LANCASTER, PA., July 7, 1890.

China's Threat.

China threatens to retaliate. Minister Tsui may revise and modify the language of his interview and his talk may veer and change after the fashion of diplomats, but the threat he has made will remain a prominent factor in the Chinese program of the future.

Gov. Gordon, of Georgia, is widely known as a man of a patriotic leader of the new South, anxious to have the bitter feelings of the war forgotten and the whole energy of the nation turned to the survey of a brighter future, but frankly admitting a natural pride in the Southern side of the history of the war.

THE Philadelphia Times and Pittsburg Dispatch seem determined not to waste their old patent medicine advertising cuts of the South of the glory of the Chinese cured of deadly diseases. Their portraits of political leaders are more curious than accurate.

NOT PICTAL TALK.

China Threatens to Retaliate Unless the Exclusion Law is Repealed. Chinese Minister Tsui, who is accredited to Spain, Brazil and the United States, reached New York on the steamer La Bretagne Sunday afternoon.

Her wrath is a little surprising because it has been so slow in developing, and because the first Chinese advice after the passage of the exclusion act intimated that the government was pleased to be assisted in its efforts to keep Chinamen at home.

The grumblings of war in the East grow louder and more worthy of serious attention. For some time there have been persistent rumors of disturbances in Armenia, but as that Asiatic end of Turkey is hard to reach for news except by way of Russia, very little attention has been paid to the trouble.

Another Republican For Patron. S. P. Boyer, a prominent resident of Titusville, Crawford county, the home of Chairman Andrews and Candidate DeLozier, writes to the Pittsburg Times.

THE Eastern War Cloud. The grumblings of war in the East grow louder and more worthy of serious attention. For some time there have been persistent rumors of disturbances in Armenia, but as that Asiatic end of Turkey is hard to reach for news except by way of Russia, very little attention has been paid to the trouble.

Hail, the Board of Health!

Mayor Clark has succeeded in giving Lancaster a board of health in spite of the two adverse votes in select council, and the prompt action of the judges relieves citizens of any anxiety as to the timely establishment of some kind of organized supervision of the city's health.

The work is undoubtedly needed to be done, and now that a board has been organized to do it, police and citizens can aid in pushing it. Whoever knows of a nuisance needing attention should promptly notify the board of health, and careless people will speedily learn that they must reform.
