A Value With $150,000 Lost and Found. The startling adventure of Charles Smith with a value containing $150,000 in cash, honds, and negotiable securities was told at the Southern hotel. St. Louis, on Thursday. Smith, who is an agent of a New York financial company, arrived at the Southern on New Year's eve. He said nothing to the clerk about the valuable contents of his values but, securing the key, went at once Year's eve. He said nothing to the clerk about the valuable contents of his value, but, securing the key, went at onco to his room. He tossed the value on a chair, without noticing that another bag, of similar size and pattern, was behind the bed. Then he stepped out for a moment. At this juncture, E. J. McGlory, a New York drummer, who had just given up the room, came in, hurriedly snatched up the valuable value, and started for the Union depot. When Smith returned he noticed that the value he supposed was his had been moved behind the bed. On Wednesday morning he took out his key would not fit the lock. A close szamina-tion followed, and he almost fainted when he discovered that he was the victim of what he believed to be a gigantic robbery. Clerk Lew Harper was confident it was a mistake. McGlory was traced to Kanasa City, where a telegram was sent him. He replied : "Shipped value last night. Took it by mistake. Send mine to St. Joe." The values arrived at the Southern next morning, and its contests, which were counted in the presence of Clerk Harper, were found to be intact. Smith is the happiest man in St. Louis. But ob the fortunately, in 1985, a friend of mine through to fortunately, in 1985, a friend of mine brought a physician, Dr. G. F. Theel, from Philadeiphia, to our house. He wished me to be allowed to be examined by him, and f can tell you he was the first physician who made a most thor ough and careful examination of my whole body and urine, and my dear sir, you can report that from that very moment I know that Dr. Theel was the only physician to cure me. But as he is an advertising physician my friends and parents had not much faith in him, but I begged my parents to allow Dr. Theel to treat me, and finally my request was granted. When I placed myseif under his cars the people in Reading said, " Oh, he is no good, like all other advertising doctors," etc. But I could not listen to them, because not one ever examined me so closely and scientifically as Dr. Theel did. I have my good reward for my belief. Dr. Theel cured me in four months. After being under his treatment for two months I was able to march over two miles in the last presidential parade.
