The Glee and Mandolin clubs of Franklin and Marshall college on Friday climbed one round higher in fame at Myerstown, Pa., and everyone of the three hundred people who crowded the chapel of Palatinate college pronounced the concert to be the finest entertainment of any kind ever given in that town. The programme consisted almost exclusively of the new repertoire. Triple encores were the order of the evening, special demands being made of the soloists, Messrs. Kershner, Greenawald and Irvine. Mr. Conklin made a statement in which he said that when Chairman T. B. Cochran left the committee there was a balance owing him, from the committee, of $3.65. Mr. Cochran had paid this out of his own pocket, and he thought it should be paid back to hi.n. Mr. Ettla objected to paying this debt out of a fund that had been raised expressly for the paying of all expenses of this election, and not old raised expressly for the paying of all expenses of this election, and not old

He wished to correct a story that had been circulated in the neigh borhood that his being put off the ticket was a set-up job. They were telling about that Senator Quay had sent him a large that Senator Quay had sent him a large sum of money to go off the ticket in order that another man whom Quay wanted might be chosen. He branded the story as false, and he thought it best to make the statement in justice to all. THE STRENGTH OF CANDIDATES.

It is Measured by Correspondents In Elizabethtown and Ephrata.

ELIZABETHTOWN, April 28.—The congressional fight promises to be an interesting and lively affair in our borough at the coming Republican primary election.

The Myers forces are on the still hunt, and do their electioneering very quietly.

They are well organized and will be led by They are well organized and will be led by some of the most prominent and experienced politicians in the borough, while Brosius forces lack organization and have no experienced leader to rally them. For senator, Kauffman probably has the lead, with Smith as a close second, and Stober has also recently developed some strength here. For Assembly, the vote will protative be in the following order: Seyfert, Pyle, Blough, Ranck, Boyd, Hoover and Miller. For sheriff, Keller will be a strong leader, with sides as a second, and Shirk within hailing distance. For prothonotary, Capt. E. McMellen has many friends here, and his cause will be handled by the abrewdest politicians in the borough. He will receive a large vote, while the balance of the votes will be scattered among Hartman, Stanffer, Ilyus and Noil. For register, Geyer, Musser and Herr will divide the vote here, with the former in the lead. For county treasurer, Hiestand seems to lead, with Martin close to his heefs. For clerk of quarter sessions, Strine and Urban will receive the principal vote; the former seems to be the stronger candidate at present. For clerk of orphans' court, L. N. S. Will has the lead and will poll a large vote, with Keen and Leonard about equally divided as seconds. For commissioners, Worth and Hershey will get the vote nearly solid, except a few that will go to Royer. For prison inspectors, Hershey and Sharer are strong candidates here and will poll a good vote. For director of the poor, Bard and Hershey are mostly spoken of. Coroner Honoman has many friends here. For auditor, T. B. Hershey and A. R. Witmer have the best of the fight at this writing. The delegates to the state convention favorable to Mr. Martin will, it is expected, have very little opposition here.

In Ephrata Township.

EPHRATA, April 28.—The following is a resume of the political situation in Ephrata township, as it comes from one who takes a deep interest in the election and was over nearly the entire district to test the sentiments of the voters: There will be a very large vote polled at the coming primary. The friends of Marriott Brosius, for Congress, claim the township by a big majority. For state sensator there will be a close contest between W. S. Smith, Conoy; C. C. Kauffman, Columbia, and J. A. Stober, West Cocalice; but Stober will lead and Esaiss Billingfelt, Adamstown, will show little strength. A. G. Seyfert, Cernarvon, for assembly, will lead all the rest. The second man will be Johnson Miller, Little. H. K. Blough, Elizabethtown, and C. G. Boyd, Penn, will contest for the thurshi

There is a great deal of talk at present about the strength of the different candidates for the county offices who will be voted for next Saturday. Many of the men who were candidates in 1887, are again before the people; while several are dead, one or two are candidates for different offices from what they then were. In order that the people may know how strong these men were we publish the vote of 1887, which was as follows:

SAVED TEN HORSES AND MULES. A Woman In the Employ of Moses Hartz

Takes Them From His Burning
Harn-15 Animals Perish.
Churchtown, April 28.—On Friday morning the large barn belonging to Moses Hartz, an Amish preacher, residing about three miles southeast of Churchtown, was totally destroyed by fire. About 5 o'clock
the hired man and Jacob, a son of Mr.
Hartz, were feeding the stock, having a lantern hanging in the cow entry. The help, in moving a bundle of hay, accidentally struck the lautern. It fell, crushing the glass globe, and in an instant caught the hay. Mr. Hartz and the help used every means at their command to extinguish the flames but without avail. In the stable were 30 head of cows, one calf and 10 horses and mules.
They at once turned their attention to removing the fastenings, but the heat becoming so intense they were compelled to desist, Mr. Hartz being very severely burned about the head, face and hands. A hired woman, with great presence of mind,
rushed into the stable containing the horses
and mules and succeeded in liberating all of them and drove them from the burning barn. The carcasses of fourteen cows and a calf lie at different points over the stable,
most of them in the position in which they had stood in the stalls; one was found lying in the door with the head outside.
Of the 16 removed 10 are burned severely and some will likely die. Six did not have a single hair on them. The neighbors speedily came and all did their utmost to extinguish the flames. In a brief time the roof fell in, the walls fell out and the destruction was complete.

tive, Alleged to Have Furnished the Note Bearing A. E. Good's Name.

Rev. P. H. Garrett, pastor of the United Brethren church at Cambridge, Sallabury township, was lodged in the county prison, on Sunday morning at 2 o'clock, to answer a charge of forgery. The warrant for the preacher's arrest was issued by Justice Sentman, of Gap, on the complaint of Adam E. Good.

The facts are that Rev. Garrett attended the sale of D. M. Groff, in the middle of March, and purchased a buggy for $05. In payment of the same he gave a note with Adam E. Good as surety. Mr. Groff had the note discounted at New Holland National bank. Mr. Good in some way heard of his name being on the note, be called at the bank, examined the note, pronounced it a forgery and made complaint against Rev. Garrett.

Rev. Garrett.

Rev. Garrett in a conversation with a representative of the INTELLIGENCER, in his cell at the prison, said he was 33 years old, and in his second conference year. When two years old his parents died and he was raised by Solomon Buck, living near Hummelstown. His first charge was at Birdsboro. Last October the conference sent him to Cambridge. Belonging to the same church as Rev. Z. C. Mower, and being stationed close to him, he was very intimate with him. Rov. Mower managed to get all the spare cash he had, from time to time, until he became in debt to him in the sum of $480.

Mr. Garrett said he needed a buggy and had no money to buy it and he called upc n Rev. Mower. He asked Mower to either give him sufficient cash to buy the buggy or get some one to endorse a note so that he could purchase the buggy. He gave a blank note to Mower and in a few days he returned to him with the name of Mr. Good on it. Believing that Mr. Good had endorsed the note at the request of Mower he gave it to Groff and had no idea that it was lorged until shortly before his arrost. In conclusion he said he had never cheated a man out of a penny.

Rev. Garrett told his story with difficulty. He went bitterly while relating the above

Mr. Good, whose name was forged, was also in town, but up to noon had not called at the prison. Mr. Groff saw him this morning and urged him to call on Garrett for an explanation of his connection with the case, and Mr. Groff would not say whether or not he would call to see him.

From a gentleman living in the East End the following was learned about Rev. Garrett:

On Friday evening last charges were preferred by his church members of embezzlement, giving bogus checks lying and denying from the pulpit as false these rumors against himself. Under the rules of the church he has 15 days to prepare a defense and at the expiration of that time he will be given a hearing and if found guilty he will be expelled.

Rev. Garrett is a pleasant talker and was very popular in that section of the county. He conducted a revival last winter which attracted great crowds. Some of the young

The Rapiersville Congregation Rioting.
Service of Mayor and Police Called to

The Evangelical church troubles at Napierville, Illa, in which the German membership of the Brick church is most bitterly involved, culminated in such a riot on Sunday, that the mayor was called on to queil the disturbance.

held on the upper floor, the lower floor being devoted to the exercises of the Sunday serbool.

The anti-Esher faction held services last Sunday in the upper part and the Esherites in the lower. In preparation for Sunday, the feeling having intensified, trouble of a serious nature was anticipated, and the Esherites determined to secure and hold the entire premises. They began Sunday school services at the usual hour, a large number of loyal being in attendance. After the exercises began the Esherite trustee closed and locked the outer and inner doors. The anti-Esher faction showed up somewhat demoralized in comparison with the Sunday before. This was due to the fact that the progressive English branch, which boilted last Sunday from the college, and inaugurated a success down town in Scott's hall, attracted many of the intelligent and English speaking elements, especially those who desired to avoid the threatened trouble at the Brick church on Sunday.

As the time for church services drew near, a crowd gathered outside. Their voices finding themselves locked out assumed loud tones. Some knocked at the doors, those had mounted to the upper floor hearing the noise below, opened the windows to look out. Jeers and angry epithets passed, and the watchers at the open windows commenced to rail and revile with taunting signs and grimace.

A few found themselves excluded from the Sunday school when the doors were lacked and they were soon joined by large numbers.

The Sunday school session inside broke up, the majority of these assembled adjourning directly to the room above. The doors were also about this time unlocked for the egress of the school and also for the entrance of a number of the loyal Esherites.

No sconer had a few of the latter got into the crowd, which was of considerable size, than a free knockdown fight began, and in a moment the gathering of Sunday worshippers became a frantic, fighting, blasing, cursing, yelling mob, which surged about the church doors.

At the height of the riot the congregation which was assembled above struck up a stentorian German song to the tune of "Hold the Fort" which surged out in angry waves of sound upon the peaceful Sabbath air: above the din, while the watchers at the windows yelled and hooted at the fighting crowd below.

Word had been sent as the beginning of the trouble to the chief of police, who soon arrived on the scene with a posse of officers, and after a vigorous exercise of this authority partially restored order. He demanded admittance to the building, but was refused. After some parleying the mayor was finally called upon. He compelled the doors to be opened, and then the citizens retired to their homes.
