ADDRESS, THE INTELLIGENCER,

LANCASTER, PA., July 3, 1890.

The Convention Work. The Scranton convention did its work with great speed and harmony and is to be greatly applicated therefor. When delegates know what they want to do it is well for them to do it quickly. It is best for the winners, best for the losers and best for the party altogether. The cranton delegates evidently knew who they wanted to nominate for governor and one ballot told the tale. They wanted Pattison, because Pattison once was elected; and election to the governorship has been of late years so rare an achievement for a Democrat in Pennsylvania that it was natural for the Scranton delegates to conclude that the man who had done It once was the best man to try it again

We accept their decision ex necessitate rei, and trust that the result will show that their judgment was right and our's wrong. The Lancaster delegates had no part in naming the successful nominee, and will have neither responsibility nor eredit for the event. It is not necessary to, and we do not, change our opinion as to the strength of the nomination; our only duty is to lend our best service to its success, which we shall do cordially and earnestly. It is a good ticket, this old ticket of ours, whether it wins or loses, and does not lose any strength by its having been filled out with the name of Black. Albeit we are surprised that this motion had his assent.

It is a ticket to be proud of. Nothing can be charged against the integrity or the intelligence of the nominees. They are undeniably honest and capable and in strong contrast to the Republican ticket, which is not recommended by personal integrity and which is, more-over, known to be the body and spirit of Quay.

The question of the election of the Democratic ticket depends entirely upon that as to the number of Republicans who will be deterred from voting for Quay's ticket. The nomination of Pattison over Wallace demonstrated that the convention had no faith in the ability of the Democratic party to elect its candidate, whatever its enthusiasm and whatever the Republican lukewarmness, without a considerable accession of Republican votes. And that we consider to be the outlook now of the battle.

The convention did a very good thing in selecting Mr. Harrity as the conductor of the fight. He led the successful contest of the candidate, and is very competent indeed to lead the state battle. Whatever strength there is in his side he will develop, we feel quite sure.

The convention also did very well indeed in the declarations of its platform, which are made clearly, briefly and without hackneyed expression. They declare principles and policies which should win popular support, if such may be supposed to be given to sound doctrine. Unfortunately the public temper at election time is rather to look at the color of the ticket than its quality black gathering to black and white to white. We will be able to tell, when we get further along in the canvass, what disposition there may be in the blacks to vote white.

The Fourth. Here is the eve of the glorious Fourth of July, and the indications are that it will be no less glorious, hot, noisy and appy than the many other fourthe that have gone before it. Things were not always thus. An extract from the files of this paper for 1795 was published on Wednesday, showing that at that date the celebration of the day was chiefly by means of tormal stately banquets where patriotic, gallant and philanthropic toasts were drunk by the men who had taken part in the actual struggle for freedom and knew all its costs, while they hardly measured its probable results. It is easy to see how the celebration grew from these banquets; how the replies to the toasts grew year by year more wordy and oratorical until the limit of time allowed but few speakers and the famous but now obsolete Fourth of July spread eagle speeches were the feature of the day. Then Chinese crackers came into use, and the great American small boy took active charge of the celebration, and has firmly held control ever since. The Fourth is his day, and will remain so, for the grown-up citizens who take active part in the demonstration of patriotism by explosions and fireworks are practically boys again for the occaand no doubt it does them good. The only thing to be regretted is that the celebration is not managed with more consideration for the good citizens who do not enjoy savage manifestations of joy by noise. No one likes to be charged with discouraging the patriotism of young America, and most people are willing to submit to misery and risk of conflagration for a few hours and once a year; but the line should be sharply drawn to check the barbarous abuse of this complacency by the men who try to be boys again but don't know how. The average boy is tired out and ready for sleep about midnight of the Fourth, and moreover, he does not usually rise up at two o'clock on the morning of the day to murder sleep with a double-barrelled shotgun, or package of common crackers. The idiotic and inconsiderate past midnight explosions are the work of patriots of mature years and refined brass, who are often heavily loaded, but hopelessly lack capacity to make any noise in the world except by gunpowder. At present the outrage must be borne, but it is hoped that in the near future a steadily advancing public sentiment will confine the noisy fireworks celebration within sane and tolerable limits. The fireworks that depend upon brilliant colors and scenic effects are pleasing to all and worthy of hearty encouragement, but the explosive article has a limited number of admirers, and its tortures should have a time limit.

The City Health.

The select council failed to approve the ordinance creating a Board of Health. We are not advised of the reasons inducing the action of Messrs.
McComsey and Long, whose two votes ufficed to keep the ordinance in select council from receiving a countitutional majority, after common council had unanimously approved the ordinance. We presume that it is some matter of detail in the bill that they objected tol as they certainly favor the keeping of a careful watch over the health of the

We are not ourselves satisfied that all the provisions of the defeated ordinance were necessary. We do not see, for instance, that it is necessary, in the gene-ral state of the city, to employ any special agents to discover and abate nuisances. It is the duty of the police force now to report everything of this nature; and the mayor has certainly authority to direct its removal. In case of pestilential disease, however, it is necessary to have the help of physi-cians; and in such times there should be provision for their speedy employ-

Certainly councils should have a health committee, as this bill provided; certainly the police should be its agents, as t also provided; and certainly there should be power to call in medical assistance in time of need. With such provisions, the city health would probably be sufficiently protected. What we need ordinarily is the discovery and repression of disease breeding nuisances ; and this is police duty.

Or all the nuisances that inconsiderate men are allowed to impose upon a meek and long suffering community, the past midnight brass band is the worst.

Tfiar little revolutionary row among the generals down in Salvador threatens to be the cause of more severe fighting. It is now said that the late president, General Menendez, did not die of heart disease, as reported, but was poisoned at a banquet given by him to his new cabinet. He was ccused of scheming with President Baril los, of Gustemala, who is suspected of a conspiracy with Honduras to gobble up poor little Salvador. General Fabro Moran as been living for several years in exile in San Francisco, but the death of Menen-dez encourages him to hope that there is room for another general in Salvador, and he has announced that he is going there to be president.

THE English postal jubilee was celebrated in striking if unpleasant fushion by the four hundred postal telegraph operators of the London central office. When called upon by the officials for three cheers for the queen they promply and unanimously replied with three enthusiastic groams, and added a "tiger" groam for the postmaster general. The operators bad made repeated demands for relief from their severe duties, and did not feel dis posed to cheer for her Brittanic majesty acording to custom and regulations.

A PHILADELPHIA woman was carrying chair down stairs when she slipped and fell and was desperately wounded by a broken round. When you fall down stairs don't take a chair with you.

THE Fourth of July usually has some accompanying excitement. In former years the Gettysburg celebration furnished an interesting side issue, and this year we have had the party conventions and the local demonstration of the German singing societies.

Thieves Sent to Sing Sing. Robert L. Wallace and Ignatius R. Lowitz were on [Wednesday sent to Sing Sing for eight years and eleven months by Judge Martine, of New York.

The crime to which they pleaded guilty was the stealing of $52,000 from Mr. Robert Wallace, the editor of Wallace's Monthly.

Wallace, the editor of Wallace's Monthly. In the theft young Wallace was merely the catspaw of his friend Lowitz. He was a young man of generous instincts, while Lowitz never compromised himself by a vulgar action and was never guilty of a manly one. He introduced Wallace to worthless people, taught him to gamble and finally persuaded him to steal from his uncle and benefactor.

Both prisoners turned pale when they heard the sentence and something very like a tear coursed down young Wallace's cheek heard the sentence and something very like a tear coursed down young Wallace's cheek as they were marched side by side out of court between two deputy sheriffs.

Of the $52,000 stolen only $26,060 has been recovered. The balance was squardered on women and wine and lawyers. When detectives searched Lowitz on his way home from Cuba two $1,000 bills were found stowed away in the corner of a little match box which he carried in his vest pocket. pocket.

The National Election Bill Passed. In the House the federal election bill was In the House the federal election bill was passed on Wednesday finally after a long struggle, by a vote of 155 to 149. Two Republicans, Coleman, of Louisiana, and Lohibach, of New Jersey, voted with the Democrats against the bill. Ewart, of North Carolina, who was opposed to the bill, was paired against the bill, was paired against it.

Famous Women.

It is a significant fact that most of the women who have achieved fame in art, literature, or "affairs," have enjoyed vigorous health. This shows that the mind is never capable of the shows that the mind is never capable of the severe and continued application necessary to creative work, unless the body is at its best. The woman who aspires to fill an exaited place among her associates, must be free from ner-yous debility and female weaknesses. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will banish these and it is warranted to restore those functional harmonies which are indispensable to health. As a specific for all these chronic weaknesses and ailments peculiar to women it is unequaled. W,Th&w

I told him I had taken Hood's Barsaparilla, knew what it was, was satisfed with it, and did not want any other. When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand Hood's

"For a year I was afflicted with a horrible case of blood poison, and upwards of five months of that time I was unable to do work of any kind. My finger nails came off and my halr dropped out, leaving my head as clean and smooth as if it had been shaved. I consulted the best local physiciana, and spent hundreds of dollars for medicines of different kinds, but without receiving the slightest benefit. I was advised finally to visit Hot Springs. This I did, but becoming disgusted with the treatment I was receiving there, commenced taking Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) The effect that S. S. S. had on me was truly wonderful. I commenced to recover after taking the first bottle, and by the time I had taken twelve bottles I was entirely cured—cured by Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) when the world-renowned Hot Springs had falled.

FOUR YEARS ON CRUTCHES.

For fifteen years I was afflicted with rhenmatism, four years of which I was compelled to go on crutches. Words are inadequate to express the sufferings I endured during that time. During these fifteen years of existence (it was not living). I tried every known remedy without receiving any benefit. I finally began on Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), which from the first gave me relief, and to-day I am enjoying the best of health, and am a well man. I candidly believe that S. S. S. is the best blood purifier on the market to-day.
