Adam Z. Ringwalt, who has been a prominent citizen of Lancaster for over thirty years, died at his residence, No. 122 South Duke staget, between 5 and 6 o'clock this morning. The cause of death was typhoid-pneumonia, with which he was stricken a few weeks ago and that disease was aggravated by a heart trouble with which he has been afflicted for several which he has been afflicted for several years.

Mr. Ringwalt was born in Carnarvon township, Lancaster county, on January 2, 1828. He was educated in the schools of his native township and in the vacations worked upon a farm. When a young man he was engaged in the mercantile business in Waynesburg, Chester county. From there he went to New Holland and was apprenticed to the tailoring trade. He did not like the business, obtained a release from his employer and wont into the employ of 12by & Lightner, who had a mercantile and forwarding store in Concord. He remained with this firm until they discontinued business, after which he was employed in Amos Diller's store in New Holland for four years. He retired from this business to engage in business with T. J. Ringwalt as a partner. A year later he sold out to his partner and opened business in New Holland, where he remained until 1858, when he came to Lancaster.

AN AVERTED HORROR.

The Presence of Mind of a Switchman Prevents a Railroad Calamity,

A horrible railroad catastrophe was averted in Camden on Friday by the cool-ness and presence of mind of the switch-man at the intersection of the West Jersey man at the intersection of the West Jersey and the Philadelphia & Reading's Atlantic City branch, About 8 o'clock the switchman observed 'ocal passenger train No. 4 on the West Jersey railroad approaching the crossing, and promptly put out the signal that the crossing was clear. The train was on time, and is said to have had the right of way. The switchman again glanced at the Reading road, and was startled to see the Atlantic City Express dashing along at a high rate of speed. The switchman saw that the collision could only be obviated by checking the West Jersey train, the train on the Reading being behind time, and running at a far higher rate of speed. He quickly put out higher rate of speed. He quickly put out the signal to the West Jersey train to stop. and at the same time threw open the switch wide to throw it off the track. The loconotive was derailed and went into a bank of sand, while in less than three minutes the Reading express thundered over the crossing. The passengers on the derailed train were slightly shaken up, but none of the cars left the track. When the former discovered what a fearfully narrow escape they had bed been was great excitances. they had had there was great excitement

THE DEMOCRATIC SOCIETIES. Progress of Tariff Reform Sentiment.
The General Assembly.
From the York Gazette.

Progress of Tariff Reform Seatiment.

The General Assembly.

From the York Gasette.

In New Jersey, New York, and Pennsylvania, state conventions of Democratic clubs and Democratic societies are to be held during the present month. In each of those states delegates are being rapidly elected, and the spirit which prevails is most extraordinary, considering that this year there are no elections which effect the tariff question one way or the other. Tariff reform picnics are being held in many of the Western states, which are attended by multitudes of the people without distinction of party. In Illinois, Indiana, and Missouri, immense gatherings of this character are so frequent as to cause little remark. There are none, or almost none, apparently, on the other side, The Democratic societies are forming in many localities. Numerous of them are instituted in far off country districts, and never reported to either state or national headquarters, but do their work as purely voluntary neighborhood associations of earnest citizens. These are, of course, in every instance, stagish Democratic; but the tariff reform clubs and tariff reform leagues of the West, composed of Republicans or unpartisan men, are doing a great and lasting work.

The general assembly at Philadelphia will undoubtedly be the most important political event of the year in any part of the country. It will not only be a representative assemblage of the youth, intelligence and energy of the Democracy to the trust party for a renewal of the tariff reform contest to be carried on to the end. It is really the beginning of the campaign for the recovery of Congress in ISNI and of the presidency in 1802. As such, it is looked forward to with hope and interest by the Democracy of the party as Mr. Cleveland, Mr. Carlisle, Mr. Wilson, Governor Abbett, and Senator Gorman as can do so will be personally present to give it their warmest God's speed. The Democracy of the city of Philadelphia are making liberal preparations for the entertainment of the deputies and t

They Meet Specially On Priday Evening and Agree to Approve the Recommendations of the Street Committee.

A special meeting of select and common councils was held on Friday evening to consider the report of the street committee and an ordinance transfurring $1,500 from the sowerage and drainage fund to that of macadamizing and grading.

In select council there were present: Messra. Erisman, Everta, Haines, Riddle, Rohrer, Schum, Stormfeltz and Long, president.

The report of the street committee, upon which action was supposed to have been taken at the regular meeting, was again read by Clerk Barr.

Mr. Riddle moved the adoption of the recommendations of the committee, with the exception of that one allowing the Lancaster Street Railway company to construct a turnout on North Duke street, south of Walnut street, and to the recommendation accepting that part of the turnpike abandoned by the Lancaster and Susquehanna Turnpike company, as a resolution covering that last named master was passed at the last meeting and concurred in by common council, and it was not necessary to again consider it.

Mr. Riddle said the sentiment of the atreet committee now was against granting permission for the turnout.

CIGARMAKERS STOP WORK.

Because Their Wages Are steduced to Pay For Wrapper Cutting. There was considerable excitement this morning at the cigar manufactory of Oblinger Brothers & Co., which is in Hotel Lancaster, just east of the Pennsylvania lancaster, just east of the Pennsylvania railroad station. This factory employs about 102 persons, 85 of whom are cigarmakers, or rollers, male and female. In the factory the week ends with each Friday night. Last night before work was stoped the cigarmakers were notified that tc-day a new system would go into effect. It was stated that the firm had employed cutters to cut wrappers and furnish them to the cigarmakers. The rates at which the cigarmakers were paid was 25, 22, 20 and 18 cents per hundred. To pay for the wrapper cutters the employers proposed to deduct 6 cents from the wages of the first class rollers (25 cents) and five off each of the others, which would make the rates 19, 17, 15 and 13 cents per hundred.

The employes did not take kindly to the reduction, and this morning they came straggling in to work very slowly. When they had gotten together they resolved not to go to work, and all quit the shop, which was afterwards closed. It is likely that a conference with a view to a compromise will be held between this and Monday with the firm.

CRYING FRAUD IN MONTANA. Democrats Claim a Victory and Declare

Democrate Claim a Victory and Declare the State Cannot Be Stoten.

The Montana Republican managers atill refuse to admit that the Democrate have secured the majority in the next Legislature while admitting the election of Toole. Returns so far, while unofficial, show a sure Democratic majority in the Legislature of at least four, with all the chances in favor of it reaching nine. The Republicans are shouting fraud and the Democrate say the scheme of the Republicans is to wait until they see just how many Democrate they will have to throw out before they can control the Legislature, and when this is known they will commence operations. The feeling is becoming very bitter and at the first move of the Republicans there will be trouble.

The Democratic managers held a meeting to consider the situation, and the Independent, the leading Democratic paper, contained the following editorial, under the caption, "They Can't Staal It,": "The Republican boodlers and conspirators who have falled to carry Montana by corruption, coercion and disfranchisement for their candidate for governor and their legislative ticket, may as well understand that they cannot work any Louisiana game on the people of this territory. Their plot to defeat the will of the people by trump ing up flimsy and fraudulent charges on which they cope to throw out the entire vote of precints giving heavy Democratic majorities is known, and will be defeated. "The scheme of beaten candidates and disappointed senatorial aspirants, batched up in a back room in this city yesterday, to overthrow a solid majority for Toole and unsat Democratic members of the Legislature in a neighboring county is a desperate and dangerous undertaking, in which honest men can take no part, and from which discreet men would shrink." Chairman Soligman, W. F. Sanders and United States Attorney Weed went to Deer Leedge this afternoon, where an attempt will be made to have the judges throw out five hundred votes in Anaconda. If this succeeds it will turn the tide and elect a Republican a Republican majority in the Legislature. An attempt will also be made to throw out several Democratic precincts in Silver Bow county.

That there will be a contest there is no doubt, with the Federal officials and Republican aspirants arrayed on one side and on the other S. T. Hauser, C. A. Broad water, Marcus Daly and W. A. Clark.

The Case Dismissed. PITTSBURG, Oct. 5 .- In the United States court to-day Justice Bradley, of the supreme court, handed down an opinion dismissing the famous electric light case of Westinghouse against Edison. The suit was brought two years ago by the Westing-house interests against the McKeesport or Edison Electric Light company, to restrain the defendants from using the fibrous carbon or incandescent conductor in the air tight globe. The point at issue was the form and substance of the conductor. It was claimed by the plaintiffs that they had been granted a patent on the fibrous carbon, while upon the other hand the Edison interests claimed that they had filed an application for a patent a month before the ap-plication of the plaintiffs.

The court holds that the claim to priority of invention in the fibrous filament is not valid, as Edison had accomplished the result before Sawyer, Man or Westing-

FORIT YEARS MARRIED.

One of Lancaster's Best Known Citizens Passes the Two Score Mile Post of Wedded Bliss.

Mr. George Bowman, one of Lancaster's best known citizens, and his good wife, who reside at No. 225 South Queen street, who reside at No. 225 South Queen street, have been the subjects of many congratulations to-day. This is the fortieth anniversary of their marriage. Silver weddings are events of not frequent occurrence, and golden weddings, marking the fittleth anniversary of the nuptial event, are rare indeed. To comparatively few citizens is it given to celebrate even forty years of married life, unbroken by death or separation, and few of the many who are familiar with the stalwart form of George Bowman, which has been a conspicious figure on the streets for many years, would suspect that he is nearing the paalmist's allotted three score and ten.

he is nearing the paalmist's allotted three score and ten.

On the 5th of October, 1849, he and his helpmeet were joined in wedlock. George was a carpenter by trade, but at the call of his country for troops in the early stages of the Mexican war he started to the relief of Generals Scott and Taylor. By the time he got to New Orleans, the conquest of the land of the Montezumas and the humiliation of Santa Anna were so well assured that he felt justified in returning to Lancaster, and he has lived here most of the time since. His only son and child, Charles, died some years ago.

Mr. Howman has been for many years a sporting man and, aforetime, a pool-seller. He has a very wide acquaintance and large experience, and being known everywhere as one whose "word is as good as his bond," he has enjoyed not only the acquaintance but the friendship and respect of many prominent men. On the race track and in the pool room his commanding figure and emphatic manner arrest attention and carry conviction, and he is everywhere known as a man of decided force of character. Withal he is generous, sympathetic and warm-hearted. He is the frequent and open-handed benefactor of every benevolent cause that appeals to him, and several local charities have had occasion to remember his helpful interest.

local charities have had occasion to remom-ber his helpful interest.

Mr. Bowman is to be found nearly every day at the Cadwell house; and in the "free parliament" that has met there for over twenty years his picturesque reminiscences and original utterances have been a lead-ing feature. Long life to him and his better half, and may they glide happily through the opening decade of their half century?

The New Texas Store Cracked and Large Quantity of Goods Stolen. Every winter burglars operate largely brough this county, and especially through this county, and especially among the country stores. A number of these are cracked each season, and the thieves seem to have already commenced their work. On Thursday night the store at New Texas, in the lower end of this county, was opened by the gentlemen of the jimmy and dark lantern, who made a heavy haul. A new lot of goods had just been received from Philadelphia, and these were in their original packages. The goods consisted of pantaloons, coats and overalls, and nearly all of them were taken. Besides these goods the thieves took a whole box of tobacco, a dozen pairs of shoes, and the contents of a show case, in which were revolvers, jewelry, &c. The thieves are supposed to have been two tramps who were seen in the neighborhood the day before.

Friday men were out in every direction searching for the thieves, but without success. If the tramps did commit the burglary, they must have secured a team somewhere, as more was stolen than they could carry. John Frank is the owner of the store.

that place at 6 o'clock in the evening.

They spent a very enjoyable evening in the parlors and ball room of the hotel, and were up bright and early on Friday morning to view the beautiful sunrise over the Page Valley from the tower of the hotel. After breakfast they took carriages and drove over to the cave, a distance of a mile. They explored the cavern thoroughly and were delighted with their experience. Returning to the hotel they partook of lumband left for Lancaster after 12 o'clock. They arrived here at 8:35 last evening and all went to Hotel Lancaster, where Mr. Sayder had prepared a supper for them.

The members of the party speak in the highest terms of the trip and they advise overybody to take it.

It is much better to go at this time of the year, or even later, when the leaves are turning and the pictures of river and mountain scenery are the finest of the year.

Powderly Replies to Charges

Powderly Replies to Charges.

There was a large open meeting of the Knights of Labor at the Central Turner hall, St. Louis, on Friday evening. The prominent speakers were Mr. Powderly, Mr. Holland, and Mr. Hayes of the executive board, and Mr. O. R. Lake, Master Workman of D. A. 171.

Mr. Powderly made a very effective speech, in which he reviewed all the charges made against him, and presented documentary evidence in refutation. He was enthusiastically cheered many times during the delivery of the speech. He quoted the evidence on which he based the charges made against his enemies, many of whom had been expelled from the order. He was occasionally interrupted with questions from the hostile faction, and several of these were "fired" out of the hall.

The situation shows that Powderly is on top, and that his enemies have lost organization and head. The executive board heard evidence about the troubles in the local assemblies, but made no decisions.
