LANCASTER, PA., May 5, 1890.

The smoke has cleared away from the great political battle in the county and exhibits a number of lively figures dancing above the corpse; and a few of the corpses that do not seem to know that they are killed. The dance leader is our handsome friend Martin, who is just too tickled for anything; and the most dazed of the dead men is Col. Eshleman, who really does not seem to know what was up, so hard was he hit on the head. Both furnish a free exhibition, in the Philadelphia papers, wherein brother Martin really does not understand what his delegates favor for governor and brother Eshleman does not know that they will favor Delamater. The curious thing about this exhibition is that like ignorance pervades the mutual state of victor and vanquished. They do not seem to know what they were fighting about or what was won or lost. Mr. Martin knew that he won for Lieutenant governor, and Eshleman knows it, too, and is monstrous glad of it, he says. What Dr. Mullenberg was doing in the muss seems somewhat obscure, though Mr. Eshleman ventures to assert that he was playing a lone hand; and what Mr. Hastings had in the row is equally inconspicuous, though Mr. Martin hints that his friends were making to hurt him by hitting him below the belt. The conspicuous facts are the love of Eshleman for Martin after the fight—he has been kicked into shape with surprising speed—and the resignation of Martin to take votes for the Lieutenant governorship whenever he can get them. The fact is that he has the delegates to trade on, but their price will be a good deal too high for the Hastings purse. Delamater can go better on every raise.

The result of the contest for the row office is not of any very general interest outside the list of the candidates' friends. Low Hartman has picked himself up after his divers tumbles, after the fashion of the veteran Republican politician who never says die when he smells an office, and tries again with renewed vigor and boodle till he gets it, as he is sure to do if his bag is big enough. Few people will regret very greatly the success of Jack Sides for sheriff, as he is a very popular man and will make a good official. There was no reason why the county commissioners who head the poll for that office should not have been chosen; and the other successful men had as much claim to the places as their opponents.

For the Legislature an entirely new man has been chosen in the county save one, and in the city the old candidate stands again and will be the only man who will have to fight to be elected. Whether the county has selected good men will be hereafter shown. The standard of qualification for the Legislature has not been high and probably the new men can come up to it. For the Senate a member of the last House has been chosen, who did not set that body on fire and who hardly dazzled the Senate. It was a close race between three old representatives, in which Mr. Kauffman, the most independent of the three, was barely beaten.

That Interview. The New York World editorially states the exact facts concerning its publication of the celebrated interview with Mr. Cleveland upon the subject of Editor Dana. It appears that the reporter to whom was confided the duty of interviewing the ex-president brought to the office on a slip of paper Mr. Cleveland's statement for publication; but at the same time reported that Mr. Cleveland had said much more to him in the conversation and advised a decision that he should publish what he said. The account that was printed was the result of the day of its publication Col. Lamont came to the World office with Mr. Cleveland's indignant denial that he had said what was put in his mouth by the report; and subsequently to a World editor that the reporter's account could only have been based on what he had himself said to Mr. Cleveland and to which he gave assent. It is understood, however, that the reporter declares that the statements were made by Mr. Cleveland as he gave them.

It is clearly therefore a question of veracity between the ex-president and the reporter; and there will be no difficulty at all as to which shall be believed by the intelligent and unbiased understanding. Mr. Cleveland's distinct statement will overthrow the account of the reporter, save in the understanding of those who wish to believe otherwise. The incident points again the caution to public men not to submit themselves to the newspaper reporters, but to say all that they have to say to the public over their own signatures. It is seen that though Mr. Cleveland took the precaution of writing down what he desired to say, and should therefore have been safe from misrepresentation, he is met with the charge that he did not write all he said and all he desired to have printed. He has as his protection his own character for truthfulness and the inherent improbability of the statement that while he wrote part he did not write all of what he wished to say. To his friends and to the fair minded that is enough; but to his enemies, eager to believe what is to be discarded, it will be nothing. There seems to be no safety there penny-lying falsehood but in the absolute avoidance of those who do not themselves to this line of business.

The administration was strongly urged to send the squadron south when news came of the Brazilian revolution, and as the men could have been trained quite as well in those waters, it is a pity that they were not sent there, where a variety of climate could have been found within comparatively easy reach of turbulent Brazil. Now the squadron will probably reach Rio de Janeiro at a time when that beautiful but unhealthy port is at its worst. The incident must provoke curiosity as to the motive of this sudden order to Brazil, which has evidently not been long contemplated, as it will leave the country quite unrepresented in European waters, and some ship must be hurriedly made ready for that station. What can Mr. Blaine be up to in Brazil, or what menace to our interests has there arisen that this long midsummer voyage in the tropics should be made?

SOME months ago several rascals in Philadelphia were found to have conspired to swindle a Mrs. Emily H. Hooper out of some thirty thousand dollars. One of them, Leopold Alexander, who pleaded guilty, has been sentenced to only three months imprisonment. In these days justice not only travels with a leaden foot, but it is slow to move and gentle hand. This swindler was a private detective, who was employed by the woman to guard her interests, and frightened her into paying him large sums of money.

THE Anti-Corruption society wore masks on Saturday. THE INTELLIGENCER as usual promptly furnished an entertaining report of the great annual Republican jamboree, and our friends the enemy are not pretty well disgusted with their own politics it is not for want of information on the subject.

THE congressional nomination was much too high for Myers' pole. CONGRESSMAN BROSIUS may now turn his attention to stimulating activity in the building of the postoffice. If work does not soon begin the forestry association may ask for a change of site, as to spare the trees now growing up in the postoffice lot.

THEY must live to a good old age in Peru. The latest advices describe a snow storm at Lima in March when "the city was covered with snow, a phenomenon which residents who have reached the age of 104 years declared had not occurred during their lives." The same dispatch tells of a riot caused by the arrest by the government of an opposing candidate for the presidency, but the people a hundred and four years old were not troubled to tell how many incidents of the kind they remembered. The riot, by the way, seems to have been unusually violent and the mob stoned the government buildings, shouting "Death to the government!" They were dispersed by a volley, but nothing is said of the number of killed and wounded.

IT is said that ladies are to wear shirts with studs, stand up collars and white ties just like gentlemen in full dress. The man who would not be so effeminate in dress will have to take to flannel.

IN the heading of the election returns in the INTELLIGENCER's extra it was stated that Franklin's majority was "small." "Large" should have appeared, for he had 518 more than the other Republican candidate, and as much claim to the places as their opponents.

IF John H. Landis, of the Anti-Corruption society, was in earnest, he could get sufficient evidence, in two hours, to send dozens of men to jail. He would find plenty of his political friends in the net, too.

SO there was money brought over the borders of this county! The interference of both Hastings and Delamater's boomers will turn Republican votes to the Democratic state ticket in November.

THE Moravian missionaries will not be able to leave San Francisco for Alaska until June. MAJ. JERE ROEBER, of this city, attended the annual reunion of the 12th Pennsylvania volunteers in Lebanon on Saturday. He made an address at the camp-fire in the court house in the evening.

GEORGE W. BRAMMILL, of South Oregon, N. J., lost $25,000 worth of his $50,000 collection of stamps on Sunday. As their value seems to be based rather on their rarity than their excellence as works of art, and they were fully insured, the loss does not seem to be great.

DAVID MCN. STAFFER, editor of the Engineering Journal, and a well-known Lancaster man, has resigned the editorial chair of the journal, and gone to Russia, where rumor says he will test the accuracy of Mr. Kennan's report of the Siberian journey.

LEVI L. JAMES, a prominent Democratic politician of Lancaster, Pa., died from typhoid fever at Doylestown on Sunday. He was district attorney of his county for three years. When he was aged 17, he entered the Millersville Normal school, from which he graduated. A wife and two children survive.

JOHN MURPHY, an elephant keeper, attacked by a mad elephant, was killed on Saturday in Newburg's show, had occasion to punch the animal several times with a pole in Foreburg's, N. J., on Saturday. Some time after he rode past the elephant on horseback, when the brute seized him with its trunk, threw him to the ground and tried to step on him, breaking an ankle and three ribs before the man could be rescued.

Ask Your Friends About It. Your distressing cough can be cured. We know it because Kemp's Balsam within the past few years has cured so many coughs and colds in this community. Its remarkable sale has been won entirely by its genuine merit. Ask some friend who has used it what he thinks of Kemp's Balsam. There is no medicine so pure, non-toxic, and so effective. Large bottles 50c and $1 at all druggists.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA. Purify Your Blood. At the coming of spring the blood should be purified, as impurities which have been accumulating for months or even years, are liable to manifest themselves and seriously affect the health. Hood's Sarsaparilla is undoubtedly the best blood purifier. It expels every taint of impurity, drives out scrofulous humors and germs of disease, and gives to the blood the quality and tone essential to good health.

Hood's Sarsaparilla. "Every spring for years I have made it a practice to take from three to five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, because I know it purifies the blood and thoroughly cleanses the system of all impurities." W. H. LAWANCK, Editor Agricultural Experiment Station, Indianapolis, Ind. "Last spring I was completely fagged out. My strength left me and I felt sick and miserable all the time, so that I could hardly attend to my business. I took one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it cured me. There is nothing like it. Hood's, Editor Enterprise, Belleville, Mich.

Southern Ties! An admirable staple in Shirts and a favorite with many middle-aged and old gentlemen for Spring and Summer Wear. Easy to slip on, easy to take off, and when within. We have them in fine Bougala and Kangaroo Leathers, either of which have strong points to recommend them. One may pay his money and take his choice. Here is an excellent line of Southern Ties, to which we desire to draw attention. The up-to-date cut from A. No. 1 Kangaroo Skirts, light in weight, soft and yielding to the touch, and possessed of greater strength of grain than any other known light weight leather. These shoes are made over the finest French Ties, the latest—pleasing shapes and most desirable one if the foot one has not been afflicted with a rough, bulbous, sensitive joint, or tenderness. Strong counters are in them—won't easily turn over or break down and pull the front out of shape. The best brand of sole leather only is used in the bottom, inner and outer; are very flexible—not stiff and unyielding in wear, yet they are strong for service. These shoes are thoroughly well made throughout—not skimped or slighted in any way. Need only be seen to be liked. The price is right; it will make buyers. A word more as to the quality of Kangaroo Leather. It does not stretch and get out of shape as do all soft leathers. It is thicker, stronger, and takes kindly to either boot blacking or bottle polish when either is required to dress them. It is better than calf—stronger and tougher for service—outwear calfskin of equal weight two or three times over. Practical tests prove this. The Kangaroo Leather. See these. Price them. Try them. This tends to create trade mutually satisfactory. We've the best makes in Lancaster.

The Ladies run 2 1/2 to 8 in Size. The Diamond Ties are made of same material (Bongola) as the uppers. The Misses run 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 in Size. The Ties are made out of Patent Leather and makes a neat and beautiful contrast with the uppers, which are made of Bright Dongola. They cannot last long at these prices. Only a few of these $2 Ladies' Bright Dongola Button Shoes, which were made to retail at $2, are left. I advertised a short time ago as selling at $1.75. Only the finest cotton carefully worked gets into the lovely Brandenburgs. Lumpy, knotty thread might do in Oriental imitations—it is apt to be the Oriental way to have them—but a smooth, perfect surface is one of the chiefest Brandenburg graces. On such a cotton the artist dyer can do his daintiest work. Not even the rarest Sateens outdo the Brandenburgs in beauty of printing. Hardly the stuff you expect to get at 20c a yard!

Good serviceable Robe patterns of the French Wool Dress Goods at about half. 8-yard lengths $2.00. 10-yard lengths $2.50. They have a piece of the Remnant counter. Such a company of little-priced, big-worth stuffs as you rarely see.
