

CAUSED A RUMPUS.

D. B. HIRSHY POST'S IMPROBEMENT OF PHILIP A. FYLE IS CONSIDERED.

Commander Denniston Issues an Order Calling Attention to the Rules Prohibiting Political Action by G. A. R.

Department Commander Denniston has issued an order calling the attention of Grand Army posts throughout the state to the rules of the organization relative to politics. It is as follows:

"No officer or comrade of the Grand Army of the Republic shall in any manner use this organization for partisan purposes, nor discuss any political question at any of its meetings, nor shall any nomination for political offices be made."

"The Grand Army of the Republic is not a political organization in any sense of the word; and one of its proudest boasts is that it is a non-partisan organization, maintained by the fundamental law of its existence. It must not be used to defend from accusation or to extol the virtues and qualifications of any candidate or political party. Its members are citizens, maintaining a citizenship unimpaired and made more than ordinarily earnest by the sacrifices they have made for the good of our common country."

"If any desire to assist in the way of political preference any candidate, he can do so as a citizen, but not as a member of the Grand Army of the Republic. Posts must not indulge in resolutions of endorsement of candidates, or other such candidates to be made."

"The posts referred to, which have recently transgressed the rules and regulations, have been ordered to discontinue their action, as far as it is possible to do so. And all other posts are again warned against such transgressions. Any member who violates the rules and regulations in this respect, will imperil the charter of the posts so offending."

"One of the reasons for the issuing of the order is the introduction of politics in post meetings. Complaints are being received from the earliest days of settlement down to the present has been the home of some of the most patriotic people. Mr. Maxwell's father was a soldier in the revolutionary army, and the family contributed largely of its numbers to the late war for the preservation of the Union."

"The violation of the rules is not a new thing. It is a thing which has been going on since the introduction of the rules. The only violation of the rules as to a Lancaster post was the introduction of a resolution in Post 46, indorsing Major Richard Post as an officer in the Grand Army of the Republic. This was done at a meeting held in the post room, attended by a number of the members, and as individuals, but not as a post, resolutions were passed indorsing Major Griest."

"It was a candidate for the position of Grand Army man was seen and asked in reference to the publication in the Press. He was reluctant to talk, but finally admitted that he knew all about the matter. The name of the candidate was Philip A. Fyle, who sought legislative honors from the Northern district at the May primary. The resolution endorsing Fyle was passed on May 15th, and a circular letter containing a copy of the resolutions was sent to every post in the Northern district. It was received by the post at Lancaster, and was read and laid on the table. This action of Mr. Fyle, the Grand Army man, was a violation of the rules, and because a number who favored him on personal grounds opposed his election on account of his attempt to introduce politics into Grand Army matters."

MEMORIAL DAY PARADE.

The Route of Procession Decided Upon. The Chief Marshal and Aids. Major C. H. Pasanah, chief marshal of the Memorial Day parade, with his aids, J. E. N. Smith, N. S. Miller, and John E. Schum, have made the final arrangements for the parade.

Up East King to Shippen, to Lancaster cemetery, to soldiers' rest, to Adams' cemetery, to Lemon street, to North Queen, to South Queen, to Woodward Hill cemetery, to grave of John W. Miller, where the line will hold services; from cemetery to South Queen, to Hazel, to Prince, to West King, to Penn Square and dismiss.

Why She Was So Nervous.

A Galveston, Texas, man is in the habit of getting up early and going in swimming in the bay before breakfast. His wife remarked at the breakfast table: "George, I am so anxious while you are away bathing in the bay that I can't swim, and there is no danger of my getting drowned." "That never entered my head; I am afraid that some thief may steal the silver."

An Old Case.

Frederick Schoenberger, bartender at Arnold Haus' saloon, had a case in his possession. It is of a very hard wood and has an ivory head with the date 1708 cut upon it. The case was carried by Schoenberger from his grandfather. It was handed down to the youngest son from one generation to another.

The Roof Tumbles In.

At an early hour this morning about twenty feet of the roof of the old building in the rear of the city hall, which was formerly used as a collar factory, broke down with a crash, owing to the old and decayed timber. The building looks very shaky at this time just now.

Quay and Castleberg.

From the New York World. Among the plans of the supporters of a federal election law is a scheme for pro-secuting the people of Florida to breach of the law and of the peace of mind with a large show of truth, that the recent judicial outrages which have been committed in that State were not really in the line of the purpose of the law.

ABOY BRAINED.

THE SON OF JESSE JONES, OF CONOT TOWN, SHIP, INSTANTLY KILLED.

His Dress Caught in a Horse Power and He is Whirled Around the Shaft, Striking His Head on a Stone.

A terrible accident occurred in Conot town, about two miles north of Falmouth, on Tuesday, which resulted in the death of a young boy, the son of Jesse Jones, of Conot town. He was aged 4 years. His father was shelling corn and the lad's clothing was caught by the revolving wheel of a horse shaft that runs the machine and connects the horse power. In an instant he was whirled around the shaft and his head struck the stones in the barn yard and it was crushed to a jelly.

The accident was not observed by any one, and it was only by the unusual noise made by the machine that the attention of the driver in charge was attracted. He at once stopped the machinery and discovered the mangled body of the boy. The neighbors were summoned, but they could do nothing, as death evidently resulted after a revolution or two of the shaft.

DEATH OF SAMUEL G. BEHMER.

A Well Known Citizen Dies After Brief Illness—Sketch of His Career.

Samuel G. Behmer, a well known citizen of Lancaster, died at half past ten o'clock on Tuesday night, at the home of Henry W. Diffenbach, at North Queen and Lemon street, where he boarded. He was taken with congestion of the brain something over a week ago, and that was the cause of his death.

Mr. Behmer was 62 years of age, and was born at New Hope in the county of York. He was born and raised upon a farm, and when a young man began teaching school. He went to Leacock, where he worked for some time, and then came to Lancaster, where he was employed as a teacher for some time. He was an active and progressive man in the neighborhood. While teaching school at Leacock, he was appointed to the position of superintendent, and he held that position for some time. NOTICE TO SECEDERS.

ACTION OF THE OLD ORDER OF DUNKARDS AT THEIR ANNUAL MEETING.

Those Who Have Strayed to Other Sects Must Be Re-baptized Upon Their Return—Patent-Rights Opposed.

WARREN, Ind., May 28.—The three-day annual meeting of the old order of Dunkards closed here with a song service and the ceremony of washing feet. About 8,000 people have attended the meetings, which until yesterday were of a religious character. Yesterday afternoon, after a brisk debate, the order decided that seceders from the old order to the other branches should not be readmitted, but that they should be re-baptized; that members should not be admitted to rights, and that a full report of all the committee meetings should not be spread upon the minutes.

MASSONIC AND PYTHIAN KNIGHTS.

Their Demonstrations in Lock Haven and Pittsburg on Tuesday.

Fifteen thousand people saw the grand parade of the Knights Templar in Lock Haven on Tuesday morning. Owing to the muddy condition of the streets the parade was held on the sidewalks. Officers of the Grand Commandery reviewed the parade from a stand. There were about 1,500 knights in line with eighteen bands. Lancaster Commandery, No. 13, participated. Even under the conditions of the muddy streets the parade was the finest ever witnessed in that city.

The reception at night at the Armory was the grandest social event ever held in Lock Haven. The hall was decorated in the most magnificent manner, and the program included an exhibition drill by St. Alban's Commandery, of Philadelphia. At 8 o'clock general Hastings marched in Templar uniform, with Constans Commandery, of Bellefonte, and his stalwart presence attracted all eyes.

THE LATEST PROMISE.

Indians Assured That the Saviour is Coming to Rescue Them.

A correspondent of the Baltimore Sun at Reno City, Indian territory, writes under date of May 18: "Joining the west line of Oklahoma is the Apache reservation, a tract of country embracing 4,000,000 acres of land, occupied by executive order, by the two tribes mentioned, which number only 3,300 men, women and children. Oklahoma, with its 90,000 population, is less than half the size. Under the conditions of things it is not surprising that the whites are clamorous for the opening of this reservation to settlement. The Indians, of course, oppose this, yet most of them are intelligent enough to know that they will not be permitted to hold much longer such a tract of land from the all-absorbing grasp of the white man. They are, therefore, endeavoring to adopt many schemes to encourage the members of the tribes to remain firm and unyielding. The latest promise is to the effect that the Saviour is coming to rescue them and punish the white man. Some weeks ago the Arapahoes of Wyoming sent their northern brethren tidings to the effect that 'Christ is coming to the mountains. He has made his habitation in the mountains. Among other promises made to the red men by the white visitors was one which, according to the members of the tribes to remain firm and unyielding.
