LOVE AND RAIN. he rain was beating a rataplan.
Drop—drop—in the street;
and all the way not a woman or man.
Or even a "copper" on beat!
ut he and I, in a friendly door,
Were having a friendly chat;
e never had met in our lives befo.e,
But listie we recked of that!

The rain swept down like a lancers' charge,
Bwish—swi h—in the mire;
There was water enough to float a barge,
And never a cab to hire!
But he was excessively kind, you know,
And civilly tried to explain,
How the wind—or something would come and

The rain was sounding a slow recall,
Drip—drip—in the flood;
When he muffled me up in my fleecy shawl,
And guided me through the mud.

That show'r has blown by, for many a day,
But in fancy it drenches me yet;
And just for the sake of old times, we may,
That our wedding day, too, shall be wet.

CHARGE OF THE LIGHT BRIGADE.

CHARGE OF THE LIGHT BRIGADE.

A Participant, Now Bown with the Grip Graphically Describes it.

On Main street, in Hartford lives a platterer by trade, aged 64 years, Joseph Howe. He has never been sick a day in his life until this week, when is grippe took hold of him. Mr. Howe is an ordinary looking man, except that his face is covered with scars. A genuine interest attaches to the man, however, when it becomes known that he is a survivor of the famous "600," whose action at Balaklava Tennyson has immortalized in "The Charge of the Light Brigade." In that charge Mr. Howe received the scars which he will carry with him to his grave.

Mr. Howe came to this country twenty-five years ago, and has been living in Hartford about twenty years, but has never been made an American citizen. Sixteen years ago, in London, this old veteran was one of forty-five, all survivors of the famous charge, who sat down to a banquet together. He was eighteen years in the British army, and fought in the Kaffir war of 1848. He got a pension from the British government, but gets nothing now, because he does not live on British soil. When questioned about the charge, the old man's face lights up and he talks freely of it.

"I remember right well," he says, "that foggy morning when the light cavalry under Lord Cardigan rested on Sugar Loaf hill. Presently Capt. Nolaa rides up, the British colors flying from his sword. He comes from Lord Lucan's headquarters, and a hurried conference ensues between himself and Cardigan. The result of it is seen in a woment, for Lord Cardigan turns to his men, orders them to mount and follow him, saying as he does so, 'Here goes the last of the Carigans.' In his brigade were the Twelfth Dragoons, the Seventh and Eighth Hussars, the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Lancer, and one or two other companies composing the Light Brigade. There were 640 men in all. On the hills above the cannon yawned, awaiting a foe worthy of their shot and shell. Lord Cardigan led the way, and the men followed grimly behind him. We went head torn from his shoulders. Faster we went, and a second and yet a third voiley rent our ranks. We closed silently up, and before the fourth voiley we were on the guns, and the sword and sabre, the lance and pistol began their work. It was over in an hour, and the guns were ours. We went out 640, and returned with 150. Lord Cardigan cidn't get a scratch. I have often wondered why Lord Cardigan led his men into this charge. It is a disputed question. wondered why Lord Cardigan led his men into this charge. It is a disputed question. He asserted that Capt. Nolan brought him a dispatch ordering the capture of batteries 8, 10 and 12. 'Impossible,' said Cardigan to Nolan. 'With brave soldiers,' rejoined Nolan, 'nothing is impossible.' Lord Lucan denies ever having sent such an order, and Capt. Nolan's lips, which could have settled the matter, were sealed by death."

Waked Up Effectually.

A lethargic, dormant condition of the liver is hardly to be overcome with drastic ca-thartics and nanseous cholagogues. A gentler, pleasanter and far more effective means exists of arousing the organ when somnolent. This is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, vouched for by the medical fraternity, tested by the public for many years. A resumption by the biliary organ of its secretive function, with the activity attendant upon health, a return to regularity of the bowels, and a renewal of digestion, are the no less happy and certain results of using the Bitters systematically. Its laxative effect is never painful and drenching, its tendency being rather to perpetuate regularity than to produce a copious action. Malaria, nervousness, debility, kidney troubles and neuralgia it subdues effectually.

Give your neighbor a helping hand by recommending him to keep Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup in his family for all the ills babies are helr to.

Laxador, the "golden" remedy for bowel and stomach complaints has achieved a most brilliant success. It eliminates the poison from the blood, searching, cleansing and purifying the whole system. It costs only 25 cents. At all druggists.

A century of progress has not produced a remedy equal to Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh-cold in the head and hayfever. It is not a figuid or a snuff, but is perfectly safe and easily applied into the nostrils. It gives immediate relief and cures the worst cases.

Don't say there is no help for catarrh, hay fever and cold in head, since thousands testify that Ely's Cream Balm has entirely cured them. It supersedes the dangerous use of liquids and snuffs. It is easily applied into the nostrils and gives relief at once. Pr ce 50c.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the proceedings of the process of the proc the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Soid everywhere, 65 cents a bottle.

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health, to the use of the Great Alterative and Tonic. If you are troubled with any disease of Kidneys, Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing, you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. Sold at 50c and 51 per bottle at H. B.
