Death of a Well-Known Lady. Mrs. Julia Ann, wife of A. S. Villee, the well-known cotton mill overseer, died this forenoon. at her home, 148 South Prince street. For 26 years past she had been a sufferer from rheamatism and it finally caused her death. She was a daughter of George Hammond, who formerly resided in this city but died some years ago in Virginia. She was a lifelong member of Trinity Lutheran church, an excellent Christian woman and a devoted mother and wife. She had a cleven children, eight of whom are living, viz: Mrs. John Hatchinson, Charles, who is a weaver in the same mill with his father, Herman, with Oliver & Roberts, wire manufacturers in Pits-Roberts, wire manufacturers in Pius-burg, Harry of Baltimore, and Misses Mol-ie, Hattie, Bertie and Walter at home. The ed was 57 years of age. The Union Veteran Legion. At a meeting of Encampment No. 14, of the Union Veteran Legion held last evethe Union Veteran Legion held last evening the following officers were elected:

Col. commander, W. D. Stauffer; Lieut.
Col., M. N. Stark; niajor, John L. Vogan; officer of the day, H. A. Brady; quartermaster, James A. Nimlow; chaplain, A.
C. Leonard; surgeon, P. L. Sprecher. The appointed officers will be selected by the colonel commander when the elected ones

W. L. Hershey, aide-de-camp to the mational commander, was present and inspected the encampment, which he found in good condition.

J. A. Hollinger was selected to install the officers on Monday evening, January 6th. The encampment is in a good condition and from two to three members are elected each month.

Lamberton Lodge Officers.

Last evening the following officers of Lumberton Lodge of Masons were elected: W. M., Ernest Zahm; S. W., John L. Martin; J., W. Walter Boardman; treas-urer, H. E. Slaymaker; secretary, Dr. W. N. Amer; trustee (for three years) Dr. R. M. Bolenius.

The officers were installed by P. M. W. N. Amer, and among those present were Frederick H. Keller, of Williamsport, district deputy for Lycoming, Union and Snyder counties, and Dr. John R. Morris, of Philadelphia, formerly of Lancaster, and a past master of the lodge. A fine banquet, prepared by Charley Hoster, followed the installation.

A Small Fire.

A fire alarm was sounded about half-past six o'clock last evening. It came from box 21, at West King and Charlotte treets, but the fire was at Rose Brothers A Hartman's umbrella factory, almost up against box 53 at Mulberry and Vine streets. Why 21 was struck is a mystery yet unsolved. One of the cement pots in the mounting room of the umbrella factory caught fire from a gas jet under it, while the attendant was at supper. A barrel of cement took fire, and the ceiling was pretty well scorched. It was all extinguished with buckets of water.

The Suit Against the City. The finance committee of councils met on Monday evening and informally discussed the suit brought by the county against the city. No definite action was agreed upon, but it is expected that councils at the meeting on Wednesday will authorize the committee to employ counsel and take all the necessary steps to contest the county's claim.

well known butcher of Leacock, raised a great excitement on Walnut street at noon. Just because the reporters were on the search for something new and they always help them out. The horses were standing at the Northern market, on the Walnut street side, when a drum corns came along that would frighten anything. The horses took to their heels and ran out Walnut street to Plum, sprang down over the embankment on the new part of the street. They were caught on Plum street, near Chestnut after they had broken the tongue off the wagon.

Executions Issued.

Executions were issued to-day against learny Musser, of Ephrata, by John H. Try, attorney for Charles Konigmacher, or $1,700, and against B. F. Baker, by A. I. Fritchey, attorney for John Burk-older, for $750.

Of the Late Philip Blessing.

Of the Late Philip Blessing.

The suit of Kerbs & Spiess vs. John Showalter and G. W. Taylor, was attached for trial before Judge Livingston on Monday afternoon. This case came into court on an appeal by defendants from the judgment of Alderman McConomy entered in favor of plaintiff for $300.

According to the testimony of plaintiff's agent, Daniel A. Mayer, a contract was made on September 6, 1881, under which the defendants agreed to deliver their crop of tobacco amounting to 6,000 pounds. About the ing to 6,000 pounds. About the time the tobacco was ready for delivery the defendants came to him with a sample time the tobacco was ready for delivery the defendants came to him with a sample of tobacco which contained from 30 to 40 per cent. of white vein. The defendants said that was a fair sample of their tobacco, and plaintiff said he did not want the tobacco, and it was sold to another party. Subsequently it was learned that the sample was not a fair one; that the tobacco was of better quality and that it was sold to another party at an advance in price and this suit was brought to recover damages for not getting the tobacco.

The defense was that the sample was a fair one, that plaintiffs' agent released them from the contract when he saw the sample. It was denied that the tobacco was sold for more money to another party, but on the more money to another party, but on the contrary it was claimed that $100 less was received than would have been the price if delivered to plaintiffs and accepted. BEFORE JUDGE PATTERSON.

The suit of the commonwealth of Penusylvania, for the use of the county of Lancaster, vs. Adam Obiender and Wm. C. Kneezal, administrators c. t. a. of Philip F. Blessing, deceased, was attached in the lower court room, before Judge Patterson, on Monday afternoon.

Plaintiff showed that Adam Obiender had been returned to court for embezzing

Plaintiff showed that Adam Oblender had been returned to court for embezzling tunds belonging to Monterey Lodge of Odd Fellows. He was tried and convicted but absconded between the time he was convicted and the date for sentence. Mr. B'sssing was his surety in the sum of $1,000, and after Oblender skipped his recognizance was forfeited and this suit was brought. After plaintiff closed its testimony counsel for defendant moved for a non-suit, and a lengthy argument followed. For the plaintiff it was argued that the For the plaintiff it was argued that the endorsement on the returns forfeited absolutely was all the record required. The defense claimed that the record books of the court was the proper record to offer in

The argument developed the fact that the record book, through a clerical error, showed that William and not Philip Blessing was the surety.

The court denied the non-suit and the defense this morning asked leave to withdraw their pleus and raise a legal question as to whether the amount of the regognizance can be recovered.

It was recorded in support of this resulting ance can be recovered.

It was argued in support of this position that the writ filed an opinion in the criminal case against Oblender sustaining the demurrer filed to the indictment. This it was claimed ended the suit on which Bles-sing was the surety and as he did not again renew his recognizance, his surety cannot now be held for the amount of the recogni-

The court declined to allow the pleadings to be withdrawn and directed the jury to find for plaintiff for the full amount of the recognizance with interest, and a ver-dict was entered in favor of plaintiff for the Best of Lancasters' People. Last evening Fulton opera house was packed to the doors with the best people of the city who had come to see the performance of the Young Republican minstrels. Even the gallery had been reserved and many ladies occupied seats in that part of the house. The performance was a financial success and the most of it pleased the audience. In the first part thirty-three peo-ple were seen. The comedians and singers were in the front row and looked nobby in dress suits. dress suits.

Howard T. Hays and C. W. Heitshu had

Howard T. Hays and C. W. Heitshu had the outside ends and each sang good songs and told jokes. They were very funny at times, aithough they appeared timid, as was quite natural. The ballad singing was as follows: "A Curl from Baby's Head," F. R. McClain; "Down by the Old Stone Mill," J.J.Smaling; "With All Her Faults, I Love Her Still," C. G. Landis. The singing of the choruses, which was expected to be the big feature of the show, did not come up to expectations, as it was not sufficiently loud. The first part wound up with a burlesque prize fight between Harry Buckius, who impersonated Kilrain, while Charlie Flick was Sullivan. They did some pretty sparring and were quite while Charne Flees was Sunivan. They did some pretty sparring and were quite successful in making the people laugh, while they exhibited considerable science.
The second part opened with the Mandolin club in a number of fine selections. It in-cluded John B. Roth, jr., E. G. Eby, S. Z. Evans, Edward Parker, Wm. E. Adams, Abm. Adams, Howard Welchans and Chas.

Prof. Mohn gave his well known and very dangerous impalement act and cut his hand very badly in cutting an apple with a sharp sword. Frank Parker did some very pretty dancing on sand, and Cummings and Witmer appeared to ad-vantage in ground and lofty tumbling. The act of Walter Wentworth, who is the oldest contention. The act of Walter Wentworth, who is the oldest contertionist living, was a great go, and the gentleman received plenty of applause. The stump speech of George Walton was very poor and ill-timed, and the would-be comedian should have been suppressed early in the game. "The Mikado" in black wound up the show and it was awfully funny. Many of the original songs of the opera were introduced and the gags were very good. The three little maids, impersonated by F. B. McClain, J. B. Roth, jr., and H. M. Herr, set the audience wild even before they had done anything. C. W. Heitshu as the Mikado, D. A. Sensenig as Nanki Poo, George F. Hambright as Ko Ko and Howard T. Hays as Poo Bah were excellent.
