errible Tale From the Salt Mises o

Terrible Tale From the Salt Mines of Cracow, Poland.

A correspondent of the London Times says that a strike in Russia is in truth a revoit and is so treated by the authorities. The reason given is that Russian workmen are man ignorant, unreasonable beings that they would become utterly unmanageable without vigorous and summary action of the judiciary. About a month ago a case occurred that illustrates the childish absurdity of the men and efficacious action of the authorities. A falling off in trade caused the properietors of certain large mills to reduce the production and discharge a number of the hands whose services were no longer useful. As soon as this decision was known a raving crowd of semi-avvage workmen surrounded the managers and insisted that work should be found for the usual number of haula, threatening personal violence if their demand was unheeded.

At the same time a quantity of valuable

Leaves Only a Hundred Million.

From the New York Star.

Probably one of the most trying and arduous positions a man can hold is to be confidential aid and general manager for a millionaire whose estate amounts to $50,000,000 or more. I had a chat yesterday with Abner Bartiett, a genial, astute old gentleman, who probably knows more about the value of the estates of the rich men of New York than any other man. Mr. Bartlett has for many years managed the landed property of the late John Jacob Astor. It was Mr. Bartlett the richest man in America always consulted when about to make a purchase, and it was Mr. Bartlett, who looked after the hundreds of buildings and acres of city lots owned by Mr. Astor. In speaking of the value of millionaires' estates, Mr. Bartlett said that the majority of estimates were simply rideculous.

"Take the Stewart estate for instance."

ridiculous.

"Take the Stewart estate, for instance, said he. When an appraisement was made on the city property I was called in, as I was believed to possess a knowledge of the exact market value of land and houses on various streets of the city. It had been estimated by the newspapers that the property I was to figure on was worth all the way from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000. I looked into the matter carefully and put the amount at $25,000,000, and as it afterward turned out I was correct in my estimate."

From several gentlemen who have been in a position to estimate on Mr. Astor's wealth in an intelligent manner it is believed that John Jacob Astor left $100,000,000, which is inherited by his son, William Waldorf.

In Reading on Saturday afternoon, Wm. Lindermuth, 18 years old, who had been paying attentions to Miss Mary A. Vanreed, a beautiful blonde of 16 summers, called at the residence of her parents, and under the pretence of taking Miss Vanreed to the matinee at the Academy of Music, obtained permission of her mother to her accompanying him.

Miss Vanreed donned her finest silks and the twain departed. Instead of going to the matinee they boarded the afternoon train on the Reading railroad and departed for Camden, where they were married.

were safe.

The parents were very much mortified upon hearing such news. Prior to this they were very much alarmed at the long absence of their daughter. The bride is a daughter of Wellington Vanreed, a wealthy merchant of Reading, and the groom is a respectable young man of good habits.

Upon their return on Tuesday they sought the parental blessing of the bride's mother and father, but this was not very cordially extended, and they took up their cument Taken To the Jail By Mrs. Gverly Not Examined and Good is Turned Loose.

HENRY GOOD RELEASED

PRISON OFFICIALS MAKE A MISTAGE IN GIVING BIM LIBERTY.

Henry Good, a well known Fassleys-ville character, who has figured in a num-ber of larceny cases recently, was released from prison this morning through the care-lessness of the officials of that institution.

He was arrested some weeks ago for being one of the parties who held up Harry Saylor, blacksmith, while his companions robbed the place of a large lot of iron. Mrs. dary Overly, the professional ball goer for ill the rogues in that section of the city, became his surety. She qualified to being the owner of real estate worth $800. She may imagine she is worth that amount, but has practically nothing in her own right. Her bail was taken and Good was eleased from that charge. He was only out of jail a short time when personal violence if their demand was unheeded.

At the same time a quantity of valuable machinery was destroyed by the rioters. The police were called in, and settled the matter very quickly. During the night fifty of the ringlesders were quietly spirited away, no one knew whither or how. The rest, left leaderless, whimpered like beaten children and prayed to their favorite saints. Not receiving any satisfactory answer from Saint Vladimir, Saint George of Cappadocia and the noble army of martyrs, the holy Icona remaining deaf and unsympathetic, the strikers quietly gave in, and were beaten back to their work, completely demoralized.

Bye-and-bye it leaked out among the diplomats that the fifty poor fellows had been hurried off to the sait mines of Cracow, where they were scourged, starved and ill-used till they imitated the example of Mrs. Sibids and sought death as a refuge from tyranny. All this horror was kept as quiet as possible that the element of mystery might be added to the other strocities, so that while the government got rid of fifty dangerous, because manly, enemies their former fellow-laborers were awed by the incomprehensible disappearance of their leaders. This is how they do things in Russia. he got into another scrape. A theft of lead pipe was traced to him and he was rearrested. This time he could not procure bail and was sent to jail for trial.

This morning Mrs. Overly surrendered her ball and went with the ball-piece to the county prison. She deposited it with the clerk. This official did not take the trouble to read the paper, but drew the conclusion that ball had been entered and that it was a discharge for Good.

Good was brought from his cell and reit a queer proceeding and when she came down town from the prison she called upon Thos. J. Davis, her counsel, and told him

Mr. Davis at once telephoned to the prison, called the attention of the clerk to e nature of the paper on file as to Good, and advised them to at once send men to find Good and rearrest him, as Mrs. Overly was released from all liability. An examination of the paper was then made and the mistake of the officials in discharging Good

The chief telephoned to the prison that there would be more chance of getting Good if the prison officials sent their own men, as he was acquainted with all the cemen of the city and would keep out Good cannot escape conviction on some of the charges against him, and for that reason he will leave town and remain away until after court. As soon as rehe went towards Faegleysville by

Mrs. Overly's son, Adam, was in jail for want of ball, but his mother bailed him out this morning. She went to the jail with her son's release and Good's bail piece. The officials probably supposed that both were releases sud the men were set at liberty at one time. They are a bad

THE FIRST WOLF CHASE. ort For Men and Dogs at Litte on Tuesday, Lancaster county has been a paradise for sporting men of late, and some new fun vas introduced on Tuesday when a wolf was held at Lititz. Some time Mr. Kaffroth, proprietor of the Sturgis have come from Kansas. The fact that he was to be liberated yesterday afternoon drew a great crowd to Lititz, but there were not many out from this city. The wolf, which was said to be a very wild one, was let go in the afternoon. He is an animal of good size, but is probably being freed he started in the direction of Brunnerville. He was only given a few dogs were sent after him. After the wolf had gone about a mile he turned and came almost over the same track that he had gone away upon. The dogs finally chased him into a fence corner where he stopped and showed his blood. He seemed to be very anxious for a fight, and he stood upon his hind legs and growled savagely. The dogs were so aston-ished at the pluck of the Western beast that they were afraid to approach him, but kept a good distance. In a short time a man named Kreider, who lives at Sporting Hill and attended the chase, came up and saw the state of affairs. He picked up a club and struck the wolf, injuring him so badly that he was able to capture him. He was taken back to the hotel and Mr. Kaffroth has him in his possession

The worst fears in regard to the Walnut Grove disaster, in Arizona, are more than realized, aithough particulars come in slowly and are still meagre. Two prospectors arrived late Monday night from the upper dam. They say that they camped above the dam on Friday night. At about 1 o'clock on Saturday morning the dam broke, the water rushing down the narrow steep canyon in a solid body of eighty feet high. One man was rescued from the top of a tree. They state not even a remnant of the dam exists. The immense body of water, one and a half miles square and sixty feet deep, was emptied in an hour.

They had talked with many from the smaller dam, fifteen miles below, who said that up to Saturday evening twenty-five bodies had been recovered, but could give no additional names. The survivors were in the greatest destitution, having neither provisions nor clothing. Coarse grain sacks were boing used in lieu of clothing. The camp of workmen engaged in building a flume has not been heard from at all, and it is feared that all are lost.

No news has as yet been received from Wickenberg or from the sattlements below the dam. More detailed particulars are looked for now every moment. John B. Caldwell, farmer, Leacock. John M. Seitz, jr., farmer, East Hemp-

Court House on Theeday Evening.
Last evening the Young Men's Christian association, of this city, colobrated their anniversary in the court house. The large court room was filled with people and a great deal of interest was manifested.
The meeting was presided over by Hugh
R. Fulton, president of the association, and it was opened by the singing of "All Hail the Power of Josus' Name." A scriptural lesson was read by Rev. Themas Thompson and Rev. J. W. Meminger followed in prayer.
After singing President Fulton read his annual report. Rev. George B. Stewart, of the Market Square Presbyterian church, Harrisburg, delivered an address which was pointed, plain and practical, setting forth the association work in its true phases. The address was well received.
After a duett by Messra, Gibson and Specce, a dumb-bell exercise was given by the following gentlemen from the Harrisburg Y. M. C. A.: W. E. Hoffman, physical director; Harry Windolph, Augustus Shore, Millard Poffenbarger, Howard cal director; Harry Windolph, Augustus Shope, Millard Poffenberger, Howard Bates, Jacob Reigel, Harry Heleber, Chas. Yost. It was very entertaining, especially to the young men of the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium of this city.

After the collection had been lifted there were some remarks by Charles Hemick, of Kansas, one of the pioneers to Soudan.

The exercises, which were very successful, were brought to a close by the singing of the long metre doxology and the bene-diction by Rev. Meminger.

From the annual report of H. R. Fulton, the president of the association, the following abstract is made:

Two new departments were organized—the gymusaium and junior. These were the outcome of special needs and are meet-ing with success. After referring to the social, intellectual, physical and religious departments the following statistics are

SEWED WITH HER TEETH. She Had No Limbs and Yet Was Quite a Good Seamstress

There died at Sugar Island, N. B., last week a woman who could have made a week a woman who could have made a fortune in a dime museum had she chosen. It was Mary Goodhue, known in all the country round as "The Woman Who Sewed With Her Mouth." She was born of French parentage about 50 or 55 years ago. She had no arms or hands, legs or feet, or at least none in any way developed, these members never having grown after she was born. Her body was of full size and her mind was fully developed. She was very intelligent, conversing very she was born. Her body was of rull size and her mind was fully developed. She was very intelligent, conversing very freely in both French and English.

Early in life she developed a fondness for sewing; but how was she to perform this task when she had no hands or even feet to assist her in this arduous work? She astonished her relatives by beginning to sew with her mouth. Finally she became so expert that she could cut the material with the scissors, thread the needle and then do fine sewing, using only her mouth for all the operations. A great many people from St. John and from the surrounding country witnessed her perform this wonderful work and some people have in their possession squares for patchwork quilts done by her. She pieced a number of quilts and could make one known as the "Log Cabin" variety, a most difficult task to perform.

It is said that Barnum, hearing of this wonderful woman, offered her large pay to go with his show. Mary would have gone, but her family objected, and so she remained at home.

Evictions at Pittsburg.

The eviction of tenants on the land of the bankrupt Graff-Benact iron works, at Pittsburg, were pushed on Tuesday, and rivalled scenes cabled from Ireland. Four constables, under order of an alderman and backed by members of the firm of Friend, Hoffstat & Bailey, the purchasers of the property, marched to the scene in a driving rain, and followed by a mob of black and white residents. Every door of the twenty-five in "Little Limerick" was barred, but that of Mrs. Lynch was first pushed open, and she with seven small children was dumped on the wet ground with her ruined household effects. Most of the families were ejected, though ominious growls were frequently heard from the gathering crowd. The firm say the people are squatters and the ground is needed for manufacturing purposes. THEIR BOOTY IDEN FIFIED.

TWO WATCHES FOUND IN THE POSSESSION OF POUR COLORED TOUWES.

They Rob Railroad Workmen at New Holland and are Arrested in Columbia-The Accused Held for Trial.

On Saturday last Constables Wittlek and Morrison arrested four men in Columbia, who seemed to be on a spres, for disorderly conduct, and Squire Evans committed them to jail for a hearing. One, who gave his name as Richard Hill, was white and the others were colored. They gave their names as John Wash Grey, James Johnson and Charles Sawyer. They had several watches and a number of tickets from Philadelphia pawn shops in their possession. They were impudent and acted suspiciously, so the officers concluded to investigate their conduct. Yesterday Wittick and Morrison went to New Holland and learned that men answering the description of those under went to New Holland and learned that men answering the description of those under arrest had been employed on the new railroad under Contractors Keller & Crossen, but had left on last Friday. Before leaving they stole a watch from an Italian and another from a colored man, a suit of clothing and some other wearing apparel from different parties. One of them had also drawn a razor on Samuel Quinton, a stable boss, and threatened to kill him. The men under arrest were believed to be The men under arrest were believed to be the guilty parties.

Johnson and Gray made their headquarters in the shanty with the other men, and after they left on Friday, Clarence Dubbs, a colored man, employed on the work, found that his watch was gone, as was that of " No.31," besides a lot of clothing. Both watches were of silver, one being a hunting case and the other an open face. Watches of this description were found on Sawyer and Hill, and they were positively identified by the owners at the jall this morning. Justice Evans com-mitted Sawyer and Hill to jail for larceny and felonious entry and held the others as

These men all come from the South, but have been employed at different places in the North upon railperience, and years ago worked in the Schuylkill Valley, where Mr. Quinton be-came acquainted with. He is regarded as a very bad man, and is said to be ready to do almost anything desperate. He and Williams are mem-bers of a bad crowd of colored men who call themselves "The Mulligan Gang" and by that name are well known to railroaders. After Williams made an attempt o do harm to the stable boss he said that if other members of the gang would have given him all the assistance he needed.

Favoring Democrats.

Judge McPatton, of the Second judicial district court of Montana, has rendered his decision in the shrievalty contest of Floyd against Sullivan, which involves all the questions between the Democrats and Republicans as to the fairness of the election in the Thirty-fourth precinct. Lloyd, the Republican claimant, contested the right of Sullivan, the Democratic respondent, on the ground of the illegality of the votes cast for Sullivan at the election in October.

The reports find that the election was honestly and fairly conducted, that no fraud was committed or attempted, that such irregularities as occurred were without fraudulent intent, and resulted in injury to no one and did not affect the result. On the returns from this precinct depended the political complexion of the Legislature which chose the United States senators. The report decides by inference that the legality of nine Democratic representatives, and consequently the right of the Democrats to organize the House and together with the Senate choose the two United States senators, justifies the claim of Clark and McGinnis, Democrats, to seats at Washington as senators from Montans.

Appointed Eastern Agent. H. A. Gross, formerly of this city, but now of Lebanon, has been appointed general eastern agent of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad company. Mr. Gross was formerly traveling passenger agent of this road, but of late has been general freight and passenger agent of Coleman's Lebanon & Cornwall road. He will have his headquarters in New York in the future and will move his family to Newark, N. J. Mr. Gross is a man of experience in this line, and his many friends here will be glad to harn of his promotion. The Lebanon Times says of Mr. Gross "Mr. Gross will have under his supervision all the eastern traveling passenger agents and will take charge of his appointment on March I. The Cornwall & Lebanon railroad parts very reluctantly with Mr. Gross, as he was a valuable official.

By his gentlemantly conduct and courteous attention to all who came in contact with him, and his experience in the busiwith him, and his experience in the busi-ness, he made many friends, who although they regret to see him leave, rejoice in his promotion to such a high office."

All About a Set of Harness. A set of harness was stolen from E. H. Kauffman some weeks ago. He learned that Fred. Withelm had it and he prosecuted him for larceny. Wilhelm claimed that he got it from George Irwin and a similar suit was entered against him. Whe Irwin was arrested his story was that he got the harness from Benjamin Wilson, a colored boy. The boy was then arrested. All the defendants gave ball for a hearing before Alderman Halbach.

FIGHTING FOR A GIRL.

After Forty-Two Hounds the Battle We

After Forty-Two Hounds the Battle Was Declared a Draw.

In Northampton, six miles from Akron, Ohio, Vincent Libes and Henry Simmonds, both aged 20, are suitors for the hand of the same girl, 18 years old, the light of the household of Farmer Alexander Billman. Libes and Simmonds are warm personal friends in all matters except those tottching the object of their affection. They could come to no astisfactory agreement on this point and finally decided to leave the result to a trial of physical strength. The details were settled quietly, only a few friends being made aware of the affair. A charcoal burner's camp in the woods of A. G. Billman was selected as the place, and a ring was quickly formed. John Zimmerman acted as second for Libes, and Jonas Henry cared for Simmonds.

The ring was entered about 14 p. m. The men were very evenly matched in appearance, Simmonds being a trifle heavier than his antagonist. No gloves were used, and the fight was to be a finish under the Marquis of Queensberry rules.

Forty-two rounds were fought, the battle lasting nearly two hours. Neither man displayed any science, but both were accustomed to hard manual labor, and were in good condition, and the fight soon settled into a question of endurance. It was a game fight from beginning to close, and neither man at any time secured to have a decided advantage. In the forty-second round both men were tired out and so groggy they could scarcely stand. Their seconds pulled them apart, and the fight was declared a draw. Both principals were terribly punished, their faces being bruised and battered. Meantime the question to have been settled by the fight is still undetermined.

SOLD THE FIRM THEIR OWN GOODS

How a Superintendent Ruined a House to Enrich Himself. Chicago, Feb. 26.—S. M. Cutler, now in Canada, but lately the superintendent of the wholesale boot and shoe house of A. G. Leonard & Co., No. 207 Monroe street, is credited with playing the most unique game that has come to notice for many
