A BIG WEDDING AT GAP. DE. TRA PROMAS GEDBERT AND MISS ELIZA-BETH SLAYWAKER MARRIER.

The Coromony Witnessed By a Large seembly, the Guests Including People From Here and Marfetta.

ere was a large and very fashionable edding at Gap on Wednesday afternoon, ben Miss Elizabeth Slaymaker, daughter of the late John Slaymaker, who resided a Kinsers, was married to Dr. Ira Thomas Geobert, of Caldwell, Kansas. The wedding was one of the biggest society events that have taken place at Gap in some years, and it brought together a large number of people from Lancaster, Marietta and other owns as well as the surrounding country. The ceremony was performed at 5 o'clock at the residence of the bride's brother, Dr. J. M. Slaymaker, by Rev. Chittenden, of the Paradise Episcopal church. The parlor was beautifully decorated and the wedding march was played upon the piano. The bride was attired in a cream colored silk with tuile veil and orange blossoms. She was attended by her sister, Miss Martha Slaymaker, as maid of honor. The best man was Dr. J. M. Slaymaker. The ushers were B. M. Herr and Enfield E. Walker, of Gap, and Clayton S. Landis and Dr. George P. King, of Lancaster.

After the wedding a reception was held at which there was a great crowd and Beene of the Hamilton clust his city, was the late John Slaymaker, who resided at which there was a great crowd and Payne, of the Hamilton club, this city, was the caterer. The happy couple left on the the 7:30 train for Philadelphia and will go thence west to their future home. As the train was late in reaching Gap, the juvenile part of the town were given an ample opportunity to serenade, which made things quite lively for a time.

LOTTIE TRUSTY DISCHARGED. The Complaint Against Her Not Sustained By Evidence. Columbia, Oct. 3.—Lottle Trusty, the olored woman, charged with keeping a bawdy house, was given a hearing yesterday at the office of Squire Solly. Several witnesses appeared in Lottic's behalf, and testified that the house was not of disreputable character. The woman was therefore discharged from custedy.

A surprise party was given to Harry Swartz last evening at his home at Seventh and Chestnut streets, in honor of his 34th birthday. A large number of friends were present, spending the time in dancing and other amusements.

other amusements.

Miss Elsie Pheneger arrived at her eighteenth birthday; esterday, and held a party last evening at her home on North Third street in honor of the event. A very pleasant time was had by the friends present. Refreshments were served during the evening.

Every train leaving the Pennsylvania railroad station this morning was packed with people going to the York fair. At 7 o'clock fourteen cars left for York, followed at 8:30 with another big train. At 9:35 over 900 people came over the Reading & Columbia railroad bound for the same at 8:30 with another big train. At 9:35 over 500 people came over the Reading & Columbia railroad bound for the same place.

Charlotte Senft, a two-year old daughter of C. F. Senft, met with a painful accident last evening at her home on North Third street. The child had a sancer in her hand and fell down the cellar stairs. The sancer broke and one of the pieces cut an ugly gash under the chin. Dr. Craig attended to the injuries of the little child.

J. A. Biddle, has taken the position of order clerk at the Keeley stove company. The Gilbert Dramatic comp n. will appear in the opera house this even in in the weil known play of "Moselle, the Waf of the Plains." The company is an excellent one and gives a good performance.

Frank Shillott had a narrow escape from a serious accident at the P. R. R. station this morning. He boarded a train for York, but dropped his cane. In stooping to get it his mead came in contact with the axie boxes of the train, but he was pulled away. He then ran for the train and got between two cars when he was pulled on the train by two men.

Peter Herbert, driver for H. F. Bruner, who met with a serious accident by falling from a wagon, is able to be out.

The Evangelical Alliance will hold their annual meeting during this month, when Rev. Dr. Russel, of Rochester, N. Y., the originator of this scheme, will deliver an address. The visitors are requested to visit their fields and report to the supervisors are to report to the secretary previous to that meeting.

The York Fair.

At the York fair there were probably weather was cold and the wind prevented the balloon ascension. Prof. Gleason ensertained the crowd breaking horses and there were several good races. Four horses started in the 234 class and J. W. Deibler's started in the 2:34 class and J. W. Deibler's Roan Ben won in 2:37, 2:371, 2:38) and 2:371. Fiss. Doerr's Sherman Bashaw did not start, as he is being reserved for the races here next week. Instead of sixteen horses, as the score card showed, there were but six in the running race, which was won by Joe Ocker's Mulligan. Sam Walton was fourth in one heat and fifth in another. The time was 52) and 523.

This is the big day of the fair and Lancaster county again contributed largely. No less than 3:57 tekets were sold for the 4:30 train from this city this morning and

No less than 307 tickets were sold for the 6:30 train from this city this morning and 250 went over at 11 o'clock. To-morrow will be another big day.

It will be seen by the above figures that over six hundred people of this city alone went from here to the York fair to-day. In addition there are many now over who have been there for several days. Almost one thousand went over from Columbia and there was a great crowd from Manheim. Lancaster county has already done her share toward the city of the White Rose, yet hundreds more people would have gone from here to-day had there been the proper railroad accommodations. People were not inclined to go to the fair and leave at 5 o'clock in the evening in order to get home. What they wanted was a special train to leave York for Lancaster later in the evening. The railroad people knew the evening. The railroad people knew that the public wauted such a train yet they made no effort to provide it.

Mrs. Cleveland in Marble. Washington Dispatch to the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Washington Dispatch to the Louisville Courier-Journal.

A beautiful white marble bust of Mrs. Cleveland, upon a pedesial of black and white marble, is at present occupying a corner of Mrs. Wilson's drawing room. It was left in the ex-marshal's charge when Mr. Cleveland went to New York. The bust is life-size, and is the work of G. Scanki, Genoa, and bears date 1886. It was made from impressions taken when she traveled in Europe.

The marble represents the head and shoulders, showing the chest midway. The hair is dressed in the style that is now familiar to the public as that worn in the photographs extant of this popular lady, in a coil on the top of the head. The features are idealized, and the form is slight. The drapery is a knitted undergarment made with square opening at the neck, edged with Hamburg trimming, and a knitted shawl falling from the shoulders in a roll forms the edge of the bust.

The statuary will be sent to Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland as soon as they are located in their Madison avenue house, near Sixtyninth street, New York city.

THE STORY OF A PITCHER.

anders, the Philadelphia Man, Began His Professional Career Under William Zecher. Whenever a ball player is taken from a minor league or the anasteur ranks and placed in one of the leading clubs, where he makes a success, there are dozens of people who claim the credit for bringing them out. One of the pitchers who rapidly came to the front is Sanders, of the Philadelphia League team, who has been doing such good work. Many stories have been told about the first game the young man pitched, and quite a number of them are first-class lies. The man to whom the most credit is due is in this city now, and his name is William Zecher. Every lover of base ball here knows him to be one of the best and most honest players in this country. In 1887 Zecher was captain and shortstop of the Altoona club, when Brodie, now with the Hamilton club, when Brodie, now with the Hamilton club, whose home was in Roanoke, Va., came to him and told him that there was a big green farmer boy down near his town who was the making of a fine pitcher. Zecher wrote to Sanders, who was the boy, and he joined the club in Reading. The next day the club went to Columbia to play a game with the team managed by W. L. Bear. Sanders was put in the box and he appeared with a big red handkerchief tied around his neck. Some of the crowd was inclined to gay him and one of the Columbia players, whose home was in Lancaster, asked Zecher what he wanted with that "big jay," the captain said he would seel some time, as the man was a g std one. The game was called on account of rain when it was standing 5 to 1 in favor of Altoona in five innings. That was the first game pitched by Sanders for a professional club. Zecher saw at once that he was a good man and he gave him encouragement. He did good work for Altoona and was transferred. minor league or the amateur ranks and placed in one of the leading clubs, where and he gave him encouragement. He did good work for Altoona and was transferred with the team to Canton in August of that year. In the latter town he became a great vear. In the latter town he became a great favorite, as Zecher has always been. He finished the season there and the Philadelphia people heard of him. They induced him to sign a League contract in 1888 and he has been in the Quaker City since.

A short time ago the Philadelphia club went to Canton and 5,000 people greeted thera. Sanders was put in the box by the leaguers and he was loudly cheered when he made his appearance. In a short time Zecher stepped to the bat and everybody yelled. Sanders, who is a very big man, was obliged to laugh when he saw his old friend, who is about half of his size, at the was obliged to laugh when he saw his old friend, who is about half of his size, at the bat. The big fellow put a ball where Billy hit it and he sent it down to left field against the fence. It bounded back from the fence which alone prevented a two base hit, but it made all Canton happy.

Sanders is not the only man that Zecher has assisted in bringing out. Bauswine, now of the Athletics, played first with him in Altoona, and Jake Virtue, of the Detroits, now one of the best first basemen in the country, owes much of his succ. st to Zecher, as do numerous others. Of the team that Zecher was on this year, Miller was sold to Baltimore, Rinn to Minneapolis, and a catcher to Columbus.
