A THIEF CAPTURED. All The Stolen Property Found Upon

His Person-He Locks Simple.

This morning Chief of Police Smeltz received a telephone message from Lititz asking him to be on the lockout for a man named Herman Landis Boilinger, of that named Herman Landis Boilinger, of that place, who was wanted for larceny. Boilinger had been up in the neighborhood of Clay and he entered the house of a man named Miller, son-in-law of Hiram Erb. He stole a lady's gold watch, a pair of bracelets, and buttons, a breastpin and some other jewelry, and then left the neighborhood. He was supposed to have come to Lancaster, and for that reason word was sent here. The chief instructed Special Officer Gill to look after the man, and it was not long until he found him in the neighborhood of North Queen and Orange streats. He was identified by a man from Litts. He went along to the station house very willingly and told the officer he would go with him anywhere. When searched at the station house all the stolen property was found upon him. The bracelets were still in the jeweler's box and the watch Bollinger carried in his vest pocket without any effort to make any concealment of it. out any effort to make any concealment Bollinger is a big, over grown fellow, about 25 years of age and he looks and acts very much as though he is "nipped" in the head. He served a sentence of two years for rape in the county jail. He must have come to town yesterday, as officers noticed him parading around the Seventh ward last evening. He seemed to be very hungry when brought to the station house and he ate ravenously of a loaf of bread given him by Turnkey Miller. He will be held here until more is heard from the parties who lost the jewelry. ties who lost the jewelry.

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

A Little Child Killed in Its Mother's Arms by the Cars. This morning a terrible railroad accident in which a little child was killed and its mother badly if not fatally injured, oc-curred near Kinzer's station, on the Pennsylvania railroad.

It was shortly before eight o'clock when the accident happened, and the place was at the road crossing just cust of the above named station. Ann Mclivainey was walking along the road carrying her little child, aged but eleven months, in her arms. She started to walk across the railroad track in front of extra engine No. 405, which was graving a train of felicht care. track in front of extra engine No. 405, which was drawing a train of freight cars westbound. She was unsuccessful, however, and just as she reached the track the engine struck her and the child. The child was instantly killed, its skull being crushed. The train did not run over it, so that the body was not mangled. The woman was struck and knocked to the side of the track. She was cut about the head and was hurt internally. The woman and her dead child were taken to the station and Dr. Leaman, of Leaman Place, was sent for. When he arrived he made an examination of the woman's injuries, and he thinks that they are very serious and may result fatally. Deputy Coroner Henry H. Rohrer, of Leaman Place, was also sent for; he impanneled a jury and held an inquest on the body of the dead child. The jury rendered a verdict in accordance with

The Yake Ejectment.

L C. Arnold, attorney for Magdalena Yake, wife of Michael Yake, of Manor, who was dispossessed by the sheriff last week, after a desperate contest, presented a petition to the court. He asked the court to grant a rule to show cause why a writ of restitution should not be issued and also a rule to show cause why the judgment in ejectment should not be opened and Mrs. Yake left into a defense. The court denied both rules.

Mr. Arnold will now enter a suit in ejectment against Christian H. Rohrer for the possession of the premises.

The Archbishop's Reply.

The Archbishop's Reply.

From the New York Star.

"I heard Wayne MacVesgh tell a party of friends the other day how Archbishop Ryan once took the wind out of his sails. The incident occurred at a complimentary dinner given in honor of the archbishop soon after his transfer from St. Loais to Philadelphia, and among other gentlemen present were the president and two or three vice-presidents of the Pennsylvania railroad, of which company MacVeagh is counsel. 'I had been put forward as the first speaker of the occasion,' said he, 'and encouraged by the laughter and applause with which my more or less witty efforts had been received, I concluded to finish by measuring swords with the archbishop, and that is where I made a mistake. In factiously apologizing for my presence in such good company I had explained the matter by saying that I was counsel for the railroad people, and that wherever they went thoy always took their counsel with them. 'Now, your grace,' said I, 'we are able and willing to give you passes over all the railroads in this country, and in exchange we are only going to ask you for a pass over one line—the road to Paradise.' From the New York Star. change we are only going to ask you for a pass over one line—the road to Paradise.'
'Ah!' sighed his grace, while his eyes twinkled merrilly,' I would do it gladly, my son, but I should regret being forced to separate them from their counsel.'"

Miserable Brutes. P 449 An imported thoroughbred buildog, weighing forty pounds, and a young African gorilla, a savage-looking brute, weighing eighty pounds, were put into au inclosure twelve feet square and eight feet high at Van Wert, Ohio, Monday, to fight until one or the other should be killed. The dog aprang for the gorilla and tried to sink his teeth in the gorilla's tough hide, but he could not penetrate the skin. The gorilla caught the dog in his long, mus-cular arms and sunk his long tusks repeatedly into his neck and spine, and the dog was dead in ten minutes.

"Lost in London."

"Lost in London."

Last evening at the opera house "Lost in London" was played. The audience was small owing, no doubt, to the fact that everybody is thinking of Christmas just now and don't care so much for other entertainments. The play is sonsational and Miss Lisle Leigh plays the part of the heroine, and does it well. Arthur Sprague as the villain was very good and the best evidence of it was that he was hissed at times. The company also includes William Davidge, Maggie Harold and others, and the scenery used in the play is good. and the scenery used in the play is good.

He Was Upside-Down. Last night a man tried to crawl over the rooden fence of St. Mary's cemetery, but he slipped when on top, and his foot was caught between two palings. He hung by the foot with his head downwards until he was discovered by George Wiley, who lib-erated him. He was very drunk, but seemed well satisfied with his position. He did not ask Wiley to take him down nor did he seem to care whether or not he was rescued.

Sale of Market Curbs.

The curb stones for market people on East King and Duke streets was sold by Auctioneer Jacob Gundaker for the market committee of councils this morning. The first two stands sold for $5 each, which is their starting sum, but after that all sold at an advance, and some brought as much as $11. The bidding was very lively and the prices were better than ever before. The curbs were sold up to No 28 on Duke street, which is more than were ever sold before.

"TWAS THE NIGHT BEFO

How the quaint old poe calls back the memory of t Christmas days of the old time! How the stockings we wont to be hung up by the d fireplace in the firm belief th Santa Claus was coming dov the chimney to fill them! Have times changed? N we have grown older and vie life differently now, but o children and grandchildren a going through the same joyo experiences as we once did. is well that they do so. Let make this Christmas a mer one for them all.

How can this best be done By giving them presents, usef in character, which will remin them of the glad Christma We Are Determined Not to days for a year to come. Have you a boy? Think all the suitable gifts you ca buy for him in a hardware stor Every well-regulated boy shoul have a Pocker Knife. It help him in beginning a mechanic knowledge, and is handy whe father and mother want to bo row it. Then how it opens h eyes to the wonders of man handiwork and makes him wis later on for a TOOL CHEST. Th is one of the best of present and we have a fine variety them. Then if he is of a me chanical turn of mind, what useful and acceptable gift is SCROLL SAW, an EXPRESS WAGO or a BICYCLE. Gifts such a these will start your boy think Have you a girl? How yo can begin in her the swee womanly ways by buying her case of Scissors in dainty shape comprising all sizes. Or if sh be in need of more out-door ex ercise, what is more appropriate than a TRICYCLE? A child' KNIFE, FORK AND SPOON WOULD also make her heart rejoice.

Have you a wife? If so gladden her Christmas by buy ing a Grand Rapids CARPE SWEEPER, which removes the dust and dirt from a room with out destroying the nape of the carpet. Don't let her run the risk of spraining her arms and back over the wash tub in wringing out clothes by hand but present her this Christmas with a CLOTHES WRINGER. Or if you wish to touch her keener desires as a housekeeper, buy her a nice assortment of AGATE WARE for the kitchen. You will not go amiss, if you send home on Christmas Eve an UMBRELLA STAND, SET OF CARVERS, BIRD CAGE, or a pair of Andirons. Then look at the variety of SLEDS and SITATES that we offer you in your hunt for Christmas Presents. In SLEDS, there are the low runners, which are built for rough usage, and the lighter high ones for girls. In Skates, we have fifteen varieties, and are particularly well equipped in our assortment of Ladies' SKATES.
