Mad Dogs and Bad Dogs. The hydrophobia season has com-senced in terrible earnest with a fatal ospital, in New York, a dozen patients hospital, in New York, a dozen patients are under treatment by the much criti-ties aystem of inoculations. Early in the spring a mad dog was killed in Druthe spring a mad dog was killed in Dru-more township, and there seems to be good reason for caution, although none at all for alarm, which is always the thing to be avoided in connection with maladies of the kind. Death in that form seems, so horrible that there is reason to believe that many cases of this very rare affliction are at least encour-aged by continual brooding on the terri-ble results of what might be a trifling wound. It is important that the person bitten should avoid tormenting himself with terrorizing thoughts of hydro-phobia, and if confidence can be firmly stablished, whether by "madstone" or noculation, half the battle is won. Meanwhile it would be well to look to the dogs. The weather has been so mild that it is a little surprising that mad dogs should be heard of at all, and it must be concluded that although usually heard of in very hot weather, hydrophobia has little to do with the state of the thermometer. People who own dogs should pay particular attention to their general health, and if more cases of mad dogs develop in this neighborbood it would be well to promptly order the muzzling of all dogs. And while we are on the dogs it may be remarked that there are a number of m in this city that may be said to lack the first instincts of civility, and are allowed by their owners to develop the habits of barking at horses and snapping at the heels of pedestrians. ome horses fail to enjoy this and some edestrians object to it, but the dogs and sheir owners are not troubled, and it might be well for the general peace if an example were made of a few of them, just at this time when there is little disposition to be merciful in matters canine. It is not altogether a trifle, for barking at horses may cause a fatal run-away and the habit of snapping may do grave harm.

By Rail Across Asia. The New York World has a curious lispatch from St. Petersburg representing that the ezar is disposed to encourage perican capitalists who are anxious to push the building of the great Siberian and to the Pacific, which road the dispatch explains, now runs beyond Merv. General Butterfield is said to represent the American capitalists in ence with General Annenkoff. he builder of the "trans-Atlantic road." fow the narrow gauge military raiload built by General Annenkoff not only runs beyond Merv, but on through the desert and across the famous old Oxus river to Bokhara, and thence to markand. For over a year the line as been in steady operation to that conderful old Eastern capital, and the atest advices were to the effect that its stension north to Tashkent had been need. This is not the contemplated road to the Pacific, although it will probably be extended to the north to connect with that line when built. Gen-eral Annenkoff's road, known as the trans-Caspian route, can only be reached by crossing the Caspian sea, and it leads into a pocket in the mountains in the valley of the Zarafshan, whence further progress to the east is impossible except by the most heroic and costly engineering.

Its most natural entension would be

by a branch line to Herat, in Afghanisan, and thence eventually to India: but berlightest rumor of any move in that stion would set England and all ple chattering with fear of war. If pdorld's dispatch is really from St. he burg the correspondent is to be tulated on having made a more rige tulated on having made a most upincing mess of it. The proposed ena protinental line has been thoras e psurveyed and starts far to the ing kat of the Caspian, traveling nem a level but desolate "ilderness and the valley of the Amoor river, which is to be followed to Alexandrovsk, the Russian naval station on the Pacific. When a railroad has been built up the coast to Alaska the trans-Siberian road to Europe may become a favorite route of travel for Americans who dread the sea sickness of the long Atlantic voyage, and it may be that American railroad schemers have an agent nosing around in St. Petersburg with a view to training Yankee enterprise to profit by the Russian project.

The Alliance Experience.

The Farmers' Alliance is beginning to and itself treated with less deference in Washington since the severe criticism of the warehouse sub-treasury scheme has brought ridicule upon the members of the ways and means committee for wast. ing time upon so wild a measure. Mr. Carlisle, in an open letter, has made very plain the many dangerous and imicable features of the plan of practicable features of the plan of the Alliance for securing government cans on crops, and it is probable that the Alliance itself will abandon it very soon, but the experience promises to erve as a fine eye opener for the Western farmers who hunger for some more substantial encourgement for their branch of industry. Matters appear to be drift-ing rapidly towards a time when the farmers will ask why they should go on voting for taxation in excess of government needs when the price of their great staples must be fixed in foreign markets, and can not be raised for them by the povernment.

It is hardly surprising that after many years of waiting for the much lalked of home market, some farmers have impatiently given their influence support of the sub-treasury scheme, at they will now be driven square gainst the unyielding fact that no nation can afford to lean upon home market alone, and that the tarner is the first and most severe sufferer from the abuse of the protective princiole. That the Republican leaders appre-late the danger of a revolt of the farmers from party control is shown by the gin-gerly handling of the sub-treasury bill by their most trusted and clear-brained congressmen on the committee of ways and means. True statesmanship demanded the prompt rejection of the measure, in-dicating its glaring faults, but they knew that their party had nothing to offer the poor farmer.

THE amount of damage that may be done by a very few undisciplined fools has just by a very few undisciplined fools has just been illustrated at Harvard, for strangely enough it is in great colleges that the fool is most frequently allowed to develop without discipline. On Saturday Harvard won a base ball victory over Yale, and that some night a small squad of half a dozen of these peculiarly noxious fools bought sev-eral gallons red paint and with much labor daubed it over the statuary and costly stone work of the college buildings. The stone work of the college buildings. The mosale pavement of Memorial hall was so ruined that it will have to be relaid and a statue of John Harvard was damaged be-yond thorough repair. The paint can only be removed in most cases by chiseling, and the total damage is estimated at eight thousand dellars. Of course, the students and faculty are equally indignant, while the undisciplined fools are, no doubt, astonished that their outrage is not considered a good joke.

It is rumored in London that Sir Morell Mackenzie, the famous expert who treated the late Emperor Frederick of Germany, is coming to this country with Professor James Bryce and Henry M. Stanley, and that the trio will lecture at $500 a night for twenty nights under one management. It is not explained whether they are all to speak in one evening or each to speak for twenty evenings.

ROMANCE FROM ALASKA.

ROMANCE FROM ALASKA.

A Missourian Buys an Indian Woman and Makes Her His Wife.

C. S. Harvey, of Hickory county, Mo., an intelligent-looking white man, 35 years of age, has been visiting St. Louis with his wife, who is an Alaska Indian. While at the Alaska diggings he concluded to ascend the Yukon river, and got a woman to pole his boat, as a woman would be faithful, while any man he could get would, perhaps, desert or murder him. Her native husband offered either her or his mother-in-law for $20 a month, and Harvey took the wife along. Her aid was valuable.

While returning home she said to Harvey with tears: "I wish you would buy me from my hushand and I will work the gold out of your claim after regular hours of work. I don't want to go back to him." Her husband decided that $20 and a pair of boots that Harvey had would be a proper consideration and Harvey accepted the

Her husband decided that $20 and a pair of boots that Harvey had would be a proper consideration and Harvey accepted the bargain at once. The Indian went on a spree and three days later was drowned in the Yuken. Harvey and the woman were married by a minister as soon as they reached the states. "She has made me a faithful wife and I love her devotedly," he said. Her appearance attracts attention said. Her appearance attracts attention

Men's $1.50 Shoes.

NOBBY LOOKING ! DURABLE ! CHEAP!

New Spring Styles for Men's Wear, the nobblest looking cheap shoe limaginable; clean, smooth, sleek, strong wearing sorts. As near right in every way as good shoemakers can make them for so little money. We know of no makes elsewhere to equal ours at the figures. We find a great many Lancastrians no wiser. That accounts for the many linquiries here lately for the best made $1.50 shoes. Have you been here to see them? If not, why not? To see them is to like them. To wear them is to bring you here again for the same sort. We have many different lines in the going shapes. That makes it easy to choose the style that pleases the fancy.

Here is an excellent make of shoes to That makes it easy to choose the style that pleases the fancy.

Here is an excellent make of shoes to tell of-Congress or Bals, with plain toes or tips; a superior grade of stock in uppers and bottoms—seamless vamps, fair stitched soles; fits the average foot soughy and neatly. They will wear strongly—the grade of the material in them is a guarantee of this. And the shoemaking—well, there's nothing "Bum "about it; it's all right.

Another line of shoes worthy of mention—a light weight summer shoe for dress. Have calf-skin uppers, fitted, lined and trimmed much better than is usual in $1.50 shoes. Solid leather throughout. Put together strongly, and will be found to be as good as it looks.

Oxfords, same make, and the same good material as above, with pretty tips, at$1.50.
