"STRENGTHEN THY BRETHREN." n On the "Duty of the Educated Farmer." The baccalaureate aermon before the graduates of the Massachusetts Agricultural college, at Amherst, was delivered on Sunday by Professor C. S. Walker. His lext was Luke, xxii, 32: "Strongthen thy brethren." The topic was "The Duty of the Educated Farmer." Professor Walker and:

the Educated Farmer." Professor Walker said:

Heretofore, in all parts of the world, the farmer has been no match for his adversary. He has never held his own against the soldier or the priest, against the politician or the statesman. In ancient times he was the slave; in the iniddle ages the serf. In the nineteenth century he is the slave, the serf, the peasant or the proprietor, according to location. American farmers, as a class, are face to face with a crisis. They have subdued a continent and furnished the raw materials for our factories, bread for operatives and manhood for our civilisation. They have sustained the nation's credit with their hard carned dollars; rescued endangered liberty with their conscientious hallots, and defended, time and again, the ters and stripes with their loyal blood. Vigorous in body, strong in character, striking in individuality, lovers of bome, massive in common sense, fertile in resources, devout believers in Providence, the farmers of America will never allow thankel as to be overwhelmed by the fate massive in common sense, fertile in resources, devout believers in Providence, the farmers of America will never allow themsel es to be overwhelmed by the fate that sunk the tillers of the soil in India, in Egypt, in Europe. From all parts of this land farmers are coming together. Organization and co-operation are the wonderful ideas that have awakened them as never before. They are grasping hands with a grip that means something, comparing ways and means, uniting upon ends to be gained. They demand for themselves and their children an education equal to the best. They insist upon a fair share of the profits of America industry, claiming that no state can long exist in which the tillers of the soil bear most of the burdens and abare little of the blessings of advancing civilization.

But they are in danger of making mistakes in the struggle that shall turn back the progress of the movement. They demand leaders. To supply this demand is the imperative duty of the educated farmer. Whatsoever of bodily vigor, mental power and moral heroism the educated farmer may have acquired from ancestors, college or university he will need, that he may consecrate it to the great work of strengthening his brethren, the farmers of America, so that they shall ever remain an immovable foundation of this, the only republic whose empire has not been rapidly undermined.

Wherever Malaris Exists,
The billious are its certain prey. In intermittent and remittent fever, dumb ague and ague cake, the liver is always seriously affected, and the blood contaminates with bile. One of the chief reasons why Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is such a sure defense against chills and fever and every form of malarist disease, is, that it does away with liability to the disease, by reforming irregularity of the billary organ in advance of the arrival of the season when the disease is prevalent. There is no dner fortifying preparally for those about visiting or emigrating to a locality where the miasma-tain exists. There is no certain immunity from disease in an endemic or epidemic form, to be secured by the use of the average tonics and anti-spamodics. But where quinine fails the Bitters over. It removes every vestige of dyspepala, and overcomes constipation, rheumatism, inscitivity of the kidneys and biadder, and tranquilizes and strengthens the nervous system.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The marked benefit which people in run down or weakened state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves the claim that this medicine "makes ve reak strong." It does not act like a stimulah, aparting fictitious strength from which there must follow a reaction of greater weakness than before, but possessing just those than before, but possessing just those clements which the system needs and readily selectly cured." Wh. H. B. Wand, Downingster, Hood's Sarsaparilla heitigs up in a ner.

"For three years I surered with dyspepsia, growing so bad that I was at one time completely broken down in health. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla on trial, and seeing that it was doing me good, continued with it. After taking six bottles I gained strength and appetite and was restored to my former than I have a property like Paus.

Lingered Setween Life and Death.

Mrs. Geo. P. Smoote, a highly cultivated and estimable lady of Prescott, Ark., writes under date of April 28, 1889: "During the summer of 1887 my eyes became inflamed, and my stomach and liver almost hopelessly disordered. Nothing I ate agreed with me. I took chronic diarrheas, and for some time my life was despaired of by my family. The leading physicians of the country were consulted, and the medicines administered by them never did any permanent good, and I lingered between life and death, the later being preferable to the agonies I was enduring. In May, 1883, I became disgusted with physicians and their medicines. I dropped them all, and depended solely on Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), a few bottles of which made me permanently well—well from then until now."

MADE HIS LIFE A BURDEN. I have had scrotula until it made my life a burden. I was inexpressibly miserable, sick, weak, sleepless, and unhappy; desiring that the short time which seemed to have been allotted to me on this earth would hasten to an end. I tried doctors' treatment and medicine, and travel, but none of these did any good, for the scrotula gradually grew worse. One physical can, who I traveled far to see, and to whom I paid $150, gave up the case as hopeless. I then gave up all other medicines, and took only Swift specific (S. S. S.). Four bottles of that medicine cured me, and for the past four years I have had as excellent health and I am as free from discuss as anybody living. Z. NELSON, Fremont, Reb.
