THE JACKSON RIFLES AND LANCASTER FENCIBLES MEET FRIDAY EVENING.

They March Over a Short Route to Roberts' Hall, Where Several Hours Are Spent Around the Banquet Board.

On April 15, 1861, President Lincoln issued his first call for 75,000 troops for three months' service and Pennsylvania's quota under that call was sixteen regiments. On the 19th of April, four days after the call, two companies of volunteers left Lancaster. They were the Lancaster Fencibles and Jackson Rifles, two well known military organizations.

The greater rolls of the company show that the following members left this city with the Fencibles: Captain, Emily Franklin; second lieutenant, Michael H. Locher; first lieutenant, James P. These companies were assigned to the first regiment, and on the 26th of April this regiment left Harrisburg for Cockeysville, where it was put on duty, remaining there on the line of the Northern Central railroad, and eventually of opening communication with Washington, which, since the passage of the Massachusetts troops had been broken.

The leading men of Maryland having represented to the state that its military occupation of that state might precipitate a collision, and lead to the secession of the state, the regiment was ordered back to York, and remained there until May 14th, when it was detailed to guard the Northern Central railroad from the Pennsylvania line to Drift Park, near Baltimore.

On May 25th it was ordered to Catonsville, Md., to guard the roads leading to Frederick City and Harper's Ferry and on the 29th was advanced to Franktown. On June 1st it was sent to Charlestown on the 22d to Martinsburg, Va., and from the latter point to Charlestown. On July 21 the regiment was ordered to Harper's Ferry and on the 23d started for Harrisburg and were mustered out of service the following day.

In history says that "during the time that the regiment was in service it did not participate in any battles; but its timely arrival in the field accomplished much good by checking any rash movement on the part of rebels in arms along our borders."

The dutiful way it was called upon to perform its duty, and the manner in which it conducted itself under fire and in the field, under all circumstances was appreciated and acknowledged by its superior officers.

Soldi's Wife for $300.

George and Mary Weikoff, of Milwaukee, are married and have several children. George is employed in the Milwaukee shops. Mrs. Weikoff joined the ranks of the Christian Scientists and began to practice. She soon found that her husband was not her master's hand, and were soon found the much-sought object in the person of one Henry Bratich. Henry is 49 years of age, and works at Weikoff in the shop. He is reported to be worth $40,000. Mr. Weikoff soon became a convert to the Christian Science.

Robert's wife was Miss Branston, who is also known as Frankford, being a step-son of John Frankford, has been complained against before Alderman Deen for assault and battery. The prosecutrix is his wife, who had a good voice but seemed to be very coarse. As Gabriel Miss Branston was weak in singing although she, as well as Miss Wallace, acted well. Big George performed Onward, Christian Soldier, the popular hymn, made a tremendous hit. He is awfully funny, and the many amateur gags seemed to please, while there was plenty to keep the ladies interested, stirring up the character of Evangeline with Miss Yolande Wallace, a newcomer here, who had a good voice but seemed to be very coarse.
