PUSS IN THE MELON PATCH.

A Farmer site Up at Night Loaded For Boys and Makes a Discovery.

Mr. Fanning, of Scott Hill, Conn., has a field of notably fine muskinelons, and he also has a cat, the pet of the household, which is as canny as a fox. Mr. Fanning was not aware just how much that cat knew until one night this week, when her veiled intelligence was disclosed through the medium of muskinelons. The farmer is very careful of the meiou patch, and has spent most of his leisure time this season watching it and fending off boys.

Nevertheless, an unknown marauder at night constantly defeated his vigilance. In the gloaming Mr. Fanning visited the meion patch for a farewell inspection of the luscoous fruit, and every meion was all right. Next morning some of the largest and best of them had been despoiled. They were torn to pieces and the contents had been scooped out.

Fanning then sat up a night near his melons, a double-barrelled shotgun, loaded with sait, across his knoes, for he firmly bolieved that the neighborhood boys were at the bottom of the tilevery, and he knew that a charge of ait, while it might take some of the freshness out of the young-sters, was not apt to result in a coroner's inquest. But his vigil was futile. The thief came just the same, and partly despoiled three or four fine melous; yet he had seen neither hide nor hair of a creature.

Mr. Fanning then began to believe that goblins, perhaps, were the nocturnal visitors, though he did not recollect ever reading an instance in which those shadowy cheps had manifested a fondness for musk-melons or any other melons. He decided to apend still another night in the patch, however; to lie low on the ground this time, and his stratagem was successful.

"At about midnight," said Mr. Fanning in describing the misadventure afterward, "that big black cat of mine came crouching and slouching down across the lots, if you'll believe me, slid over the stone wall like a shadow, and without making a sound or showing more than an inch of her backbone above the vines, cut right out in

Mr. Fanning has now learned that his black cat is fond not only of muskmelons and watermelons but of all kinds of fruit. She eats apples, pears, and grapes greedily, and any kind of nuts whose shell she can crack with her teeth.

As We Look to Eastern Eyes.

From the N. Y. Star.

Speaking on the Brooklyn bridge in turban and flowing robes, Lassar Demetrius, who is a Maronite chief of the Lebanon, said: "I am not surprised that the people should gaze at us as they do, for it must be confessed our clothing offers a startling contrast to that of Americans.
We, in order not to draw a crowd around us, conform as much as possible to surrounding conditions, and when we assume our native garb it is for the sake of busirounding conditions, and when we assume our native garb it is for the sake of business and, perhaps, now and then, when the sun comes out, to enjoy a little comfort. When I don your Western garments I feel as if I were a prisoner. What to me seems strange while sojourning here is that when the thermometer stands 90 degrees in the shade or is at zero, you wear the same garments. Hence, I presume, the prevalence of death from pulmonary diseases. Nevertheless, apart from dress and other little peculiarities, this is a grand country: but I fancy you need a dash of the asthetic blood which an immigration from Asia Minor would give you. Indeed, a am inclined to think that if the political aspect of things does not change, you will within the next few years receive large numbers of our people, from Armenia especially, where, notwithstanding the treaty entered into into between the Sultan and Emperor Napoleon III., the Mahommedan Druses still continue to rob, murder and persecute their Maronite neighbors. My comrades here and myself are Armenian Maronites, but we do not object to the generic name of Syrians. We are Christians, of course, though we do wear the Turkish menian Maronites, but we do not object to the generic name of Syrians. We are Christians, of course, though we do wear the Turkish turban, which, in the eyes of many, indicates Mahommedanism in the we trer. We sell beads, crosses, rugs, carpets and, in fine, the merchandise of the East, and find that our profits are good. What surprises us more than anything else is the perfect order maintained in this city, although you have neither Sultan nor Pasha to rule you and cut off your heads if he thinks that a preper punishment."

The difficulty of administering medicine to young children is entirely overcome by using Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup, the safest, nost pleasand and efficient remedy for the little ones. Price 25 cents.

Bad breath is almost always caused by a sick stomach. This can easily be cured. Laxador is the remedy for such cases. Price, 25 cents.

Very Becoming.

Lovely tints in the wrong place are reft of their charm. A lemon colored countenance—the peculiar endowment of our pig-tailed brethren who "hit the pipe"—is unbecoming. It suggest bile going astray, and the interference is correct. Pain beneath the ribs and shoulder blades, constipation, dyspepsia, furred tongue and sick headaches supplement this indication of the billious. For liver complaint and its militarious symptoms, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is an i.fallible specific. It relaxes the bowels sufficiently, but without griping or violence. To the secretion of bile it gives a due impulse, but banishes an excess of that saffron colored principle from the blood. Sick headaches, soreness disappear when it is used. It renows digestion, fortifies the system against malaria, counteracts a rheumatic tendency, and remedies inaction of the kidneys.

A new idea embraced in Ely's Cream Balm. A new idea emoraced in key's Cream Baim.
Catarrh is cured by cleansing and healing, not by drying up. It is not a liquid or snuff, but is easily applied into the nostrils. Its effect is magical and a thorough treatment will cure the worst cases. Price 60c. 69-2wd.cw

Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh.

RELIEF INSTANTANEOUS, CURE RAPID, RADICAL AND PERMANENT.

RELIEF INSTANTANEOUS, CURE RAPID, RADICAL AND PERMANENT.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison is distributed throughout the system, attacks every vital force, and injures the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and chalatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his Rabical Cure has won the bearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffling and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the senses of smell and taste, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh Consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box of Catarrheat Solvent, and Inproved Inhaler, all in one package; price, 51. Ask for Banror's Radical Cure. Sold everywhere.

After trying everything I heard of your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using three bottles of CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using three bottles of CUTICURA SOAP, I find myself cured at the cost of about $1. would not be without the CUTICURA REMEDIES in my house, as I find them useful in many cases, and I think they are the only skin and blood medicines.

I was sick in the full of 1878 with a burning and liching so bad that in three weeks I was covered with a rash, and could not sleep nights of work days. Boune doctors thought it might be sait rheum (eccema), and said they had never
