

TWO DAYS OF QUACKS.

"ENGLISH AND GERMAN" AND "NEW YORK" DOCTORS OPERATING IN YORK.

They Fail to Register and Practice in Defiance of Law--The Medical Society Urged to Arrest Them.

It appears that the citizens of York have special cause for worry, as there are two sets of traveling physicians in their midst. One lot are the "English and German physicians," and the other lot are from New York. In their advertisements the former claim that they are now "permanently located in Lancaster, Pa. 34 North Duke street, and have a large number of patients."

OPPOSED TO CHANGE OF NAME.

The Junior Mechanics Throughout the Country Vote on the Proposition.

The three councils of the Jr. O. U. A. M. in this city voted on the proposed change of name last week, each council casting a different vote.

The result of the vote throughout the country was received in Pittsburgh on Saturday. "American Legion," the name recommended by the National Council, has been defeated by an overwhelming majority. The voting was exceedingly light, the indications being that less than 20 per cent of the members voted.

Although the votes are not all in, a sufficient number of reports have been received to tell what the result will be. Returns have been received from seven states--Pennsylvania, Ohio, Maryland, New Jersey, Massachusetts, West Virginia and Virginia. From these states 252 votes were cast, 100 in favor of "American Legion" and 152 for it.

The 965 councils in Pennsylvania 137 heard from 25, 200 for and 100 against the change. The Councils of the Jr. O. U. A. M. in this city voted on the proposed change, while 116 of the 127 branches voted solidly against it. Pride of the North No. 98, of Pittsburgh, refused to vote on the question at all.

In Ohio the vote indicates that a change is favored there more than in any other state. Twenty-four of the 100 branches gave a vote of 342 to 230 against the proposed change. This was expected from the West. It was claimed that the present name is a sort of organizing new councils in the Western states.

Maryland seems to cling to the old name. This state eight councils roll up a vote of 104 to 104 against the change. The National Council sends in the largest vote polled in any state, the members having cast 144 solid votes against it.

The new name, refused to do so by a vote of 415 to 124, out of 23 councils heard from. Massachusetts, which was also looked to for a majority in favor of "American Legion," votes against it by 104 to 15, in 5 councils heard from.

West Virginia give a vote of 80 to 80 against the change, and the same number of councils in Virginia give 80 to 11 against it.

The organ of the order, published in Philadelphia, will contain full vote in the current issue. The paper will say: "This result cannot be taken as an indication of the feeling of the members, but simply shows the good sense of our membership in rejecting a name which was no improvement over the old."

From information received in Philadelphia, the substitute name "Order of United Americans," it would have been adopted by almost as large a vote as the other has been defeated. The present defeat will not only settle the matter, but it simply fans the flame, and the National Council must prepare to meet and satisfy, at its next session, the popular demand.

FAVORING TARIFF REFORM. A Permanent Organization Effected by Philadelphia Business Men.

A notable gathering of business men Saturday afternoon in the hall where the first tariff club of this city was organized under the name of the "Philadelphia Tariff Reform Club."

The meeting was composed of the most prominent business men of the northern and northeastern sections of the city, and the object was to organize a club for the promotion of tariff reform, independent of local or ward politics.

A DESERTED BEAR.

HIS TRAINERS LEAVE HIM IN GARBER'S WOODS, NEAR MOUNTVILLE.

The Beast Maddened by Hunger Now Tied in a Barn--A Muzzle Upon Him Which No Person Dares Remove.

On last Thursday two men who had a trained bear, arrived in Mountville. After performing in the town they went to Garber's woods, where they tied the bear to a tree. They then went away and left the animal which was in the woods this morning. The bear was in the neighborhood was not long in finding the bear and a crowd looked at him yesterday.

The people were afraid of him and kept their distance, but he might try to lug them. What the object of the owners of the bear was in leaving him in the woods no one knows, but they may be away on a business trip. The bear is very hungry, but the people of the neighborhood are at a loss to know what to feed him. It is said that bears of this kind are very greedy and somewhat difficult to procure at present. The men were in this city with the bear last week, and the people of Mountville say that they have given the bear a muzzle on his head, and he will be glad to give the bear to any one who wants him, as he thinks its owners will never return.

Since then the bear has been taken to Mr. Garber's barn, where he is now chained. He is quite cross and although the people who have him in charge would be glad to feed him, they do not know how to get off the muzzle, which is tied securely upon him.

The bear is very angry at everybody who approaches him and it is feared that if he is not fed he may break from his fastenings and go on an excursion through the neighborhood. It is said that such provisions as may be found. He is a large and powerful animal, and the man who gets in his clutches may be easily squeezed to death.

BRIEF NEWS NOTES.

President Harrison on Saturday signed the proclamation admitting North and South Dakota to the Union.

Mrs. Susan Bartram, of Reading, has been suffering health for a year past and her physician, convinced that there was some foreign substance in her stomach, gave her an emetic. She vomited a live lizard and a snake.

Mrs. Jennie Guttenberg, of Brooklyn, is locked up in jail in Jersey City as a witness in the case of Jacob Gluckin, an Italian who charged that she was too proud either to work or beg. Four or five barbers were before Justice Kennard, in Middletown, last week, charged with obstructing justice. Each paid $4 fine and $2.25 costs. Joseph Fritz, who resided at Summit Hill, Pa., and last spring owned a fine farm and country inn, as visited by his friends, during the P. prohibition campaign, to sell his property, because they thought, he proposed amendment would be carried, the loss of the property would be a disaster, and the amendment was defeated. The loss so preyed on his mind that he grew morose and finally hanged himself last Friday.

The return of the vote cast in this state on Tuesday will be compared with the vote cast in the same state in 1887, and all the states of percent will be made accordingly. Gus Wineholder, representing the wholesale and retail trade of the city, has been elected to the position of president of the Chamber of Commerce of Philadelphia, which was held in Chicago on Saturday by inhaling illuminating gas. Mr. Wineholder was one of the best of his kind, who was a member of the police, but the horse was given a severe shock when he ran into the wire and fell senseless. He was picked up and slowly recovered his senses. His head was covered with blood and above his brow was the impression of the wire. He was taken home and died. The cause of the accident was traced through him. He then comprehended the cause and lay still.

Citizens attracted to the scene noticed flashes of blue flame emitting from the prostrate animal. The flames came from all parts of the horse's body, and the smell of burning flesh was perceptible. Lewis to Return to Morocco. WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.--A decision has been reached by the officials at the state department in the case of the charges against W. K. Lewis, United States consul at Tangier. He will probably return to his post of duty, and will probably leave for Morocco within a few days. As has been stated, the state department officials think his usefulness at Tangier is practically at an end, and his stay there is not likely to be an extended one.

Barn and Contents Burned. VINCENNES, Ind., Nov. 4.--Lee Buck, richest farmer of the county, lost one of his barns yesterday by fire, supposed to be the work of an incendiary. The building was the finest in the county and cost $7,000. There were 4,000 bushels of wheat, 2,000 bushels of corn, 100 tons of hay, and other cultural implements valued at several thousand dollars stored in the barn. The total loss is estimated at $30,000; insurance, $8,000.

Base Ball Players in Conference. NEW YORK, Nov. 4.--The corridors of the Fifteenth Avenue hotel were well filled this morning with base ball men from all parts of the country. There was considerable discussion going on between members of the Brotherhood, but nothing definite was stated. The general impression seemed to prevail however, that the Brotherhood would assert its independence. The Brotherhood meeting was called to order on Monday with closed doors.
