CAR STOVES MUST GO. The Pennsylvania Railroad's Steam-Heating Experiments-What Super-intendent Ely Says. Theodore N. Ely, general superintendent of motive power of the Pennsylvania rail-road, in reply to inquiries about the Penn-sylvania railroad's plans for the introduc-tion of steam-heating apparatus, add: "We are still continuing the experi-ments begun two years or more ago, but we have not yet found any system that we consider good enough to warrant general adoption. For special cocasions and under certain conditions we are able to use steam hest with good results, and are doing so, but that is not enough. We must have a system that will heat a train of a dozen or fifteen cars as well as four, and that will we'. "A train of passanger cars is extremely diminit to heat attain for only. It is neces-sary not only to attain a comfortable tem-perature while the train is in motion. Cars He Ruled Many Years. Lisson, Dec. 7.—The steamer Alagons, with ex-Emperor Dom Pedro, of Brasil, and party on board, and flying the old Brazilian flag, arrived in the Tagus at 10:15 o'clock this morning. She anchored off Belem, a suburb of Lisbon. Dom Pedro, the ex-empress, the Count and Countess d:-Eu-, sou-in-isw and daughter respec-tively of the ex-emperor, three sons of the count and countess and Prince August, of Saze-Coburg, the other son-in-law of Dom Pedro, come ashore immediately. Pairo, came ashore immediately. Before the party left the steamer, she was boarded by King Carlos, who extended sary not only to attain a comfortable tem-perature while the train is at a standstill in the station, but the heat must be main-tained when the train is in motion. Cars in rapid motion cool very quickly, and a train that is uncomfortably hot while at a standstill is very likely to be too cold for the comfort and safety of the pas-sengers when it is running over the road. Any system of heating that will not obviate this difficulty is worthless. Then again some systems that will heat a few cars sat-isfactorily are useless upon long trains. It is necessary also that the heating apparatus shall not take so much steam from the locomotive as to re-duce the pressure in the boiler. We have been at a great amount of trouble to find some kind of coupling to connect the pipes between the cars that will be steam-tight and durable, and that will adapt itself to the motion. Rubber hose, such as is used for air-brake connections, is soon rotted by the steam, and a mova-ble brass sleeve soon works stifly or else the packing wears out and causes leakage. "Our attention has been devoted prin-cipally to system of our own devising, and we are now experimenting with the system shown some time ago on a special train that was run on the New York division. We heated twelve cars on that train without difficulty; but I am not prepared to any asy sey that the system will give general satisfaction, or that its introduction upon all our cars would be advisable. The system is not entirely of up own invention, but it embraces many s warm welcome to the ex-emperor. Dom Pedro is is excellent spirits and appears not to have suffered by recent events in Brazil. It is said that he intends to issue a manifesto to the Brazilian peo-Baron De Loreto, who was the last min-

A DUEL WITH RAPIERS.

Col. D. R. Ettia Dies. Col. David Rittenhouse Ettia, aged 66, of Middletown, Dauphiu county, died there on Friday. Two years ago he was stricken by paralysia, since which time he has not pursued business. He was proprietor of the Windsor, one of the best hotels in that town, and for many years conducted the Railroad house. Col. Ettia had all the qualities of the first-class hotel-keeper. He was sensible of every want of patrons and supplied everything possible for their promfort. He was also concorned in every movement for the advancement of the town's interest. His energetic action in all pieble matters won for him the highest es-tern of not only business associates, but the entire community. Col. Ettiks was a lover of sports of all kinds, and he made of yoial disposition, his friends were at all times anxious to accompany him on hunti-pieblic and the politics he was a libric entire community. Metawas and two sons, Charles Two Young Californians Fight For a Young Lady's Hand. A duel was fought near Pomona, Cal., Tuesday evening in strict acordance with the code. The matter has been kept as secret the code. The matter has been kept as secret as possible, but notwithstanding the care that has been taken to keep the duel quiet except by a few it has leaked out. Since October two prominent young men of Pomena, Harry Lucas and Herbert Priestly, have been rivals for the friendship of a young lady of excellent family in that place. At a party given at the Presbytorian church on Monday evening the young men met and went out of the doors to settle the dispute. There the duel was arranged. Lucas challenged Priestly to fight with Spanish rapiers the next morning at dawn, but Priestly insisted the duel be fought at 9 o'clock the following evening. This was agreed to. Lucas and Priestly met at the Pomona base ball grounds, each accom-panied by two seconds.

It was the first appear-ance of the club away from home since its reorganization, and the college may well feel proud both of the material in the club and the way in which it is handled. The audience at ML Joy was not so large as the programme deserved, but what there was of it was very select, containing peo-ple from the beat society of the town. The most favored numbers of the programme seemed to be "The Catastrophe," "Our Little Pigs," Mr. Irvine's solo, "Awful Little Serub," "The F. and M. The guitar duct by Messra. Harnish and Summer and the modley by the guitar club were very sweet. The club has been doing much hard work during the past term, rehearsing from four to six hours each week. The president has exercised both care and taste in the selection of a repertoire, and the leader, Mr. Krebs, has pad especial atten-tion to expression and shading. The members intend not only to reap certain pleasure for themselves, but also to do a vast amount of advertising for the college by their trips into foreign parts. A con-cert will be given at Marietta next Thurs-day evening. The Staurday following, Dec. 14, the first regular concert in Lan-caster will be given by the club in the court house. Lebanon will be visited Dec. 17, and Roading Dec. 18. In both of these places large houses have been promised the boys. For the winter term the following concerts have been partially arranged: Hanover, Chambersburg, Hagerstown, Md., Frederick, Md., York and Washing-ton, D. C. President Irvine has just re-celved an invitation to sing with the Princeton College Giee club on their Southern tour during the holidays. They travel by special car and will go as far south as Savannah, Ga., returning by steamer thence to New York. He has not as yet accepted the invitation.

CURIOUS CROWDS.

Mon Gather at the Pennsylvania Rail-

Mon Gather at the Pennsylvania Hali-way Station. It has frequently been remarked by ob-serving people, and it has been published in the INTELLIGENCER upon different occa-sions, that Lancaster has a great crowd of people who allow their cariosity to get the better of them upon slightest provocation. A place where this is more noticeable than any other in town is at the Pennsylvania railroad passenger station. At that place a railroad passenger station. At that place a crowd of people can always be found. Many of them are idlers, while others are working men, who at times have days off and spend their time about the station. All working men, who at times have days off and spend their time about the station. All seem bent upon seeing what is going on. The place is a great headquatters on Sun-day when many of the same men who hang out there on week days can be found tak-ing in the sights. On Friday afternoon the body of a highly respected lady was brought to this day for burial, in the 2 o'clock train, from Phila delphis. As soon as the crowd found this out they took their stand around the bag-gage car and it was with difficulty that the undertaker, carriagemen and others could get room to load the body on a hearse. When the friends of the deceased stepped from the train the crowd of curiosity peo-ple swarmed around them, leaving only a path for them to walk to the carriages, and they stared at every one as they passed. path for them to walk to the carriages, and they stared at every one as they passed. There were many in the crowd who be-haved badly and a policeman would have had all he could do to drive them away. None of them had anything to do with the funeral, but they only wanted to be sure that they saw everything and they almost fought each other to get standing room. The same state of affairs exists at every public wedding and other occasions and the crowd never has any respect for the feelings of others.

Jacob Linkey, a farmer of Chestnut Hill, met with a mishap on Locust street, while returning from market this morning. The horse took fright and ran away. The har-ness was badly torn, and the runaway was entured without further damag. "Guess," the faithful dog of the Vigilant fre company, died last night of old age. He was about fifteen years old, and was an occupant of the engine house. Each even-ing the dog would stand, in all sorts of weather, at the door of King's store and beg for his supper. This was always forth-coming at the bark of "Guess," which was his method of making his presence known. To some time past John Temple, mor-chant on Third street, has been the victim of petty pilfering from his store. He pro-cured a search warrant and discovered a bucket of preserves, a pair of child's boots, and pair of gum shoes in the house of a person he suspected. The man of the house knew nothing of the thefts, and they were committed by a nine-year-old child. The offender was before Squire Evans this morning when, on account of the age of the child and the circumstances surrounding the case, the matter was settled. The goods and costs were paid by the parent. The farmers' club, comporary sus-pension until the repairs are made. The farmers' club, compored last night. While they were thus working Foreman John Dunn discovered fire among a number of bales of cotton near the end pler. About 25 men were at work near the spot. Some of them remained to assist in putting out the flames, others flae-ing to the street. Those who stayed bahind were badly burned. It is hoped they all got out. At the present writing no count has been made, and it is possible that some of the men were caught in the flames and could not escape. H. Clark's Scheme for an Auction O. H. Clark's Scheme for an Auction Sale Crowned With Success.
O. H. Clark is the name of a man who came to this city a few weeks ago and rented the Astrich store room on East King street, for the sale of pictures. Many of these pictures are of a very inferior quality, some of them being mere daubs. Clark is a one-legged soldier who has been in the picture business for a number of years. He has a soldier's license and on it he claimed the right to sell his pictures by auction. The local dealers threatened to have him arrested if he held an auction and be de-sisted. He tried to get an auction license but the expense was too great, the fee being $600 and the license hard to get. Clark called upon the mayor and other officials and eucleavored to get their con-sent to his scheme for an auction, but was unsuccessful. They could do nothing for him. He then opened his store and en-deavored to sell his pictures by retail. He was not successful.

several years.

At an early hour this morning Watchman James Messenkop was passing along East King street when he saw a strange man coming out of the alley between Chas. W. Eckert's grocery store and Excelsior hall. When the watchman neared the man he took to his heels, running out East King took to his heels, running out East King and thence down Lime street. Mr. Eckert was awakened and he and Messenkop with Officer Siegler examined the store, but found that nothing had been stolen. When the store was closed at 10 o'clock it was locked with the deadlatch, as the key had been broken off and a chair was placed against the inside. When an examination was made the door was found standing open. Somebody must have tampered with it, but their work was for naught. many more years of married life.

Supposed to Be Stolen.

Constable Jacob Shaub found two iron doors on Friday in a field, between the dye house and old vault, in the lower part of the city. These doors were secreted under a lot of rubbish, and the supposition is that the doors were stolen. The constable con-cluded to leave them where they were until to-day. When he went for them this morning one door had been taken away and the second was broken into three pieces.

Removal of the Revenue Office.

By Monday evening everything in the revenue office will be removed from the room in the Stevens house to the second floor of the McGrann building, in Centre Square. The new office is one of the hand-somest rooms in the city and the location is of the best. This morning Dan Trewitz moved the large safes, which were put upon the second floor with much difficulty. After business hours to-day the remainder of the effects will be moved.

Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Fritsch Married In Germany Fifty Years Ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Fritsch Married In Germany Fifty Years Ago. Last evening a very happy event in the Fritsch family of this city was celebrated. It was the fiftleth anniversary of the mar-riage of Sebastian Fritsch and his good wife Theresa, who reside at 708 High street. The old couple were married in Hesse Darmstadt, and came to this country in 1852. Since that time they have lived in Lancaster. They have eight children and there has never been a death in the family. The names of the children, with the number of their children, are as fol-lows: William Fritsch, five; Mrs. Hen-rietta Stumpf, wife of Philip Stampf, eight; Mrs. Anna Snyder, wife of John Snyder, one; Charles Fritsch, eight; John Fritsch, five; Rose, single; George and Frank, each two. There are also six great grandchil-dren. Nearly all of these gathered at the home of the old folks hat evening and had a royal time. There were speeches, music, a large display of fine fireworks, and a spiendid supper, while the presents were many and handsome. During the evening Gates' band serenaded the old couple. It was late before the party ad-journed, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Fritsch many more years of married life.

Minister Douglass Not Liked.

Hannibal Price, the newly appointed Haytien minister to the United States, ar-rived in New York on Friday. President Hyppolite appointed him in place of Minster Stephen Preston. About the alleged strained relations be tween Hyppolite and the United States minister, Minister Price did not know, but some of the passengers declared that the representatives of the other countries were as much opposed to Mr. Douglass as Hyppo-lite was, on account of his color and the fact that his wife is white. They thought there was very little prospect of the United States government being able to establish a coaling station at Port-au-Prince, so long as the negotiations were in Mr. Douglass' hands. Hyppolite declines to talk with Douglass on the subject.

From The Boston Courier. The following is a true story, and is wel-worth printing. Two young ladles of this city were desirous of joining one of the prominent Episcopalian churches, but as they had been tanght that immersion was the true form of baptism, they wished on joining themselves to the church, to be baptized in that manner. They stated their wishes to the pastor, and he expressed bimsolf entirely willing to administer the ordinance in that form, but as there were no conveniences in the church edifice for the purpose, it would be necessary to go outside—to the frog pond on the common, or the pretty lakelet in the public garden. They looked upon this proposal with horror. They could not think of it, could not think of making such a spectacle of themselves. Mrs. Susan Weaver, wife of Zachariah Weaver, of North Cherlotte street, and mother of Officer Weaver, met with a pain-ful accident for a woman 70 years of age. She walked out in the back yard to feed the chickens, carrying a crock in one hand and a sprinklor in the other. She tripped and fell upon the crock which broke, cut-ting a very ugly gash in her head several inches in length. The wound bled quite freely.

Some of the hats looked as if they bad seen ser-vice in the campaign of 1840. They were the features of the parade. There will be a big crowd at the fair to-night.

An adjourned quarter sessions court will be opened at 10 o'clock on Monday, with a good sized list of cases for disposition.

Arrested For Taking a Big Drink.

This afternoon a little Irishman, wear ing a pair of boots and carrying another with a valise as big as a trunk, was standwith a valise as big as a trunk, was stand-ing in the Pennsylvania railroad station. He was very drunk, but not the least bit disorderly, and all that he did was to pull a flask of whisky from his pocket and proceed to take a big "swig." At the time Constable Ehrman came along and, putting the cork back into the bottle, he took the little man to the station house. He will no doubt be charged with the same old charge-drunk and disorderly conduct. Probably a new law against taking big drinks has been found to the site ound in this city.
