

4 YEARS AND 8 MONTHS. THE FINE HERMAN BOLLINGER WILL SERVE IN THE COUNTY JAIL.

He Pleads Guilty to Felonious Entry and Larceny—Jacob Faust and George Peiffer Sent to the Reformatory.

Wednesday Afternoon.—Court re-assembled at 2:30 o'clock and the jury in the Charles Fisher larceny case, presided by John Weaver and Wm. Funk, rendered a verdict of guilty and recommended the defendant to the mercy of the court. He was sentenced to the county jail for 3 months.

Herman Bollinger pleaded guilty to felonious entry and larceny. During the absence of Mrs. Laura Miller, of Clay township, on the 23d of December, Bollinger entered her home and stole a gold watch, pair of bracelets and other jewelry.

Boyer was tried on two indictments of larceny. The testimony showed that on the 19th of November Frank Johnson had a gold watch worth $40 taken from him.

The defense was that Boyer did not steal the watch but bought it from a man named John Washington for $2.

Jacob Faust and George Peiffer pleaded guilty to horse stealing and larceny. The facts were that on the night of December 21st the team of H. S. Brubaker was stolen from the front of a hotel at Ephrata by the defendants, who are each 19 years old.

James Hardy, a Columbia darkey, was charged with stealing a clock, the property of the Columbia rolling mill company. In August 1889 Hardy took a clock to the house of Dawson Bivater, said he found it and offered to sell it.

John Conners discharged for a short time. But re-arrested. In court yesterday John Conners, a tramp, was convicted of assaulting and robbing Abraham Breitigan, an old man who has charge of Jacob Sheaffer's distillery on East King street.

A Woman Convicted. Mrs. Ann Kane guilty of violating the Liquor Law—John Holmes sentenced. Wednesday Morning.—Court met at nine o'clock and Andy Rhodes, of Mt. Joy, was at trial for cruelty to children.

John Conners discharged for a short time. But re-arrested. In court yesterday John Conners, a tramp, was convicted of assaulting and robbing Abraham Breitigan, an old man who has charge of Jacob Sheaffer's distillery on East King street.

A Company With $25,000,000 Capital. Articles of incorporation were filed on Wednesday in the secretary of state's office, Trenton, N. J., by the American Tobacco company, which it is supposed is to consolidate a number of companies.

Left His Money to Orphans. Last Sunday morning John Weyer, of York, an old exhorter of the Lutheran church, fell dead while in the act of praying. He had no family and left his entire fortune, estimated at from $25,000 to $50,000, to the orphan's home. It will be some time before the exact amount of his estate is known.

The Official Vote. The vote cast for state treasurer in the November election was officially computed by the commission at Harrisburg, as follows: Henry K. Fisher, Rep., 31,244; Edmund A. Bigler, Dem., 28,818; and James H. Johnston (Pro.), 21,308.

DEPLORING HIS DEATH. SCHOOL DIRECTORS PAY TRIBUTE TO THE LATE G. EDW. HEGENER.

Addressed by President McCormick, Messrs. Schroyer, McCormey, Wickersham, Cochran and Bellly.

A special meeting of the Lancaster city school board was held on Tuesday evening to take action on the death of G. Edward Hegener, with the following members present: Messrs. Bressman, Brinton, Cochran, Darrmester, Grist, Johnson, Lippold, Marshall, McCormey, McDonell, McElligott, McLean, Twiss, Eaton, Rank, Reynolds, Schroyer, Shirk, Wickersham, White and Dr. McCormick, president.

The secretary read the call for the meeting and President McCormick in announcing the object said: "It becomes my painful duty to announce to the board the death of one of its most promising members, G. Edw. Hegener. Though only a member for the past two years, Mr. Hegener took a deep interest in school affairs, and participated actively in all matters connected with our schools.

Mr. Schroyer was the next speaker. He said: "In 1865 there were four boys in the high school who at the last meeting of the board were present as members of this body. Three of them are with us to-night, Mr. McElligott, Mr. White and myself. The fourth, Mr. Hegener, has passed away. Knowing him as I did, from boyhood, let me say that in all the years that I know him he was an upright, honest man, and what higher tribute can I pay him.

Mr. McCormey heartily concurred in what the preceding speakers said. Mr. Hegener was not only a good citizen, his associates in the building association a good secretary, his church societies an efficient leader, many a firm friend and his bereaved family a kind father and loving husband."

Mr. Wickersham, in seconding the motion for the appointment of a committee, said: "When any member is taken from us there is a sorrow and a lament. When it takes one of the youngest members, it is inexpressibly sad. I knew Mr. Hegener well. He was connected with the Inquirer Printing company for 20 years. When I first knew Mr. Hegener he had just passed from his apprenticeship in the trade of printing. His aptness and faithfulness were not only in the shop, but in the office. He discharged the duties of that position efficiently, gave entire satisfaction to the public, and retired from that office with the regret of many citizens. He was prominently connected with building associations and church societies, and in all the positions he occupied he discharged his duty ably. When he came into the school board he was placed on the finance committee, an honor seldom accorded to a young member. Mr. Hegener was growing in the esteem of the board, and would have been one of its most efficient members had he been spared, and he would have been a leader of the younger members."

Resolved, That the proceedings be entered upon the minutes and a copy of the same transmitted to the bereaved family, together with the sincere sympathy and condolence of the board.

In announcing the motion to adopt the resolutions Mr. Cochran said he had known Mr. Hegener for many years. They started in life together about the same time, and although their paths diverged, they always remained fast friends. He endorsed all that had been said about Mr. Hegener's untiring industry and integrity. He never knew a young member

FERMENTED WINE. THAT IS THE KIND THE BIBLE SANCTIONS FOR SACRAMENTAL PURPOSES.

Bishop Hare Objects to a Prohibition Bill Which Denies the Use of It—A Sensation in South Dakota.

PERRIN, S. D., Jan. 22.—The petition of Bishop W. H. Hare, of Sioux Falls, pastor of the Episcopal church in Dakota, was presented to both branches of the Legislature yesterday and caused considerable excitement, especially among the lobby of Prohibitionists.

Bishop Hare emphatically protests against the adoption of the prohibition bill now before the Legislature and which has every prospect of becoming law, stating that it is too stringent in its provisions and stricter than there is any call for.

THE EIGHTH ANNIVERSARY. Washington Camp, Patriotic Sons of America, Have a Public Meeting.

REED'S BUNKER BILL. A Victory That Is Rare to the Speaker Harms.

There was a parliamentary contest in the House on Tuesday over a question raised by Mr. Bland to have the journal of Monday's proceedings reprinted, so as to show that had demanded the appointment of tellers on a motion to adjourn.

Mr. Bland demanded the appointment of tellers. The speaker replied, "There is no provision for the election of tellers on a motion to adjourn. The speaker's inquiry for the journal on which the speaker's motion was made, Bland replied that it was made under the general practice of the House, and that the speaker there was no provision in the general parliamentary practice for the appointment of tellers, and declined to entertain it.

Resolved, That the proceedings be entered upon the minutes and a copy of the same transmitted to the bereaved family, together with the sincere sympathy and condolence of the board.

A TERRIFIC EXPLOSION. NATURAL GAS BLOWS A PITTSBURGH DWELLING TO PIECES.

A Man Killed and Eight Other Occupants of the Building Seriously Injured—A Baby Escapes Injury.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 22.—An explosion of natural gas about 9:40 o'clock this morning completely wrecked the three-story frame dwelling on Thirty-eighth street, near Butler street, killing one person almost instantly and seriously injuring eight others, three or four of whom may die.

She's Charged With Murder. LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 22.—Mrs. Elma C. Whitehead, an unattractive but wealthy widow, residing with her father, David McHenry, near the city, was arrested in this county, 18 miles south of the city, placed in jail here yesterday charged jointly with Rev. W. Fred Pettit with the murder of the latter's wife in July last by administering strychnine. Pettit, who is an ex-Methodist minister, was arrested some time ago and is in jail awaiting trial.

Butcher Hinkle Has a Runaway. Butcher Charles Hinkle had an exciting runaway on Dorchester street at the corner of Dorchester and East King streets. He drove down Manor street and turned into Dorchester without noticing the rope which was stretched across the street for the purpose of keeping out teams.

Married in Kentucky. William H. Hartman, formerly of this city, now general manager of the Keys Creek Lumber company at Normal, Kentucky, was married to-day to Miss Emma Mitchell, of Young Kentucky, at whose home is in Boyd county. The ceremony took place at the bride's residence. The bride and groom at once started North on a trip and they are expected to reach Lancaster to-morrow. The groom is the son of the late George H. Hartman and a nephew of Lewis S. and John I. Hartman. He has a legion of friends here who wish him the greatest happiness. Lewis S. Hartman went to Kentucky to attend the wedding.

Runaway on Plum Street. On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Weaver, a country lady, stopped her horse at the corner of Plum and East King streets, and went into Shirk's grocery store, leaving her eight-year-old girl in the wagon. The horse frightened and started on a run down North Plum street, and from there continued down Millin alley. The runaway attracted quite a crowd, but nobody was able to catch the horse. After running a considerable distance the horse was stopped by the little girl, who held to the lines during all the excitement.

Runaway on Plum Street. On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Weaver, a country lady, stopped her horse at the corner of Plum and East King streets, and went into Shirk's grocery store, leaving her eight-year-old girl in the wagon. The horse frightened and started on a run down North Plum street, and from there continued down Millin alley. The runaway attracted quite a crowd, but nobody was able to catch the horse. After running a considerable distance the horse was stopped by the little girl, who held to the lines during all the excitement.

Runaway on Plum Street. On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Weaver, a country lady, stopped her horse at the corner of Plum and East King streets, and went into Shirk's grocery store, leaving her eight-year-old girl in the wagon. The horse frightened and started on a run down North Plum street, and from there continued down Millin alley. The runaway attracted quite a crowd, but nobody was able to catch the horse. After running a considerable distance the horse was stopped by the little girl, who held to the lines during all the excitement.

THE LUCKY MULE. An Old Animal Escapes From Paegley's Stable While the Horses Burn.

One of the luckiest animals on the face of the earth is an old mule. Some of them have been known to die, but very few. Sometimes they are killed, but seldom. It is said that the older they become the more difficult it is to kill or injure them. At present there are numbers of donkeys on the stage that have been playing in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and "Humpty Dumpty" troupes for a quarter of a century.

THE LUCKY MULE. An Old Animal Escapes From Paegley's Stable While the Horses Burn.

THE LUCKY MULE. An Old Animal Escapes From Paegley's Stable While the Horses Burn.

THE LUCKY MULE. An Old Animal Escapes From Paegley's Stable While the Horses Burn.

THE LUCKY MULE. An Old Animal Escapes From Paegley's Stable While the Horses Burn.

THE LUCKY MULE. An Old Animal Escapes From Paegley's Stable While the Horses Burn.

THE LUCKY MULE. An Old Animal Escapes From Paegley's Stable While the Horses Burn.

THE LUCKY MULE. An Old Animal Escapes From Paegley's Stable While the Horses Burn.

A TERRIFIC EXPLOSION. NATURAL GAS BLOWS A PITTSBURGH DWELLING TO PIECES.

A Man Killed and Eight Other Occupants of the Building Seriously Injured—A Baby Escapes Injury.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 22.—An explosion of natural gas about 9:40 o'clock this morning completely wrecked the three-story frame dwelling on Thirty-eighth street, near Butler street, killing one person almost instantly and seriously injuring eight others, three or four of whom may die.

She's Charged With Murder. LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 22.—Mrs. Elma C. Whitehead, an unattractive but wealthy widow, residing with her father, David McHenry, near the city, was arrested in this county, 18 miles south of the city, placed in jail here yesterday charged jointly with Rev. W. Fred Pettit with the murder of the latter's wife in July last by administering strychnine. Pettit, who is an ex-Methodist minister, was arrested some time ago and is in jail awaiting trial.

Butcher Hinkle Has a Runaway. Butcher Charles Hinkle had an exciting runaway on Dorchester street at the corner of Dorchester and East King streets. He drove down Manor street and turned into Dorchester without noticing the rope which was stretched across the street for the purpose of keeping out teams.

Married in Kentucky. William H. Hartman, formerly of this city, now general manager of the Keys Creek Lumber company at Normal, Kentucky, was married to-day to Miss Emma Mitchell, of Young Kentucky, at whose home is in Boyd county. The ceremony took place at the bride's residence. The bride and groom at once started North on a trip and they are expected to reach Lancaster to-morrow. The groom is the son of the late George H. Hartman and a nephew of Lewis S. and John I. Hartman. He has a legion of friends here who wish him the greatest happiness. Lewis S. Hartman went to Kentucky to attend the wedding.

Runaway on Plum Street. On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Weaver, a country lady, stopped her horse at the corner of Plum and East King streets, and went into Shirk's grocery store, leaving her eight-year-old girl in the wagon. The horse frightened and started on a run down North Plum street, and from there continued down Millin alley. The runaway attracted quite a crowd, but nobody was able to catch the horse. After running a considerable distance the horse was stopped by the little girl, who held to the lines during all the excitement.

Runaway on Plum Street. On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Weaver, a country lady, stopped her horse at the corner of Plum and East King streets, and went into Shirk's grocery store, leaving her eight-year-old girl in the wagon. The horse frightened and started on a run down North Plum street, and from there continued down Millin alley. The runaway attracted quite a crowd, but nobody was able to catch the horse. After running a considerable distance the horse was stopped by the little girl, who held to the lines during all the excitement.

Runaway on Plum Street. On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Weaver, a country lady, stopped her horse at the corner of Plum and East King streets, and went into Shirk's grocery store, leaving her eight-year-old girl in the wagon. The horse frightened and started on a run down North Plum street, and from there continued down Millin alley. The runaway attracted quite a crowd, but nobody was able to catch the horse. After running a considerable distance the horse was stopped by the little girl, who held to the lines during all the excitement.

A TERRIFIC EXPLOSION. NATURAL GAS BLOWS A PITTSBURGH DWELLING TO PIECES.

A Man Killed and Eight Other Occupants of the Building Seriously Injured—A Baby Escapes Injury.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 22.—An explosion of natural gas about 9:40 o'clock this morning completely wrecked the three-story frame dwelling on Thirty-eighth street, near Butler street, killing one person almost instantly and seriously injuring eight others, three or four of whom may die.

She's Charged With Murder. LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 22.—Mrs. Elma C. Whitehead, an unattractive but wealthy widow, residing with her father, David McHenry, near the city, was arrested in this county, 18 miles south of the city, placed in jail here yesterday charged jointly with Rev. W. Fred Pettit with the murder of the latter's wife in July last by administering strychnine. Pettit, who is an ex-Methodist minister, was arrested some time ago and is in jail awaiting trial.

Butcher Hinkle Has a Runaway. Butcher Charles Hinkle had an exciting runaway on Dorchester street at the corner of Dorchester and East King streets. He drove down Manor street and turned into Dorchester without noticing the rope which was stretched across the street for the purpose of keeping out teams.

Married in Kentucky. William H. Hartman, formerly of this city, now general manager of the Keys Creek Lumber company at Normal, Kentucky, was married to-day to Miss Emma Mitchell, of Young Kentucky, at whose home is in Boyd county. The ceremony took place at the bride's residence. The bride and groom at once started North on a trip and they are expected to reach Lancaster to-morrow. The groom is the son of the late George H. Hartman and a nephew of Lewis S. and John I. Hartman. He has a legion of friends here who wish him the greatest happiness. Lewis S. Hartman went to Kentucky to attend the wedding.

Runaway on Plum Street. On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Weaver, a country lady, stopped her horse at the corner of Plum and East King streets, and went into Shirk's grocery store, leaving her eight-year-old girl in the wagon. The horse frightened and started on a run down North Plum street, and from there continued down Millin alley. The runaway attracted quite a crowd, but nobody was able to catch the horse. After running a considerable distance the horse was stopped by the little girl, who held to the lines during all the excitement.

Runaway on Plum Street. On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Weaver, a country lady, stopped her horse at the corner of Plum and East King streets, and went into Shirk's grocery store, leaving her eight-year-old girl in the wagon. The horse frightened and started on a run down North Plum street, and from there continued down Millin alley. The runaway attracted quite a crowd, but nobody was able to catch the horse. After running a considerable distance the horse was stopped by the little girl, who held to the lines during all the excitement.

Runaway on Plum Street. On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Weaver, a country lady, stopped her horse at the corner of Plum and East King streets, and went into Shirk's grocery store, leaving her eight-year-old girl in the wagon. The horse frightened and started on a run down North Plum street, and from there continued down Millin alley. The runaway attracted quite a crowd, but nobody was able to catch the horse. After running a considerable distance the horse was stopped by the little girl, who held to the lines during all the excitement.