

ONE AGAINST A HUNDRED.

Heroic Defense of a Ship Attacked by a Multitude of Savages.

From the New York Herald. About 1835 Captain Elias Jones, now President of the First National Bank of Philadelphia, was on the ship Awashonks, Captain Collins, on a four years' cruise in the South Pacific ocean. This voyage is one of the most interesting and adventurous...

The vessel had a crew of about 35 men, including captain, first, second and third officers, and made the voyage around Cape Horn without incident. She cruised about the South Sea, and when 18 months out had 100 barrels of fine oil in her hold.

Closing in with a group of islands just north of the equator, Captain Collins decided to make a trade with the natives. The ship was holed, with most of her sails set, in a small bay where the calm water reflected the strip of white sand, green palms and tropical plants that skirted its margin as well as the purple hills of the interior.

A number of native dugouts put out to the ship and made fast to her chains, and the savages clambered over the vessel's rail. At a favorable moment the natives burst from their dusky throats, causing the crew of the ship to tremble with fear.

The natives were armed with spears, bows and arrows, and the unarmed crew made for the rigging, jibboons and fore-castle, in fact anywhere to escape the blood-thirsty islanders. The fight that ensued was a desperate and indiscriminate melee. The natives had been so sure of a surprise that they had formed no plan, depending entirely on their overwhelming numbers.

At the first rush Captain Collins and the second mate were engaged in a desperate hand-to-hand conflict with some of the savages who had advanced themselves of the ship's cutting in spades, and the poor men were immediately engaged in a desperate hand-to-hand conflict with some of the savages who had advanced themselves of the ship's cutting in spades...

Looking up through the skylight during the quiet that followed, Captain Jones saw the chief at the wheel in his frantic endeavor to beach the vessel. He pulled the tiller full at his broad, naked chest, he pulled the trigger. The bullet passed through the deck, and, having spent its force, rolled along the plank to the water.

Another bullet from the musket pierced his heart and his lifeless form rolled into the sea. The chief of the islanders fled panic-stricken to the shore, and the Awashonks was laboriously put to sea. She sailed on for several days, and then Captain Jones was brought into Wood's Hole by a portion of the merchant's crew.

OUR LADS ON THE SEA. Pennsylvania's nautical school ship off for a long cruise.

From the Pittsburgh Dispatch. A short time ago Pennsylvania's nautical school ship, the Saratoga, with its human cargo of embryo sailors, has just passed her 49th birthday and is still " hale and hearty" by reason of her live oak timber and copper fastenings.

In addition to the methods of navigation the pupils are instructed in common school branches, and the records show an astonishing improvement in the boys' mental faculties most deficient in the rudiments. School opened the 4th of last December and 100 names are now on the roll.

The school is supported by an appropriation of $25,000 yearly—$10,000 by the state and $15,000 by Philadelphia, which city has also donated a truly magnificent library of well selected, serviceable bound books, embracing all the standard works of prose and verse, of fiction and history, that would interest a boy from 15 to 20 years old, which, by the way, is the limit.

In addition to these books there are whole shelves of legal looking volumes, containing nautical lore apparently of great weight and value, to clog the brain machinery of the average would-be sailor.

Boys are admitted into the school regardless of color, religious creed or degree of scholarship, provided he is sound mentally and strong physically, with no symptoms of color-blindness, and a sufficient knowledge of ship discipline and seamanship. Drinking and smoking are positively forbidden on board.

This is considered the most important of the boys to fill in his cabin on shore days (Wednesdays and Saturdays) must return to the vessel earlier than the rest, must clean up after meals, and "do the dishes" as a girl would say.

At the end of his week all the table appointments must be spread out for the inspector's examination. The boys call this person the "smeller," and they dread him more than the cat-o-nine-tails, with which they as yet have no personal acquaintance.

The cruise entered upon Saturday, May 3, has the Azores for the objective point; the plan being to drop down to break water and remain there until June 1, during which time the boys are expected to get their sea-legs on. After this date the ship will sail for the Azores, a distance of 2,400 miles due east. One hundred miles is calculated upon as the daily sailing distance, which will give the ship six days at sea.

On August 1 the ship will sail for Lisbon, a distance of 800 miles, lying there ten days, then sail the 25th for Madeira, a distance of 500 miles. On September 1 the homeward journey will begin. The distance of 4,000 miles, it is considered, will have taught the boys much of seamanship. The entire cruise will last 100 days, and the calculation is to spend 96 days at sea and 4 in port.

BIRDS THAT DANCE. A Wonderful Sight in One of the Dense Forests of Brazil. In his "Pioneering in South Brazil," Mr. Big-Wig writes that one morning in the dense forest his attention was roused by the unaccounted sound of a bird singing in a grove of trees.

The bird, which he immediately followed, was a most unpleasant reminder of the nearby massacre. Captain Jones, then a youth of 20, found himself surrounded by a group of infuriated natives, each struggling for a whack at him with the keen edged spades.

The natives were armed with spears, bows and arrows, and the unarmed crew made for the rigging, jibboons and fore-castle, in fact anywhere to escape the blood-thirsty islanders.

Looking up through the skylight during the quiet that followed, Captain Jones saw the chief at the wheel in his frantic endeavor to beach the vessel. He pulled the tiller full at his broad, naked chest, he pulled the trigger. The bullet passed through the deck, and, having spent its force, rolled along the plank to the water.

Another bullet from the musket pierced his heart and his lifeless form rolled into the sea. The chief of the islanders fled panic-stricken to the shore, and the Awashonks was laboriously put to sea. She sailed on for several days, and then Captain Jones was brought into Wood's Hole by a portion of the merchant's crew.

Impure Blood

A Pennsylvania Railroad Man Tells of a Remarkable Cure of Scrofulous Humor—Read It.

Mr. Ruby, who makes the following statement, is a well known railroad man, running on the Pennsylvania Railroad between Columbia, Penn., and Philadelphia: "I feel that I wish to tell what has been done for us and our little boy by Hood's Sarsaparilla. He is now six years of age, and, until a short time ago, has ever since birth been a terrible sufferer from scrofulous humor. Sores would appear on his face and spread until they were large as a dollar, and then discharge, only to be followed by others, so that the larger part of his body was one mass of sores all the time. The scrofula was especially severe on his legs and back of his ears and on his head. His hair was so matted that combing was sometimes impossible. His ears became so thin that we could see through them, and were actually afraid they would drop off."

His legs were so bad that sometimes he could not sit down, and it was impossible for him to run about and play like other children. Frequently when he tried to walk, his legs would crack open and the blood start from different places. The humor had a very offensive odor, and caused intense itching, so that at night we had to tie his hands in mittens or stockings to prevent his scratching and tearing himself. We cannot tell how long it took to cure him, but for nearly five years, nor how his terrible condition distressed us. We did all we could to relieve him. Two or three physicians agreed in curing it scrofulous humor, but did not effect a cure. We tried salves and ointments and other things but without benefit. At last I decided to give him Hood's Sarsaparilla, as my DRUGGIST RECOMMENDED IT.

In about two weeks the Sarsaparilla began to have effect. The sores commenced to heal. "Among the few proprietary articles I recommend to customers Hood's Sarsaparilla is one in which I place every confidence. My patrons seem to have the same confidence, judging from its sale, which is more than all the other blood purifiers together." G. R. LITTLE, Druggist, Greensburg, Pa.

FROM PHILADELPHIA.

Pretty Good for a Man of 66.

The following is from Mr. John Hines, manufacturer of crumpled duffs, who has carried on business in Philadelphia since Oct. 8, 1869, and whose testimony in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla is certainly worthy of consideration. "One year ago I was laid up sick with pneumonia for 14 weeks. When I got over that, my feet and legs swelled, were very much inflamed, and caused me much suffering. The doctor said I had gonorrhea, which I did not believe. I tried a number of cures, of no avail. Then one named me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I did so. I took it three times a day, before meals. Before I had taken one bottle I began to improve. I took in all five bottles, which cured me and made me feel better. I have had no return of the affection. Can walk ten miles every day, which is pretty good for a man 66 years old. I feel grateful for the good Hood's Sarsaparilla has done me, and have used my influence with a number of people to try it, and so far with satisfactory results." JOHN HINES, 20 North 20th Street, Philadelphia, Penn.

Cancerous Sores. "About 7 years ago I had a cancerous sore on my nose, which grew to be very troublesome and offensive. I concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after using two bottles the sore disappeared and healed up entirely. It has been cured for two years with no appearance of its returning. I am now in my eightieth year and enjoying good health. I feel it my duty to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all persons suffering from similar troubles. Be sure to get Hood's." JOSIAH HARVEY, Delmont, Westmoreland Co., Penn.

Confirmatory Statement. "The above certificate is from Josiah Harvey, insurance agent, a gentleman well known throughout Westmoreland county. His statement in regard to the sore and cure performed is correct." Z. ZIMMERMAN, Druggist, Delmont, Penn.

"N. B. If you decide, from what you have heard or read, to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any other."

Every Confidence. "Among the few proprietary articles I recommend to customers Hood's Sarsaparilla is one in which I place every confidence. My patrons seem to have the same confidence, judging from its sale, which is more than all the other blood purifiers together." G. R. LITTLE, Druggist, Greensburg, Pa.
