Cotusnia, Dec. 25.—Christmas Day was observed in Columbia as a general holiday. All the churches celebrated the festival with special exercises. The morning services included sermons. In the evening the churches were well filled to listen ning the churches were well filled to listen to the exercises of the children, the programmes of which were published on Tuesday. The day was quietly spent with many social gatherings by the young people. The weather was extremely mild and the streets were filled with people.

On Christmas eve the laundry of Sam Hing was made decidedly lively by a customer demanding his linen without a check. The man insisted on getting his wash and Sam was determined that he should not. The man made the sulphur fly and greatly amused the crowd by calling the poor Chines a Hungarian. After some time the man gave his name and address and obtained the goods.

An amusing scene was enacted at the Reading railroad station about the same time where an irate Berks commian was hunting for a squire. He claimed that an error was made in his change, but in a short time found the money in his vest po k t. He made profuse a pologies to the agent.

THE KINZER ACCIDENT.

The Woman Whose Child Was Killed Also Dies of Her Injuries.

Annie Mclivainey, who with her child was struck by a train while crossing the railroad track at Kinzer's on Tuesday, lingered until Christmas morning, when she died of her injuries. She was terribly need up by the accident and it was known soon afterwards that she could not possibly survive for any longth of time. There was a very large and ugly gash over the right eye and the back part of the head was crushed. One leg was broken in three places. Deputy Coroner Henry H. Rohrer, of L. a nan Place, impanelled a jury and held an inquest. They found that the girl came to her death by being struck by engine No. 405 going west, and they attached no blame to the railroad company or its employes. The family of the girl, who are poor were given the fees of the jury by the members of it. The jurors were S. F. Burger, E. M. Bowers, George A. Phenegar, A. H. Eby, M. Eckman and J. Koehler.

The dead girl was but 18 years of age, and when she was struck she had a dog with her which had his head cut off by the same train that struck her. railroad track at Kinzer's on Tuesday,

Henry W. Grady Buried.

The funeral of Henry W. Grady took place Wednesday afternoon from the First Methodist church in Atlanta. Five ministers participated in the services, and the funeral procession was the largest ever seen in that city. Previous to the services the body was viewed in the church by thousands of people.

A meeting of young men was held on Taesday, in Atlanta, at which the sum of $5,000 was subscribed towards the erection of a monument to Henry W. Grady. They issued an address to all admirers of the decuased editor throughout the country asking contributions for the purpose. Henry W. Grady Burled.

He Was Surprised. Last evening a surprise party was given to Steve J. Owens, at the house of his brother-in-law, H. H. Luckenbach, at No. brother-in-law, H. H. Luckenbach, at No. 212 East Walnut street. A large number of guests were present and they had a splendid time. Mr. Owens was presented with a Bible by his mother and Mrs. Luckenbach, his sister, gave him an antique oak stand trimmed in plush. Rev. J. H. Esterline, pastor of the Bethel Church of God, made the presentation speech. A fine suppor was a big feature.

Christmas Tragody in Reading. In Reading on Christmas day Austin Hubert, aged 9, and his brother Oliver, 15, Hubert, aged 2, and his brother Oliver, 15, were shooting at a mark in the yard of their father's residence with a rifle which had been presented to Oliver for a Christmas gift. Anstin stepped between Oliver, who had the rifle, and the target. The weapon was suddenly discharged and the ball struck Austin and lodged in his heart. He ran a few steps, crying, "I'm shot," when he fell over and expired in the arms of his mother. Oliver took to his bed and has been ill

Presented With a Gold-Headed Cane. On Tuesday evening William Wetzel, resident of the Lancaster branch of the president of the Lancaster branch of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters, was presented by the members with a gold-headed cane. The presentation speech was made by Strickler R. Everts and Mr. Wetzel, although greatly surprised, returned thanks for the handsome gift, after which he entertained his brother workmen at E.C. DEATH OF A REMARKABLE MAN. Charles A. Ashburner Dead and Famous Charles A. Ashburner Dead and Famous at Thirty-five.

Charles A. Ashburner, the famous geologist, died in Pittsburg on Tuesday, aged 25.

A few weeks ago he went to Arizona and in the mountains was attacked with a severe cold. When he returned to Pittsburg the cold had become worse.

Every Christmas Eve he has entertained his friends, and he had sent out cards for the Christmas Eve festivities. When friends telephoned to his residence on Tuesday, inquiring about his condition, Mrs. Ashburner replied that he had passed a resiless night, but seemed to fear nothing serious. The primary cause of his death was acute Bright's disease. The attack was so sudden that he was dying almost before the physicians were cognizant of the gravity of the case.

Mr. Ashburner was born in Philadelphia February 9, 1854. He was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania in 1874, ranking first. He accepted a place in the lighthouse survey, but when the geological survey of Pennsylvania was reorganized he became an assistant in that work. In 1850 he was appointed geologist in charge of the surveys of the achyenized coal fields

1890 he was appointed geologist in charge of the surveys of the anthracite coal fields, where he originated a method of surveywhere he originated a method of survey-ing and remeasuring which has received the approbation of mining engineers and geologists, both in the United States and Europe. The ability and skill with which the undertaking was performed led to his being appointed geologist in charge of all the office and field work. He was an authority on oil, coal and minerals of every class and his services were eagerly sought by coal operators who were desirous of having a mine located. He was a promi-nent member of many learned societies and

BOLD ROBBERIES.

Two Men flave Their Watches Stolen on the Street by Unknown Persons.

On Tuesday night about midnight a countryman from the vicinity of Inter-course was robbed of a watch and $15. He was on Middle street near Rockland, when a man approached as if to speak to him. When he got close to him the man knocked When he got close to bim the man knocked the countryman down and stole his watch and the above named about of money. He at once gave an alarm and notified the officers, but the thief could not be found. On Wednesday Fred Gretzler was arrested by Officer Flannerd for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. In his possession were two watches, and one of them is supposed to be the property of the man robbed. He is expected in town to-day and in the meantime Gretzler will be held.

Jacob Mohler, an old man who lives with his son-in-law, Michael Gardner, on Manor street, started to visit a relative at Manor street, started to visit a relative at 244 West Vine street last evening after dark. Near the corner of Strawberry and Mulberry streets a stranger came up to him and taking his arm began talking to him. Before Mr. Mohler knew what was going on the fellow had snatched his watch. The old gentleman gave the alarm, but it was too late, as the fellow succeeded in getting away. The watch was of sliver with a closed face and Mr. Mobiler valued it highly. The watches found in the posses-sion of Gretzler were examined, but Mr. Mohler could not identify either one.

Injured by a Blast.
William Kent, working for Samuel Powl, in the stone quarry on the Henry Hess farm, along the Oregon turnpike, met with a very painful accident on Tuesday about noon. The blasting is being done with dynamite, and a charge that was made not going off as speedly as was expected, Kent went to see what caused the delay, and while stooping received the explosion in his face, burning it in a painful manner and knocking out acceral teeth. It was at first feared the sight of one eye would be lost, but such will not be the case. The sufferer was conveyed to his home at Neffsville, where Dr. E. H. Witmer attended him.

At the corner of Duke and Walnut streets he fell very heavily upon the pavement at Mrs. Kendig's boarding house. The top was broken from the buggy, one shaft was off and it was otherwise pretty badly damaged. The horse was but slightly injured.

Served Him Right.

Jacob McDonald was standing talking to man at the Pennsylvania railroad on Tuesday evening when a tramp mixed in and wanted to have a say in the conversation. The result was that he was ordered off and became highly insuited. He drew a kulfe and wanted to cut McDonald, who promptly knocked him down. The tramp went away satisfied that his name was "Dennis."

Mr. Frank Griest, ex-clerk of the county commissioners, is visiting his relatives in this city and county. He has been living for the past two years and a half in Warren for the past two years and a half in Warren county, Virginia, where he has a large farm. Doubly Fatal Result of a Runaway. While Squire Aaron Kachel and his wife were out riding in Brecknock township, Berks county, on Wednesday afternoon, the horse ran away. Mrs. Kachel, an aged woman, was almost instantly killed, and her husband received injuries which will undoubtedly result in his death.

A Family Found Starving.

A family of eight persons, father, mother and six children, near Moyer, in the Connellsville region, were found on Tuesday evening in such a condition from starvation that it is feared none can recover. The father and mother were prostrated by fever, and, as they lived in an isolated place, the children could not secure aid. A Family Found Starving.

SHORT SHOULDER CAPES MUST GO

SHORT SHOULDER CAPES MUST GO

Paris and London Society Has Discarded
Them—Physicians Have Declared Against Them.

From the Philadelphis Inquirer.

If you seek "la Grippe" in its most violent form, wear a short cape, particularly if it be made of that excellent non-conductor seal skin. Observe on a day when the wind is particularly keen and searching, how the wearers of short-shoulder capes instinctively hug themselves, as it were, or more properly, fold their arms to keep the chiling blasts from striking their practically unprotected chests in its wild swoop beneath the cape.

The arms are left without adequate covering as compared with that which envelopes the shoulders, and this is in itself a dangerous fault. The waist also is exposed: Two temperatures are thus induced upon a very small surface. The shoulders are snug in their mantle, and are several degrees warmer than the uncovered arms and waist. Bronchial affections, lung troubles, and particularly that distroyer of peace, erysipelas, are thus engendered.

In the old world these faults were quickly discovered. Eminent specialists in medicine heralded the dangers of a continuance of the style. Their warning prevailed and shoulder capes there are no more, Modistes felt the blow, but bowed to the superior knowledge of the physicians. On this side the fashion is apreading and physicians stop in the hurry of their professional duties to issue a proclamation against it.

Dr. T. Hollingsworth Andrews, ex-

Dr. T. Hollingsworth Andrews, exdemonstrator of anatomy in the Jefferson Medical college, was unqualified in his denunciation of the short caps. He said:
"I am familiar with dozens of cases in my own practice where the affliction was directly traceable to the capes now worn. They are useless as a covering, because delicate portions of the body are left exposed. My advice to women is to abandon them.

All Sorts of Weapons Used at a Christmas Celebration.

A free fight took place at the Christmas celebration in Fagle Creek church, near Shawnectown, Ill., on Tuesday night, at which chairs, clubs, knives and pistols were used. dropped off, but were replaced as securely as possible. Tuesday night a large crowd assembled to witness the distribution. When about a dozen of the presents had been handed to the children a farmer named Johnson grabbed a sled from a child's hands, and declared it was one he had brought there for his little boy.
The sexton attempted to explain his mistake, but farmer Johnson pushed him rudely aside and started for the door, carrying the sled in his hands. Some young men, who had been drinking, tried to then became general, and for a time it looked as though a number of the combatants would be killed.

NEEDED CHOKING. Woman Got the Best of a Theatre Usher.

From the N. Y. Evening Sun. From the N. Y. Evening Sun.

A young woman, quite pretty, bought an admission ticket to one of the big theatres the other night, walked calmly to the front of the house and sat down. It was early and there were few in their seats. The rightful owners of the seat occupied by this young woman did not arrive until very nearly time for the overture to begin. At that hour the house was well filled. The play on the boards for the night was one of the most successful before the public.

The overture was just beginning when an usher and the owners of the seat occu-pied by the young woman, a theatre party of six, three ladies and three gentlemen, came down the aisle

"No, sir," came coolly from the young lady. "I do not intend to move one

"I won't, eh? If you don't get up now
I will put you out."

Then this young woman calmly and coolly surveyed the thousands of souls in the house, and a queer little smile crept

"If you touch me—do you see the thou-sands of persons in this house? Do you see how densely packed it is? Well if you attempt to put me out I will cry 'Fire!" She kept her seat.

A SMALL FIRE.

There was a small free on Tuesday night which brought out the fire department by an alarm sounded from box 7, at East King and Duke streets. It was in the Gable building, No. 30 East King street. The basement is occupied by W. H. Bateman as a paint shop, the first floor by D. P. Stackhouse as a shoe store, and the second story as a billiard room by Geo. Differ. Shortly before midnight some young men were leaving the billiard room and as they went down stairs they saw smoke which seemed down stairs they saw smoke which seemed to be coming from below. They notified Officer Crawford, who struck an alarm and the firemen were soon on hand. Chief Yon-dersmith located the fire in the back part of the paint shop and through a dense

Where the fire started there were a lot of paint rags and some sawdust, and it is supposed to have resulted from spontaneous combustion. Quite a good sized hole was burned in the wainscoting of the shop. Several step ladders were almost entirely destroyed and the wall was smoked. The damage to the building was not great. Mr. Stackhouse's store was filled with smoke, but little or no damage was done to the goods.

Given an Office.

Mr. R. R. Robinson, of Mountville, was very agreeably surprised on Tuesday morning in a very peculiar way. In Buchanan's gambling house, Kansas City, just before daylight Wednesday morning an unknown friend of Jesse James attempted to avenge the death of the famous outlaw on Bob Ford, his slayer. Ford has been around Kansas City for several days, and on Christmas eve came over from Richmond, Mo., where he had veen visiting his parents. He went to the Windsor hotel, and, unfortunately, as he now says, left his revolver in the room. With a party of friends he went to buchanan's fare bank about midnight and took a seat at a fare bank about midnight and took a seat at a fare table. Early in the morning he noticed a number of friends of Jesse James in the room, but refused to leave, While he was intent on the game an unknown man grabbed him by the neck and struck at him with a knife as he blassed invok a bloody murderer, I'll cut your throat," The knife went through Ford's collar.

Injured by a Blast.

A Christmas Runaway. Haas, on North Queen street, hired a team of Levi Powl yesterday afternoon and started on a trip to Neffsville. When near that place he attempted to turn into a road leading from the turnpike. He turned too short and the buggy was upset. The horse started for town and ran the whole way in.

The Wind Blew Through. There was a high wind this afternoon which is believed to be the forerunner of cold weather. A large show case, filled with barber supplies, that stood in front of Liller's barber shop, on North Queen street, was blown down and smashed to
