A BRIDGE AT CHICKIES.

THE WHITE MARYLAND PARTIES TO

orn Control Ballway and Connect with the Bending & Columbia.

Precident J. M. Hood, of the Western Maryland railroad, has in contemplation a move on the railroad chemboard of Pennsylvania that will add several serious complications to the already confused situation. Mr. Heod has positively decided to tolid an extension from his road via. Tork to the Susquehanna river, crossing it upon a bridge near Chickies furnace and connecting with the Reading & Columbia branch of the Reading railroad. He has, as yet, taken no steps to procure a charter for the line, and has kept the matter so quiet that probably not ten men in the sate knew of his intention until Saturday. This new road will parallel the Northern Contral, which, as is well known, is a part of the Pennsylvania system and will, indeed, form a new line between Baltimore and New York and also the lakes. It will make a very good route from New York to Baltimore in connection with the Jersey Central and Reading. Moreover, the Reading company, if it heartily co-operates in the new movement, as is expected, can throw considerable business over it derived from the New York Central and Erie roads destined for Baltimore. The Reading, too, on nutilizations as abort route for coal into destined for Baltimore. The Reading, too, can utilize it as a short route for coal into Baltimore. In effect, the construction of the few miles of road will give to Baltimore a connection with the great Reading aystem and, practically, a new trunk line to the great lakes.

Mr. Hood's operations are of a three-fold nature. First, his road forms part of a through line from Pittsburg to Philadelnia and New York in connection with the altimore & Ohio and Reading, thus paralleling the Pennsylvania; second, he has arranged to bring Cumberland coal into regions now supplied by Clearfield ship-pers, again antagonizing the Pennsylvania, and lastly he has determined to parallel the Northern Central by a connection with the Reading at Chickies furnace. For the carrying out of all his plans he depends upon the co-operation and support of the Reading railroad management.

Oil Instead of Snow.

Williamsport Letter to the Pittsburg Dispatch.

In the lumber regions of Northern Pennsylvania a curious expedient has been resorted to for the purpose of getting the logs off of the woods. Hundreds of barrels of crude oil have been sent to the camps, and this fluid poured over the "slides." This was intended to take the place of snow. Logs can only be gotten to the market over slippery paths, so when there was no snow or ice they greased the mountain slides. I understand that a snow would have to fall a good week, and be maintained by thirty days of freezing weather to bring into the streams the lumber now lying in the forests. Oll Instead of Snow.

This is the first time that crude petroleum This is the first time that crude petroleum has been used to jubricate the slides to any extent. Some of the slides are 12 miles long, starting away back on the summit of a mountain and rounding through the passes; in some instances shooting up one hill and down another in a series of inclines. The momentum the logs gather with distance sends them along with a furious rate of speed, and the crude oil has been found not to wear off for nearly a week. At the upward incline horses are hitched to the last log, and by pulling this pushes possibly 30 logs in front, so easy does the petroleum make the slide.

There are to-day 250,000,000 feet of timber pushes possibly 30 logs in Front, so easy does the petroleum make the slide.

There are to-day 250,000,000 feet of timber lying in the woods, which ought to have been in the booms of Williamsport by this time. In other words, February I has usually seen all that wonderful amount of timber lying in the river here, and much of it in the mills being finished for the market. This forest blockade is worth millions of dollars. The logs as they lie felled are worth $4.50 per 1,000 feet for hemlock and from $11 to $15 tor pine, 5,000 wood cutters in the camps are idle, drawing no pay. There are scores of sawmills up through the forest counties which have been shut down because they could not get the logs. This would add tens of millions of feet to the above figures.

They Dissolved Partnership. Marcellus Gumpy lives on Dorwart street and on Monday he and his wife had a quarrel, during which it is said that Gumpy badly abused his wife. An officer was sent for, but before his arrival the diffionlty was adjusted and Gumpy and his wife dissolved partnership. Each took one-half of the furniture.

B. W. Hirsh, of this city, sold his five-year-old horse "Harrison Chief," to J. H. Semel, of New York, for $1,000. " Harrison Chief' is a brother of "Gen. L.," with a record of 2:24. He is a very handsome and promising colt.
