The Floods of the Mississippi.

The ever recurring disastrous overflows of the Mississippi river are surely not creditable to our government or our engineering skill—to one or both. They are preventable and are not preventable by it; and our government is not preventable by it.

The Mississippi floods have been caused for an engineering way by raising the banks; with the overflow being the deposit of the mud; so that levees have failed to be adequately protective.

The Mississippi floods have been caused for an engineering way by raising the banks; with the overflow being the deposit of the mud; so that levees have failed to be adequately protective.

It is better to sacrifice these to a regular flood channel rather than risk the overflow of a vast territory. It is certainly the duty of the United States to protect the shores of this great drainage channel of the country.

A Pay Day Spree. The Pittston man who was murdered for trying to prevent murder, as described in the news columns, was acting more properly under the circumstances, but he had no business to be under circumstances of the kind.

The case of the Pittston victim excites sympathy because of his comparative sobriety and his anxiety to restrain his comrades from committing murder, but he may have been one of those who can drink a great deal without feeling it and who are often for that very reason dangerous members of society.

PERSONAL. CITY SUPERINTENDENT BUEHLE will deliver an address at the dedication of a school house in Doylestown, next Tuesday. His subject is "The Beautiful in Education."

EMIN PACHA has entered the German service. He will receive a salary of $6,000 a year, and will leave about the middle of April for Victoria, Nyanza. He will be accompanied by a large caravan and troops under command of German officers.

ALEX. C. THURMAN will be 77 years old on the 13th of November next, and should he survive till then, and already plans are being formed to give the Old Roman a complimentary dinner. Ex-President Cleveland and Editor Hanna are spoken of as likely to take a part in it.

ROBERT ADAMS, of Philadelphia, the American minister to Brazil, sailed from Liverpool for New York on Wednesday. He spoke kindly of his sojourn in Rio, but said he was tired of it, and that he has long wanted to return to his native land.

There's not a speck, there's not a stain That on the teeth we chance to see, But shadows forth decay and pain.

fore the related voters, who came to the polls at the end of their day's work, could get there. It may be safely assumed that the State's tale is overdrawn to suit its doctrine.

Quite probably there was delay in the taking of the new ballots under the new form of procedure; and it may be that the new way is too slow to enable as many votes to be taken at a voting place as heretofore.

Rhode Island is a state of its own kind. There is not another like it in the country. It is very small, and its population is of the very wealthy and the very poor.

THE Wool Reporter says that the American wool industry requires two reforms to make it prosperous: first, a conservative and steady tariff policy in the direction of reduced duties; second, a monthly settlement day.

THE measures taken and in contemplation by the French Chamber of Deputies to encourage the increase of population are even more remarkable than the Quebec law for the same purpose.

IN the current Forum President Dwight attempts to say what a boy should know at eighteen, and first of all makes the strong point that at that age a young man should know to study with enthusiasm.

IN the telegraphic news from Russia there are accounts of riots and political agitation among the students, and hints of a general disposition on the part of the most intelligent classes to make as much trouble for the government as they safely can.

Wanamaker's. PHILADELPHIA, Thursday, April 3, 1890. The Herald of the Easter Fair.

Questions are rife throughout the store concerning the goings on that are observed here and there by visitors.

The answer is: "Preparations for the Easter Fair." We sometimes write of the unique relations between this store and the community.

Common talk often says of a given man, "His word is good as his bond." With such an one you need only a verbal contract.

And so the hammers have been ringing and the saws buzzing while mysterious curtains concealed what busy brains were contriving—all busy upon what we call this year, The Easter Fair.

Now we are ready with the story, of which the most interesting points are about the Bargains in the Fair.

But the newspapers cannot tell all. The only way will be for you to take a great slice of Easter Holiday time and come to The Easter Fair at Wanamaker's.
