FRANKLIN AND MARSHALL'S VICTORY.

The eleven of St. John's College easily defeated. The game was a triumph for Franklin and Marshall.

THE VISITORS FAIL TO SCORE.

A thousand people gather to enjoy the last foot ball contest. The game was a triumph for Franklin and Marshall.

A THOUSAND PEOPLE GATHER TO ENJOY THE LAST FOOT BALL CONTENT.

The Home Team Do Excellent Work—A Detailed Account of the Battle—The Visitors and Vanquished Entertained at a Banquet at B. J. McGrann's.

When yesterday's 2 p. m. train rolled into the Pennsylvania station there alighted a jolly set of young men who would gladly in form and address Apollo of antiquity. They were students of St. John's college, Fordham, N. Y., and their mission was to check F. & M.'s victorious foot ball team in its triumphal march.

It is reported that these men have won laurels and distinction in many athletic contests, but they were not content with foot ball yesterday at McGrann's park would not be likely to accept this game as their stronghold. Somehow they failed in their attempt to get the game to succumb to the powers of their adversary by a very unenviable score. Stout and muscular men make up their rush line, but they fall short in executing the fine points of the game. The F. & M. boys forced the play from beginning and played with their accustomed cleverness. After the contests had been played the victors were afforded much amusement and pleasure for them but to the St. John's nothing appeared particularly laughable.

Carriages, which were crowded with the colors of the respective colleges, bore the teams to the scene of the conflict. Despite the threatening weather, about 1,000 people gathered to witness the game. While the game was not as brilliant as those played before, much interest was manifested and every movement was carefully noted. The game was a triumph for Franklin and Marshall.

Irving dribbled the ball to Gabriel; in an instant the two teams were on a race and the ball was down eight yards from the center.

Irving next took the ball, gave the slayers the word and five yards were added. He was down with an additional gain of ten yards.

After several more slight advances by the same kind of play, Irving, by a cunning massing of the ball, advanced to the center; but, to vary the monotony, Notstain took the ball around the end and the first touchdown was made by Irving.

Play was resumed in the middle of the field. Reilly taking the ball and advancing it ten yards. T. Arnoldy backed this up with ten more. After another advance of five yards their progress was checked and the fourth yard was gained by Gabriel.

Of these men Harold, Irvine, J. H. Apple, Griffith, Notstain, Gabriel and Reilly played in every game during the season. They were all very good players and they were all very hard workers.

After gaining ten yards (Arnoldy kicked) Irving secured the ball and advancing it twenty-five yards. It was soon worked back to Fordham's territory again and after a 20-yard dash scored the fourth touchdown.

Fordham started the ball with a kick, but one of our men jumped before it and Gabriel seized it gained ten yards. Irving next made a splendid play, carrying all who could hang on, gaining 20 yards. After a run of 20 yards Gabriel laid the ball gently between the posts. Irving kicked and the game was over.
