholes Removals in the Postal Service.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.- The Natio Civil Service Reform League met at the Continental hotel at 11 o'clock this morning. President George William Cur was unanimously re-elected. A series of resolutions was presented by Mr. Sherman S. Rogers, containing extracts from the platform of the Reputlican national convention of 1888, and from Benjamin Harrison's letter scepting the nomination for president, in which ex-tracts from the civil service laws are on h raed and pledges are given that they shall be enforced. The resolutions continuing de-clare that a brief necessary delay in the service commission was improved to sweep out of the railway mail service hundreds of employes regardless of officiency, and into their places were hurried hundreds of partisans of the administration with but subordinate regard to their fitness. "In the civil service generally the pres-ident seems to have abdicated his constitu-tional power of appointment by placing appointments at the disposal of partison leaders, thus enabling them to debaud constituents and control elections. Thus the pledge of the president that fitness and not party service should be the sole dis eriminating test of appointment is disre-

The resolutions further record the pro-test of the league against the abuses and violations of the civil service laws and express regret at the refusal of the pres dent to extend civil service examination to the consus bureau. During the discus-sion of the resolutions Messrs, Bonaparis Potts and others warmly defounced the present postal administration for the dis-regard of public interests it has shown in the wholesale removals in the railway m

Mr. Potts pointed out that during the entire term of Mr. Cleveland's administration 1,990 changes had been made in that branch of the service, while in the seven months of Harrison's administration there. have been over 2,400 changes. The tions were adopted as was also a resolution presented by Everett P. Wheeler advocat ing the appointment by the League of special agent at Washington and of "mis-sionaries" to go about the country with the object of establishing associations and thereby disseminating the principles

HARRISON ON THE RACK.

Editor Curtis Arraigns the President for His Broken Civil Service Piedges. His Broken Civil Service Pleages.
George William Curtis uttered a most scathing denunciation of the present administration for its flagrant disregard of the civil service reform to which it was pledged by its party platform, in his annual address before the National Civil Service Reform League in Association hall, Philadelphia, on Tusaday evening, and he charged that no party had ever broken faith with itself and the people more completely than the administration now in power. Upon the platform with Mr. Curtis were Hon. Wayne McVeagh, Rev. J. Andrews Harris, Hon. Carl Schurz, Hon. Everett P. Whoeler. Of the people more completely than the administration now in power. Upon the platform with Mr. Curlis were Hon. Wayne McVeagh, Rev. J. Andrews Harris, Hon. Carl Schurz, Hon Everett P. Wheeler, of New York; Hon. Dormayla, Jones, of New York; Colonel Silas W. trans. Of New York; Colonel Silas W. trans. Of New York; Charles J. Bonaparte, of Bay. nere; Luclus R. Swift, of Indianapolis; E. L. Godkin, of New York; William Potts, of New York; General William Potts, of New York; General William A. Aiken, of Norwich, Conn., and many others.

Wayne Mac Veagh briefly presented Mr. Curtis as "the earliest, most elegant and most distinguished advocate of civil service roform."

In his address Mr. Curtis said; "Four years ago in speaking of President Cleveland, then recently elected and inaugurated, I said that he 'was not committed to the prosecution of reform as the candidate of a party which seriously desired it or promised it.' Certainly I cannot say this of President Harrison. The promises of the successful party last year were as ardent as they were detailed and absolute. They left nothing unexpressed. Does the executive action conform to the platform promise and the president's pledge? The knowledge of every citizen in his own community answers. The daily record of the newspapers for seven months answers. The general political proscription; the policy which President Harrison when a senator defined as 'the frank and bodd if brutal, method of turning men and women out simply for political opinion, for private information, and for the party promise, which was shown in the appointment of the late commissioner of pensions; the executive refusal to include the census service in the rules, and the removal of public officers conspicuously fitted by character, ability and experience, who have absolutely shd confessedity disregarded politics in their devotion to official duty and the public service in the rules, and the removal of the postmaster and naval officer of New York city, both of whom he characterized as men who had prid pledges of the president required their removal. In conclusion Mr. Curtis said: "There was never a more comprehensive and alg-nificant declaration of reform made in a platform than that under which the present pactorm than that under which the present administration came into power. But no party ever broke faith with itself and with the country more completely."

At half past five this morning, at Grand Rapids, Michigan, Arthur Ricket, aged 29, fatally shot his wife, aged 30, and then killed himself. There was no apparent cause for the tragedy. Ex-Governor Martin, of Kansas, died at Topeka to-day.

At Cedar Rapids, Iowa, nine horses were cremated by the burning of Rank Bris at 100 John Miller's livery stables Loss, $10,000. At Poughkeepsie, New York, six horses were cremated by the burning of Robert Stewart's barn. Loss, $10,000. The president appoints James McCauley postmaster at Mifflintown, Pa., vice C. B. Crawford, resigned.

The Democratic state convention in secsion at Worcester, Mass., cuanimously nominated Hon. W. E. Russell, of Cam bridge, for governor.

Delegates to the International American Congress a sembled at the state department at noon to day and proceeded to the diplomatic reception room where they were prewelcoming address. The president re-ceived them at 1:30 and a lunch was served ceived them at 1:30 and a lunch was served in the state dining room at two o'clock.

Militia with fixed bayonets held a howling mob in check at Johnstown, Pa, this morning, at the office where the workingmen for the state are raid. The men have waited in the cold for their wages for two days, and Captain Hamilton cannot understand why the money promised by the governor does not arrive. He will try to horrow from the banks this afternoon.
