THE NATIONAL GAME.

The Actives and Richmonds Have The Actives and Bichmonds Have a Close and Interesting Contest.

The Active club, of the Inter State League, played their second game yesterday afternoon, and their opponents were the Richmond (Va.) team. The weather was cold and disagreable, yet notwithstanding that fact the crowd was almost as large as on the opening day. Young Sterling, who pitched for a time with the Philadelphia Giants and has been in Mason's Professionals this assace, pitched his first seed to the contest of ciants and has been in mason's Protes-sionals this season, pitched his first game for the Actives and did well, as but five singles were made off his delivery. The home club had six singles and two doubles off Duff, but the fielding of neither of the teams was of the best. The visitors should not have had the three runs they made in the fifth men were out and the Actives had lost an opportunity to retire the side. A ball was cked into right field which T. Goodfielding of this player as well as Kline was not what it should be. They were too slow for the kind of a team that the Actives hould be. Gleim played a good game a first base and Fox, a new man, gave satisfaction. Cross had a bad error, muffing an easy ball, and G. Goodhart threw wildly. The whole score is as follows:

MANY NEW STUDENTS.

Daily Arrivals at the Millersville Nor-mal-Over 625 Attending. MILLERSVILLE, April 19.—The third week of summer session of the Millersville Normal school finds over 625 students in sctual attendance. All the rooms in the large buildings are filled with students and a number are being boarded by families in the village. New students are coming every day. Classes are being divided, as they grow too large, and new

It is said that there are one hundred students in the present junior class. If all hould succeed in passing the examinations and enter the coming senior class they would constitute the largest senior class in the history of the school.

and Dr. P. W. Heistand, visited the school on Wednesday. They were accompaned by Prof. J. P. McCaskey, principal of the Laneaster city high school. The school campus is at present a very pleasing sight. The first green of the lawns the blooming beds of hyacinths and tulips the playing fountains and the promenading of so many young ladies make the scene very pretty and enjoyable.

Disobeyed the Rules.
It seems that Mayor Clark does not intend to waste much time with policemen who do not care to obey his rules. William Scheurenbrand, one of the officers of the First ward, has been dismissed for drinking liquor while on duty. This morning Scheurnbrand was sent home by the chief of police, as he did not consider him fit to do duty, and the mayor afterwards dismissed him. Mayor Clark says that he intends to enforce rules, and he cannot afford to permit drinking. This morning the chief gave the men a lecture in which he told them very plainly what the rules of the department were and also left them to understand that when charges of drunkenness are made against them they will not remain on the force for any more trials. It is said that Scheurenbrand had plenly of warning of the consequences of his conduct.

THE AMBULANCE.

LONG FRLT WART SUPPLIED BY THE IN-TELIZGENCER AND ITS READERS.

Which Will Convey Injured People to the Hospital or Their Homes.

The new city ambulance has just been finished by Alticks Sons, the well-known carriage building firm of this city. For many years the INTELLIGENCES advocated the purchase of an ambulance or some other suitable wagon to be used in hauling injured people, who for a long time have been pulled through the streets to the hospitals and their homes in the roughest kind of vehicles. There is no doubt that the deaths of many of the poor unfortunates were caused, or at least hastened, by the terrible rides they were given.

This paper urged upon councils the necessity of procuring an ambulance, but that body refused to take any action. The rail-built vehicle of the following dimensions: 41 inches wide in front and 48 behind. It is 8 feet 6 inches from the seat in front to the dasher and 7 feet from the seat to the rear. The body is 5 feet in height. The body and suspensions are arranged so as to hang low and therefore be easy of access.

The body has a wheel house so that the wheels turn under it. The back axle is cranked downward, which allows the body to hang low. The curtains on the sides are of rubber goods and there is another curtain of the same material between the driver's seat and the place where the injured person will lie. On the curtains on each side are the words: "Lancaster City Ambulance." On the front of the top is a small wooden strip with the word "Ambulance" in letters of gold. The lower side panels of the ambulance are 16j inches wide, and these, as well as the entire woodwork of the body, are painted a deep black.
The running gears are of carmine with any liberal offer that would indicate enlargement of the heart, and for a time nothing was done. There were many complaints to the INTELLIGENCER of the horrible treatment that wounded people received, and this paper resolved to secure an ambulance. A fund was started at this office and subscriptions were received for any amount, from one cent to $5. The people were fairly liberal in their response, although a sufficient sum has not yet been received to pay for the ambulance. People who desire to contribute can do so yet, and the INTELLIGEN-CER will pay the balance.

Having undertaken to raise the fund by popular subscription no personal appeals were made to corporations, business men, or wealthy people, but it was thought best to make it a popular charity so that the poorest might show their sympathy with suffering humanity. All contributions to the fund have been and will be acknowledged in the columns of this paper.

Sixteen Cars Off at Rosemont-A Caboose

And Stock Car Burned.

This seems to be the year for railroad wrecks, and the Pennsylvania railroad have een particularly unfortunate. Their losses from this source have been tremendously heavy, especially in the last six months. About quarter past 8 o'clock last night six-teen loaded cars of a freight train drawn by engine No. 1,347 were thrown from the very badly broken. One track was cleared by 12:50 this morning and trains were then able to get around after they had been foremoon the tracks had not yet been entirely cleared, although trains were able to run past the place. The accident was caused by the spreading of the tracks. Benjamin Richards, a fireman on the train, had his leg broken in the accident, but no one else was hurt.

Among the passengers on Western Ex-press, which is due here at 11:10, but was held at Bryn Mawr on account of the wreck, was Herbert Johnston, of this city. He went to a telegraph tower to send a essage to Lancaster, and on his return made a narrow escape from being run over by a wrecking engine, which bore down upon him without a head-light. In getting out of the way he stumbled down an embankment, falling six feet and land-ing upon a pile of rocks. He was stunned by the fall and did not regain consciousnes for a time. When recovered he found himself in a sort of pit, and it was half an hour before he could get out and make his wayto his train. He was very badly bruised by the fall, and very angry at a brakeman who refused to aid him in getting out of

At an early hour this morning another wreck occurred. The place that it happened was on the Mt. Joy branch of the ennsylvania, at a trough where the engines take water while running. The place is about a mile west of Dillerville, and some trains also stop there to take water from the tank. It has been the custom of the company to run some of their fast freight trains, loaded with cattle and other perishable goods, around by Mt. Joy. Shortly after 2 o'clock this morning a train drawn by engine No. 1,379 stopped at the tank to take water. It had been there but a short time when the rear of the train was run into by engine No. 1,272, which was drawing another stock train. A freight car loaded with cattle, and the caboose were thrown from the track. When the caboos was tumbled over the stove was upset and few minutes the caboose was in flames and as it could not be got away from the stock car both were totally burned. Fortunately none of the cattle were hurt in the collision, as the door of the car was opened and they were all gotten out in safety before the flames reached them. None were burned or injured in the least, and they were all driven to Lancaster, where they were placed in another car and reshipped to their destination somewhere in the East. The rear engine, which did the running in, was badly damaged, as the front was knocked in and a great part of the wood work burned. The engine was taken to Harrisburg this forenoon for repairs. There was considerable delay to early morning trains on account of the wreck.

Last evening Constables Yeisley and Sam Shaub were summoned out to the new city water works, where a gang of tramps were gathered drinking whisky and otherwise acting very badly. The officers went out and found the crowd most too large for them to take. They telegraphed to town for assistance, and officers Dorwart, McGinnis and Babel were sent out. Just as the officers neared the place freight train came along, and the tramps, who seemed to have an idea of what was going on, made for it. All but one succeeded in getting on the train and went east. The one that was left behind was too drunk to get on the cars; he fell into the officers' hands. He gave his name as Geo. Farrel, and said that he resides at Wilmington. He was committed for a hearing before Aldernan Deen, who afterwards sent him to jail for 5 days.

Adam Lefever, who lives in East Lumpeter, left word at the station house that two horses strayed away from or were stolen from his place on Wodnesday. He has seen nothing of them since.

lamps will be placed upon the front of the wagon. A large mattress, to fit the bottom of the wagon, is being made, and in bad cases a pillow will be placed under the mattress, both forward and back. By the side of the mattress is a seat, upon which one person can sit to look after the wants of the injured.

It is the intention of the INTELLIGENCER to turn the wagon over to city councils and allow that body to do what they please with it. The councilmen will probably be invited to Altick's shop to see the ambulance before it is accepted by them.

It is probable that the ambulance will be kept at one of the engine houses of the city fire department so that when it is needed the horses of the department can be used in it. There is no doubt that it should be located somewhere near the centre of the house after the city takes possession

H. P. Krick's Slaughter House Catches From Sparks and Is Damaged There was a fire at the home of H. I Krick, the well-known Upper Leacock butcher, on Friday afternoon, which might have been much worse than it was. It was between 2 and 3 o'clock when the slaughter house took fire from sparks which blow from the boiler in the building. The fire caught in one of the ventilators. Mr. Krick, his employes and neighbors began to work at once, and although the flames made rapid progress, they were stayed by excellent work. Water was carried from a pump and run which are near by, and the building was finally saved from destruction. The ventilator was burned away entirely, and a hole in size about 4x10 feet was burned in the roof. A can of lard, lot of bologna and some other stock was rendered entirely worthless. The building, which is insured in the Lancaster County Mutual company, was damaged to the extent of $75 to $100.

A joint meeting of the officers of the East Reading and Neversink Electric Rail-way companies was held last night at the office of the Pennsylvania Trust company for the purpose of arriving at some definit conclusion in regard to paving South Ninth street, a thoroughfare to be occupied jointly by the two companies. In pursu-ance of the action taken by the highway committee of city councils at their last meeting, when they expressed a decided preference for asphalt instead of Belgian blocks, the officers of the two companies secordingly made arrangements to have Ninth street paved with asphalt blocks. What Mr. Cleveland Really Said.

From the New York Evening Post, April 18.

If the World wants any more explanation of the unreadiness of intelligent people to pay much attention to starling statements in its columns, it can find it in the report it printed yesterday of an interview of one of its reporters with Mr. Clevaland about stories printed in the New York San touching his physical condition. The reporter called his attention to the Sun's article, and this is what Mr. Cleveland said, and all he said, in answer:

"I have not seen the article you refer to, and if it appears nowhere else but in the Sun there is not the least chance of my seeing it. Of course, the entire thing is a lie, without the least pretext to excuse it. I judge from what you say that the venerable editor of the Sun supposes that he has at last hit upon a subject which can be used to annoy me. In this he is mistaken. He must be his own judge of social decencies and proprieties. I am not sure that he should at his time of life and in his apparently peculiar mental condition be molested in his amusement."

We question the expediency of his saying anything at all under the circumstances. A busy lawyer ought not, in our opinion, to allow himself to be interrupted in order to pass judgment on the indecencies of a scurrilous newspaper. Journalistic silliness is greatly promoted by people's readiness to talk about it and analyze it. But what we have quoted was about the right thing for Mr. Cleveland to say if he said anything at all. The reporter was not satisfied with this, however. He went on to invent and put in Mr. Cleveland's mouth nearly a column of other talk, some of it coarse abuse of Dana, the editor of the Sun, which it would have been undignified and discreditable for Mr. Cleveland to unter.
