ENTERTAINS PEOPLE.

Berochments and Fancy Articles For Bayers In the Armory-The Canal to Close For the Winter.

COLUMMA, Nov. 22.— "Fair glimpses or the festival of the seasons" opened in the armory last evening under the aus-pices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Preshytorian church. The booths repre-senting the seasons were decorated in a beautiful and tasteful manner. They were presided over by ladies who presented all the attractions of the season which they represented. Spring offered confections in every variety, and with every purchase of chocolate the beautiful little cup and mere were given as a souvenit. Summer offered the cooling refreshments so de-airable in that season, such as ices in all varieties. Autumn's booth offered all the delicious fruits of that season of the year, and purchasers were given "Cooks in endless variety. Four refreshment ables can also be found, where an excel-lent menu will cater to the wants of every person. At the end of the room is the letter. person. At the end of the room is the postoffice where every person can obtain a letter. The ladies have gone to great trouble to present an attractive place, and their efforts should meet with decided suc-cess. An attraction for the little folks is booked for Saturday afternoon. The Pennsylvania canal has again suf-fered considerable damage from the high water, and the washouts will in all proha-bility close navigation. It will require some weeks to repair the damage and by that time the winter season will be here. Cookman chapel is rapidly approaching completion, and will add greatly to the already fine church architecture of the town.

Miss Carrie Gates is visiting friends in Harrisburg. Mrs. C. C. Smith returned to her home in Philadelphia after a visit to town. The Philadelphia & Reading Rollef association contest for seats on the advisory board is a spirited one. Over ten thousand board is a spirited one. Over ten thousand votes have been cast for more than one hundred candidates. The result will not be known for several days. W. U. Him and is Defeated. From the New York World. A plan to break down Colonel Thomas P. Ochiltree's long-established reputation as the champion causeur of the Hoffman house has just come to signal grief. It was a plain, unvarnished Western man, a cattle dealer from the plains, who came to town with a "wad," a beard and a gift of gab which evolved from his checkered experiwhich evolved from his checkered experi-ences one continuous round of aneedotic pleasure for his friends and listeners. "Here was the man to talk Ochiltree down," and accordingly, with malice aforethought, the two were steered up against each other. The conversation fell on champagne, which "Eddy" Somborne said was a tonic. "Tonic" said the Western man. "You ought to drink a tonic I've been in-terested in. It brings out hair on the bald head and drives in corns on the bunioned foot ; it cures dandruff and eralicates blackheads and joits the liver like a half-arm joit of Sullivan's. An armless and foot ; it cures dandruff and eradicates blackheads and jolts the liver like a half-arm joit of Sullivan's. An armless and legless war reteran I know of in St. Louis bought six bottles of my tonic, and in a month a strapping new arm and leg grew out on him.'" Colonel Ochiltree sized up his adversary with a quiet cock of the eye, and calmly said that there was a tonic in use in his part of Texns which beggared description; it is the juice of a tree and three doses of it completely renovate the most broken-down constitution. "A friend of mine," said Colonel Ochiltree, "had, through riotons living, lost his liver, shriveled up his kid-neys and so impaired his other internal organs that his lights, gentlemen, might just as well have been put out for all the good they did him. But mark the conse-uences of three bottles of this Texastonic! In a short time my friend's liver was three times as large as it had ever been in his soundest moments and his internal econ-omy was handsomely fitted out with a complete set of electric lights." The West-ern man sighed softly and said the drinks were on him.

The Baby Case.

were on him.

The police officers have nothing new in regard to the baby that was found in a yard in the northeastern part of town Wednesday morning, and it is very doubtful now whether anything more will be learned concerning it. The theory that the child was placed where it was found early in the morning seems to be wrong. Mrs. Myers' son John says that when he returned from son John says that when he returned from night school on Tuesday evening he no-ticed a white bundle lying inside of the lot at the place where the body was found, but he did not think of making any examina-tion at the time to see what if was. Mr. Myers says that when she found the baby it was not warm at all, nor did she ever say so. She further states that if it had been in that condition or had there been the least sign of life she would have taken it into the house and cared for it properly.

The horses which Joe Sondheimer sold to the Laurel Fire company, of York, are giving the best of satisfaction and the newspapers speak highly of them. They have already been trained to run out and take their place to be harnessed at the sound of the gong. At a late hour last night there was con-siderable fighting on South Water street, between Vine and German. People in that section of the town were aroused from their slumbers by the noise, and several of the rioters are suid to have had their heads badly punched. No one was arrested.
